NOTIFICATION

The 22nd March 1880 —The following rules framed under Section 32 of the Bengal License Act 1880 are published for general information

A. MACKENZIE

Secy to the Govt of Bengal

Rules for the Administration of the Bengal License Act and Section 32 of Act II (B.C.) of 1880

1 Every person carrying on any trade dealing or industry whose annual earnings from such trade dealing or industry amount to Rs 500 or upward must take out and pay for a license under this Act

2 A person who carries on more than one trade dealing or industry is to be taxed separately on the profits from each trade dealing or industry but on the collective net profits derived from all such trades dealings or industries

3 When a person or firm carries on two or more trades dealings or industries coming under more than one designation, the assessment will be made with reference to the total profits from all such trades dealings or industries but it is within the discretion of the Collector to determine under which particular designation the license will be granted

4 A person who carries on his trade dealing or industry in more than one district need only take out a license in the district in which his principal place of business is situated. When any person liable to assessment is known to carry on business in any other district the Collector must communicate with the Collector of that other district in order to the formation of an estimate of the annual profits of such person and the determination of his principal place of business. In the event of any dispute arising regarding the district in which the principal place of business is situated the Collectors will if their districts are situated in the same division refer the question for the decision of the Commissioner otherwise they will apply direct to the Board for orders. Commissioners and the Board are hereby respectively empowered under section 6 of the Act to decide all such questions duly referred to them. The Lieutenant Governor is however pleased to declare a general rule that the ordinary place of residence of the person assessed and in the case of a firm the ordinary place of residence of the head acting partner shall be held to be the principal place of business of such person or firm. Residence in the suburbs or neighbourhood of Calcutta shall when the business is carried on in Calcutta be taken to be residence in Calcutta

5 In estimating the amount of profits derived from any trade dealing or industry the expenses incurred in carrying on such trade dealing or industry must be excluded but the amount expended on things not directly connected with it such as the maintenance of the licensee or his family must not be excluded as such amounts form part of the taxable profits of the licensee

6 Under section 5 of the Act the following occupations are exempted from assessment —

- (1) agriculture
- (2) the performance by a cultivator or receiver of rent in kind of any process ordinarily employed by a cultivator or receiver of rent in kind to render the produce raised or received by him fit to be taken to market
- (3) the sale by a cultivator or receiver of rent in kind of the produce raised or received by him when he does not keep a shop or stall for the sale of such produce

All servants receiving fixed wages or paid by commission or partly by wages and partly by commission whether their duties are such as would ordinarily make them liable under the Act or not including all mechanics and artisans paid by wages are exempted from the operation of the Act

7 Any agriculturist who (besides cultivating land) carries on any trade dealing or industry which would be liable to tax if it formed his sole occupation subject to him to tax must take out a license with reference to the amount of his earnings from such separate trade dealing or industry. Care must be taken in assessing such a person to discriminate between his earnings from his trade or industry and his earnings from his agriculture. Agricultural profits must not on any account be taxed. So again no zemindar or rent receiver is liable to tax in respect of his rents. But if he carries on the business of a mahajun or money lender he should be required to take out a license in respect of his business profits. There will ordinarily be much difficulty in distinguishing him between the case of a zemindar who occasionally makes advances to his tenant with the object of assisting them and the case of a zemindar who regularly carries on mahajun for his own profit. The former should on no account be taxed under this Act. The latter must take out a license.

Collectors should have little difficulty in deciding generally whether a man's occupation can be described as a trade dealing or industry. These words are intended only to cover all the operations of commerce large or small.

8 In determining under which class of the schedule annexed to the Act a person is liable to be taxed as is also the Collector must endeavour so to estimate the incidence of the tax that the tax payable by any person shall not exceed 2 per cent upon his annual earnings. In the inquiry which is to be made as to the amount of each licensee's income the Collector should base his estimate on any information voluntarily given to him by the licensee or on any other indirect evidence which may be available to him. It will be for the licensee to show that the rate of tax proposed is beyond the maximum to which he is liable under the Act.

Class	Minimum Taxable Income	Maximum Taxable Income
I	25 000	500
II	10 000	200
III	000	100
IV	0 00	50
V	10 0	20
VI	5 0	10

10 In the assessment and collection of the tax the Collector of the district is subject to the control of the Commissioner and the Board of Revenue.

11 The Collector must retain in his own hand the general supervision of the operations under the Act but he may with the sanction of the Commissioner entrust the immediate control and direction of the work to any qualified Assistant or Deputy Collector at his discretion.

The sanction of Government is not necessary for the exercise and performance (subject to the Collector's orders) by an Assistant or Deputy Collector of any or all of the duties and powers conferred on a Collector under the Act. It is only necessary in the case when any other official than those above named has been appointed for the purpose. Power to hear appeals are given below.

12 One or more assessors will be appointed by Government in each district if necessary to conduct operations under the Act. No officer while continuing to hold and to perform the duties of an appointment in the regular establishment of a

Attention is directed to section 17 of the Act Notices should be served in form (D)

15 Whenever a person carries on his trade dealing or industry for a portion of the year less than six months he may receive a remission of one half of his license fee on his satisfying the Collector of the district to that effect

16 Officers of police of or above the rank of Sub Inspector shall be deemed to be generally empowered to require any person holding a license to produce and show his license But the Collector may by an order in writing generally or specially empower any other persons to act in this behalf as he may think fit

17 All fees under the Act must be paid in one sum and not by instalments

18 Payment of fees and other demands under the Act must be made at the district or sub divisional treasury

19 On payment of the fee specified the licensee will be entitled to receive a license under the Act and this license shall be deemed to be a receipt for the fee so paid

20 The license will be in the form C and will be printed on such paper and bear such serial numbers as the Board may prescribe for each district The forms of licenses for any particular year must be kept separate from the forms of licenses for a preceding year and on no account should a license intended for one year be granted in a form intended for another year

21 Whenever the amount of the tax after being realized is remitted or reduced on appeal the license originally issued shall be returned to the Collector at the time the amount refunded is paid The license should be cancelled and the fact of cancellation should be noted in the counterfoil In the case of reduction of the tax a fresh license will be granted for the reduced sum the balance due to the assessee being refunded to him but in the accounts the full amount paid for the cancelled license will be treated as a refund and the amount of the fresh license as a collection

22 A petition of objection under section 14 of the Act may be filed within 30 days of the date of the service of the notice under section 17 The Collector may extend this period beyond 30 days but such period should in no case unless under very exceptional circumstances be extended beyond 60 days

23 No petition of objection should be received when more than 30 days have passed from the date of the service of the notice unless the license fee charged in the Collector's list is previously paid

24 As soon as an order for refund has been passed on a petition of objection payment of the amount should be made

25 A sesori is not to be allowed any power of deciding objections against their own assessments except under classes V and VI in which cases an appeal will lie to the Sub divisional Officer In districts where there are no sub divisions or where the objection is assessed within the Sudder Sub division of the district this appeal will lie to the Assistant or Deputy Collector in charge of License Tax duties at head quarters

26 Petition of objection against assessments in the first class must be made to the Assistant or Deputy Collector in charge of the License Tax duties at head quarters The appeal from his decision will lie to the Collector of the district

27 The Sub divisional Officer or the Deputy Collector in charge at head quarters shall forward to the Collector a list of those persons who have failed to make payment within 60 days from and after the service of notices under section 17 The Collector shall thereupon the fee of Rs                      being the fee specified as payable in respect of a license by (persons firms etc) falling under class                      of the Schedule of the said Act

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL

WHEREAS by The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act 1862 it was enacted that on and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and sixty three or such later day as might be fixed for the purpose by Order in Council the Regulations contained in the table marked C in the schedule to the said Act should come into operation and be of the same force as if they were enacted in the body of the said Act but that Her Majesty might from time to time on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade, by Order in Council annul or modify any of the said Regulations or make new Regulations in addition thereto or in substitution thereof and that any alterations in or additions to such Regulations made in manner aforesaid should be of the same force as the Regulations in the said schedule

And whereas by the same Act it was further provided that whenever it should be made to appear to Her Majesty that the Government of any foreign country was willing that the Regulations for preventing collisions contained in Table C in the schedule to the said Act or such other Regulations for preventing collisions as are for the time being in force under the said Act should apply to the ships of such country when beyond the limits of British jurisdiction Her Majesty might by Order in Council direct that such Regulations should apply to the ships of the said foreign country whether within British jurisdiction or not and it was further provided by the said Act that whenever an Order in Council had been issued applying any Regulation made by or in pursuance of, the said Act to the ships of any foreign country such ships should in all cases arising in any British court be deemed to be subject to such Regulation and should, for the purpose of such Regulation be treated as if they were British ships

And whereas by an Order in Council made in pursuance of the said recited Act and dated the ninth day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three Her Majesty was pleased to direct—First that the Regulations contained in the schedule to the said Act should be modified by the substitution for such Regulations of certain Regulations appended to the said Order

Secondly that the said Regulations appended to the said Order should on and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and sixty three apply to French ships whether within British jurisdiction or not

And whereas by several Orders in Council subsequently made Her Majesty was pleased to direct that the Regulations appended to the said Order of the ninth of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three should apply to ships of the countries specified in the said Orders whether within British jurisdiction or not

And whereas by Order in Council, dated the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight Her Majesty on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade was pleased to make certain additions to the Regulations appended to the said first recited Order in Council for the purpose of explaining Articles 11 and 13 of the said Regulations and of removing doubt and misapprehension concerning the effect of the said two Articles

And whereas the Admiralty and the Board of Trade have jointly recommended to Her Majesty that the Regulations contained in the Order in Council dated the ninth day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three and the additions to the said Regulations contained in the said Order in Council of the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight shall be annulled from the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty and that there shall be substituted for the said Regulations and additions respectively the new Regulations hereinafter set forth

And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that the governments of the several foreign countries mentioned in the second schedule hereto are respectively willing that the Regulations contained in the first schedule hereto shall apply to ships of the said countries respectively whether within British jurisdiction or not

Now therefore Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said recited Act, and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to direct—

First, that on and after the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty the Regulations appended to the said Order in Council of the ninth day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three and the additions to the said Regulations contained in the said Order in Council of the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight shall be annulled and that there shall be substituted for the said Regulations and additions respectively the new Regulations contained in the first schedule hereto

Second that the said Regulations contained in the said first schedule hereto shall from and after the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty, apply to ships of the countries mentioned in the said second schedule hereto, whether within British jurisdiction or not.

REGULATIONS FOR PREVENTING COLLISIONS AT SEA

Preliminary

ART 1 In the following rules every steam ship which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing ship and every steam ship which is under steam, whether under sail or not is to be considered a ship under steam

Rules Concerning Lights

ART 2 The lights mentioned in the following Articles numbered 3 4 5, 6, 7, 8 9 10 and 11 and no others shall be carried in all weathers from sunset to sunrise

ART 3 A sailing steam ship when under way shall carry—

- (a) On or in front of the foremast, at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet and if the breadth of the ship exceeds 20 feet then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth a bright white light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the ship, viz from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least five miles
- (b) On the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the starboard side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere at a distance of at least two miles
- (c) On the port side a red light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the port side and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere at a distance of at least two miles
- (d) The said green and red side lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least three feet forward from the light so as to prevent the lights from being seen astern

ART 4 A steam ship, when towing another ship shall in addition to her side lights carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart so as to distinguish her from other steam ships Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character and shall be carried in the same position as the white light which other steam ships are required to carry

ART 5 A ship whether a steam ship or a sailing ship when employed either in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable or which from any accident is not under command, shall at night carry in the same position as the white light which steam ships are required to carry and if a steam ship in place of that light three red lights in globular lanterns each not less than 10 inches in diameter in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart in front of but not lower than her foremast head three black balls or shapes each two feet in diameter

These shapes and lights are to be taken by approaching ships as signals that the ship using them is not under command and cannot therefore get out of the way

The above ships when not making any way through the water, shall not carry the side lights but when making way shall carry them

ART 6 A sailing ship under way or being towed shall carry the same lights as are provided by Article 3 for a steam ship under way with the exception of the white light, which she shall never carry

ART 7 When vessels in the case of small vessels during bad weather the green and red, side lights cannot be fixed these lights shall be kept on deck on their respective sides of the vessel ready for use and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision in such manner as to make them most visible and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screen

ART 8 A ship whether a steam ship or a sailing ship when at anchor shall carry where it can be seen but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull a white light, in a globular lantern of not less than eight inches in diameter and so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light visible all round the horizon, at a distance of at least one mile

ART 9 A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall not carry the lights required for other vessels but shall carry a white light at the mast head visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare up lights at short intervals which shall never exceed fifteen minutes

A pilot vessel, when not engaged on her station on pilotage duty shall carry lights similar to those of other ships

ART 10 (a)—Open fishing boats and other open boats when under way shall not be obliged to carry the side lights required for other vessels but every such boat shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other side and on the approach of or to other vessels such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side

(b)—A fishing vessel and an open boat when at anchor shall exhibit a bright white light

(c)—A fishing vessel when employed in drift net fishing, shall carry on one of her masts two red lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart

(d)—A trawler at work shall carry on one of her masts two lights in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart the upper light red and the lower green and shall also either carry the side lights required for other vessels or if the side lights cannot be carried have ready at hand the coloured lights as provided in Article 7, or a lantern with a red and a green glass as described in paragraph (a) of this Article

(e)—Fishing vessels and open boats shall not be prevented from using a flare up in addition if they desire to do so

(f)—The lights mentioned in this Article are substituted for those mentioned in the 11th 13th and 14th Articles of the Convention between France and England scheduled to the British Sea Fisheries Act 1869

(g)—All lights required by this Article except side lights shall be in globular lanterns so constructed as to show all round the horizon

Sound Signals for Fog, &c

ART 12 A steam ship shall be provided with a steam whistle or other efficient steam sound signal so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstructions and with an efficient fog horn to be sounded by bellows or other mechanical means and also with an efficient bell A sailing ship shall be provided with a similar fog horn and bell

In fog, mist or falling snow, whether by day or night the signals described in this Article shall be used as follows that is to say—

(a)—A steam ship under way shall make with her steam whistle or other steam sound signal at intervals of not more than two minutes, a prolonged blast

(b)—A sailing ship under way shall make with her fog horn at intervals of not more than two minutes when on the starboard tack one blast when on the port tack two blasts in succession and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession

(c)—A steam ship and a sailing ship when not under way shall, at intervals of not more than two minutes, ring the bell

Speed of Ships to be moderate in Fog, &c

Meeting and Sailing Rules

ART 14 When two sailing ships are approaching one another, so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other as follows, viz —

(a)—A ship which is running free shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close hauled

(c)—When both are running free with the wind on different sides the ship which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other

(d)—When both are running free with the wind on the same side, the ship which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the ship which is to leeward

(e)—A ship which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other ship

ART 15 If two ships under steam are meeting end on or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other

This Article only applies to cases where ships are meeting end on or nearly end on in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two ships which must if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other

The only cases to which it does apply are, when each of the two ships is end on, or nearly end on to the other in other words to cases in which by day each ship sees the mast of the other in a line or nearly in a line, with her own and by night, to cases in which each ship is in such a position as to see both the side lights of the other

It does not apply by day to cases in which a ship sees another ahead crossing her own course, or by night to cases where the red light of one ship is opposed to the red light of the other or where the green light of one ship is opposed to the green light of the other or where a red light without a green light or a green light without a red light is seen ahead or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead

ART 16 If two ships under steam are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the ship which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other

ART 17 If two ships one of which is a sailing ship and the other a steam ship are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision the steam ship shall keep out of the way of the sailing ship

ART 18 Every steam ship when approaching another ship so as to involve risk of collision, shall slacken her speed or stop and reverse if necessary

ART 19 In taking any course authorized or required by these Regulations a steam ship under way may indicate that course to any other ship which she has in sight by the following signals on her steam whistle viz —

One short blast to mean— ' I am directing my course to starboard

Two short blasts to mean— ' I am directing my course to port '

Three short blasts to mean— I am going full speed astern

The use of these signals is optional but if they are used the course of the ship must be in accordance with the signal made

ART 20 Notwithstanding anything contained in any preceding Article every ship whether a sailing ship or steam ship overtaking any other shall keep out of the way of the overtaken ship

ART 21 In narrow channels every steam ship shall when it is safe and practicable keep to that side of the fairway or midchannel which lies on the starboard side of such ship

ART 22 Where by the above rules one of two ships is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course

ART 23 In obeying and construing these rules due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger

No Ship under any circumstances to neglect proper precautions

ART 24 Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any ship or the owner, or master or crew thereof, from the consequence of any neglect to carry lights or signals or of any neglect to keep a proper look out or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen or by the special circumstances of the case

Reservation of Rules for Harbours and Inland Navigation

ART 25 Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule duly made by local authority relative to the navigation of any harbour river or inland navigation

Special Lights for Squadrons and Convoys

ART 26 Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war or for ships sailing under convoy

The 6th April 1880—The following revised notification is published for general information in supersession of the notification of the 27th March 1880 published at page 251 Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 31st idem—

Whereas His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council has approved of the office of Judge of Chittagong being separated from that of Commissioner and of the abolition of the office of Additional Judge at that place and has also approved of the amalgamation of the Judgeships of East Burdwan and Bankoora (West Burdwan) the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in exercise of the powers vested in him by Section 18 Act VI of 1871 directs that the jurisdiction of the District Judge of East Burdwan (to be hereafter called Burdwan) shall include the present Judgeship of Bankoora (West Burdwan) which is abolished and also under the powers vested in him by the Code of Criminal Procedure Section 13 abolishes the Sessions Court of Bankoora and directs that the jurisdiction thereof shall be included within the jurisdiction of the Sessions Division of East Burdwan to be called Burdwan. And whereas the business pending before the District Judge of Burdwan will require the aid of an Additional Judge for its speedy disposal the

Lieutenant Governor with the sanction of the Governor General in Council has constituted the office of Additional Judge of Burdwan.

The Lieutenant Governor directs that the Court of the Additional Judge of Burdwan shall ordinarily be held at Bankoora but may be held at Burdwan when the District Judge so directs or on the occasion of his absence from Burdwan.

The Lieutenant Governor also directs under Act V (B.C.) of 1869 that the Court of Session of Burdwan shall sit at Bankoora for the trial of cases committed by any Magistrate in West Burdwan.

The above arrangements will take effect from the date on which the officer appointed to act as Judge of the amalgamated districts assumes charge of his duties.

The Lieutenant Governor has also appointed a separate officer to be District and Sessions Judge of Chittagong and the Commissioner of Chittagong will cease to hold that office from the date on which he makes over charge of his duties as District and Sessions Judge to the officer appointed to perform those duties.

10 The proceeds of the public works cess shall be paid into the public treasury and shall be applied

(1) to the payment of such contributions to the district road fund as the Lieutenant Governor may think proper in consideration of the said cess being assessed and collected jointly with the road cess by establishments paid from the district fund and (2) to the construction charges and maintenance of Provincial Public Works and to the payment of interest on capital which may have been expended or which may hereafter be expended on such works in such manner as the Lieutenant Governor may direct

11 The Lieutenant Governor shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette fix the date from which the cesses leviable under this Act in any district or part of a district shall take effect therein, and may fix and from time to time alter the date from which the cess year shall run in any district or part thereof

PART II

MODE OF ASSESSMENT

CHAPTER II—Valuation of Lands

12 Upon the commencement of this Act in any district or part of a district the Lieutenant Governor may order that a valuation shall be made of such district or part of a district and from time to time after the expiration of the term of five years from the beginning of the cess year in which the levy of the cesses took effect in accordance with any such valuation or with any revaluation as hereafter provided in this section or at any time within twelve months previous to the expiration of such term, the Lieutenant Governor may if he think fit order that a revaluation shall be made of any such district or part of a district and such revaluation shall take effect from the beginning of such cess year as the Lieutenant Governor may direct

under this Act or Bengal Act X of 1871 the holder of any such estate or tenure may apply to the Collector to review his estimate or tenure and for such purpose shall lodge in the office of the Collector returns in the form in Schedule (A) contained and thereupon the Collector shall proceed to revalue such estate or tenure and if he make any alteration in the valuation of any such tenure shall give notice of such alteration to the holder of the estate or superior tenure in which such tenure is included and shall alter the valuation of such estate accordingly

Provided that no revaluation or reduction of the amount of cesses previously payable by any estate or tenure in consequence of a revaluation under this section shall take effect until the beginning of the cess year commencing next after such revaluation unless the application for revaluation shall have been made and the returns necessarily lodged in the Collector's office within three months of the beginning of a cess year in which case such revaluation and reduction if any shall take effect from the commencement of such year

14 Whenever the Lieutenant Governor has ordered that a valuation of any district or part of a district shall be made for the purposes of this Act the Collector shall cause a proclamation to be issued requiring every holder of any estate or tenure which is liable to pay an annual amount of revenue or an annual amount of rent exceeding one hundred rupees and every holder of any revenue free estate or tenure the gross rental of which exceeds one hundred rupees severally to lodge at the Collector's office within one month a return of all lands comprised in his estate or tenure in the form in Schedule (A) contained giving the particulars in such form set forth

The Collector shall cause such proclamation to be published by affixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the office of such Collector in every civil court in every police station and in the office of every subdivisional officer within the district and in any other manner which the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time direct

15 At any time at which the Lieutenant Governor might order a revaluation of a district or part of a district to be made as provided by section 12 he may if he think fit instead of so ordering make an order that particular estates or tenures only in such district or part of a district shall be revalued

16 Whenever any proclamation has been published as mentioned in section 14 in any district and whenever the Lieutenant Governor has made an order, under the last preceding section that a revaluation of particular estates and tenures only shall be made the Collector shall cause a notice to be served in respect of every estate and tenure which is to be valued or revalued and in respect of which no return shall have been lodged in accordance with the requirement of such proclamation requiring every holder of such estate or tenure severally to lodge at the Collector's office the return mentioned in section 14 and shall also cause a similar notice to be served in respect of every tenure included in any such estate or tenure which may have been named in any return lodged in pursuance of the provisions of this Act or of Bengal Act X of 1871 either for the purposes of the valuation or revaluation then contemplated or for the purposes of any previous valuation or revaluation or of which the existence may in any other way have come to his knowledge.

17 The notice mentioned in the last preceding section shall be in the form in Schedule (BI) or in Schedule (BII) contained as the case may be and shall require every holder of the estate or tenure severally to lodge the return within the time specified below viz—

If the return relates to an estate or tenure which is liable to the payment of annual revenue or of rent not exceeding Rs. 500 or to any hereditary interest in such estate or tenure

Within six weeks of the service of the notice

If the return relates to any other estate or interest therein

Within three months of the service of the notice

In the case of hereditary and non-hereditary tenures

If the return relates to any estate or tenure which the gross annual rental does not exceed Rs. 500 or to any hereditary interest in such estate or tenure

Within six weeks of the service of the notice

If the return relates to any other estate or interest therein

Within three months of the service of the notice

The Collector may in his discretion extend the time allowed for lodging any such return

18 All holders of estates or tenures in liability for the payment of which such notice has been served who shall without sufficient cause being shown to the satisfaction of the Collector refuse or omit to lodge the required return in the office of such Collector within the time allowed by such notice in respect of the estate or tenure which they hold or within any extended time which may have been allowed by the Collector for lodging such return shall be severally liable to a fine which may extend to fifty rupees for every day after the expiration of such time or extended time until such return is furnished or until the value of the lands comprised in their respective estates and tenures shall have been otherwise ascertained and determined by the Collector as hereinafter provided.

The amount of such fine accruing due from time to time may be levied by the Collector as provided in section 100 and 101 and the fact of an appeal against such fine being pending shall not avail to prevent the levy of any such fine pending the disposal of the appeal unless the Commissioner shall otherwise direct.

Whenever the amount levied in respect of any such fine exceeds five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner and no further levy for such default shall be made otherwise than by authority of the Commissioner.

19 From and after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice or of any extended time under the provisions of section 17

every holder of an estate or tenure in respect of which such notice has been served shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent for any land or tenure situate in any estate or tenure in respect of which no return has been lodged as aforesaid.

The Collector may send a list to the Civil Court of all such holders so making default in lodging returns as aforesaid and such Court shall take judicial notice of the same.

Whenever the required return is lodged in respect of any estate or tenure or whenever the valuation of any such estate or tenure has been otherwise completed the disability imposed on the holder thereof by this section shall cease and if such estate or tenure shall have been included in any list as aforesaid the Collector shall forthwith give notice to the Civil Court of the cessation of such disability.

20 Every holder of an estate or tenure in respect of which a return has been made as required by this chapter shall be precluded from suing for or recovering—

(a) any rent whatsoever for any land holding, or tenure forming part of the estate or tenure to which such return relates, but which has not been mentioned in such return unless it be proved that the holding or tenure for the rent of which the rent is claimed was created subsequently to the lodging of such return.

(b) rent at any higher rate than is mentioned in such return for any land holding or tenure included in such return unless it be proved that the rent of such land or tenure has been lawfully enhanced subsequently to the lodging of such return.

Provided that the Collector may at his discretion at any time within six months from the presentation of any return made under this Part receive a petition correcting any such return.

and on the acceptance of such petition and on payment of the amount of cess due from the date when the corrected valuation came into force rent at the rate shown in the corrected return may be recovered. Such notices as the Collector may direct shall be served upon the parties affected by such petition at the expense of the person lodging the return as aforesaid.

21 If no return shall have been lodged in respect of any lands for which notice under section 16 has been issued the Collector may after the expiration of the time allowed by the notice or of such extended time as is mentioned in section 17 ascertain and fix by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient the annual value of any estate tenure or lands mentioned in such notice, and all expenses incurred in making such valuation may be recovered with all costs of recovery thereof as provided in sections 100 and 101.

22 Whenever the maker of any return under this Act has been convicted on a prosecution under section 96 of making a false return relating to any lands the Collector may by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of such lands and the expense of such valuation may be recovered from the maker of such return as provided in sections 100 and 101

23 Whenever the Collector may deem that any return lodged relating to lands for which no rent is payable by cultivating ryots to the person making such return is untrue or incorrect he may whether any prosecution is mentioned in section 96 shall have been instituted or not by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of such land and in case the annual value of such lands so determined by him shall exceed by one fifth the value stated in such return the expense of such valuation may be recovered from the person by whom such return was lodged as provided in sections 100 and 101 and in all other cases the said expense shall be borne by the District Road Fund established under this Act as hereinafter provided

24 The Collector may whenever he may think fit cause a notice in the form in Schedule (BI) contained to be served on any person on holding any lands or possessing any interest therein although such person may have been mentioned in any return as a cultivating ryot and thereupon such person shall be bound to make a return of the annual value of such lands within one month from the service of such notice in the form in Schedule (A) contained and the provisions in sections 17 and 18 regarding extension of time for lodging a return and regarding fines shall be applicable to such person

25 If no return is made by any person on whom a notice has been served as provided in the last preceding section the Collector may proceed by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient to ascertain the annual value of the land held by such person and in case it appears that such annual value is greater than the rent paid by such person the expense of such valuation shall be borne by such person and may be recovered with all costs of recovery thereof as provided in sections 100 and 101 but in all other cases shall be defrayed from the said District Road Fund

26 If it shall appear to the Collector that any person on whom a notice has been served under section 24 has been wrongly classed in the return as a cultivating ryot the Collector may direct that the entry be corrected and that such person be classed as a tenure holder and thereupon such person shall be deemed to be a tenure holder for the purposes of the assessment and levy of the cesses in respect of the lands held by him

27 Whenever the revenue annually payable in respect of any estate or the rent annually payable in respect of any tenure does not exceed the sum of one hundred rupees, the Collector may, without issuing any notice for such estate or tenure—

(a) in any case determine the annual value of the land comprised therein to be in a permanently settled estate or tenure a sum not exceeding three times and in a temporarily settled estate or tenure a sum not exceeding twice the amount of the annual revenue or rent payable therefor or

(b) when the area of the said estate or tenure has been ascertained determine the annual value of such estate or tenure to be at such rate per acre as to him shall seem fit

28 When the area of any revenue free estate or rent free tenure the gross rental of which does not exceed or is not estimated by the Collector to exceed the sum of one hundred rupees has been ascertained the Collector may without issuing any notice for such estate or tenure determine the annual value of such estate or tenure to be at such rate per acre as to him may seem fit

29 When the land contained in any estate or tenure has been summarily valued by the Collector in the manner provided by clause (a) of section 27 the annual value of any portion of such land which is comprised within a tenure subordinate to such estate or tenure shall be determined according to the following rules—

(1) —When the subordinate tenure comprises the whole of the estate or superior tenure the annual value of the subordinate tenure shall be taken to be the same as that of the estate or superior tenure

(2) —When the subordinate tenure comprises a part only of the land constituting the estate or superior tenure—

(a) The difference between the annual value of the estate or superior tenure and the revenue or rent payable in respect of such estate or superior tenure shall first be ascertained

(b) Next the ratio which such difference bears to such revenue or rent shall be ascertained

(c) Then the amount which bears the same ratio to the rent payable in respect of the subordinate tenure shall be ascertained

(d) Half of the amount so ascertained shall be added to the rent payable in respect of the subordinate tenure and the result shall be taken to be the annual value of the subordinate tenure

Examples—

A—An estate paying a revenue of Rs 80 is summarily valued by the Collector under clause (a) of section 27, at Rs 200. The whole estate is let in patti for a rent of Rs 120. The annual value of the patti tenure will be Rs 200.

B—An estate paying a revenue of Rs 120 is summarily valued by the Collector under clause (a) of section 27 at Rs 200. A part only of the estate is let in patti for a rent of Rs 75.

The difference between the annual value of the estate (Rs 200) and the revenue paid in respect of it (Rs 120) is Rs 80. This difference bears a ratio of two thirds to the revenue (Rs 120).

The amount which bears the same ratio (two thirds) to the rent payable in respect of the patni (Rs 75) is Rs 50.

add half of Rs 50 to the rent payable in respect of the patni tenure, and the result (Rs 75 + 25 =) Rs 100 will be the annual value of the patni tenure.

C — Within the patni tenure paying a rent of Rs 75 as in example B is a darpatni tenure paying a rent of Rs 54.

The difference between the annual value of the patni ascertained as above (Rs 100) and the rent payable in respect of the patni (Rs 75) is Rs 25, which bears a ratio of one third to the said rent.

The amount which bears the same ratio (one third) to the rent payable in respect of the darpatni (Rs 54) is Rs 18.

add half of Rs 18 to the rent payable in respect of the darpatni, and the result (Rs 54 + 9 =) Rs 63 will be the annual value of the darpatni tenure.

30 When the land contained in any estate or tenure has been summarily valued according to a rate per acre under clause (b) of section 27 or under section 28 the annual value of the land comprised in any subordinate tenure shall be taken at the same rate per acre as that of the estate or superior tenure.

31 The holder of any estate tenure or subordinate tenure which has been summarily valued under section 27 or 28 may within one month from the posting of the valuation roll in respect thereof under section 32 lodge a return in the form in Schedule (A) contained in regard to such estate tenure or subordinate tenure and thereupon such return shall be deemed to be a return made as required by section 16 and shall be dealt with accordingly.

32 Instead of proceeding to value any estate or tenure summarily under the provisions of section 27 or 28 the collector may if he think fit cause a notice to be served in respect of any such estate or tenure in the form in Schedule (BI) or Schedule (BII) contained as the case may be and thereupon all the provisions of this Part shall apply in the same way as they would have applied if the annual Government revenue or rent payable in respect of such estate or tenure had exceeded one hundred rupees.

Lands used for Tea (coffee or Cinchona)

33 In the case of lands acquired under any rules issued by or under the authority of the Government for the sale lease grant or clearance of waste lands or held directly from Government, and used for the cultivation of tea, coffee, or cinchona the Collector shall, in lieu of the notice prescribed by section 16 cause a notice to be served calling on the holder of such lands to lodge within two months of the service of such notice, a return in the form in Schedule (C) contained giving the particulars in such form set forth and the annual value of such lands shall be fixed at ten rupees in respect of every acre therein entered as cultivated unless the Board of Revenue shall in any particular case prescribe a lower rate. The provisions of sections 18 and 21 shall apply to all lands in respect of which a notice has been issued under this section.

Publication of Valuation Rolls and Duration of Valuations

34 Whenever any valuation or revaluation is made under this Part the Collector shall cause to be prepared from the returns furnished to him and from the valuations made by him in accordance with this Act a valuation roll of each estate within his district and of the tenures therein comprised noting thereon for each estate the amount of revenue annually payable to Government on which the deduction specified in section 11 is to be calculated.

On the application of any holder of an estate or tenure or holding within his district and on payment of such copying fee as the Board of Revenue shall from time to time determine the Collector shall cause to be furnished to such holder a copy or corrected copy of so much of any such returns and of any such roll as relates to the lands included within his estate tenure or holding.

35 On the completion of every roll prescribed under this Part the Collector shall cause a copy thereof to be posted up at the mail cutcherry of the estate to which such roll refers and shall cause extracts of such portions of any such roll as refer to any tenure to be posted up at the mail cutcherry of such tenure provided that if no such mail cutcherry be found such roll and such extracts shall be posted up at some conspicuous places on the estate and tenures respectively to which they refer.

The person who is entrusted with the publication of any such return shall obtain an acknowledgment in writing signed by two persons who may be either respectable residents of the neighbourhood or chowkidars or other officers of Government to the effect that such return was duly published on the spot and shall give in such acknowledgment to the Collector.

36 Except as otherwise in this Part expressly provided every valuation and every revaluation made under this Chapter shall remain in force for the term of five years from the date fixed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 11 as the date from which the cess leviable in pursuance thereof shall take effect and thereafter until another revaluation and assessment in substitution thereof shall have been ordered and completed.

37 Nothing in section 36 contained shall be held to debar the Collector with the sanction of the Board of Revenue from making at any time any reduction which he may think fit in the valuation of any estate or tenure.

or from making a valuation of and assessing and levying cess under the rules laid down in this Part upon any estate or tenure.

which for any reason whatever has been omitted from the valuations and assessments for the time being in force or which was not in existence when such valuation or assessment was made

CHAPTER III — Rating and Levy of the Cesses

38 The road cess for each year shall be assessed and levied in each district as provided in section 6 and subject to the maximum rate in that section mentioned at such rate as may be determined for such year by the Committee of such district with the approval of the Commissioner under section 152 or 153 or with the approval of the Lieutenant Governor under section 155, as the case may be or at such rate as the Lieutenant Governor may order under section 155

39 The public works cess for each year shall be assessed and levied in each district as provided in section 6 and subject to the maximum rate in that section mentioned at such rate as the Lieutenant Governor may determine for such year

40 When the rate of road cess and public works cess to be levied in any district shall have been determined for any year and published in the Calcutta Gazette as provided in section 157 the Collector shall cause the rate so determined to be published by affixing a notification in some conspicuous place in the office of the said Collector in every civil court in every police station and in the office of every subdivisional officer within the district, and shall cause such rate to be proclaimed by beat of drum throughout the district and shall cause to be served on the holder of every estate and of every tenure within the district paying rent directly to the Collector a notice showing the amount of road cess and public works cess payable in respect of his estate or tenure and specifying the date from which such road cess and public works cess will take effect

Provided that it shall not be necessary to serve such notice when no change has been made in the valuation of the estate or tenure or in the rate of road cess or public works cess since the issue of the last notice under this section

41 (1)—Except as otherwise in this Act provided every holder of an estate shall yearly pay to the Collector the entire amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of the lands comprised in such estate at the rate or rates which may have been determined for such cesses respectively for the year as in this Act provided less a deduction to be calculated at one half of the said rates for every rupee of the revenue entered in the valuation roll of such estate as payable in respect thereof

(2)—Every holder of a tenure shall yearly pay to the holder of the estate or tenure within which the land held by him is included, the entire amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of the land comprised in his tenure at the rate or rates which may have been determined for such cesses respec-

may have been determined for such cesses respectively for the year as in this Act provided less a deduction to be calculated at one half of the said rates for every rupee of the rent payable by him for such tenure

(3)—Every cultivating ryot shall pay to the person to whom his rent is payable one half of the said road cess and public works cess calculated at the said rate or rates respectively upon the rent payable by him, or upon the annual value ascertained under the provisions of section 24 or 25 of the land held by him

42 (1)—Every holder of a revenue paying estate shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in equal instalments on the several days fixed for the payment of the instalments of the Government revenue due in respect of his estate or if such revenue be payable in one annual sum then on the day fixed for the payment of such sum

(2) Every holder of a revenue free estate shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in two equal instalments or in one annual payment upon such days or day as shall be for that purpose appointed by any order of the Lieutenant Governor

(3)—Every holder of a rent-paying tenure and every cultivating ryot shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in instalments in the proportion of the instalments of rent payable in respect of the tenure or holding of such tenure holder or ryot

Provided that in cases in which according to local usage or to the terms of any agreement no part of such rent falls due before the end of the year on account of which it is payable the tenure holder or ryot shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in two equal instalments upon such days as shall be for that purpose appointed by any order of the Lieutenant Governor

43 In case of partition of an estate being effected under Regulation XIX of 1814, or Bengal Act VIII of 1876, or any similar Act after valuation of such estate and while such valuation remains in force the total valuation of the original estate shall be distributed proportionately under the order of the Collector over the newly formed estates whereupon the newly formed estates shall for the purposes of this Act take the place of the original estate the liability to pay cess in respect of each newly formed estate being separate and distinct from the liability to pay cess in respect of any other of such newly formed estates

Such separate liability shall take effect from the same date as the separate liability of the newly formed estates respectively in respect of land revenue

The procedure prescribed by sections 34 and 35 shall be followed whenever a redistribution of the valuation is made in consequence of a partition as mentioned in the last preceding section

44 When a recorded sharer of a joint revenue paying estate has opened a separate account under Act XI of 1859, or under section 70 of Bengal Act

VII of 1876 or any similar law for the time being in force for the regulation of the opening and maintaining of such separate accounts he shall be entitled in regard to the payment and realization of road cess and public works cess under this Act to all the advantages of separate liability enjoyed by him under the said Act XI of 1859, and Bengal Act VII of 1876 in regard to the payment and realization of revenue and shall be entitled to separate assessment and to the issue of separate notices under this Act from the date on which such advantages shall take effect in respect of the demand of Government revenue

45 If any instalment of road cess or public works cess or part thereof payable to the Collector shall not be paid within fifteen days from the date on which the same becomes due the amount of such instalment or part thereof may be recovered at any time within three years after it became due with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum calculated from the date on which such instalment became due and with all costs of recovering the same

46 (1)—In any district to which the Lieutenant Governor may specially order that the provisions of this section shall be extended it shall be lawful for the Collector to keep a separate account in respect of the amount of cesses payable and paid by any holder of a revenue free estate who is recorded in Part I of the Collector's general register of revenue free lands as proprietor or manager of any specified share or interest in any revenue free property

(2)—Such separate account shall be opened and kept under such rules as to the levy of fees and other matters and subject to such conditions and in such manner as the Board of Revenue may from time to time prescribe and the Board of Revenue may at any time order that any separate account which has been so opened shall be closed from such time as they may direct, and no longer kept as a separate account

(3)—As long as any separate account shall remain open as provided in the preceding section and no longer the joint liability of the holders of such revenue free estate for payment of the entire amount payable in respect of such estate shall cease and the Collector shall recover the amount of cess or other demand due in respect of each share or interest for which an account has been so separately kept from the holder or holders of such share or interest only and if the Collector shall think fit to proceed under section 101 he shall take action under that section against the share or interest only in respect of which the sum demanded is due and the rents thereof

47 Every holder of an estate or tenure to whom any sum may be payable under the provisions of this Act may recover the same with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum in the same manner and under the same penalties as if the same were arrears of rent due to him

48 Any shareholder in an estate or tenure who may have paid the road cess or public works cess payable in respect of such estate or tenure or any part thereof in excess of the amount proportionate to his own interest in such estate or tenure may recover from his co-sharers such sums as he may have paid on account of their respective shares and interests in the same manner and under similar penalties or may take credit for such sums in any adjustment of accounts between himself and his co-sharers

49 Whenever any shareholder in an estate who is recorded in the general register of revenue paying and revenue free lands maintained by the Collector or whenever any shareholder in an estate the extent of whose share or interest in such estate is recorded in any other register of revenue paying revenue or rent to the Collector direct which is kept up by the Collector shall have paid the road cess or public works cess payable in respect of such estate or any part thereof in excess of the amount proportionate to his own interest in such estate he may within fifteen days of such payment being made move the Collector to make a certificate as provided by any law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands specifying the amount which has been paid in by such shareholder as cess in respect of the recorded share or interest of any other shareholder in the estate and thereupon such Collector may if he think fit shall make such certificate and such certificate shall have the same effect as a certificate made for the recovery of a Public Demand and the same notices shall be issued and the same proceedings may be taken thereon by the Collector as in case of such certificate

Provided that the person in whose favour the certificate has been made shall be deemed to be the decree holder for the sum mentioned in the certificate and all proceedings taken by the Collector for the recovery of the sums mentioned in the certificate shall be taken at the instance of the person in whose favour the certificate has been made and at his cost, and on his responsibility and not otherwise

Provided also that if any person against whom such certificate has been made shall object that the amount of the cesses for the recovery of which the certificate has been made is greater than the amount which the applicant for the certificate would recover from such person in a civil court as being equitably payable in respect of such person's share or interest in the estate or tenure and if in the opinion of the Collector there is probable ground for such objection the Collector may, if he see fit, cancel such certificate and leave the applicant to his remedy in the civil court

CHAPTER IV — Valuation and assessment of lands held rent free and payment and recovery of Cess in respect thereof

50 All lands held without payment of rent other than lands mentioned in section 33 and other than estates entered on the General Register of Revenue free lands of the district shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to form a part of the tenure within the local boundaries of which they are contained and if they are not contained within the local boundaries of any tenure, then to form a part of the estate within the local boundaries of which they are contained, and if they are not contained within the local boundaries of any estate, then to form a part of the estate in which they were included at the original settlement of such estate and if there be any doubt as to the estate in which they were so included then to form a part of such conterminous estate as the Collector in whose district such conterminous estate is situate shall by an order under his seal appoint

51 Every holder of an estate or tenure who is required by this Act to submit a return in the form in Schedule (A) contained shall be bound to enter in such return all lands of the nature of those specified in section 50 according to the tenor thereof and shall be bound to pay road cess and public works cess on the annual value of such lands, at one half of the rates fixed under this Act for the levy of such cesses respectively in the district generally for the year

52 Whenever any land held rent free shall have been included in the return of any estate or tenure as provided in the last preceding section the Collector shall on publication of the valuation roll of such estate or tenure as provided in section 30 cause to be published a notice in the form in Schedule (D) contained to which notice shall be annexed such extracts from the valuation roll of such estate or tenure as relate to such land

Such publication may be lawfully made by affixing one copy of such notice and extracts at some conspicuous place in the village within which such land is situate

by depositing another copy of the same at any police station registration office or other Government office in the neighbourhood for the inspection of all concerned

and by proclamation as herein next provided

The proclamation shall be made by beat of drum throughout such village and shall be to the effect that such extracts have been so affixed and deposited and that the owner or holder of such land is required to inform himself by inspection of such extracts of the valuation put upon his land, and to pay yearly to the holder of the estate or tenure of which such land is according to the provisions of section 50 to be deemed to form a part the cesses which shall be payable in respect of such land under the provisions of this Act

53 Within a reasonable time not exceeding thirty days after the issue of any process for the recovery of any sum due from him as cess under this Chapter the owner, holder, or occupier of any such land may make before the Collector an objection to the valuation of his land as entered in the valuation roll so published, and on such objection being made the Collector shall by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of the land in the possession of such owner, holder or occupier, and may alter such roll accordingly and shall give notice of any such alteration to the holder of the estate or tenure to which such roll relates

Provided that nothing in this section shall be taken to authorise the Collector to alter any return so as to show any area of land as held rent

free which the maker of such return can show to be accounted for by him in the return as rent paying land

54 In the following cases that is to say—

(1) when a new valuation or revaluation takes effect in any district or part of a district

(2) when the rate fixed for the levy of the road cess or of the public works cess in any year is changed from the rate at which such cess was levied in the preceding year, and

(3) when the dates fixed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 57 for payment of instalments of the cesses by holders of rent free land are changed

the holder of every estate or tenure to whom any cesses are payable in respect of lands held free of rent shall cause a notice to be published in every village in which any such lands are situate informing all concerned of the rate which has been fixed for the levy of such cesses respectively and requiring every holder and owner of any such land of which the cesses are payable to the person who causes the notice to be published to pay the amount of the cesses specified in such notice as it falls due until a similar notice of change of the amount shall be given

Such notice shall contain the following information in respect of each holding of rent free land which is entered separately in the Collector's valuation roll—

- (1) a specification of the land in respect of which the cesses are payable
- (2) the name of the owner, holder or occupier of such lands if known
- (3) the annual value of such land as entered in the Collector's valuation roll
- (4) the rate on each rupee of the value which has been fixed under the Act for the levy of the road cess and public works cess respectively for the year
- (5) the amount of the cesses payable in respect of each holding calculated at such rates and
- (6) the dates fixed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 57 for the payment of each instalment and the amount of each instalment

55 Publication of the notice abovementioned may be lawfully made by affixing one copy of the same at some conspicuous place in the village in which such land is situate

by depositing another copy thereof to be available for general inspection at any mail cutting or of the estate or tenure in which such land is included or at any other convenient place in the neighbourhood

The proclamation shall be made by beat of drum throughout such village and shall be to the effect that such notice has been so affixed and so deposited that it is open to inspection at the mail cutting or other convenient place as above mentioned and that every owner and holder of rent free land is required to inform himself of the contents of such notice and to pay the amount of the cesses due by him accordingly

56 After publication of the extracts from the roll as provided in section 52, and in cases in which publication of the notice mentioned in section 51 is required after publication of such notice and not otherwise every owner and holder of any rent free land included in such extract shall be bound to pay year by year to the holder of the estate or tenure in which the land held by him is deemed to form a part, the amount of the road cess and public works cess which may thereafter become due to such holder calculated on the annual value of such land as entered in such extracts or on any other annual value which may have been determined by the Collector under section 53 at the full rate or rates which may have been fixed under this Act for the levy of such cesses respectively in the district generally for the year

57 The payment of the cesses for each year by the holder of any land which is held rent free shall be made by two equal instalments upon such days as shall be for that purpose appointed by the Lieutenant Governor

58 When an instalment of the cesses due on any rent free land is not paid to the holder of the estate or tenure of which such land is deemed to form a part within one month of the date on which such instalment is payable the holder of such estate or tenure shall be entitled to recover a sum equal to double the amount of such instalment due to him under sections 56 and 57 with interest on such sum calculated at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the date on which such instalment was payable and with all costs of suit

Provided that such holder shall have paid to the Collector all sums due to such Collector up to date in respect of road cess and public works cesses and not otherwise

59 If the holder of any estate or tenure shall have omitted to enter in his return any rent free land which under section 51 he was bound to enter in such return, and has failed to enter any such land in his return lodged with the Collector under the provisions of the "District Road Cess Act 1871" such holder may at any time after the passing of this Act give in to the Collector a Supplementary Return showing the necessary particulars in respect of the land so omitted or not entered and he shall thereupon pay to the Collector the amount of the cesses which would have been payable by him in respect of such land for the three years next preceding or for any shorter period which may have elapsed since the estate or tenure was last valued

Such Supplementary Return shall to all intents and purposes have the same effect as a return duly made under the provisions of section 51

60 Sections 51 52 53 and 54 shall be applicable to and in respect of any rent free land included in a supplementary return as provided in the last preceding section

61 The provisions of sections 57 and 58 shall be applicable to every amount which, as provided in section 56 may become payable by the owner and holder of any such

rent free land to the holder of any such estate or tenure after the fulfilment of the requirements in sections 52 53 and 54 contained

62 The provisions of section 58 shall not be applicable to any such amount which may have become so payable under the provisions of Bengal Act X of 1871 or of this Act, before the fulfilment of the requirements of the said sections 52 53 and 54 but when any instalment of cess which may have become payable before the fulfilment of such requirements has not been paid to the holder of such estate or tenure on the date on which such instalment was payable the holder of such estate or tenure may recover the amount of such instalment together with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum on such amount and with all costs of suit

Provided that no holder of an estate or tenure shall recover any amount under the provisions of this section unless he has paid to the Collector all sums which became payable by him to such Collector on account of road cess and public works cess at any date within the year in which the amount sought to be recovered became payable to such holder of an estate or tenure

63 As soon as the said requirements shall have been fulfilled the owner, or person in receipt of the rents and profits or in possession and enjoyment of such rent free land, shall be liable to pay the cesses thereafter falling due on such land to the holder of the estate or tenure, as provided in sections 56 and 57 and subject to the penalty for default mentioned in section 58

64 (1)—Every holder of an estate or tenure who has included any rent free lands in any return made to the Collector in respect of his estate or tenure under the provisions of the 'District Road Cess Act 1871' and has paid to the Collector any cess payable under the said Act or under the 'Provincial Public Works Act 1877, in respect of the said rent free lands may at any time after the commencement of this Act lodge with such Collector an additional return in the form given in Part IV of Schedule (A)

(2)—Such additional return shall be deemed to be a supplementary return within the meaning of section 59 and from the date of the inclusion of any such lands in such additional return the same consequences shall ensue and the same rights and obligations accrue to the Collector and to the holder of such estate or tenure and the same liabilities shall attach to the owner holder and occupier of such lands as would have attached to them respectively if such lands had been included in a supplementary return given in under section 59

rent free may be recovered by such holder from any owner or holder of such rent free land, or from any occupier of the same by any means and any process by which the amount might be recovered if it were due on account of rent of a transferable tenure or holding and subject to the same rules as to limitation

Provided that if any such objection as is mentioned in section 53 has been made before the Collector no proceedings shall be commenced and no proceedings which have been commenced shall be continued for recovery of cess in respect of the lands which are the subject of such objection until such objection shall have been disposed of by the Collector

66 In every suit for the recovery of any such sum the person to whom the sum is due may proceed at his option either against the owner or holder of the rent free land in respect of which such amount is due or against the occupier thereof and any decree obtained in such suit against any occupier of such land shall have the same effect and be followed by the same consequences in respect of the execution of such decree against the owner or holder of such land and in respect of the sale of such land in such execution as if the suit had been brought and the decree given against such owner or holder of such land, but shall have effect against such occupier personally so long only as he remains in occupation of such land and no longer

67 Whenever any occupier of land which is held rent free by the owner thereof shall have paid any sum as cess due in respect of such land to any holder of an estate or tenure to whom such cess is payable such occupier shall be entitled to deduct the sum so paid by him from the rent next thereafter payable by him to the owner of such land until such sum is fully adjusted

68 Notwithstanding anything in this Chapter contained the Collector may at any time cause a notice as mentioned in section 16 to be served on the holder of any rent free land which he shall consider not to have been entered in the return of any estate or tenure in which such land should have been included under the provisions of section 51. Such notice shall require the holder of such land to lodge at the office of the said Collector a return in the form in Schedule (A) contained in respect of such land, and on service of such notice the provisions of this Chapter shall no longer apply to such lands but the same consequences shall ensue and the same liabilities shall attach to the holder of such land as would have ensued and would have attached if such lands had constituted a revenue free estate

If the Collector has reason to believe that any land in respect of which he determines to serve such notice has been included in the return of any estate or tenure, he shall give notice of his intention to the holder of such estate or tenure, and shall alter such return as may be requisite and shall correct the valuation and assessment of such estate or tenure as may be required

69 If within one year of the commencement of this Act no notice has been served on the holder of any rent free land as mentioned in section 68 requiring him to lodge a return in the office of the Collector and if such land has not been included in any extracts from the returns of estates and tenures published by the Collector under section 52 or other similar section the holder of such rent free land shall be bound within one month of the expiration of such year to give information of such omission to the Collector together with a description of the said land a specification of the village or villages within which it is situate the area in each village and the amount of rent payable to him thereupon

70 On receipt of such information whether within the time prescribed or after the expiration thereof the Collector may by an order in writing require such owner or holder to make a return of his land in the form in Schedule (A) contained, or if the gross rental of such land does not exceed one hundred rupees may order that such land shall be summarily valued under section 27 or section 28 and may proceed to make such valuation

Such orders shall have the same effect and be followed by the same consequences as the issue of a notice by the Collector under section 68

71 As soon as any rent free land has been valued by the Collector after the issue of a notice as provided in section 68 or after an order made under section 70 the holder of such land shall become liable to pay to the Collector for the road cess and the public works cess due on such land in accordance with such valuation for the three years last preceding such valuation at the full rates at which such cesses were respectively levied for each such year in the district generally with interest calculated at twelve per centum per annum on each instalment from the date on which such instalment would have been payable if the land had been so valued at the last valuation of the district or part of a district

72 Every holder of rent free land who being required by section 69 to give information to the Collector voluntarily or negligently omits to give such information within the prescribed time shall be liable for such omission to such fine as the Collector shall think fit to impose not exceeding fifty rupees for such omission

Provided that no such fine shall be imposed by the Collector for such omission on any holder of rent free land who at any time after the expiration of the time prescribed shall of his own motion and otherwise that after the issue of any notice by the Collector in respect of his lands give such information to the Collector

73 No owner or holder of rent free land on whom a notice has been served by the Collector under section 68 or in respect of whose land an order has been made by the Collector under section 70 shall be liable to have the land to which such notice or order refers included in any return of an estate or tenure or to pay any amount as road cess or public works cess otherwise than to the Collector or to some person appointed by him in that behalf unless on a revaluation of any estate or tenure being made the Collector shall by an order direct that for the future such land shall be included within such estate or tenure for the purposes of this Act and upon such order being made the provisions of this Chapter in so far as they are applicable shall apply to the assessment and payment of road cess and public works cess in respect of such land

CHAPTER V.—Valuation, assessment and levy of cesses on mines, railways and other immovable property

74 On the commencement of this Act in any district and thereafter before the close of each year the Collector shall cause a notice to be served upon the owner, chief agent, manager or occupier of every mine, quarry, tramway, railway and other immovable property not included within the provisions of Chapter II and not being one of the tramways or railways mentioned in section 8 such notice shall be in the form in Schedule (I) contained and shall require such owner, chief agent, manager or occupier to lodge in the office of the Collector within two months a return of the annual net profits of such property calculated on the average of the annual net profits thereof for the last three years for which accounts have been made up

The Collector may in his discretion extend the time allowed for lodging such return

75 Whenever any property assessable under this Chapter lies in two or more districts under the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal the notice to furnish a return under section 74 shall be served on the owner, chief agent, manager or occupier of such property by or through the Collector of the district in which such owner, chief agent, manager or occupier may reside or have his chief place of business and one return for the whole of such property shall suffice

76 Whenever any property assessable under this Chapter is partly within and partly outside the territorial limits administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal the return furnished as required by section 74 shall state the total annual net profits calculated as if such accruing from such property and also the proportion of such profit which has been so calculated to come in the territory administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal

77 If such return be not furnished within the period of two months from the date on which such notice was served or within any extended time allowed by the Collector or if the Collector shall deem that any return so furnished is untrue or incorrect the Collector shall proceed to a valuation and determine by such way or means as to him shall seem expedient the annual net profits of such property calculated as aforesaid

78 If the Collector be unable to ascertain the valuation on value of annual net profits as aforesaid of any property assessable under this Chapter he may by such ways or means as to him shall seem expedient, ascertain and determine the value of such property and shall thereupon determine six per centum on such value to be the annual net profits thereon

79 The expenses incurred in making any valuation under section 77 or section 78 may be recovered with all costs of the recovery thereof as provided in section 100 from the person who was bound to make such return or who made the incorrect return

80 So soon as the Collector shall have ascertained and determined the annual net profits as aforesaid of any such property he shall cause to be served upon the owner, chief agent, manager or occupier of such property a notice informing him of the amount of the annual net profits so ascertained and determined by him

81 New valuations under this Chapter shall be made by the Collector every year and the Collector may for that purpose cause such notices to be issued and served and such returns to be made and shall have such powers and authorities as are in this Part mentioned and conferred

Provided that whenever any return made under section 74 shall be accepted by the Collector for any year the owner, chief agent, manager or occupier of such property may if he see fit declare in writing at the time of such acceptance that the annual net profits set forth in such return may for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be the annual net profits for each of the five years then next ensuing

And if the Collector shall agree to accept such declaration no new valuation shall be made for such property until the said five years shall have expired or until a general revaluation of the district or part of a district be made under section 13 or until the revaluation of such property be specially ordered under section 13

82 When the rate of road cess and public works cess to be levied in the district upon property assessable under this Chapter shall have been determined for any year as in this Act provided the Collector shall cause to be served on the owner, chief agent, manager or occupier of every such property a notice showing the amount of road cess and public works cess respectively payable in respect of such property and specifying the date from which such cess shall take effect. And such amount shall be payable by such owner, chief agent, manager or occupier to the Collector in two equal instalments—the first on the expiry of six months the second on the expiry of nine months after the date fixed as hereinbefore provided for the commencement of the cess year

83 In any case in which the occupier of such property is a different person from the owner and has paid in excess of half of the sum due as road cess and public works cess on account of any instalment such occupier shall be entitled to deduct the amount of such excess from the next and subsequent instalments of rent payable in respect of such property and every owner who has paid in excess of half of such sum due shall be entitled to recover the amount of such excess from the occupier thereof provided that in no case shall an occupier deduct from his annual rent more than half of the rate of the road cess and public works cess on every rupee thereof

84 The total of the cesses payable in respect of property assessable under this chapter owned or occupied by the same person in two or more districts shall be payable to the Collector of the district where the owner, chief agent, manager or occupier may reside or have his chief place of business and shall be by him transmitted to the Collectors of the districts in respect of which such cesses shall be payable in the proportion in which the Committees of each district shall be severally entitled thereto as provided in section 82

85 Whenever any property assessable under this Chapter lies in two or more districts subject to the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal the Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time determine out of the total annual net profits stated in the return or in the valuation of such profits accruing in the territories subject to him and ascertained in any manner as aforesaid the proportions in which such property shall be assessed in each of the said districts respectively and the proportion of the road cess due thereon which shall be assigned to the Committee of each district concerned

86 Every notice under this Chapter may be served—
 (a) by leaving it at the registered office (if any) of such owner, chief agent, manager or occupier or
 (b) by sending it by post in a letter addressed to such owner, chief agent, manager or occupier at his office or if he have more offices than one at his principal office or
 (c) by giving it to such owner, chief agent, manager or occupier

CHAPTER VI—Special provisions for Orissa and Midnapore

87 In any district of the province of Orissa and in the district of Midnapore, the Collector may at any time with the sanction of the Commissioner order that any revenue free estate not exceeding 500 standard bighas in extent of which the valuation shall have been completed shall for the purpose of payment and levy of the cesses due in respect thereof be annexed to any other estate within the ambit of which it is situate or which it adjoins

88 Notice of such order shall be given by the Collector to the holder of the estate to which such revenue free estate is ordered to be so annexed and to such notice shall be appended a copy of the valuation roll of the said revenue free estate and thereupon such holder shall be liable to pay annually to the Collector on account of such revenue free estate road cess and public works cess at one half of the rates which may be fixed under this Act for the levy of the said cesses respectively in the district generally for each year

89 Notice of such order shall also be given by the Collector to the holder of the said revenue free estate and such notice shall require him to pay annually and he shall thereupon be bound to pay to the holder of such other estate road cess and public works cess at the full rates which may be fixed under this Act for the levy of the said cesses respectively in the district generally for each year

90 Such cesses shall be so payable by the holder of the said revenue free estate in two equal instalments on such dates as may be fixed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 12 for the payment of cess by the holders of revenue free estates or in such other instalments and on such other dates as the Lieutenant Governor may direct or if the Lieutenant Governor shall so order the whole amount so payable on account of such cesses for each year shall be payable in a single sum on any such date as the Lieutenant Governor may appoint

In default of payment as hereby required the provisions of section 47 shall be applicable

91 Whenever the service of a notice on the holder of a revenue free estate is required by the provisions of section 40 the Collector shall cause such notice to be served notwithstanding that the revenue free estate may have been annexed to another estate as heretofore provided and the Collector shall further cause a notice containing the same particulars to be served in respect of such revenue free estate on the holder of the other estate to which it is under the provisions of section 47 annexed

92 The Collector may at any time with the sanction of the Commissioner revoke any order passed under section 87 and shall give notice of such revocation both to the holder of the revenue free estate affected and to the holder of the other estate to which such revenue free estate was annexed

CHAPTER VII—Miscellaneous

93 The Collector with the sanction of the Board of Revenue may appoint such establishments as may be required for making valuations and revisions under this Act for making collections, recovering arrears, keeping accounts connected therewith, and gener ally for all purposes connected with such valuations, revaluations, collections and recoveries and other purposes of this Act and may incur such other expenses as are requisite for such purposes and the payment of such establishments and other charges on bills signed by the Collector shall be the first charge on the District Road Fund constituted as hereinafter provided.

94 For the purpose of making any valuation of lands directed by this Part the Collector shall exercise the powers vested in Collectors by clause I of section 23 and clause I of section 21 of Regulation VII of 1829 except so far as the said clauses authorize any enquiry into rights or interests attaching to such lands.

95 Every valuation under this Part shall be open to revision by the Commissioner or Board of Revenue and not otherwise.

96 Any person who is bound to make any return under this Part shall be deemed to be legally bound to give notice and to furnish information to a public servant in respect of the same. If the Collector shall see ground for believing that any return made is false he may prosecute the maker accordingly. And if the person so prosecuted is convicted the Collector may proceed to make a valuation of the lands mentioned in such return by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient.

97 Every return filed by or on behalf of any person in pursuance of the provisions of this Part shall bear the signature and address of such person or his authorized agent and shall be admissible in evidence against such person but shall not be admissible in his favour.

98 Every notice under this Part required to be served except as otherwise expressly provided may be served—

(1) by delivering the same to the person to whom it is directed or on failure of such service by posting the same on some conspicuous part of the house in which the said person resides or by delivering the said notice to any agent authorized to appear generally for the person to whom such notice is directed or

(2) by sending a registered letter containing such notice directed to the subject on at his usual place of abode or to the place where he may be known to reside or

(3) by posting a copy of the notice at the māl cutcherry of the estate or tenure to which the notice relates or if no such māl cutcherry be found on some conspicuous place on such estate or tenure and by delivering in the case of estates paying their annual revenue by four instalments another copy thereof to the agent who shall have paid an instalment of revenue next after the preparation of such notice. 147 The Collector shall at such date as the Committee shall fix prepare and deliver to the Committee a statement showing under separate heads the estimated proceeds for the year then next ensuing, of the road cess at the maximum rate heretofore provided and also of any sum and of any sources of revenue for the said year which the Lieutenant Governor shall have assigned to the said district or which may be otherwise at the disposal of the Committee

148 The Committee shall at some meeting to be held in such month as the Lieutenant Governor shall determine prepare an estimate of the income and expenditure of the Committee for the next year then next ensuing

149 Notwithstanding that any work has been included in such estimate, the Committee shall not begin the construction of any work until detailed specifications and estimates of the same

have been passed or until the execution of the work shall have been otherwise sanctioned by any authority whose sanction to the execution of such work is required under any rules made by the Lieutenant Governor on that behalf as hereinafter provided

150 In making the estimate of income as by the last section required the Committee shall take into consideration any sum and the proceeds of any source of revenue which shall have been placed at their disposal by the Lieutenant Governor, or which may otherwise be available to them and any unexpended balance of the District Road Fund of the previous year which is expected to be available for expenditure in the year of estimate and shall proceed to determine the rate at which it will be necessary to levy the road cess for the last mentioned year so as to provide the further amount estimated to be required for expenditure in the said year

151 The total amount proposed to be expended in any one cess year in and by any estimate prepared as required by section 149 shall not exceed the proceeds estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for that year from the road cess if levied within the district at the maximum rate at which such cess is leviable as mentioned in section 6 together with any sum and the annual proceeds of any source of revenue which shall have been placed by the Lieutenant Governor at the disposal of the Committee or which may be otherwise at their disposal and with the estimated unexpended balance of the District Road Fund of the previous year as above mentioned

152 Every such estimate prepared by the Committee under section 148 shall be forwarded by the Vice Chairman through the Collector to the Commissioner and the Commissioner may approve such estimate and the rate determined by the Committee

153 If such estimate shall have been approved by any number being less than two thirds of the members of the Committee present at the meeting at which such estimate was adopted the Commissioner may before approving of such estimate make such alterations as he shall think fit in the details or to all of such estimate or may return such estimate to the Committee with instructions to make any such alteration in such details or to all

Provided that the Commissioner shall not make and shall not require the Committee to make otherwise than with their own consent any such alterations as shall have the effect of raising the total of such estimate above the total of the sum estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for expenditure during the year in question the cess being levied at the rate which may have been determined for such year by the Committee under section 150

On receipt of such instructions the Committee shall proceed to make such alterations and shall resubmit the estimate to the Commissioner, who shall thereupon approve of the estimate and of the rate determined by the Committee

154 (1)—If any estimate prepared under section 148 shall have been approved by any number not being less than two thirds of the members of the Committee present at the meeting at which such estimate was adopted, the Commissioner may before approving of such estimate make a communication to the Committee bringing to their notice any alterations which it appears to him to be desirable to make in the details or total of such estimate and on receipt of such communication, the Committee shall proceed to reconsider such suggestions and may either

(a) adopt such suggestions or any of them and revise their estimate accordingly, and if necessary the rate determined by them as that at which the cess shall be leviable during the coming year and submit such revised estimate and rate for the sanction of the Commissioner or

(b) may adhere to their original estimate and resubmit it to the Commissioner with their reason for adhering to the same

(2)—On receipt of such estimate so resubmitted the Commissioner may either sanction the estimate and rate as determined by the Committee or may submit such estimate together with the reasons recorded by the Committee for adhering to the same to the Lieutenant Governor

155 Whenever any such estimate shall be so submitted by the Commissioner the Lieutenant Governor may approve of such estimate or pass such orders as he shall think fit in respect to the alteration of the details or of the total of such estimate

Provided that the Lieutenant Governor shall not make any such alterations or require the Road Committee to make any such alterations as shall have the effect of raising the total of such estimate above the total of the sum estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for expenditure during the year in question the cess being levied at the rate which may have been determined for such year by the Committee under section 150 unless such rate shall in his opinion be insufficient to provide for the proper maintenance of such works as are contained in the statement prepared under section 143 or 145

If it shall appear to the Lieutenant Governor that the proceeds of the cess at the rate so determined will not suffice for such purpose, the Lieutenant Governor may order that the cess shall be levied for the year in question at such rate as he may deem sufficient for such purpose subject to the limit in section 6 provided

156 When the estimate prepared and the rate determined by the Committee shall have been approved by the Commissioner under sections 152 153 or 154 the rate so determined and approved shall be reported by the Commissioner to the Lieutenant Governor who shall forthwith cause the same to be published in the Calcutta Gazette

157 When the Lieutenant Governor shall have approved of any estimate submitted to him as provided by section 154 and of the rate determined by the Committee under section 150, or under clause (a) of section 154 in connection with such estimate or when the Lieutenant Governor shall under section 155 have ordered that the cess shall be levied at any other rate the Lieutenant Governor shall cause such rate as finally fixed by him to be published in the Calcutta Gazette

158 The rate published in the said Gazette as provided in either of the last two preceding sections shall be the rate at which the road cess shall be leviable for the year in respect of which such rate is so published, and the Collector shall cause such rate to be published and proclaimed throughout the district and notice to be given thereof as in section 140 is provided

159 Any estimate prepared under section 148 may be amended or revised at any time with the sanction of the authority who originally approved of such estimate provided that the total of the estimate of expenditure as amended shall not exceed the total of the sums estimated to be available for expenditure during the year

CHAPTER X — Branch Committees

166 The Lieutenant Governor may in each year assign to any Branch Committee so much of the road fund levied for that year in the district for portion of which such Branch Committee is appointed as he may think fit not exceeding the total estimated proceeds of the road cess leviable within the said portion of the district and further may allot to the said Branch Committee so much of the income of the District Road Fund from other sources as he shall think fit

167 The Lieutenant Governor may in any case declare that a Branch Committee shall have the full powers of a District Road Committee within the said portion of the district and whenever the Lieutenant Governor shall so have declared the District Road Committee shall cease to exercise powers under sections 133, 141, 143, 144, 148, 152, 153 and 154 within such portion of the district and such powers shall then vest in the Branch Committee and in any case in which the Lieutenant Governor may declare that a Branch Committee shall have the powers of a District Road Committee for specified works or specified purposes only the powers of the District Road Committee in respect of such works and such purposes only shall cease within the said portion of the district and such powers shall then vest in the Branch Committee

168 Every Branch Committee so vested with powers as in the last preceding section provided shall prepare an estimate in regard to their annual income and expenditure similar to that required by section 148 to be prepared by the District Road Committee

169 The provisions of sections 152, 153, 154, 155, 156 and 157 shall as far as they are applicable apply to such estimate provided that the aggregate amount to be expended by the Branch Committee in any year shall not exceed the aggregate of the fund placed at their disposal for that year

170 The Lieutenant Governor may at any time order that any of the functions hereafter mentioned or referred to in Chapter XI shall be discharged by any Branch Committee instead of by the District Road Committee in respect of any portion of the district for which such Branch Committee has been appointed

171 The Lieutenant Governor may at any time revoke an order forming any Branch Committee or an order declaring that a Branch Committee shall exercise the full powers or any special powers of a District Road Committee

CHAPTER XI — Disbursement and Accounts of the District Road Fund

172 The District Road Fund shall be lodged with the Collector, and the Collector shall keep a separate account thereof, and shall cause to be prepared an annual statement of such account showing in detail therein all sums paid into and all disbursements made from the treasury on account of the District Road Fund during the cess year

After the appointment of any Branch Committee in a district the Collector shall in like manner keep a separate account of the fund placed at the disposal of such Branch Committee

173 All payments on account of the District Road Fund shall be made by the Collector out of the said fund upon cheques signed by the Vice Chairman for sums not exceeding one hundred rupees. When the Vice Chairman is absent, or from any cause incapacitated from signing, the Chairman may sign such cheques on behalf of the Vice Chairman

Cheques for sums exceeding one hundred rupees shall be signed by the Chairman and the Vice Chairman. When the Vice Chairman is absent or from any cause incapacitated from signing such cheques shall be signed by any ex officio member of the Committee other than the Chairman on behalf of such Vice Chairman

The word 'Chairman' in this section includes any officer for the time being in charge of the office of Chairman under a written order from the Chairman

174 The Collector shall forward to the Vice Chairman of every Committee as soon as possible after the close of each month an account of his receipts and disbursements on account of the District Road Fund during such month

175 Every Committee shall keep regular and detailed accounts of the moneys received or applied by them under the provisions of this Act and of their application, and such accounts shall be at all convenient times open to the inspection of all members of the Committee

176 Every Committee shall appoint a standing Sub Committee consisting of the Vice Chairman and not less than two other members for the audit of their accounts and the accounts of each month shall be laid before the Sub Committee as soon as possible after the close of such month, whereupon the said Sub Committee shall proceed to audit the said accounts in such manner as the Lieutenant Governor may direct and to pass or to amend and correct the said accounts as may be necessary and to pass them as so amended and corrected

177 For the purposes of every audit and examination of accounts under this Act such Sub Committee shall have power to call for all vouchers and papers which they may require

178 When such Sub Committee shall have audited and passed the accounts of any month as above provided they shall certify the result and the correctness of the accounts as passed by them in such form as the Lieutenant Governor may direct

179 The accounts of each month audited and passed and certified as in the last preceding section provided, shall be submitted by the Committee, not later than the twenty fifth day of the following month to such officer as the Lieutenant Governor may direct

180 As soon as possible after the close of each cess year the Vice Chairman of every Committee shall prepare a detailed account of the receipts and expenditure of the District Road Fund during such year and also a report of the work done and in progress during such year whether under the directions of the District Road Committee or of any Branch Committee other than a Branch Committee which has been vested with the full powers of a District Road Committee under section 167

181 The annual accounts so prepared by the Vice Chairman shall be examined and certified by the Sub Committee of audit and after such examination and certification shall be laid with the said annual report before a special meeting of the Committee to be held within two months of the close of such year and the Committee shall submit a copy of the said accounts with a similar report to the Commissioner for transmission to the Lieutenant Governor, who shall cause such accounts with an abstract of such report together with such remarks as the Commissioner may have made thereon to be published in the Calcutta Gazette

182 Every District Road Committee may from time to time make and when made alter add to or cancel bye laws not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act for all or any of the following purposes that is to say —

- (1) regulating the traffic and providing for the safety and convenience of passengers on any road water channel or other means of communication under the charge of the Committee
- (2) providing for the preservation of such roads water channels and other means of communication

Fines may be imposed for the breach of any such bye laws provided that no fine exceeds for any offence the sum of Rs 10 or in the case of a continuing offence the sum of Rs 2 for every day during which such offence is continued

Any bye law so made and every alteration of addition to and cancellation of such bye law shall require the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor and on such sanction being given such bye law shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and in the vernacular of the district as the Lieutenant Governor may direct and on such publication such bye law shall have the force of law

CHAPTER VII — Miscellaneous

183 The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time direct that such establishments shall be entertained and such expenses incurred in the offices of the Board of Revenue and of the Commissioners of Divisions in any other office of control in any office of account and in any treasury, or that such special officers shall be employed and such expenses incurred by them as may be necessary

THE following Bill as settled in Council on the 3rd April is by order of the President published for general information —

A Bill to provide for the Drainage and Improvement of Land

WHEREAS it is expedient that provision should be made for the better drainage and improvement of lands in the territories administered by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal It is hereby enacted as follows —

PRELIMINARY

1 This Act may be called The Bengal Drainage Act 1880
It extends to all the territories for the time being under the administration of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and it shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General

2 Bengal Act V of 1871 (The Hughli and Burdwan Drainage Act) shall be repealed and from the date upon which this Act comes into force but subject to the provisions of this Act this repeal shall not affect the past operation of such Act or anything duly done or suffered or any right privilege obligation or liability acquired accrued or incurred thereunder

3 In this Act unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context—

The Collector means the officer in charge of the revenue jurisdiction of the district within which the lands which form the subject of a scheme under this Act or the greater portion of such lands are situated If any doubt arise as to whether the greater portion of the lands within one of the districts of the Lieutenant Governor shall decide the point and the decision shall be final

The Commissioners mean the Drainage Commissioners appointed under this Act

I state mean lands declared to be revenue free land by the Lieutenant Governor or the Collector of a district or a District Officer in such land

Proprietor means a person who is or is not a tenant or is a tenant in possession of the land

Tenure means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land subordinate to that of a proprietor and superior to that of a tenant extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act

(2) a permanent revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act when there exists no rent paying interest in the land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

'Under-tenure' means—

(1) a permanent rent paying interest in land subordinate to that of a tenant holder and superior to that of a rent extending to not less than one hundred standard bighas affected or to be affected by any works under this Act

(2) a revenue free or rent free interest in land affected or to be affected by any works under this Act when there exists a rent paying interest in the same land between the proprietary interest in the estate and such revenue free or rent free interest

Explanation—The term permanent is used with reference to the tenure or under-tenure and not with reference to the person who happens to hold such tenure or under-tenure for the time being A tenure or under-tenure is permanent although held by a Hindu widow or a Saut or a person subject to the Mitthshara law

Landholder and Holder of land mean—

(1) any person who is owner of an estate is solely or jointly in possession thereof

(2) any person who is owner of a tenure or under-tenure is solely or jointly in possession thereof

Where two or more persons are joint landholders they shall be jointly and severally liable under this Act except as is otherwise expressly provided therein

Unimproved land means land which was unfit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but which has been rendered fit for cultivation

Improved land means land which was fit for cultivation before the execution of any works under this Act but of which the productive power has been increased by such works

Part and Section mean respectively a part and section of this Act

CHAPTER I

APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONERS AND CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

4 Whenever it appears expedient to the Lieutenant Governor to carry out any scheme and plan for the drainage and improvement of any tract of land the Lieutenant Governor may appoint any number of persons not less than seven of whom the majority shall be qualified by law holders of lands affected by the works mentioned in the said scheme and plans or managers on behalf of such holders to be Drainage Commissioners for carrying out the provisions of this Act and the Lieutenant Governor may from time to time revoke or accept the resignation of any such Commissioner or may add to the number of the Commissioners and may appoint in their place in the place of any such Commissioner dying resigning being removed or ceasing to reside in the district in which such lands are situated, but so as that the majority of the Commissioners shall always be persons qualified as aforesaid

No act done or proceeding taken by the Commissioners shall be invalid merely on the ground that at the time of doing such act or of taking such proceeding the majority of the Commissioners were not persons qualified as aforesaid.

5 The Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time appoint one of the persons so appointed Commissioners as aforesaid to be Chairman of the Commissioners and may at any time, if he see fit, revoke such appointment and appoint another of such persons to be Chairman. The Commissioners may sue and be sued in the name of their Chairman.

6 The Commissioners shall ordinarily meet for the transaction of business once at least in every quarter. Such meetings shall be held upon such day and at such hour as the Commissioners shall from time to time determine. No business shall be transacted at any meeting unless at least three members are present at the commencement and close of such business.

7 The Chairman of the Commissioners may, whenever he thinks fit, and shall upon request made in writing by three of the Commissioners call an extraordinary meeting of the Commissioners.

8 The Chairman shall preside at every meeting of the Commissioners, but in case of his absence at the time appointed for holding a meeting the Commissioners present may choose one of their number to be President of such meeting.

9 (1)—All questions at any meeting, including the question of adjourning such meeting, shall be decided by a majority of votes of the members present. In case of an equality of votes the President for the time being of such meeting shall have a second or casting vote.

(2)—The Commissioners may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such members or members of the body as they think fit. Any Committee so formed shall in the exercise of the powers delegated conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the Commissioners.

(3) A Committee may elect a Chairman at their meetings. If no such Chairman is elected or if he is not present at the time appointed for holding the same the members present shall choose one of their number to be Chairman of such meeting.

(4)—A Committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Quorum at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present, and in case of an equal division of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

10 The Chairman of the Commissioners may by order in writing appoint and dismiss such servants and officers other than Jugs and their subordinates, as may be required for the purposes of this Act, and he may control them as he shall see fit. There shall be paid to such servants and officers respectively such salaries as may appear to the Commissioners to be proper.

11 The Lieutenant Governor may when satisfied that the objects of their appointment have been fulfilled direct that the powers and functions of the Commissioners shall cease.

DRAINAGE SCHEME

12 The Commissioners shall within three months after their appointment cause a notification in the language of the district to be published by beat of drum in every village in which may be situated any portion of the lands to be affected by the works proposed in such scheme and plans. Every such notification shall be in the form in Schedule (A) hereto annexed and shall further be published by posting the same at the office of the Collector and of the Subdivisional Officer and in some conspicuous part of the village aforesaid and at the Court of the Munsif within whose jurisdiction and at the thana within the limits of which such village is situated.

13 After the date named in such notification a list of the persons who may have given their assent or made any objection in writing in accordance with such notification shall be prepared and published in the manner provided in section 12 for the information of all concerned. Such list shall contain a specification of the land in respect of which such persons claim to vote as landholders and of the titles in virtue of which they claim to vote respectively, and there shall be appended thereto notice that objections to the right of voting so claimed must be lodged with the Commissioners within one month after the publication of the said list.

14 (1)—The Commissioners may at some meeting to be held not less than one month after such list has been published under the provisions of section 13 proceed to ascertain whether the holders of half of the lands to be reclaimed or improved have assented in writing to the adoption of the scheme. For the purpose of so ascertaining the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of not more than one landholder in respect of any one portion of the area affected and when ever more than one landholder shall have given his vote in respect of the same portion of such area, the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of the landholder who holds the lowest interest in respect of such area and shall not take into account in respect of such area, the vote of any superior landholder who may have voted.

Example—

- A gives his vote as proprietor of 5 000 bighas
- B as putnidar of 2 000 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas
- C as mokarridar of 100 bighas included in B's patti
- D as holding a permanent jama of 500 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5 000 bighas but not in B's patti of 2 000 bighas

The Commissioners shall take into account the votes of the respective landholders in respect of the following areas —

D for	500 bighas
C	100
B (2 000—100—)	1 900
A (5 000—2 000—500=)	2 500
Total	5 000

(2)—One vote only shall be allowed in respect of an estate tenure or under-tenure belonging to two or more co sharers. In order to ascertain whether this vote shall be taken as assenting or objecting to the adoption of the scheme a card shall be had to the votes of the co sharers individually and account shall be taken of those only who actually vote. If the majority assent a vote of assent shall be deemed to have been given in respect of the estate tenure or under-tenure. If the majority object a vote of objection shall be deemed to have been given. If the number assenting and the number objecting are equal no vote shall be deemed to have been given in respect of such estate tenure or under-tenure.

15 The Commissioners may in their discretion refuse to take into account the vote of any person who after being required to do so fails to specify the extent of land held by him and the nature of the interest which he has in such land.

16 (1)—Whenever the right of any person to vote as a holder of any land shall be disputed the Commissioners shall determine whether the vote of such person shall or shall not be accepted in respect of such land and their determination shall be final for the purposes of section 17 provided that any recorded proprietor as defined by section 3 of The Land Registration Act 1876 shall be entitled to vote in respect of any property of which he is the recorded proprietor.

(2)—In the case of a landholder who is a proprietor disqualified to manage his own property under the provisions of

The Court of Ward Act 1879 or any similar law for the time being in force or who is a minor or a lunatic the right to vote shall be exercised by any manager of the property of such disqualified proprietor or minor or lunatic appointed by the Court of Ward or by the Civil Court under the provisions of any law for the time being in force or where no such manager has been appointed by any person who in the opinion of the Commissioners duly represents the interests of such minor or lunatic.

(3)—Where the holder of any land cannot be found such land shall be altogether excluded in any computation that may be made in order to determine whether the landholders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved have assented to the adoption of the scheme.

17 If the landholders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved ascertained as above provided, shall have assented to the adoption of the scheme, and not otherwise, the Commissioners shall proceed to consider such scheme together with the plans and estimates for carrying out the same and shall further consider such objections as have been made thereto and may adopt such schemes, plans, and estimates, or may alter and modify the same and adopt the scheme, plans, and estimates so altered or modified or may disapprove or reject the same.

18 If the landholders of half of the area to be reclaimed and improved do not assent to such scheme but the landholders of half of the area to be affected by some portion of such scheme assent thereto, the Commissioners may resubmit such portion of the scheme to the Lieutenant Governor, and may, with his approval proceed thereupon in manner aforesaid.

19 If the Commissioners adopt such scheme, plans and estimates, or any modification or alteration thereof they shall within one month after such scheme, plans and estimates or some modification or alteration thereof have been adopted by them cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor and the Lieutenant Governor may sanction the scheme, plans and estimates so adopted or any portion thereof as to him shall seem fit.

20 (1)—The Commissioners may with the previous assent of the Lieutenant Governor, at any time reconsider any scheme, plans or estimates adopted by them and add to alter or modify the same.

and when any addition, modification or alteration has been adopted by them they shall cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant Governor and the Lieutenant Governor may sanction such addition, alteration or modification or any portion thereof as he may think fit.

and thenceforth the provisions of this Act shall apply to such addition, modification or alteration as if it had been a portion of the original scheme, plans or estimates and every such addition, modification or alteration after it has been adopted, shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit.

No such addition, modification or alteration shall be adopted at a meeting at which the majority of the members present are not qualified as provided by section 4.

(2)—No addition, modification or alteration under clause (1) to or of any scheme which affects any lands other than those which would be affected by some scheme theretofore published, shall be adopted by the Commissioners until the same has been published for not less than fifteen days according to the provisions of section 12 in every village in which may be situated any portion of the lands to be affected by such addition, alteration or modification, nor shall any such addition, modification or alteration be adopted unless the landholders of not less than half the entire area to be affected by the scheme as so added to, modified or altered assent to the same.

21 When the Lieutenant Governor has sanctioned any scheme, plans and estimates as aforesaid, or some portion thereof,

Powers for the acquisition of land

he may direct proceedings to be taken under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act 1870 or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes in order to obtain any land likely to be required for the works mentioned in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates or any portion thereof

22 The Lieutenant Governor may if he thinks fit order the works specified in such sanctioned scheme plans and estimates or portion thereof to be executed by an officer to be thereunto appointed by the Lieutenant Governor and may subject to the sanction of the Governor General of India in Council order the advance from the Public Funds of such sum of money as may be required for the purpose of making such improvements and such officer may cause the works specified in such scheme and plans to be executed and for that purpose may by himself and his agent and workmen enter into or upon any lands and perform such works thereupon as may be required

23 The Lieutenant Governor may at any time after the said works have been commenced by an order in writing in order to sanction any alteration or modification of such scheme or plan suggested to him by the officer in charge of such works if after communication with the Commissioners it shall appear to him that by such modification or alteration the general character and scope of the scheme will not be altered nor greater expenditure incurred thereon than would be incurred in the scheme as originally sanctioned and after such sanction such alteration or modification shall be taken to be a portion of the scheme sanctioned by the Commissioners in substitution for the portion of such scheme thereby altered and every such modification or alteration shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit

24 (1)—Any person who alleges that damage has been caused to his property by any scheme or works commenced or carried out under this Act may at any time before the expiry of the three years mentioned in clause (1) of section 9 prefer to the Commissioners a claim for compensation in respect of such damage actually caused and of all future damage likely to be caused to such property by such scheme or works

The Commissioners shall duly consider any such claim and if they are satisfied that such damage has been caused or is likely to be caused they shall award such compensation as to them appears to be reasonable

If such person agrees to accept the amount so assessed the same shall be paid to him. If he do not agree to accept such amount, the Commissioners shall make a reference to the Civil Court in the manner in which a Collector is empowered to make a reference by section 15 of 'The Land Acquisition Act 1870' and the provisions of Part III of the said Act shall apply to any reference so made

(2)—When the persons interested in such property to which damage has been caused as aforesaid agree to accept the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners but a dispute arises as to the apportionment of the same or any part thereof or when the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court on a reference under clause (1) and a similar dispute arises the Commissioners shall refer such dispute to the decision of the Civil Court and the provisions of Part IV of the said Land Acquisition Act shall apply to any reference so made

(3)—When the amount of compensation assessed by the Commissioners does not exceed one thousand rupees any reference made under clause (1) may be transferred by the Principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction of the district to any Subordinate Judge in the same district and such Subordinate Judge shall have power to hear and dispose of the same and any reference made under clause (2) may be transferred by such Principal Civil Court to any Munsif in the same district and such Munsif shall have power to hear and dispose of the same

PART III

EXPENDITURE AND APPROPRIATION

25 All amounts paid as compensation for any lands taken for the purposes of this Act or for damage inflicted in carrying out any scheme or works under this Act, or as salaries of officers servants

or establishments or for surveys or valuations (whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans) and all amounts otherwise duly expended in carrying out the purposes of this Act shall be included in and deemed to constitute the cost of construction of the work and may be defrayed by advances from the Public Funds as provided by section 22

26 (1)—All such advances shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum until recovered in the manner hereafter in this Act provided. All such interest which shall be due before the completion of the works is certified to the Commissioners as hereafter provided shall upon such completion be added to the total amount of the principal sums advanced and interest at the rate of five per centum per annum upon the total of such interest and principal shall thereafter be payable to the Collector half yearly by the holders of the lands affected by the works

(2)—It shall be the duty of the Commissioners to distribute the liability to pay such half yearly interest amongst such landholders, as soon as the completion of the works has been certified to them, and to report the details of such distribution to the Collector

(3)—In order to the distribution of such liability, the Commissioners shall have regard to the plans and estimates of the scheme and to such other information as may be supplied to them by the Officer in charge of such works and shall distribute the liability in a general way, so that the share of the interest payable by each landholder shall be in proportion to the benefit to be derived by the lands of such landholder so far as the Commissioners can judge of such proportions.

(4)—A notice shall be served upon each such landholder setting forth the half yearly amount of interest payable by him and the date upon which it is payable. If such half yearly amount be not paid upon such date the Collector may proceed for its recovery according to the law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands.

27 The Officer in charge of the said works shall until the same shall be finally completed once in every three months make a detailed report to the Commissioners of the progress of such works and the expenditure there upon from the day up to which the next preceding report shall have been brought down and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts to the Government of Bengal or some other officer authorized in that behalf by the Lieutenant Governor shall from time to time certify the sums advanced in accordance with the provisions of section 25 and the dates of such advances and every such certificate shall be final and conclusive evidence in a Civil Court or in any proceedings under this Act of the sums therein stated to have been advanced having been so advanced and of the dates upon which they were respectively so advanced.

28 (1)—The Officer in charge of the works shall as soon as they have been completed, certify such completion to the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall upon the expiry of three years from such completion being so certified to them proceed to classify all the lands benefited by the works according to the degree of benefit conferred and in such classification they shall distinguish the Improved lands from the Reclaimed lands.

It shall be lawful for the Commissioners at any time during such three years to make such inspections of the lands and such surveys thereof and otherwise to collect such information as shall in their opinion conduce to the making of such classification and of the apportionment hereinafter mentioned.

(2)—The Commissioners shall after making such classification proceed further to apportion the total cost of construction together with the interest mentioned in section 26, upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands and shall draw up a statement showing the amount payable to the Collector by each landholder—

(a) in respect of his Improved lands, if any and

(b) in respect of his Reclaimed lands, if any

In making this apportionment the Commissioners shall as far as may be possible make payable in respect of each plot or field of Improved land a sum not exceeding the amount of the increased capitalized value, which, in the opinion of the Commissioners has been conferred on such land by the works.

29 If upon the completion of the Apportionment under section 28 it shall be found that any landholder has under the provisions of section 26 paid more or less interest than he would have been required to pay according to the proportions adopted in the apportionment under clause (2) of section 28 if such apportionment had then been in force the Commissioners shall direct such refunds to be made and such additional amounts to be levied as shall be necessary to bring the payments of all the landholders concerned into conformity with such proportions.

30 Whenever any land in respect of which any sum is apportioned as payable under the provisions of sections 26 or 28 forms part of a tenure or of an under-tenure it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to declare whether the holders of the estate of the tenure or of the under-tenure shall be deemed to be the landholders liable to pay to the Collector the sum apportioned as payable in respect of such land.

31 The total sum so made payable in respect of the Improved lands of any one landholder and the total sum so made payable in respect of the Reclaimed lands of any one landholder with interest upon such sums at five per centum per annum from the date of Apportionment and any interest payable under section 29 and any interest payable under clause (1) of section 26 but not paid or recovered before the apportionment under section 28 shall be a first charge upon such Improved lands and upon such Reclaimed lands respectively. Such charge shall not be avoided by the sale of such lands or of any estate tenure or under-tenure within which they are included for arrears of revenue or rent.

32 The Commissioners shall so soon as conveniently may be after having apportioned the sums to be payable by the holders of the lands of any village respectively, make and publish a Report describing the several lands in respect of which they have declared such sums to be payable, the names of the respective holders thereof, who have been made liable to pay the same to the Collector, and the sum payable by each in respect of the same. Every such Report shall distinguish between the Reclaimed lands and the Improved lands and shall classify the latter according to the extent of the improvement. A copy of such report shall be sent through the Collector to the Commissioner of the Division for confirmation by such Commissioner.

33 If the Commissioners shall for the space of three months after the completion of the entire works has been certified to them as aforesaid, neglect or refuse to proceed with the Apportionment of the sums payable as aforesaid or to make such Report as aforesaid or for the space of two months after any Report and Apportionment shall have been returned to them for further consideration and revision under the provisions hereinafter contained neglect or refuse to proceed to such further consideration and revision as is required, the Collector may serve them with a notice requiring them to proceed as aforesaid and if for one month after service of such notice they neglect so to proceed the Lieutenant Governor may appoint such officer or officers as to him shall seem fit to make or consider and revise such Apportionment and Report and to do all or any of the subsequent acts which the Commissioners are hereby required or empowered to do in respect of such Apportionment and Report and every Apportionment and Report so made or revised, and every such act so done shall have the same force and effect as if the same had been made, revised or done by the Commissioners.

34 Whenever any Apportionment and Report have been made in pursuance of the provisions hereinafter contained the Commissioners shall cause such Report to be published by affixing in every village in which any lands mentioned therein are situate a copy of so much thereof as relates to such lands, and also a like copy at the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and at every Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of which such village or any part thereof is situate. The fact of such Apportionment and Report having been made and of such copies having been affixed shall also be notified by beat of drum in every such village.

35 Any person who may deem himself to be aggrieved by any such Apportionment may within one month after such Report has been published prefer an objection before the Commissioners and the Commissioners shall be bound to enquire into and decide upon such objection and any person who is dissatisfied with such decision may within one month from the date of such decision appeal to the Commissioner of the Division against such Apportionment and such Commissioner shall cause notice of the day fixed for the hearing of such appeal to be published by affixing the same in the office of the Collector and of the Sub divisional Officer and in a conspicuous place in every village and in the Court of every Munsif within whose jurisdiction and at every police thana within the limits of which any of the lands mentioned in such Report are situate.

Such Commissioner shall hear such appeal and the objections thereto of all persons interested and may confirm such Apportionment or may revise and alter the same as to him shall seem fit or may return the same to the Commissioners for further consideration and revision.

Every such Apportionment and Report, when revised or altered shall, so far as the same has been altered be published and be liable to appeal in like manner as the original Apportionment and Report.

The decision of the Commissioner of the Division upon any appeal under this section shall be final.

36 Whenever the Commissioner of the Division shall confirm any Apportionment and Report, or whenever one month shall have elapsed from the publication of any Report without any appeal therefrom having been preferred he shall pass an order declaring the sums payable in respect of the lands respectively and the persons liable to pay the same to be determined and shall cause such order to be published in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

PART IV

RECOVERY OF SUMS DUE TO THE COLLECTOR

37 As soon as any Apportionment has been determined as aforesaid, the Collector may cause a notice in the form in Schedule (B) hereto annexed to be served upon any landholder who has not paid the sum payable by him. Such notice shall require such landholder within one month from the date of its service upon him to pay such sum with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, or to enter into an engagement for the payment by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years of such sum, together with interest at the said rate on all instalments remaining unpaid at the date of such payment.

38 If any landholder fails to discharge the sum made payable in respect of his Improved lands or in respect of his Reclaimed lands, or fails to enter into an engagement for the payment thereof as in this Act hereafter provided or having entered into such an engagement fails to discharge any instalment payable thereunder, such sum or such instalment together with interest thereupon at five per centum per annum shall be recoverable under the provisions of any law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands.

39 If the Collector thinks it inexpedient to proceed under the provisions of section 38 or having so proceeded shall have failed to realize the sum due he may with the sanction of the Board of Revenue raise the amount necessary to discharge the sum or instalment remaining unpaid—

- (a) by letting in perpetuity or for a term on payment of a premium equivalent to such amount the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands
- (b) by mortgaging the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands
- (c) by letting in farm or managing by himself or another the whole or any part of such Improved lands or Reclaimed lands
- (d) partly by one of such modes and partly by another or others of them

For the purposes of this section, the Collector may exercise all the powers of the owner of such Improved or Reclaimed lands and his signature shall be a good and sufficient signature to any document necessary to carry into effect the said purposes.

40 In case the Collector certifies that any sum payable as hereinbefore provided cannot be realized as provided by sections 38 or 39, so much of such sum as shall not have been so realized shall be a charge upon any profits that may accrue from the property vested in the Collector under the provisions of section 17

41 Any landholder who has entered into an engagement for the repayment of any sum apportioned as aforesaid may at any time repay to the Collector the entire amount of the principal sum which shall be then remaining due and interest thereon up to the day of payment, and thenceforth the said engagement shall be terminated and all liabilities in respect thereof for principal or interest shall determine

PART V

RECOVERY BY LANDHOLDER OR SUPERIOR TENANTS OF THE COST OF THE WORKS FROM PERSONS HOLDING LAND UNDER THEM

42 Every landholder who has been charged with any sum by a Report published as aforesaid may after he has paid or engaged to pay the same—

(a) proceed under any law for the time being in force to enhance the rents of any person holding immediately from him any land the productive powers of which have been increased by any works carried out under this Act provided that any such person may at his option elect to pay under clause (b) of this section or

(b) recover such sum or any part thereof according to the proportions hereinafter provided with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of payment by him of any portion thereof from the persons holding immediately from him lands in respect of which such sum has been declared payable and which have been benefited by any scheme or works carried out under this Act

(c) The sum recoverable by such landholder from each such person under clause (b) in respect of the lands of each class shall bear the same proportion to the sum charged upon such landholder in respect of all lands of that class as the area of the lands of that class which are held by such person bears to the area of the lands of the same class in respect of which the landholder has been charged. No person from whom a landholder is authorized to recover any sum under this section shall be liable to pay in any one year more than one tenth part of the total sum so recoverable from him, and no person shall be liable to pay in one year more than the increased annual value of the lands in respect of which the payment is made

43 Any superior tenant who has made any payment to a landholder under the provisions of clause (b) of section 42 may

(b) recover the sum or part of the sum which has been so paid by him according to the proportions and subject to the rules laid down in clause (c) of section 42, with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of payment by him of any portion thereof from the persons holding directly from him lands in respect of which the payment has been made and which have been benefited by any scheme or works carried out under this Act

44 (1)—The sum payable to a landholder or superior tenant in any one year under clause (b) of section 42 or under clause (b) of section 43 shall be payable by equal instalments upon the days appointed for the payment to such landholder or superior tenant of the rent of the lands concerned and shall be recoverable as if the same were an arrear of rent

(2)—If such landholder or superior tenant and any person holding lands directly from him cannot agree as to the amount which such person shall pay such landholder or superior tenant may serve such person through the Collector with a notice setting forth the amount which he claims and requiring such person within one month after the service of such notice to pay the amount claimed or enter into an engagement for the payment thereof by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years or appear before the Collector and object

(3)—If such person do not within the said period of one month appear and object the amount set forth in such notice shall be recoverable with interest at five per centum per annum. If such person appear and object the Collector shall dispose of such objection and his decision shall be final. The Collector may direct that any sum of money payable under his decision together with any costs awarded by him be paid by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years. The provisions of clause (1) shall apply to every sum payable according to an order of the Collector passed under this section

45 No person from whom any sum has been recovered under clause (b) of section 42 or under clause (b) of section 43 shall be subject to any claim for enhanced rent on account of the benefit caused by the works to his lands

PART VII

SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR WORKS CARRIED OUT UNDER BENGAL ACT V OF 1871

59 The following portions of this Act shall apply to any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of Bengal Act V of 1871 that is to say—

- (a) As to the method of realizing sums due on account of the cost of the works, sections 31, 38, 39, and 40

- (b) As to the recovery by landholders or superior tenants of the cost of the works from persons holding land under them Part V

- (c) As to other matters Part VI

60 If the Lieutenant Governor is satisfied that the apportionment of the cost of any scheme or works carried out under the provisions of the said Bengal Act V of 1871 is inequitable for reasons discovered by the operation of the completed scheme or on grounds not originally considered by the Commissioners the Lieutenant Governor may at any time within one year after the commencement of this Act direct a revision of the said apportionment and may for the purpose of such revision appoint Commissioners. The provisions of Part I shall be applicable to the appointment of and to the conduct of business by such Commissioners

61 Such Commissioners shall proceed without delay to revise such apportionment and in making such revision they shall be guided by the provisions of sections 28, 29 and 34 so far as the same may be applicable and shall have regard to the degree of benefit which upon taking proceedings under this section they may find to have been conferred on the lands provided that the total sum apportioned upon such revision is payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 23

62 For the purpose of making such revised apportionment such Commissioners shall have full power to increase or reduce the apportionment which was previously made upon individuals and to direct such refunds to be made to or additional payments to be levied from individuals as may be necessary to give full and complete effect to such revision. Any person dissatisfied with any order passed by such Commissioners under this section may appeal to the Commissioner of the Division and the provisions of section 33 shall be applicable to any such appeal

63 The provisions of section 36 as to an apportionment becoming final shall be applicable to such revised apportionment and the provisions of sections 31, 38, 39 and 40 shall be applicable to the realization of any sums which may become payable under the same

COMPULSORY VACCINATION

THE HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL said last week he explained to the Council the reasons and objects of the Bill to make vaccination compulsory. He proposed now to give a brief outline of its main provisions. The Bill had been drafted chiefly on the lines of the Bombay Vaccination Act, with such alterations and modifications as the circumstances of this province had called for. The preliminary chapter of the Bill contained certain definitions to which he need not refer at any length. The sections providing for vaccination first of all prescribed that children should within one year after their birth be vaccinated, secondly, that unprotected children under fourteen, who were brought to reside in the city temporarily or permanently, should be vaccinated, thirdly, that the parents or guardians of unprotected children living within the city, or in any portion of the suburbs to which the Bill might extend, should within six months of the passing of the Act cause them to be vaccinated. Then the Bill provided for the vaccination of unprotected adults, and lastly, for the vaccination of seamen arriving in the Port of Calcutta. The vaccination of adults was a new feature in this Bill; that provision did not obtain in the Bombay Act, but it had been found from experience that small pox was often brought into the city by unprotected persons, and it was therefore of the utmost importance that measures should be taken for the vaccination of adults. The vaccination of seamen was left to the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta. The Bill did not lay down any hard and fast rules about the character of the lymph to be used for vaccination. The subject of the kind of lymph which ought to be used, as the Council was well aware, was a matter of much controversy amongst scientific men both in Europe and America. Experiments were going on in several European countries with calf lymph, and in the Bombay Act the use of animal lymph had been made obligatory. But the preponderance of medical opinion here seemed to be that it would be best to leave the matter open at present, and to let the Government which would supply the lymph supply that kind of lymph which might be in accord with the scientific opinion of the day. He should mention that in Bengal, and throughout Upper India he believed, arm to arm vaccination was generally practised, and human lymph was used. If, however, experience or mature scientific opinion should tend to the other direction, he dared say the Government would take necessary steps to provide a supply of that kind of lymph which would be most acceptable to the public. The ancient books of Hindoo medicine, he might say, were more in favour of calf than human lymph.

Under the Bombay Act the vaccinators were allowed to levy a fee for vaccination, and to apply it to their own use. The Bombay Act laid down no limit to the amount of fee to be levied. The Bill before the Council prescribed a maximum limit of eight annas, which he hoped would be considered moderate enough. It would be carried to the credit of the Municipality of Calcutta, which would be charged with the cost of the vaccination establishment, and in the case of the Mofussil it would be credited and expended in such manner as the Government might direct. Practically the vaccinators now charged a fee, it was a voluntary offering, but it was nevertheless charged and paid by the people. Now it was proposed to remunerate the vaccinators liberally, and to carry the fees to the credit of the Vaccination Fund.

The procedure laid down for Calcutta was different from that which was provided for the Mofussil. In Calcutta the Health Officer of the town would be put in charge of the department, and would act under such rules and regulations as the Lieutenant Governor might lay down. Calcutta would be divided into different sections and wards, and public vaccine stations would be established in each or, where the wards were small, two of them might be conveniently doubled up and one vaccine station provided for them, and, on the other hand, two or three vaccine stations might be established in the larger wards. Persons resorting to the vaccine stations would not be charged any fee whatever, but those who might call in the vaccinators to their own houses would be required to pay the fee. With regard to females who, according to the custom of the country, did not appear in public, the Lieutenant Governor would make rules for their gratuitous vaccination.

The Bombay Act provided criminal imprisonment for neglect to vaccinate, but in this Bill the penalty of a fine was proposed, and no imprisonment was provided for neglect to vaccinate. A fine of Rs 100, with a daily fine of Rs 20 for every day during which the offence was continued, would, Baboo KEISTODAS PAL thought, act as a sufficient deterrent against neglect. Prosecutions under the Act would be by summons. This was an important point, and he believed the provision would be acceptable to the general public.

Lastly, the Bill gave power to the Lieutenant Governor to make rules to provide for the appointment of deputies of public vaccinators when necessary, to determine the qualifications to be required of public vaccinators or their deputies, to regulate the gratuitous vaccination of females who by the custom of the country, were unable to attend the public vaccine stations, and were too poor to pay, to provide for the supply of lymph, to regulate the books and forms to be kept by public vaccinators and registrars, and for the guidance of public vaccinators and others in all matters connected with the working of the Act.

He was informed that a suggestion had come from the Government of India to the effect that, when the Bill was extended to first and second class municipalities, opportunity should be given to the inhabitants of those places to express their opinion before the Act was introduced. That was the procedure now followed in the Panjab with regard to the introduction of the municipal law, this suggestion would be duly taken into consideration by the Select Committee to whom the Bill would be referred. He now moved that the Bill be read in Council.

The HON'BLE PIARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said there was a provision in the Bill for extending its operation to the suburbs of Calcutta, thus making provision for intercepting the disease from without. But the Bill took no cognizance of the poor and houseless boys in the city itself. The number of poor boys who had no parents or guardians in the sense defined in the Bill might be counted by scores, if not by hundreds, and there was no one who, according to the provisions of the Bill, would be responsible for their vaccination nor would they be reached by the power conferred on the Superintendent of Vaccination by section 11, enabling him to require unprotected persons to submit to be vaccinated. These poor boys therefore might catch the disease and form centres of contagion. But there was another consideration connected with this question which should not be lost sight of. Supposing that ways and means were found for giving protection to these poor boys, it was a question as to who would feed and take care of them during the stage of feverishness which very often supervened vaccination. A number of these boys would be unable to move or go about to earn their living, and it was but just to them that they should not be allowed to suffer by reason of a compulsory operation which was extended to them, not only for their own benefit, but for the protection of the community at large. He would beg therefore to suggest that provision should be made in the Bill for the establishment of pauper vaccine hospitals in the city. The money that would be required for such institutions was no doubt an important consideration, but he submitted that it would not be improper to expend the money derived from the fees to be levied under the Act for the benefit of these poor boys, who might take it into their heads to prove their brotherhood to the good citizens of Calcutta in the same terrible way in which the Irish widow mentioned by Carlyle proved her sisterhood to the people of Edinburgh.

He was glad that the one other point with reference to this Bill, to which he intended briefly to allude, had already received the attention of the Government of India, he meant that provision of the Bill which related to extending the operation of the law to Mofussil municipalities and villages. In Calcutta, hon'ble members had been told, on the authority of Dr Charles, that nearly five per cent of the population had accepted vaccination as the best means of affording protection against small pox, but in the Mofussil opinion was not so strong in favour of vaccination, and that was not a matter for wonder, when it was recollected that great diversity of opinion prevailed on the subject even in England itself. He therefore thought it advisable that the introduction of the law should be confined to those municipalities and towns at least, half the population of which should apply for its introduction.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said there was only one point in which he wished to supplement the very careful statement which had been made by the hon'ble mover of the Bill and that was in reference to the change which the Bill proposed to make in the re-arrangement and working of vaccine operations.

in Calcutta The Council knew that those operations had for many years been supervised by Dr Charles under the title of Superintendent General of Vaccination How ably he had done this work was well known, that Calcutta was now in a fairly satisfactory state as regards protection from small pox was due entirely to the exertions and the care with which Dr Charles had managed the business in his hands The measure now before Council was merely the natural outcome of all Dr Charles's labours But it was agreed, when this compulsory system was proposed, that it would require for its management and careful supervision more time than an officer like Dr Charles, with all his numerous duties, could possibly give to it, and it was felt that the Sanitary Officer of the town was the proper person to undertake the work with the agency at his disposal It would not be supposed, Mr MACKENZIE was sure, that any slight was intended to be put on Dr Charles by the proposed transfer, he himself concurred in the change, and was of opinion that, as vaccination was to be made compulsory, the work should be done in a more systematic way, and the Government was therefore relieving him of a duty which it would not be easy for him any longer to perform

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said, with reference to the observations which had been made regarding the treatment and cure after vaccination of vagrant boys if sufficient provision was not made by section 11 of the Bill, some alteration might be made to meet the case But, as he understood it, the matter was sufficiently provided for by that section, and if hospital treatment was needed, it could be afforded by the Campbell Hospital, which was just as much open to cases of fever from vaccination as from any other cause It was quite open to the Select Committee to make any suggestion it thought fit

HIS HONOR desired to express his entire concurrence in the remarks which had been made by the hon'ble member on the right (Mr Mackenzie) with respect to Dr Charles He was sure it was not the wish of anybody who had watched the extraordinary progress and success of vaccination in the city to do anything that might cast any reflection or slur on Dr Charles's administration of vaccine operations, the fact was that it was through him, and his great attention to the matter, that the business of the department had become so large that the Government was compelled to make special provision for the conduct of the work, and HIS HONOR was sure that Dr Charles ought to be extremely proud of the work he had done, and that nothing would gratify him more than the passing of this Bill—a measure which he himself suggested should be passed some fourteen years ago On that occasion HIS HONOR opposed the proposal, as vaccination had not then made sufficient progress to warrant the adoption of a compulsory measure But since that time the question had assumed a different complexion, and whatever objections HIS HONOR had then to the proposal, they had now disappeared, and it was chiefly through Dr Charles's exertions that the change of circumstances which rendered a compulsory measure justifiable now had been brought about

RECOVERY OF PUBLIC DEMANDS

THE HON'BLE MR FIELD moved that the Bill to amend the law for the recovery of certain public demands be read in Council He said —“When I asked leave on Saturday last to introduce this Bill, I pointed out what the object of the measure was I said briefly that it was a measure to repeal such portions of Act VII of 1868 of the Bengal Council as are concerned with the recovery of public demands, and to re enact them in a complete and amended form I also stated what the nature of the procedure was which that Act laid down for the recovery of such demands namely that a public officer makes a Certificate that a certain amount is due and on that Certificate as a decree proceedings are taken to realize the amount so declared to be due Opportunity is given to the person against whom the Certificate has been made to come in and make any objection he has to the amount being realized, and in certain classes of cases it is competent to that person further to contest the whole proceedings on the merits in the Civil Court

I propose now to draw attention to the particular points in which this Bill proposes to amend the former procedure First as to section 1, the procedure is expressly extended to the town of Calcutta Under the existing law there was a doubt upon this point, and it has been considered desirable to remove that doubt The purpose for which this procedure is particularly required in Calcutta is to realize the land revenue due on plots of land within the city There is at present an Act of the Supreme Legislature, XXIII of 1850, which provides a certain mode of realizing that land revenue, namely by distress and sale This Bill does not propose to interfere with that procedure, and has been so drafted as to leave it to the Revenue Authorities to adopt other procedure which they may think advisable

The next point to which I invite attention is in section 3 It is there provided that every Certificate made under the provisions of the former Act, which will be repealed if this Bill become law, may be enforced under the provisions of this Act

In section 4 a change is proposed to be made which has been found very desirable Under the existing law the Collector of the district is alone competent to make a Certificate It is possibly known to all the members of this Council that within the last few years the administration of districts has been sub divided, and that the formation of sub divisions has been effected to a very large extent, the officers in charge of such sub divisions being vested with powers very nearly the same as those of a Collector It is therefore proposed that all officers in charge of sub divisions shall exercise the same powers under the new Act which the Collector has under the existing Act In section 5 are enumerated the cases in respect of which a Certificate Absolute may be made, they are first, the cases in which an estate has been sold for arrears of its own revenue, and the proceeds of such sale are insufficient to liquidate the arrears of revenue due, and secondly, when arrears are due from a farmer In both these cases the Collector is empowered to make a Certificate, and that Certificate it will not be competent under the law for the person against whom it is made to dispute upon the merits in a Civil Court This merely follows what has been the practice in this country for very nearly a century

I now come to section 6, which attempts to enumerate all the cases in the existing law to which it is desirable to extend the Certificate Procedure The first clause of this section includes any sum of money which by any law for the time being in force is declared to be recoverable or realizable as an arrear of revenue or land revenue, or by the process prescribed for the recovery of arrears of revenue or of the public or Government revenue This language may at first sight appear somewhat complicated, but the fact is that it has been so worded in order to take in a large number of cases covered by the old Regulations in which the language used is not uniform, and I have so drafted the clause in order to make it applicable to all those old Regulations in which language essentially the same, but differing in its form of expression, has been used Clause 2 applies to any sum of money due from the sureties of a farmer in respect of the revenue of the estate farmed by him Here there is no change Then clause 3 takes in a number of Acts of the Bengal Council under which certain demands, moneys, dues, fees, duties and so forth may become due to Government, and which demands, fees, duties, and so forth it is thought desirable to realize under this procedure Many of these are so realizable under the existing Acts, and this Bill only collects them and adds one or two more which were formerly overlooked Clause 4 of section 6 in the same way provides for the realization of tolls due from farmers under the Canals Act, 1864, or from the sureties of such farmers Clause 5 applies to arrears of rent due from a person having charge of a ferry under Regulation VI of 1819 Clause 6 relates to any arrears of revenue or rent payable to Government from any ryot, or from any person holding any interest in land, pasturage, forest rights, fisheries, and the like this is not a new section, it is an addition to the Act of 1868 made by the amending Act of 1875 These cases are cases of rent due to Government It has been thought—and that is an opinion in which I entirely concur—that that which would be rent if paid to the zemindar is, when payable to Government, not rent, but revenue, and this clause merely makes this particular revenue realizable under a procedure which has been in substance usual for very many years in these provinces I then come to clause 7, which proposes to extend the special procedure to the recovery of rents in estates which, under any law for the time being, are under the management of the Court of Wards This is a new provision, and I am prepared to admit that it is a provision which carries the principle of the Bill to its extremest limits. I have no doubt that it will be carefully considered in Select Committee, and if it be thought desirable that this procedure should be made applicable to the recovery of rent in these particular estates, clause 7 will hold its place in the Bill.

The next point to which I shall refer is rule 2 of section 6. It has there been made more clear than it is in the existing law that any person against whom a Certificate for certain demands has been made may contest that Certificate on the merits in a Civil Court. I may note by the way that I have introduced a new nomenclature, calling a Certificate which may not be disputed in the Civil Court a Certificate Absolute, and one which may be disputed on the merits a Certificate Conditional. In the existing law there is no provision made as to any length of time within which a Certificate Conditional shall become absolute. I have introduced a limitation of one year, and the section provides that if the party against whom a Certificate Conditional is made, fails to contest it in the Civil Court for the period of one year, it shall then become a Certificate Absolute, or, in other words, that it cannot be contested or disputed after the lapse of one year.

The next point to which I invite attention is section 7. Under the present law certain classes of public officers to whom money is payable are allowed to notify that fact to the Collector, and the Collector on receipt of such notification proceeds to make a Certificate. It is now proposed to extend this procedure to Managers appointed by the Court of Wards, in other words, it is proposed to allow Managers to notify to the Collector of the district that such and such a sum is due as rent from persons holding land in estates under the management of the Court of Wards, and thereupon the Collector is empowered to issue a Certificate for the realization of the rent as a public demand. The section as drafted makes no provision for the levy of stamp duty on Certificates for the recovery of rent due to Wards' estates, but in Select Committee, if the section is allowed to stand, it will become necessary to protect the public revenue against loss by providing that such notices from Managers to the Collector shall bear such stamps as would be imposed on plaints filed in the Civil Court for the recovery of the same amount.

I now pass to section 9. Under the Act of 1868 as soon as a Certificate is made, and notice of its having been made served on the person against whom it is made, it may be enforced against the immovable property belonging to such person, there was no similar provision as to movable property, and it has occurred in the course of the experience of the last ten or twelve years that the public revenue has suffered in consequence of a person who had no immovable property having received notice of a Certificate having been made, and then made use of the month allowed for objecting to make away with the movable property, which otherwise would have been sufficient to satisfy the Government demand. The section therefore proposes to give to the Collector power similar to what every Civil Court possesses, namely a power analogous to that of attachment before judgment. This power is to be exercised by the Collector, not in all cases generally, but only when he is satisfied that the person concerned is likely to conceal or remove or dispose of the whole or a great part of his movable property.

I next invite attention to section 11. That section proposes to allow the Collector to make over to any Deputy Collector subordinate to him a case in which objection has been raised, and which therefore necessitates the taking of evidence and a judicial adjudication. It has occurred in several districts, notably in one district, that the amount of work arising out of the existing Act was so large that the Collector himself could not get through it without detriment to the efficient performance of his other duties. These cases are commonly simple, and every adjudication of a Deputy Collector will be appealable to the Collector. As a further safeguard, the Commissioner is empowered by rule 3 of the same section, in any case in which he thinks fit, to consider and revise any order passed either by a Collector or Deputy Collector. Under the present Act, in the case of farmers, and in the case of demands which are payable to the Collector himself, who makes the Certificate, it is necessary to give notice to the individual concerned, and no Certificate can be made until the expiry of one month after the giving of notice. The present Bill proposes to dispense with this preliminary notice and so get rid of the month's delay which results therefrom, it provides that, as soon as the Certificate is made, a full month shall be allowed to raise objections before proceedings are taken for enforcing the Certificate. This is a point as to which there is some doubt under the existing Act. In some districts Collectors consider themselves at liberty, having made the Certificate, to proceed at once to the realization of the amount stated therein. In other districts it is held that no steps can be taken by way of execution until the month has expired. In the Bill it is made clear that a full month is to be allowed for objecting before the Collector can take proceedings. Thus no real injury can be done to the parties concerned even in those very exceptional cases in which the Collector has made the Certificate under a mistake.

In section 12 provision has been made for applying the sections of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to insolvent judgment debtors to persons who have become debtors under this Act. A case occurred in the Chittagong district which was brought before the High Court, and it was decided that under the existing law these sections of the Code of Civil Procedure do not apply. It has been thought desirable that the debtors of Government should in this respect enjoy the same facility which has been conceded to the debtors of private persons.

In section 14 provision has been made for receiving payment of a demand, in respect of which a Certificate has been made, by instalments. No such provision exists in the present Act, and I am informed that the omission of such a provision has unduly tied the hands of the Collector in the case of persons who are ready to pay, but in consequence of circumstances over which they have no control are unable to pay the whole amount all at once.

The last provision is that contained in section 15 of the Bill. It is there proposed to protect the Collector and every public officer concerned from any civil suit for any act done, or required to be done, by him in the discharge of his duty under the Act. This merely extends to Collectors and other officers acting under the Bill the protection given to judicial officers by Act XVIII of 1850, the provisions of which Act are well known to the Council. The Collector and other public officers acting under this Bill will really be discharging judicial functions, and it is reasonable to afford them the same protection which the existing law gives to all judicial officers. I may mention in connection with this section that no protection is proposed to be given to the Managers of Wards' estates, and that if the present form of the Bill be retained so as to enable the Collector to make a Certificate on the requisition of such Managers, they will in no way be protected from the consequences of any neglect or incaution on their part to the disadvantage of the person injuriously affected thereby.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAI said he congratulated the hon'ble member on the clearness of the arrangement of the Bill, and added that he generally concurred in its provisions. But there was one provision in it to which he took exception, and which the hon'ble mover had himself approached in hesitating terms. He referred to clause 7 of section 6. That clause was not a matter of detail, but involved a very important question of principle, it was whether the recovery of rent in respect of estates or tenures in charge of the Court of Wards should be brought within the purview of the certificate procedure prescribed in the Bill. The hon'ble mover in his Statement of Objects and Reasons has stated that the certificate procedure was so summary that it ought to be used very carefully. He said—

Commissioners and Collectors were then consulted in order to ascertain if in the course of practice other instances had arisen of public demands not falling within the purview of Act VII (B.C.) of 1868 but which might well be made recoverable under its provisions. Some officers were in favour of a very wide extension of this special procedure and would make it applicable to all sums liquidated or unliquidated payable to the officers of Government whether acting on behalf of Government or on behalf of private individuals whose property or estates have by law come under the management of those officers. Having carefully considered the matter I have come to the conclusion that any such unlimited extension of what is in fact a summary procedure would not be safe or advisable. In this view I am confirmed by what the Legal Remembrancer has communicated to me about the working of the present Act.

Still, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL submitted with due deference, inconsistently enough the hon'ble mover had included the recovery of the rents of estates under the Court of Wards in this measure. Arrears of rent did not come under the category of State demands which would justify an exceptional procedure. The Collector being in charge of Wards' estates was, so to speak, interested in the management of such estates, but under the procedure laid down in the Bill, he would be the judge in cases connected with those estates. That, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL submitted, was opposed to right principle. Rent suits some times involved questions of right and other complicated matters which were best left to be dealt with by the civil courts.

It was observable that the certificate of the Collector under this Bill in respect of this class of cases would not be absolute, but, as the hon'ble mover called it, "conditional," and that liberty was given to the aggrieved party to apply to the civil court for redress within a year of the making of the certificate. If, then, it was considered necessary that the ultimate remedy should be sought for in the civil court, he did not see the necessity of providing for that class of cases the summary procedure of a certificate, it would only lead to additional expense, trouble, and harassment, and he considered it much better that the procedure should be simplified, and suits for the recovery of rent dealt with by the civil court at once, than that the certificate procedure should be first gone through as provided in this Bill, and the same thing should be gone over again in a regular way before the civil court. As the subject of the simplification of the procedure for the recovery of arrears of rent was now before a Commission, and as he believed a Bill would be soon submitted by that Commission, he thought it would be well to leave the question of the realization of arrears of rent in estates in the hands of the Court of Wards to the general law. He would therefore strongly oppose the introduction of this provision in the Bill.

THE HON'BLE MR DAMIER said there were two points which it was right he should notice, because this Bill originated from the Board of Revenue, and had been prepared in consultation with him, and he was partly answerable for it. The first point was in connection with what had fallen from the hon'ble mover regarding the town of Calcutta, on further consideration MR DAMIER thought they should do better perhaps to leave Calcutta out of the operation of the Bill. Under the Certificate Act the High Court held that the certificate procedure ousted all other procedures which were prescribed by special Acts, if the certificate procedure was adopted, no other procedure could be used, it was in supersession of all others which the Collector had. It was not quite clear whether the existing Act applied to Calcutta or not. Upon that decision of the High Court a reference was made to the Board as to whether the decision prevented the use of the certificate procedure in Calcutta, and in order to make the matter quite clear, a provision relating to Calcutta was introduced in this Bill. But MR DAMIER thought it would be sufficient if it were made clear that this Bill did not apply to Calcutta, but he would make further enquiries on the subject.

He would now approach the other question, and he was not surprised to hear the hon'ble mover of the Bill, who had so recently taken his seat in this Council, speak of it as if it was a new question, and had never received the attention of the Council. But hon'ble members who had been in Council for some years, and were acquainted with the history of its proceedings, would remember that this point was not now approached for the first time. It was a certum quæritur whether rent in Wards' estates should or should not be recoverable by the summary procedure which was provided for the recovery of public demands. He was not going now to speak on the principle, but he would remind the Council of the history of this question. Going back to Regulation VII of 1799, the procedure for the recovery of rents in Wards' estates was the summary procedure prescribed for the recovery of rents in Government estates, and it was so even in estates under the management of surburakars. Again, in Bengal Act IV of 1870, section 75, which was passed after full discussion provided that farmers and others holding tenures in estates in charge of the Court direct from the Collector should be subject to the same Rules, Regulations and Acts as were applicable to other persons holding similar tenures and interests under Collectors of land revenue, but when the farm was held from the manager, those Rules, Regulations and Acts should not apply. It was therefore clear that, where the management of

Wards' estates was directly under the Collector, this procedure might be used, but not where there was a manager. But then came the construction put by the High Court upon the meaning of the words "holding direct from the Collector." The Court interpreted these words to apply only to those farmers and others whose tenures and holdings had been created since the Collector came into the management of the estate. That, however, was certainly not the intention of the Council, however imperfectly their intention might have been expressed in the law. Their intention was to draw the distinction between tenants on estates managed by the Collector without the intervention of a manager, and those to which a manager under the Act was appointed. When the Court of Wards' Act of last year came up in Council the subject was discussed and considered. Section 63 of Act IX of 1879 provided that "all arrears of rent due by farmers, undertenants, and ryots in respect of property under the charge of the Court (whether such rents have become due before or after the Court has taken charge) shall be recoverable as arrears of revenue, and shall constitute a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868, or any similar Act for the time being in force," and that that provision was not passed without consideration would be observed from the next clause of the section, which enacted that "the last preceding clause shall not apply to arrears of rent enhanced after issue of notice under section 13 of Act X of 1869, or under section 14 of Bengal Act VIII of 1869 but of which the enhancement has not been agreed to by the person who is liable to pay the same or has not been confirmed by a competent court." After passing that section of the Wards' Act, it was thought that the matter was set at rest, but unfortunately under the certificate procedure the certificate must be for money due to the Collector or other officer, if the money was due to any other officer than the Collector, that officer had to make a demand on the Collector, and the Collector had thereupon to issue a certificate, and some one raised the question whether the manager of a ward's estate was any "other officer" within the meaning of the law. It was said that "other officer" meant other officer of the same class as the Collector. The money was not due to the Collector, because it was the ward's money; therefore he could not make a certificate that the money was due to himself, and therefore he could only make it on the demand of some other officer, and no "other officer" existed who was legally competent to certify that the amount was due. Thus the section could not be worked at all. The matter was then referred for the opinion of the highest law officer of Government and he advised that the manager of a ward's estate did come under the denomination of "other officer," thus fortified, MR DAMPIER felt himself justified in letting things take their course. Then in an evil moment he, as it was considered doubtful, had thought it desirable that the opportunity of the amendment of the Public Demands Act should be taken to remove all ground of doubt and to make it quite clear that the manager was the "other officer," and thereupon the hon'ble member of the Bill before the Council got up and announced that in this respect he was introducing a new provision altogether.

Loss of stamp revenue had been referred to. MR DAMPIER might mention that in some Wards' estates the Government revenue was falling into arrears because the rents could not be collected, and this not only in small estates, but in large ones, and being estates in charge of the Court of Wards they could not be sold for arrears of revenue. So in therefore the withdrawal of any facility for collecting rents in Wards' estates would jeopardize the land revenue.

The HON'BLE THE ADVOCATE GENERAL only wished to add a few words to what had already been said. He quite supported the hon'ble member who had just spoken that this provision did not for the first time state a proposition of law new to the revenue procedure of the country, but it was enacted with the view of giving the existing law precision, and if the principle was now discussed, and this clause of the Bill was removed, the Council would be altering a law which had existed for a great number of years. Although an estate managed by the Court of Wards was not a Government estate still the Government was to a certain extent directly interested in the collection of the rents of that estate. When an estate came under the charge of the Court of Wards it could not be sold for arrears of revenue, and it behoved the officer in charge to get in the rent (as speedily as possible) in order to pay the Government revenue, and in that way the collection of rents in Wards' estates became a matter as important to the Government as its own revenue.

THE HON. BLE. MR. O'KINEALY said he agreed with the learned Advocate General and the hon'ble member on his left (MR. DAMPLER) that since the beginning of the British rule in India realizations of rent in Wards' estates were subject to exactly the same procedure as that in Government estates, and the reason was that the Government having taken charge of the estates and looked after them, considered itself justified in recovering amounts due to the estate by the same process as in Government estates. Up to the passing of Act IV of 1870 that was the law, but in that Act there was a distinction made between lands held under the Collector and lands held under a manager appointed by the Court of Wards, and that procedure had been followed up to the present day. He was not inclined to extend the procedure of the present Bill to managers, he did not think as a rule that the managers of the Court of Wards were much better than the ordinary agents connected with zemindars' estates and he felt that to allow a manager to say that such and such an amount was due to him without requiring any further guarantee of the correctness of his statement, was really going too far. He would be very much inclined to allow the procedure proposed in the Bill to stand if the statement of the manager was made upon oath, so that he could be prosecuted if he made a statement which he did not know to be true, but as the provision now stood, MR. O'KINEALY did not think the Council would be justified in sanctioning its enactment.

THE HON. BLE. MR. FIELD said that the point to which he intended to invite attention as being new was this, the allowing the Collector, on the requisition of a Manager under the Court of Wards, to make a Certificate. He was well aware that under all the Court of Wards' Regulations and Acts up to the present date rent payable directly to the Collector was recoverable under the special procedure—a procedure analogous to it, but he believed that until a very short time back the question whether rent payable, not directly to the Collector, but to Managers under the Court of Wards, was recoverable under this procedure had never directly been raised or discussed. The question, it might be urged, was not new in principle, he contended as a matter of fact that it was new in practice—new in the instance. The Act of 1875 which amended the Act of 1868, ran thus—"Any arrears of rent payable to a Collector in charge of an estate or tenure on behalf of a private person, &c." The Court of Wards, Act passed last year omitted the words "to a Collector," but it made arrears of rent due by tenants, undertenants and ryots in respect of property under the charge of the Court recoverable as arrears of revenue. A doubt then arose whether rent if recoverable as arrears of revenue, and if payable, not to the Collector, but to a Manager, came within the definition of the word "demand." That led to the consideration whether "any officer other than a Collector" in section 19 of the Act of 1868 could be interpreted to include a Manager under the Court of Wards. There was one opinion that it meant any officer eiusdem generis, of the same class that is to say, any public officer. The other view was that "any officer" might be interpreted to include a Manager. He did not think it necessary to intimate what his view was but until that question arose, the question, whether the Collector could on the requisition of a Manager under the Court of Wards issue a Certificate, was a question certainly new to the outside public, and new in practice under the Act of 1868.

HIS HONOR. THE PRESIDENT, before putting the question that the Bill be read in Council, would say as regards the question of principle that had been raised, that he must admit it seemed to have a great deal of force and reason in it, and it was a subject which the Select Committee should carefully consider. It was not a matter which the Council could raise and dispose of off hand. He understood it was not the intention of the hon'ble member who raised this question to move a specific amendment, but to request that the Select Committee should consider it. It might be quite true, as the hon'ble member on his right (MR. DAMPLER) said, that the history of this principle, although it had been rather confused at times, had been generally to affirm that there should be a special procedure for the recovery of demands in estates under the management of Government officers, even though they were not the property of Government. His Honor did not think it necessary to go back to the practice of 1799, because the summary procedure which existed then was not the present certificate procedure, and bore no sort of resemblance to it. Then in the Act of 1870 a clear distinction was drawn in section 4 as to estates managed khass and those managed through a manager or agent, and he thought the necessity for making that distinction showed how unsound was the principle of bringing Wards' estates under the procedure of that Act, the section provided that under direct management of the Collector the special procedure might be accepted, but not where Wards' estates were under the charge of managers, showing the doubts that existed in the minds of the framers of that measure. Therefore it could not be said that the principle of the provision in the present Bill was absolutely affirmed in 1870. It would no doubt be said that if the special procedure was absolutely necessary to ensure the recovery of a sufficient amount of rent to meet the Government demand the same security was necessary for all estates in the country. It should be remembered that special powers were given to Government, because it was not holding as a private individual, but as a trustee for the public. Government had no individual interests in the collection of its dues and was not likely to be influenced by selfish or unjust motives, but that was not the case where the interests of a private estate were concerned. Where estates were managed by the Court of Wards it was not the interests of the public which were being guarded and protected, but the interests of a private individual, the loss or profit did not affect the public revenues, but the revenues of a private estate, and therefore the question of Wards' estates differed altogether from Government estates. Then, further, the wholesale adoption in such cases of this procedure would be a serious injury to the public revenue, because, if the special procedure were applied to the recovery of rent in all Wards' estates, the loss of revenue under the Stamp Act would be very large indeed. On the whole, he thought it desirable that the Select Committee should consider very carefully the whole principle whether the grounds which made it necessary to have a summary procedure for the recovery of Government demands applied to the management of Wards' estates. He should be very glad, in consequence of what had passed, if the Committee would give to the subject their serious consideration when the Bill was laid before them.

The motion was then agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble the Advocate General, the Hon'ble Mr. Danjur, the Hon'ble Mr. O'Kinealy, the Hon'ble Syud Amee Hossein, the Hon'ble Kristodas Pal, the Hon'ble Peary Mohun Mookerjee and the mover, with instructions to report in a fortnight.

HOWRAH BRIDGE ACT, AMENDMENT

THE HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE moved for leave to bring in a Bill to amend the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871. Under Act IX of 1871, which provided for the construction and maintenance of the Howrah Bridge, the Lieutenant Governor had power to transfer the management of the bridge to the Port Commissioners, who would then occupy the position of Bridge Commissioners under the Act. The bridge had been constructed shortly after the passing of the Act, and the Port Commissioners had been appointed Commissioners for the management of the bridge. As the Council was aware, on certain stated days in the week the bridge had to be opened for the passage of ships, and on those occasions the whole traffic between Calcutta and Howrah would be stopped, unless some other means of crossing the river were provided. Accordingly, at a very early period of the management, it was arranged, with the sanction of Government, that the Port Commissioners should take over the Railway Company's ferry steamers to carry passengers and goods, and keep up communication in the event of an accident happening to the bridge. They had also been compelled, in connection with the working of the bridge, and to prevent injury to the bridge and to ships passing through it, to purchase and maintain certain tug steamers. But it so happened that Act IX of 1871 only gave definite powers to apply the funds to the construction and maintenance of the bridge and of the approaches thereto. As a matter of fact, however, the Commissioners had up to date, with the sanction of Government, carried on the ferry service, as well as maintained tug steamers for hauling vessels through the bridge, and it was absolutely necessary for the continuance of the traffic and trade of the city that they should do so.

There was another circumstance which necessitated the introduction of this Bill at the present time. The Armeniam Ghat was originally the terminus of the East Indian Railway, and when the terminus was removed to Howrah, the Company still maintained the ghat office as a receiving depot for parcels and goods delivered by merchants in Calcutta, the Port Commissioners doing the work of carrying over the goods to Howrah. There was a certain advantage to the public in giving delivery of their goods to the Railway Company in Calcutta, it gave them a cause of action in the Court of Small Causes in Calcutta, and it was therefore desirable that there should be a depot for the delivery of goods in Calcutta. But arrangements had now been entered into between the Railway Company and the Port Commissioners by which the ghâts had been transferred to the Port Commissioners, and it was proposed that the transit of goods from Armeniam Ghat to the railway at Howrah should be managed entirely by the Commissioners. The performance of this service enabled them to cover almost the complete upkeep of their steamers in connection with the bridge. But when the amendment came to be entered into, it was found that the Port Commissioners had no power to do this under the Act, and accordingly the Advocate General advised that an amendment of the Act should be applied for.

Those were the objects of the Bill Mr MACFENZIE now asked leave to introduce. Unfortunately, owing to the pressing nature of the business, there had been no time to circulate the Bill before, but copies would be placed in the hands of the members in the course of the meeting. The first section of the Bill ran thus—

‘This Act shall be and shall be deemed to have always been a part of Bengal Act IX of 1871

That is to say, it gave the Commissioners indemnity for things done by them with the sanction of Government. And the 2nd section provided—

It shall be lawful for the Commissioners with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal to build or acquire in any manner whatsoever such steam or other vessels as they may think fit and to employ the same or any of them in towing vessels through the bridge and generally in the service of the bridge and also in carrying goods merchandise and passengers to and from such places in Calcutta and Howrah as may from time to time be fixed by the Lieutenant Governor and to book and receive goods merchandise and passengers at any such places and to make and levy such fees and charges as may from time to time be prescribed by the Lieutenant Governor for the aforesaid duties and services

The Bill, it would be seen, was a very short and very simple one, and he would now ask leave to introduce it

The motion was agreed to

The HON'BLE MR MACFENZIE said that as this Bill was of such a simple character, and the matter was a pressing one, and the Session of the Council was drawing to a close, he would ask His Honor the President to suspend the Rules for the conduct of business in order that the Bill might at once be read in Council and referred to a Select Committee

The PRESIDENT having declared the Rules suspended, the Bill was read in Council and referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr O'Kinealy and the mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council

ROAD AND PROVINCIAL PUBLIC WORKS CLASSES

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to local rating for the construction charges and maintenance of roads and other means of communication, and of provincial public works, was taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and the clauses of the Bill were considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee

In section 2, line 2 of the Proviso, the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved the substitution of the words ‘immovable property’ for ‘lands’. The amendment was an obvious one, the Bill assessed immovable property, and not only lands

The motion was agreed to

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved to omit the definition of ‘Collector’ in section 4, and to insert the following definition of ‘The Collector’ after the definition of ‘Tenure’—

The Collector means—

- I — When used in reference to revenue paying estates and lands comprised therein to all proceedings connected therewith and to the assessment and levy of taxes in respect thereof the Collector or other similar officer in whose revenue roll such estate is borne
- II — When used in reference to revenue free estates and lands comprised therein to all proceedings connected therewith and to the assessment and levy of taxes in respect thereof the Collector or other similar officer on whose general register of revenue free lands such lands are borne

The Collector of the district means the officer in charge of the revenue administration of a district

Explanation — The terms The Collector and

The Collector of the district include any person specially invested with the powers of a Collector for the purposes of this Act

It would be observed that the definition had been divided into two parts. As ‘Collector’ now stood defined in the Bill it meant the Collector of the geographical division of the district in which he exercised jurisdiction. Under the Bill almost all operations of assessment, valuation, levying rates and so on were performed, not by the Collector within whose geographical division the estate lay, but by the Collector on whose towjee it was borne. When it was intended to specify the Collector's duties in relation to the District Road Committee, the expression "Collector of the district" was used, which obviously meant the Collector of the geographical district.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved to omit section 19 and substitute the following —

19 From and after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice or of any extended time under the provisions of section 17 every holder of an estate or tenure in respect of which such notice has been served shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent for any land or tenure situate in any estate or tenure in respect of which no return has been lodged as aforesaid.

The Collector may send a list to the Civil Court of all such holders so making default in lodging returns as aforesaid and such Court shall take judicial notice of the same.

Whenever the required return is lodged in respect of any estate or tenure or whenever the valuation of any such estate or tenure has been otherwise completed the disability imposed on the holder thereof by this section shall cease and if such estate or tenure shall have been included in any list as aforesaid the Collector shall forthwith give notice to the Civil Court of the cessation of such disability.

19A Every holder of an estate or tenure in respect of which a return has been made as required by this chapter shall be precluded from suing for or recovering—

- (a) any rent whatsoever for any land holding or tenure forming part of the estate or tenure to which such return relates but which has not been mentioned in such return unless it be proved that the holding or tenure for the rent of which the rent is claimed was created subsequently to the lodging of such return.
- (b) rent at any higher rate than is mentioned in such return for any land holding or tenure included in such return unless it be proved that the rent of such land or tenure has been lawfully enhanced subsequently to the lodging of such return.

Provided that the Collector may at his discretion at any time within six months from the presentation of any return made under this Part receive a petition correcting any such return.

and on the acceptance of such petition and on payment of the amount of cess due from the date when the corrected valuation came into force rent at the rate shown in the corrected return may be recovered. Such notices as the Collector may direct shall be served upon the parties affected by such petition at the expense of the person lodging the return as aforesaid.

These sections were merely a re-arrangement of section 19 as it stood in the Bill. Section 19 mixed up two different things. It mixed up the case in which no returns were made by the zemindar, and the consequence of which was that he might not sue for rent at all, and secondly, the case in which having made returns, he could not sue any tenant for a higher amount than was shown therein. The two cases were perfectly distinct.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved to omit the following words which stood as the last clause of section 22 —

Any holder of land on whom such notice may have been served in respect of any lands shall if the Collector so order be deemed to be a tenure holder for the purposes of assessment and levy of the cesses in respect to such lands.

This was to meet a case where a man returned as a cultivating ryot had been served with notice by the Collector and had been ordered to file a return of the rent which he receives, then according to section 22 the Collector might assess him as a ryot on the rent which he received, and not on the rent which he paid. It might come to the Collector's notice that the man had been wrongly classed as a ryot, and that he ought to be returned as a tenure holder. And in lieu of the clause which MR DAMPIER proposed to omit from 22, he would move to insert the following section after section 23 —

23A If it shall appear to the Collector that any person on whom a notice has been served under section 22 has been wrongly classed in the return as a cultivating ryot the Collector may direct that the entry be corrected and that such person be classed as a tenure holder and thereupon such person shall be deemed to be a tenure holder for the purposes of the assessment and levy of the assessment in respect of the lands held by him.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved to omit from section 44, lines 5 to 8, the words "or any shareholder of a tenure, the extent of whose share or interest in the tenure is recorded in any register of tenures," and to substitute the following — "or whenever any shareholder in an estate, the extent of whose share or interest in such estate is recorded in any other register of lands" This amendment, he said arose from the special definition of "tenure" given in the Bill and the different meaning which the word had in ordinary revenue working The point of section 44 was that when a recorded shareholder paid his own proportion of the cess, and also the cess upon the shares of other recorded shareholders, then he might call upon the Collector to recover the sum so paid by him from the other shareholders by the certificate summary procedure in the same way as a public demand was recoverable It was very simple in the case of estates in the ordinary sense of the word, of which there was a general register under the Land Registration Act, and of which the shareholders were registered But it was also proposed to give the same privilege to shareholders in what were ordinarily called "tenures"—tenures in estates belonging to Government, of which a register would not be kept in the general register of revenue free lands, but in some other register which the Collector, as the representative of Government, the proprietor of the estate, kept of the tenures of the estate What was wanted was that any person who was recorded as the proprietor of a tenure in a register which the Collector kept might recover by the certificate procedure from his co sharers These tenures paid revenue direct to Government and therefore, under the special definitions of the Act, came not under the head of tenures, but of estates, and the section had been so altered now as to fit it to the state of things

The motion was agreed to

The HON'BLE MR DAMPILR moved to insert the words "which may hereafter become due to such holder" after "cess" in line 12 of section 46D, and to substitute the word "other" for "lower" in line 13 of the same section The first of these amendments, he said, was a mere explanation, but the second amendment involved something substantial The section as it stood assumed that the Collector might only lower the value of rent free lands included in the zemindar's returns, even if he found that the zemindar had under valued instead of over valuing the Collector had no power to raise the valuation A case might occur in which the zemindar might under value, in such a case the public revenues ought to get the benefit of the assessment which the Collector thought proper

The motion was agreed to

In section 51, lines 17 to 20, the HON'BLE MR DAMPILR moved to omit the words "from the year in which the valuation took effect, according to the return of the estate or tenure in which his land ought to have been included," and to substitute the words "for the three years next preceding" The section required the holders of rent free lands to ascertain whether the holder of the estate in which his land was situate had included his rent free land, if he had not done so the lakhtiydar might himself make a return, and thus free himself from the zemindar's clutches The land ought perhaps to have been included in the zemindar's return five or six years previously, but under the limitation of the law cess upon such land could only be recovered for a period of three years after it became due, it was therefore useless assuming that the rent free holder would pay arrears for any longer period

The motion was agreed to

The HON'BLE MR DAMPILR moved to insert the following section after section 62F The section was of a merely formal character —

62G The Collector may at any time with the sanction of the Commissioner revoke any order passed under section 62B and shall give notice of such revocation both to the holder of the revenue free estate affected and to the holder of the other estate to which such revenue free estate was annexed

The section was agreed to

In sections 67 and 70 formal and verbal amendments were made on the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPILR

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPILR the following clauses were inserted after clause (d) of section 70, which empowered the Board of Revenue to make rules for certain purposes —

(d) regulating the opening keeping and closing of separate accounts in respect of amounts of cess payable by recorded shareholders in revenue free estates as provided in section 42A,

(e) regulating the proceedings of Collectors under Chapter V of this Act.

THE HON'BLE PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said he thought section 51 of the Bill was open to several objections. It was unanimously agreed in Select Committee that no stranger should be allowed to inspect or examine these returns. But this section allowed any person calling himself rightly or wrongly a lakhirajdar to inspect any return. In the second place, considering the circumstances under which the zemindars omitted or neglected to make a return of rent free holdings in their estates, section 48 of this Bill provided for the filing of supplementary returns in respect of rent free holdings in estates and tenures. But section 51 made that provision altogether nugatory by providing that rent free holders might make returns of rent free holdings even on the day after the date of the passing of the Act, without giving zemindars and the holders of estates and tenures any time at all to put in their supplementary returns. The last objection to which this section was open was that it was rather obscure in language, it might bring on collision between zemindars and rent free holders, and unnecessarily give rise to numberless disputes concerning the validity of the claims of rent free holdings. He thought it very desirable that it should be expressly provided that no cess should be payable for the same land both as rent paying and rent free. On these grounds he moved that the following section be substituted for section 51 —

Section 51 — I very owner and holder of rent free land who within six months after the passing of this Act shall not be called upon by the holder of the estate or tenure of which his lands are deemed to form a part to pay road cess and public works cess in respect of such land may himself, after the expiry of that time make a return of his land in the said form and may pay to the Collector the full amount of cesses due from him for the three years next preceding.

Provided that nothing in this section shall authorize the Collector to receive any sum as cess under this section in respect of any land which the holder of such estate or tenure can show to be included by him in his return as rent paying.

THE HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said this was a very important section and one in which landholders took a great deal of interest. The Council would observe that an entirely new chapter had been introduced in order to force landholders to act up to their obligations in respect of entering in their returns for the purposes of this Bill those rent free lands which were included within the ambit of their estates. Under the Act which was about to be repealed, zemindars were bound to include in their returns all lakhiraj lands which lay within their estates, but practically in nine cases out of ten these lands were not so included, the zemindars had in fact no knowledge of the existence of these rent free holdings, and they did not wish to have to pay for them, it was strongly to their interest not to return them. And so these persons escaped taxation altogether for the purposes of the Bill. The chapter which the Select Committee introduced endeavoured to give effect to what was the original intention of the law. It provided inducements to the zemindars not to omit to return these rent free lands. It gave them fifty per cent on the amount which the rent free holder was required to pay, and there were provisions in detail for the making of supplementary returns to supply omissions occurring in former returns — voluntary omissions possibly most of them. Then it was said that a rent free holder was bound to satisfy himself in respect of the return in which he ought to be included. If the zemindar had omitted him, the rent free holder might make a return of his own land and claim the right of paying the cess directly to the Collector in future instead of through the zemindar, thereby saving himself from penalties for not having paid in time to the zemindar, and so on. The hon'ble member opposite objected to section 51 on three grounds, first, because the lakhirajdar was required to inspect the zemindars' returns. The hon'ble member said that it was agreed in Select Committee that the zemindars' returns were not to be open to the public in general, and to say to the lakhirajdar he must inform himself was to open the returns to his inspection. MR DAMPIER was not prepared to meet that objection at present, and must reserve the consideration of it. He believed the Select Committee did not come to a distinct conclusion on this point. Then the hon'ble mover of the amendment said that a certain time should be given within which the zemindar might return lakhiraj lands before lakhirajdars could themselves come in. That was a point which required consideration also, and MR DAMPIER was inclined to give some weight to the objection. The third point was as to the lakhirajdar's return being used as a fulcrum by which he should claim, and try to establish a claim to hold lands rent free to which in reality he was not so entitled. It was objected that in the course of years the very fact of a lakhirajdar having made a claim to 10 bigahs instead of 5 would practically become evidence against the zemindar, and to that the zemindars had great objection. They said "If once we include any given land in our returns (whether rightly or wrongly) as rent paying, that should be enough," the lakhirajdar should not be entitled to come forward and say "it is my rent free land." To this MR DAMPIER would reply that he thought the Government was quite at liberty to say "if the lakhirajdar likes to come forward and to pay a second addition of the cess let him do so, but his doing so will be no sort of evidence against the zemindar."

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT remarked that a memorial had been circulated only that day from the British Indian Association in which some representation was made in reference to the section under discussion, he thought the Council should be allowed some time to consider the matter before it was finally determined.

The further consideration of the motion was postponed.

Section 10 of the Bill runs as follows —

10. The proceeds of the Public Works Cess shall be paid into the public treasury and shall be applied—(1) to the payment of such contributions to the District Road Fund as the Lieutenant Governor may think proper in consideration of the said cess being assessed and collected jointly with the Road Cess by establishments paid from the District Road Fund and (2) to the construction charges and maintenance of Provincial Public Works and to the payment of interest on capital which may have been expended or which may hereafter be expended on such works in such manner as the Lieutenant Governor may direct.

THE HON'BLE KRISHNODAS PAL moved the insertion of the following words after the word "works" — "likely to protect the country against the occurrence of famine," and the addition of these words at the end of the section "and to relief of sufferings from famine."

He also moved the insertion of the following section after section 10 —

Accounts of the moneys received and expended on account of the Public Works Cess under the provisions of this Act shall be kept in such form as the Lieutenant Governor may prescribe and a statement showing the receipt, expenditure and balance of the Public Works Cess shall be published annually in the Calcutta Gazette.

He said it would be convenient to take the two amendments together, which referred to the application of the proceeds of the public works cess to famine purposes, and to the keeping of the accounts of the cess.

He had to apologize to the Council for taking upon himself the responsibility of raising the very important question which the first amendment involved, it was a question which he should submit legitimately, fell within the functions of the Executive Government, it could only be settled by the Government of Bengal in communication with the Government of India. When he raised the question, he did so because the declaration made in the other Council, and also in this Council, fully justified him in demanding that the proceeds of the Public Works Cess should be applied to the purposes of famine as originally intended. In 1877, the Hon'ble the Finance Minister, on behalf of the Government of India, enunciated a scheme of famine taxation, and the Public Works Cess was a part of that scheme. The people of Bengal submitted to it in view of the benevolent object which it was intended to accomplish through the agency of that tax. In propounding the necessity for special taxation for execution of works likely to protect the country from the occurrence of famine, the Hon'ble the Finance Minister said—

The measures which I have been explaining, (i.e. the Public Works Cess Bill for Bengal and the License Tax Bill for the North Western Provinces) are a step in the direction which I have mentioned by throwing upon each province the responsibility for meeting the charges necessary for providing the canals and railways required to protect its own people against famine, we give practical recognition to the principle on which the Secretary of State has insisted upon and we obtain to a certain extent though far from completely, that safeguard for the Imperial revenues which he thought so necessary.

When the Hon'ble Mr Reynolds introduced the Public Works Cess Bill into this Council in 1877, he gave the reasons which induced the Bengal Government to bring forward that measure. It was urged that the Lieutenant Governor had been called upon by the Government of India to provide a certain annual contribution for the payment of interest upon capital laid out upon certain works, those works were the three great irrigation canals on the Soane, in Orissa, and at Midnapore, and the State Railways of Port Canning, Nulhatee, Northern Bengal, and Firohpoor. He calculated the charge for interest on the Irrigation Works at Rs 20,69,000, and the working expense in excess of the receipts at Rs 1,50,000, making a total charge of Rs 22,19,000 on account of canals. The charge for interest on account of State Railways was Rs 8,21,000, and the nett earnings and amount of traffic receipts in excess of working expenses was Rs 2,93,000, reducing the total charge on account of railways to Rs 5,28,000. Taking the two heads of Irrigation and Railways together, the sum for which the Bengal Government was to be held responsible amounted to Rs 27,47,000. But this was not all. Mr Reynolds further said—

It had been laid down by the Government of India that it was necessary to introduce a system of provincial and local responsibility for the provision of local relief in the event of a famine. It was true that Bengal was happily less liable to the contingency of famine than other parts of India, but the two great calamities which had befallen these provinces within the last twelve years must have shown that the contingency of famine was one which we could not afford altogether to overlook.

And so, as the hon'ble mover of the Bill stated, the balance of Public Works Cess should be applied to famine purposes. In alluding to these statements BABOO KRISHODAS PAL's object was to show distinctly the character of the Public Works Cess, it was, as already observed, a part and parcel of the scheme inaugurated by the Government of India in 1877. On referring to the last Financial Statement, it would be found that the Hon'ble the Finance Minister laid much stress on this distinctive character of the Public Works Cess. He said—

Taking together the measures adopted in the two years 1877 and 1878 the first new taxation was the Public Works Cess imposed on the land of Bengal this yielded in 1878 79 £355 590.

Then he went on to discuss the question whether, if there was a probability of a surplus, the License Tax Act should be repealed, or the Public Works Cess should be remitted. He said—

Considering that precisely the same reasons were given by the Government and accepted by the Legislature for imposing fresh taxation on the trading and on the agricultural classes, with the object of protecting the country against the financial consequences of famine and that special stress was laid upon our desire to make the burden fall with approximate equality on each of these classes it would be difficult for the present Government at least to accept any proposition for treating them differently now. In fact it would be hardly possible to maintain the cesses on the land if the tax on trades were abolished. It might be more possible to defend the abolition of the cesses on the land and the maintenance of the tax on trades.

Now BABOO KRISHODAS PAL hoped he had said enough to show that the character of the Public Works Cess was specific, that it was intended chiefly to be applied to purposes connected with famine, but, as a matter of fact, he was sorry to say that it had not been so applied. Excepting the works which were pointed out by the hon'ble mover of the Bill, viz the irrigation canals and railways, some of which were not directly connected with famine at all, he did not know to what other works the Public Works Cess had been applied. Under the law it was the duty of the Government of Bengal to publish accounts of the funds raised under the Act, that was a solemn obligation imposed by an Act of the Legislature, but that obligation, he was constrained to say, had not been fulfilled. There might be good and valid reasons for this departure from the law, nothing reasonable had hitherto been stated, the only reason given by the hon'ble mover of the present amending Bill was that it had been found impossible to give such an account. BABOO KRISHODAS PAL did not think it could justly be contended that the Accounts Department could not devise a system of accounts that would give a fair statement of the expenditure of the Public Works Cess. Parliament had repeatedly laid stress on the publication of authentic accounts of Indian revenues, but here was an instance in which the Legislature had especially declared that a separate account should be kept and published, but that had not been done. He might be told that the accounts he called for might be seen in the Administration Report of the Government of Bengal. With due deference he submitted that that book was neither widely circulated nor widely read, and the public at large could not be expected to know what was contained in it, but even there the accounts were jumbled up, so much so, that it was difficult to follow a precise line as to the application of the cess. The cost of the works was given, but where the money came from could not be traced. He might be answered that the account he called for was simple enough. The Government had to make over to the Imperial treasury Rs 27,00,000 as stated by Mr Reynolds, and that no further details need be given, but as he had already pointed out, from the statement of the Finance Minister, the proceeds of the cess amounted to more than Rs 35,00,000, and after paying the amount of the contract, if he might so term it, entered into between the Government of India and the Government of Bengal in 1877, there would be a balance of Rs 8,00,000 left, and how was that balance appropriated? That balance of eight lakhs would cover the interest upon borrowed capital of two millions for Public Works in Bengal, if that fund was available, the Bengal Government could execute all those important railway communications which were considered so necessary, and the tax payers would have the satisfaction of knowing that the money they had been paying had been spent within the country, and would be applied to their own benefit. But the misfortune was they did not know where the money had gone to. It had always been his painful duty to remind the Council that Bengal, though the most productive province of India in a financial point of view, though yielding the largest amount of revenue as compared with all the other provinces had had from, he might say, the beginning of the century but scant justice done to it in regard to financial matters. When the Public Works Cess was introduced, he endeavoured to give a sketch of the financial history of Bengal, and in that review he quoted the opinions of Sir John Peter Grant and Sir George Campbell with regard to the very scant justice done to the claims of Bengal, and in noticing that review, His Honor the President was pleased to say—

‘Sir John Grant pointed out that nothing had been done for Bengal in the way of assigning it funds for opening out communications up to 1861 and Sir George Campbell had said that very little had been done since which was no doubt true. But it appeared to His Honor that if the honorable member had been arguing in favour of this Bill he could not have adduced any stronger argument than that of those two gentlemen because they wanted to show that whatever was raised in Bengal was spent elsewhere and that Bengal did not receive its fair share of its own revenues. The object of the present system of decentralization was to put a stop to that state of things and to secure to Bengal a certain amount of the revenue which it had to raise for itself.

BABOO KRISHNODAS PAL appealed again to the hon’ble members to say whether that declaration had been fulfilled, whether Bengal had been allowed to spend the money she was required to raise by the imposition of the Public Works Cess. He had told them that the bulk of the proceeds of the tax which was declared applicable to the payment of interest for certain works went to meet charges which had hitherto been borne by the Imperial Exchequer, but he was not in a position to show what His Honor the President was pleased to promise that the money that was raised was spent in Bengal. His Honor went further and said—

“In nearly every native newspaper which he had taken up lately he had seen Bengal spoken of as the milch cow of India. The object of this measure was to remedy the state of things which had led to the common use of this phrase to enable Bengal to use a little of its own milk, which it now contributed for the benefit of other provinces and to substitute for fresh general taxation of which they could have no account and from which they should receive but little benefit a system under which they were to impose their own taxation and look after the development and expenditure of their own finances.

Thus, they were promised the use of their own milk, but he was afraid that not a drop had come into their mouths, they were told that in general taxation they could have no accounts, but that, if they were to impose their own taxation, they could look after their own finances. BABOO KRISHNODAS PAL had pointed out that those accounts had not been given that had been their position as regards the application of the proceeds of the Public Works Cess. He should wish it to be distinctly understood that he did not oppose the principle upon which the cess had been imposed. He did not for a moment question the noble and beneficent motives which actuated the Government in inaugurating the scheme of famine taxation, but he did contend that money raised in Bengal should be spent in Bengal, and that the tax payers had a right to know how the money had been applied. His object was to strengthen the hands of Government in this respect.

None had more strongly urged than His Honor the necessity for the execution of those famine insurance works which had been announced by the Government of India two years ago. At a recent meeting of the Viceregal Council, His Honor advanced cogent reasons why those works should be proceeded with. As regards expenditure upon productive works generally, BABOO KISHORODAS PAL believed the Government of Bengal must act under the orders of the Government of India, but when a separate fund was constituted under a distinct Act of this Legislature, and power was given to the Lieutenant Governor to apply it to particular purposes, he did not think that the special sanction of the Government of India was necessary. And if the Public Works Cess Act had distinctly laid down the purposes to which the cess would be applicable, the Government of Bengal would have been quite competent to carry out those purposes without reference to the Government of India. Believing that to be the case, he thought it was desirable that the law should contain a distinct provision that the proceeds of the cess should be applicable to specific purposes, and that the public should be furnished with accounts of the expenditure of the money.

He would not trouble the Council with further remarks on this point, but he hoped hon'ble members would bear in mind that in moving this amendment he simply asked the Council to give effect to the declarations which, as he had pointed out, had from time to time been made in the upper Council, as also in this Council, as to the purposes to which the proceeds of the Public Work Cess should be applied, and in calling for the publication of accounts, he simply repeated a provision which existed in the Cess Act about to be repealed.

THE HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said the immediate object of the amendment was to protect against the omission from the present Bill of a clause which now stood in the Provincial Public Works Cess Act requiring that an account of the monies levied should be published annually by the Government in the Calcutta Gazette. This omission was discussed in Select Committee, and it was made under the immediate orders of the Lieutenant Governor. As the hon'ble gentleman who had just spoken said, there were very valid and cogent reasons for the omission. He could understand his hon'ble friend as representing the public wishing to have an explanation of those reasons, but he could not understand his protesting to entertain serious doubts as to whether the money raised by this cess was expended in Bengal or not. However, as this and several other important amendments which stood in his hon'ble friend's notice of amendments affected the financial Department of the Government of Bengal, it would be more strictly proper that the Financial Secretary to the Government should give those reasons, MR. DAMPIER therefore left him to explain the motives and the reasons which induced the Government to ask for the omission of the clause in question.

THE HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE said — To the proposal that the Government should be bound by law to spend the proceeds of the Public Works Cess solely upon works for the prevention or relief of famine, the Government must, I think offer an unqualified resistance. I am not sorry, however, that the hon'ble member opposite has raised the question, because it gives me an opportunity of meeting and I trust of once for all dispelling some radical misconceptions, in which the hon'ble member shares, as to the position of the local Government of Bengal with reference to this tax. I must ask the Council to bear with me while I trace with some minuteness its origin and history. I cannot accept as history the very partial account given by my hon'ble friend.

In the Financial statement for the year 1877-78, Sir John Strachey, after a comprehensive review of the Imperial finances from 1869-70 onwards, declared that, to place those finances on a sound and permanent basis for the future, it was absolutely essential to establish such a surplus of ordinary income over expenditure as should enable the Government to meet, from ordinary revenues, (1) all charges for the relief of famine, (2) all charges for unremunerative Public Works, and (3) all charges rendered necessary by unforeseen ordinary demands, or by urgent fiscal reforms, including, under this third heading the growing charges for exchange. He pointed out that the only means by which the necessary improvement in the financial position could be gained were (1) fresh taxation, or (2) reduction of expenditure, or (3) increased productiveness of existing sources of revenue, or lastly, a combination of these means. In order to the development of existing sources of revenue, and the restriction of existing administrative expenditure, the extension of the decentralization scheme, as inaugurated in 1871-72 by Lord Mayo's Government, had been resolved upon. But that was in itself not sufficient to secure the necessary surplus for the Imperial Exchequer. It did little more than guard the Imperial Government against further demands under certain great heads of administrative expenditure, while enlisting the co-operation of the local Governments in securing a moderate development of certain ordinary heads of revenue. It was therefore proposed to make each local Government responsible "not only for the management of many of the great Public Works that were being constructed with borrowed money, but also to throw upon those Governments the charges which such works might entail."

Now, one argument put forward by Sir John Strachey for this transfer of charge was certainly based on the patent fact that railways and irrigation canals do help to protect the localities served by such works from famine or its effects. But the main justification of the proposal lay in the statement that the works to be thus transferred were primarily works of provincial or local utility, undertaken for the special benefit of certain districts and places. "All that we now desire (said Sir John Strachey) is to enforce provincial responsibility for works of provincial utility." "We desire to throw upon every province, so far as this is now practicable, the responsibility for meeting the cost of its own local requirements." The local Governments were left to consider how far the charges thus thrown upon them could be recovered from the people primarily benefited, and what portion would have to be met by the province at large. This, and nothing more than this, was the scheme for improving the position of the Imperial finances, so far as it was expounded in March 1877, and it was in accordance with this scheme that a Bill for the levy of a compulsory irrigation rate on lands and the Provincial Public Works Cess Bill were immediately thereafter introduced in this Council.

The questions thus discussed were, Sir John Strachey admitted intimately connected with the finance of famine relief, and the enforcement of local responsibility for the relief of famines, but on that matter no positive conclusion had, he said, been then come to. And the Government in March 1877 distinctly reserved for future consideration all plans of meeting the cost of such relief directly from local sources. The only point so far settled was that the Government of Bengal (to confine the argument to the matter now in hand) should find money locally for meeting the charges on account of its productive Public Works—past, present and to come.

If the Members of the Council will turn with me now to the speech made by the Secretary to Government (Mr. Reynolds) when introducing the Public Works Cess Bill on the 31st March 1877, they will find it clearly stated that the proposed taxation was necessary to enable this Government (1) to meet the liability thrown upon it for interest on the capital cost of its railways and canals, (2) to provide for the completion and extension of those works which were still unfinished, (3) to provide for such new works as might be necessary in Bengal, and (4) to secure a surplus and reserve fund in hand for the provision of local relief in the event of famine. It has always seemed to me that, in view of the explicit reservation of the famine question by Sir J. Strachey, the introduction of this fourth object was at the time somewhat premature. But it serves to make even more clear the point I am at, which is to show that the Provincial Public Works Cess was not in fact designed to be spent year by year solely on works for famine prevention.

or famine relief, but intended to be in the hands of the local Government a fiscal engine for maintaining and improving its general financial position, and enabling it to meet from its general provincial balances the heavy financial responsibility thrown upon it by the policy of the Supreme Government a responsibility which might eventually come to include charges for the relief of local districts not being of a general character. As explained by the President himself at page 32 of the Council Proceedings for 1877 "It must be remembered that we must always have some money in hand to pay for the construction of new works, and we must keep a working margin in hand, therefore it will not do to cut down the amount we are to raise to the bare sum which will be required for the interest on the works which are already completed." And again at page 57 "The Public Works Cess is a measure for raising a further sum of money for the general development of works for the benefit of the whole of those provinces." There could not have been any franker intimation than is contained in these paragraphs, that more was to be raised by the Public Works Cess than would suffice to meet the bare requirements of the Supreme Government in the matter of interest, and that the proceeds of the tax were generally to be utilized for provincial works of utility of every kind. The preamble of the Act (II of 1877) embodies precisely the idea which the Government had in view. It ran—"Whereas it is expedient to empower the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal to levy a cess on immovable property and to apply the proceeds of the same to the construction, maintenance, and charges of Provincial Public Works." Not a word is said about famine relief from one end of the Act to the other. Nor was any thing said about famine relief in the Acts for Upper India passed at the same time in the other Council. In bringing in those Acts on the 21st of March, the Honble Mr. Colvin said—"The measures proposed were in furtherance of the scheme for throwing on the local Governments the responsibility of undertaking their own local works and for that purpose only. They related solely and entirely to the extension of the Provincial system to the management of public works." Sir John Strachey in the same debate summed up the whole aim and object of the North Western Provinces local taxation (and by implication of the Bengal Public Works Cess Act) thus—"It amounts to no more than this—we desire to give the earliest possible practical effect—an effect which shall operate as widely as it is at present in our power to extend its operation—to the principle that the local Government shall be responsible financially for the maintenance and management of works which are of special local utility."

Now we will note that when the Government of India had thought out the question of famine, it treated these provincial rates as part of its general scheme of famine taxation. Sir J. Strachey in his financial speeches of the 7th December 1877 and 16th February 1878 explained that, as the Imperial Government must be responsible for the relief of famine in the last resort—"the special resources now created—must be at the complete command of the Government of India," and hence the idea has got abroad, and has somewhat rashly, I venture to say, been adopted even in the Legislative Council of India itself, that the Provincial Public Works Cess stands exactly on all fours with the license tax. This is emphatically as true as Bengal is concerned, not the case. The "special resource" at the disposal of the Government of India arising out of the Public Works Cess is simply the amount paid over to that Government on account of interest on the capital invested in productive works within the province by the Imperial Government. If the Government of India chose to say that it had established by other means and apart from that payment the desired surplus of income over expenditure, and was now willing to remit that interest payment, the Government of Bengal might reduce the amount of its demand under the Public Works Cess Act, but it would not necessarily, or even probably forego it altogether. It could still spend every penny of the money for the benefit of the province, were it allowed to do so. It would still require an established surplus of provincial income to meet the urgent demands upon it for works of every kind.

Practically the honble member is inviting the Government of India to divert to the Imperial Exchequer what are meant to be strictly Provincial funds. Sir John Strachey, in January 1878, seemed indeed to contemplate some such process. In speaking of the so called system of mutual insurance, "under which all parts of the country which are primarily responsible for supplying the wants which arise within their own area will contribute towards the relief of other parts on which famine may actually fall," he said. Resources will be created from which the central authority will draw whatever sum is found to be requisite to discharge the obligations arising from the dead weight of famine expenditure." But, Sir, I have shown that all that can be drawn from the Bengal Public Works Cess, as the law stands, is the interest on our productive capital outlay, and we have the benefit of all that remains to us after satisfying that charge, besides the net earnings of our works. The Government of India is relieved of so much interest on debt, and is put so far in a position of surplus to meet famine demands, while we are, by the receipts from the cess, enabled to meet the interest charges out of our general balance, and to go on with other Provincial works for the benefit of the province at large. The hon'ble member would, as I understand the effect of his proposal, stamp the whole of these receipts with the broad arrow of famine, and tender it, with perhaps one regretful sigh, to the omnivorous central authority referred to. I trust this Council will prove wise in its generation. Provincial taxation of some kind I fear there must be. But the local Government may be trusted to make the most of the proceeds in the general interests of Bengal and do not hamper it by impracticable restrictions and a doubtful nomenclature.

I have shown that the connection of famine with the Public Works Cess is after all only an indirect one. I believe myself that if the present famine policy had never been evolved we should all the same have had to bear the burden of our Productive Public Works sooner or later. It was a charge that was bound to come, and I cannot say that it is an unjust one. If we were only allowed to make the most of our revenue, the burden would be so light as not to be felt. The country would in fact grow under it, and get all the benefits of financial independence and unfettered development.

I have pointed out that some Provincial taxation is probably essential to the stability of Bengal finance, and I repeat this, although I know that we have at the present moment imple balances quite up to any surplus receipts from the Public Works Cess and although it is true that we had accumulated before the famine balances nearly as great. Still these balances prove on analysis not so satisfactory a possession as might at first blush be supposed. When the Provincial Services scheme was started in 1871-72, we received, as Sir George Campbell told this Council, for the management of the great spending departments then made over to us, 37 lakhs less than they had cost in 1868-69, and 11 lakhs less than the Government of India had felt bound to spend upon them in the worst year of the financial panic in 1870-71. But existence was all that we could hope for. On such moans progress seemed necessarily out of the question. Not, however, despairing of the province, Sir George Campbell went to work, and in two years accumulated, as I have said, a considerable balance, but how did he manage this? By transferring to the District Road Funds the maintenance of nearly all the roads in the province, by seizing every windfall, and screwing out of the Financial Department every extra penny to which he could lay the shadow of a claim, by converting to general use all sorts of petty funds, and lastly by practically suspending all expenditure save what was actually necessary to keep the administration going. With all his burning longings for universal reform, Sir George Campbell was as cautious and thrifty an administrator financially as India ever saw. I do not myself think that justice to his great financial capacity has ever been properly done. He had an amazing grasp of both details and principle when dealing with such subjects. When he thought his position secure for the time he postponed further taxation, which he had always avowedly kept in reserve and proceeded to allot the funds in hand in order to give Bengal the improvements, moral and material, for which it had so long been crying. But before the money could be utilized, famine swooped down upon the country and every farthing of his accumulations had to be surrendered to feed the people of the tracts distressed.

After two years of pinching, you too, Sir, began to accumulate funds, owing mainly to the wonderful prosperity of the year 1877-78, and the fact that we had now become masters of our own excise and stamp receipts. You too, Sir, like Sir G. Campbell, thought, after a while, that the time had come when Bengal might hope to profit by its own savings, and visions most gratifying to a governing mind took shape in your Public Works Department roads, canals, and railways, all that Bengal had pined for, were at last to be begun. But before we had had more than a glimpse of this golden age, the periodically recurrent cloud of financial depression again settled down upon the Government of India. All extra expenditure was summarily stopped, and we find ourselves, at the beginning of 1880-81, with a balance of some 50 lakhs of rupees, not allowed to spend any of it on productive works, and doubtful if we shall even be allowed to appropriate some reasonable part of it to ordinary provincial requirements. It cannot be too emphatically stated that hitherto the Provincial Services scheme has not given to Bengal those material improvements that have always been admittedly desirable, and the prospect of getting which by our own exertions was indeed the main inducement held out to induce us to accept reduced allotments from the Imperial Government. The local Government has always found itself balked when at the very point of attaining its desire. I impute no blame to any one for this. Circumstances must, I suppose, be held accountable. But I must ask the Council to remember that with the year 1881-82 will expire our five year settlement with the Government of India. What the demands of that Government may then prove to be I do not care to guess. But we cannot always expect to have a succession of surplus years such as we have had of late. A very moderate local famine, or the necessities of the Empire at large, may again sweep away our balances, and then, unless we get a renewal of the farm of our excise and stamp revenue upon favourable terms, we shall have nothing to fall back upon but this Provincial Cess, which must therefore remain upon our statute book as a financial stand-by, our only sure provision against an evil day. That we must face small local famines without looking to the Supreme Government for aid is clear from the following extract from the order of that Government in the Financial Department of the 11th December 1877 —

‘15 It is an accepted principle that for the relief of distress arising from famine municipal and local resources should so far as they can legally be applied to the purpose be first exhausted that when these are exhausted, and only then district resources should be employed that, when district resources are exhausted resort should be had to provincial resources and that the Imperial Government should intervene only when provincial, district, and municipal resources are all exhausted

‘16 If in any case under the operation of the Rules in this resolution a famine ends without exhausting municipal district or provincial resources they should so far as the law allows and as is thought in each case expedient be required to contribute towards the relief of the Imperial Treasury from the residual burden falling upon it

‘17 On the other hand the Imperial Government undertakes to guarantee Provincial and Local Funds against insolvency and to make such a grant under the head of Famine Relief as will enable the Provincial Government at the end of a famine to resume with efficiency the ordinary administration. At the end of the Bengal Famine of 1874 accounts were so adjusted between the Imperial Government and the Government of Bengal as to leave an aggregate net balance of five lakhs of rupees at credit of the Provincial Funds and Local Funds at the disposal of the Government of Bengal for provincial purposes. An analogous net balance of six lakhs of rupees has been promised to the Government of Bombay at the end of the present famine. It is a duty especially incumbent upon the Provincial Government so to husband and economise its resources of all kinds in times of famine, as to reduce to a minimum the contributions which may thus fall upon the Imperial Government

I report, however, that the Provincial Public Works Cess as raised is not meant to be spent directly upon famine works. Its collections appear in our accounts in gross under the heading of Provincial Rates, and go to swell our general revenues. The gross traffic and other receipts of our canals and railways are shown also in the same way as Provincial Revenues. On the expenditure side of the budget we show the “interest payable on canals and railways capital outlay,” and then “working expenses,” under separate headings, like any other major head of service. The payments shown as on account of ‘famine insurance’ are a perfectly distinct heading, and represent that portion of the license tax collections made over to the Supreme Government direct

This is how the accounts are kept under the orders of that Government, and we have no power to alter it

From what I have said it will be evident that no separate annual account of the expenditure of the Provincial Cess is possible. The provision regarding the preparation of such an account got into the Act of 1877 by a simple mistake and failure to realize the conditions of the case. The idea was to follow, in respect of the provincial cess, the lines of the Road Cess Act, and because an account can be rendered, district by district, of all expenditure charged to these purely local funds, it was assumed, without due reflection, that a provincial account could be kept of the provincial cess in the same manner. But when we sanction a provincial work, we do not charge it against any special fund in the way imagined. The Lieutenant Governor assigns to public works from the surplus revenue at his disposal a lump grant as large as he can afford to make it, and the money is then distributed in a detailed estimate by the Public Works Department. We cannot pick out of this the works executed with the identical sums paid in as cess. All that the public need care to know is this: that we are spending on public works, and on the interest payments to the Government of India, a sum at least equal to what we receive from the tax payers and from the Imperial allotment on that particular account. Any one can satisfy himself as to this by a reference to the Annual Administration Report, and it is only by a study of the facts and figures there explained that the real position can ever be properly understood. I may, however, state, for the information of the Council, that while for the current year our net receipts from the cess are estimated at 34½ lakhs of rupees, our payment to the Supreme Government for interest on works is Rs 35,07,000. In the coming year we estimate to get net Rs 32,71,000 and we pay on interest Rs 36,56,000. On the face of the cess account, therefore, the balance of eight lakhs, regarding which the hon'ble member was so anxious, does not even exist. What balance there is, is against the local Government. It is only because our railways and canals are now beginning to pay that we derive any profit from the bargain regarding their transfer, even after crediting the whole proceeds of the Public Works Cess. I may further observe that we estimate that we shall have spent on Public Works during the four years ending 1880-81, in spite of all hindrances 13½ lakhs more than we have drawn from Public Works Cess, Irrigation, Navigation, State Railway receipts, Ordinary Public Works receipts, and the Imperial allotment for works, all taken together. The public may thus feel satisfied, that the Provincial Public Works Cess is being fully utilized and the Council will, I trust, see that the amendments of the hon'ble member are such as ought not to be accepted."

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that before putting the amendment he wished to make a few remarks on the subject of the charge brought by the hon'ble member against the Government, of not complying with the terms of the Act, and of not having expended the money raised by the Public Works Cess in the manner intended at the time when the Act was passed. He must begin by saying, that there appeared to be the most extraordinary confusion in the mind of the hon'ble member, and he thought he might say in other minds too, as to the contract which the Government of Bengal made with the Government of India at the time of the passing of the Act, and the Cess engagements which the Government of Bengal made with the public at the same time. He found himself here brought forward by the hon'ble member as a sponsor, at all events of the Famine Insurance Fund, and of having brought in the Cess Bill with the view of providing a fund for expenditure on famine works. Now, if his hon'ble friend would try and recollect a little what did occur at the time, he would find simply this—that the Government of India, not the Government of Bengal, had a great scheme two years ago for providing funds for meeting famine expenditure, and they also said their intention was to invest the funds so raised in public works which would be useful to the country and prove practically a protection against famines. The question was how they were to get the money to originate this fund. One of the first proposals which occurred to them was that the system of decentralization might be carried very much further than it had been, and that the Government of India might be believed of the interest they were then paying on a great number of works constructed in various provinces of the country from which the Imperial Government got no particular benefit, but which, there was no doubt, were of very great benefit and protection to people in certain tracts of the country, and they said not unnaturally —“We have got to impose on the people of the country some new taxation, and it seems to us that the proper way to do this will be to make over to each province the charge for interest upon these works,” leaving them to raise the money necessary to pay this charge in the manner best suited to the conditions of the people and the province. On being consulted on the subject, His Honor was bound to admit that if taxation was to be resorted to in order to enable the Government of India to form a famine fund, and be in a better position to meet extraordinary calls, there could be nothing better for these provinces than that it should raise its own taxation in the way the Local Government thought best, and with this money relieve the Government of India of the interest upon capital raised for these works, the Government of India taking that money and using it for the purposes of that famine fund. He did not propose to follow the history of that famine fund. They had had an explanation from Sir John Strachey of the history of that fund, and he hoped they understood what it was. His Honor had nothing to do with that. He accepted the position and gave his quota towards that fund, and he believed it had been used as it should have been done. At any rate it had not been misapplied by this Government, nor had he ever bound himself that the money raised under this cess should be exclusively expended in the construction of works for the relief of famines. The famine administration was entirely foreign to the question that was an Imperial question, all that the Government of Bengal undertook to do was to raise the money to relieve the Government of India of these charges upon their capital, in order that they might have a surplus to use in a certain way. What they did up to that time was to relieve the Government of India of a charge of over 27 lakhs. This charge of 27 lakhs at the time they took it over had since increased to 36 lakhs and this was what he had to pay for the coming year to the Government of India on account of the responsibility which he incurred on the first passing of the Public Works Cess Act. He only hoped to receive 32 lakhs under the Cess Act, and he had got to pay 36 lakhs. His friend had accused him of taking more money than was wanted and appropriating it to some other purposes. So far from that being the case, he had to pay away money received from other sources to the Local Government to meet the liabilities which he incurred when he took the responsibility on him under the original Act.

Of course it might be said that in doing this he had made a very bad bargain for Bengal and so far it might be said he was to blame. But he did not think this was the case, because, when he undertook to do this, it appeared that if he got the maintenance of these great works in the hands of his own officers, subject to his control and inspection they might make those works yield a revenue which would cover this accruing interest, and also leave them a surplus which would be spent for the general interests of the province. He found that in 1877-78 irrigation receipts were 5 lakhs, and this year they have grown to 10 lakhs, and he hoped that in the coming year, these receipts would be increased from 5 to over 11 lakhs. He hoped that this would show that they had done something to improve the working of this measure and that they had not made a bad bargain.

Then as regards State Railways. When he took them over the receipts from these railways for the first year were only 7½ lakhs, the actual receipts for the coming year were 24 lakhs, and for the coming year they were estimated at a very moderate scale at over 27 lakhs, or an improvement of over 20 lakhs. Therefore he derived some satisfaction from the feeling that it might be said that under their local administration these railways had been worked to the public good. They had, on the whole, made a very good bargain for Bengal. Therefore neither on the score of a bad bargain, nor on the score of a bargain at all could any very substantial complaint be made against the Government.

With reference to His Honor's remarks as to the Famine Insurance Fund, on the occasion of the discussions regarding the original Bill, his hon'ble friend had avoided quoting the whole of them, probably because they were too lengthy, but His HONOR would like to add to what had been read out by quoting a little further. In alluding to the remark about Bengal being allowed to spend something more of its own money, His HONOR had said that the object of the present system of decentralization was to put a stop to that state of things, and to secure to Bengal a certain amount of the revenue which it had to raise for itself. And to substitute for fresh general taxation of which they could have no account, and from which they should receive but little benefit, a system under which they were to impose their own taxation, and look after the development and expenditure of their own finances. But in order that this might be effected, the Government of India naturally asked to be relieved of the cost of constructing local works, which that Government could not have met at the present time without imposing some form or other of taxation. The question was whether they should have local taxation and local administration of the funds thus raised, or imperial taxation and imperial administration of the new revenues to be raised. There was no question of local taxation or no taxation at all. He thought that the principle now introduced was a very sound one, and he looked forward to the measure now inaugurated as one of the first steps towards the progress and prosperity of the country."

He thought it was quite clear from that, that it was not a question of Bengal raising a certain sum of money for famine work, but the question whether the Government of India for its own purposes and its own work, should impose upon Bengal fresh taxation or whether the Government of Bengal should be allowed to come forward and say—"We will pay you the full interest upon the capital you have sunk in certain works in Bengal, if you will leave us alone to raise taxation as we like, and will permit us to spend any surplus which we may get from that taxation on the general improvement of the province." He had then very distinctly stated what this charge upon new taxation was. He said as regards railways, although they had to meet interest upon the capital as a first charge, there was not one of them which in a few years would not pay the interest upon capital. But they had also to provide capital to extend the system of railway. He gave his reasons for thinking that there had been no measure which would be more beneficial to Bengal than the extension of railways. He had from the very first passing of the Act advocated the great principle of taking up railway after railway, and of selecting one sound scheme after another, and constructing them with capital on which the province only paid the interest, the works selected being those which would turn out most beneficial to the country, would protect it from famines, and also increase its wealth and prosperity, as the proceeds of the decentralization scheme. He had never swerved one moment from that principle. He had a sufficient sum of money to pay for the guaranteed interest upon capital, which would give a very fair prospect of covering Bengal with a network of railways. But such works were now suspended. It might not happen in his time, but he did not in the least despair of seeing this scheme recommenced, which they had left off on a very mistaken view of the facts. He had said so much on the subject on other occasions that he was sure everybody would understand distinctly that there was no one in the country more anxious than he was to see money expended in the way he had indicated—in the way of developing the scheme of railways. The money was there now, they had not spent it. He was now in correspondence with the Government of India trying to get railways recommenced, and he hoped even in the course of the next few days to receive a favourable reply to one application. Any way, the money was there, and even if the money was not spent on railways, there were other public works, such as the South Coast Canal and other works in Orissa which could be worked out as ordinary provincial work. He had not the slightest intention of allotting money raised from this fund to any purposes other than public works. He defied anybody to say that they had not spent in good useful works in the last few years very much more than they received from that fund to meet the requirements of the Act.

As to the question of accounts, His HONOR could give the hon'ble member an account in five minutes. It was such a very vague misty matter, that he could give the hon'ble member any number of accounts which would satisfy the requirements of the law, but which would not show how the money was spent, because they had not only spent the money under the Act, but they had paid interest upon capital to an extent very much beyond what they had collected.

The fact that the interest on public works capital exceeded the proceeds of the Cess Act was in itself an account sufficient for the purposes of the Act, but, as a matter of fact, the Government of Bengal has spent so very much more on public works than it has received from the Public Works Cess that such an account would simply be misleading, and would not represent the progress in public works which has really been made. The matter had before been fully explained, and the inutilty of such an account had been clearly demonstrated. He therefore hoped that the matter would now be allowed to drop, especially when it was seen that the Government had, so far from doing less than it ought to have done, done very much more. He hoped the hon'ble member would not press the amendments he had moved.

The motion was then put and negatived.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL moved to omit section 19. When the Road Cess Act was first passed it was considered a tentative measure, and doubt was expressed as to whether, when a return was not submitted as desired, a double penalty should be provided, first, by means of a daily fine, and next, the disqualification to sue for rent. Even when it was discussed, there was considerable difference of opinion as to whether the double penalty should be retained, and he found that Mr Wordie, then a member of this Council, took serious objection to this provision of disqualifying proprietors of land from suing. He asked whether the punishment was not disproportionate to the offence, and said—

In a country like this where the revenue laws were carried out with great stringency and where a man's estate was sold up for arrears of revenue it would be an extreme course that for his recusancy he should not be allowed to collect his rents. He thought it could be shown from the policy of the Government for many years back that there ought to be some proportion between the offence and punishment. In old times capital punishment was inflicted for very trivial offences and the punishment here proposed was of such severity that it might be called capital in the circumstances. If a man would not submit his return fining him fifty rupees a day was a sufficient penalty and it might be expected that he would then come forward and do what was required. But if it was said he was not to recover his rents particularly when there might be a disposition on the part of his tenants to refuse payment in such cases the disability to sue would act as an incentive to under-tenants to hang back and throw difficulties in the way of collection.

BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would go further, and say that experience had shown that there was no necessity for retaining the double penalty. The returns were submitted by zemindars with most commendable punctuality, the task was novel, very few zemindars kept papers with regularity, still they laboured hard, and submitted returns with which district officers were satisfied. In many cases the time was extended and fines were remitted. However opposed the zemindars were to the imposition of the cess on principle, they conformed to it loyally, and their conduct should receive some recognition. They received no recompense for collecting the cess, and put themselves to no end of trouble in collecting it, but still the Bill would put them beyond the pale of the law for misconduct of which they had not been guilty. He thought the daily fine, and the new provision declaring that a fine might be levied though an appeal had been lodged, would be quite sufficient for the purpose of securing the timely deposit of returns. If still the zemindar should continue to neglect filing his or the zemindar's return, and the Collector could not proceed with the assessment in consequence of recusancy, he had only to make inquiry through his own agency and assess the zemindar accordingly, so that under no circumstances would the work come to a stand still. He moved that section 19 be omitted, and the necessary alterations be made in section 19A.

The HON'BLE PEARCE MOHUN MOONJEE said in Hooghly, Burdwan, and the 24 Pergunnahs there was not a single instance in which it was found necessary to put the corresponding section of the existing Act into operation. The section which authorised district officers to impose fines was found to be sufficient for the purpose of enforcing regularity in the filing of returns.

The HON'BLE MR. FIELD said hon'ble gentlemen had heard it stated that experience had shown this section to be unnecessary. He did not think that this argument for its omission could be supported. It might be perfectly true that returns had been made and sent in with a regularity and punctuality not before expected, but how far this particular provision had been instrumental in bringing about that punctuality the Council had no means of knowing, as there had been no experience of the law without the provision. He thought it very desirable to retain this provision in order to secure a continuance of that creditable regularity and punctuality which zemindars had hitherto shown. For these reasons he opposed the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER thought the answer just given conclusive so far. If with this penalty hanging over them the zemindars were punctual, it could not from that argument be concluded that with this penalty taken away they would be equally punctual. Still there was the daily fine to be considered, and on the whole MR DAMPIER would be very glad if the Council would postpone the consideration of this question till the next meeting, in order that he might make inquiries on the subject. He should be inclined to meet the wishes of the hon'ble gentlemen opposite if he thought the omission could safely be made.

The HON'BLE MR O'KINLEY said he trusted the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, when he made inquiries of the numbers of cases in which this penal clause had been imposed, would also make inquiries as to the number of cases in which fines were inflicted. If fining by itself was found sufficient to get in all the returns in Bengal, it would be a very serious thing for the Council to say that in addition to that which had been sufficient it was necessary to retain a clause which had never been enforced and experience had not shown to be required.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said it was impossible to say how far fines had been effective. The effect of a fine could not be dis severed from the effect of this provision held in terrorem over zemindars in addition.

After some conversation, the further consideration of the motion was postponed.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of the words "at the expense of the person lodging the return as aforesaid" at the end of section 19A. The ground on which he proposed this amendment was this, that the zemindar was allowed no remuneration for collecting the cess, he worked the whole machinery of the tax through his own agency, and if any slight mistake was made in the return, the Road Fund should be in equity charged with the cost of serving the notice of correction, and not the zemindar.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said he did not think the ryot should be made to pay the cost of a notice correcting a wrong assessment made by the zemindar.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE considered it perfectly right that the zemindar should pay for his own mistake.

The motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE SYED AMEER HOSSEIN moved to omit the words "in addition to the amount due to him under section 46D" in line 8, section 47. He said that he did so in the interest of a large number of potty rent free holders, who were distinct from those known as revenue free holders. Generally speaking they held from 2 to 5 bighas of land, and in their circumstance in life they were as poor as cultivating ryots. The provision of the existing law for the collection of cess from these lakhirajdars was that the zemindars collected from them the full amount of cess as it was assessed by the Collector, whereof they paid three fourths to the Collector and retained one fourth as the cost of collection. When this Bill was first introduced in Council, a provision was made in it to the effect that, if the rent free holder made default, he was liable to pay double the amount of the cess. In explanation of that provision, it was said that certain honest zemindars had suffered pecuniary loss by the laches of their rent free holders, and it was for that reason that a penalty was imposed on the defaulting rent free holders. That provision SYED AMEER HOSSEIN considered to be fair, but he saw that that provision had since been improved upon. In section 47 it was provided that, if a rent free holder made default, he would be liable to pay three times the cess assessed by the Collector, or six times the amount of cess which the zemindar paid to the Collector on account of the lakhiraj land, i.e. half the full rate. This was indeed very hard, especially when it was to be considered that, if the zemindar or the tenure holder made default, he would only have to pay the amount of cess, plus interest at the rate of 12 per cent, but the rent free holder would have to pay a penalty of six hundred per cent He hoped that the Council would not pass such a provision

The HON<sup>BLE</sup> PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said the present Bill made the zemindar liable to pay in four quarterly instalments, so that he would have to pay the cess imposed upon lakhiraj lands three months in advance, and taking into account bad debts, and the delay in recovery in times of adversity, he submitted that the provision contained in section 47 was not at all unreasonable He would therefore oppose the motion as to the imposition of a fine of five times the amount of cess paid by the zemindar (not six times, as the hon ble member supposed) It was nothing more than another way of expressing a fine of double the amount of cess payable by the lakhirajdar in addition to the amount due on account of arrears of cess it was simply the mode of expression which made it appear at first sight to be very hard the amount which the lakhirajdar was liable to pay was not five times the amount of the cess payable by him, but double the amount

The HON<sup>BLE</sup> MR FRID explained that the penalty was not one of 600 per cent, but of 200 per cent, namely, the original cess and double that amount in addition It bore the proportion of one to three, and it must be remembered that the clause was a penalty clause The object of the penalty was to compel the lakhirajdar to do what he ought to have done in the first instance, and having regard to the small amounts payable, and to the penalty clauses in old Acts, double the amount of cess was really a very small penalty

The HON<sup>BLE</sup> MR DAMPIER said the question here was nakedly this To induce the zemindars to assess lakhirajdars they were allowed to retain fifty per cent to cover losses as well as the trouble and unpleasantness of the duty The Select Committee had acted on a strong feeling that it was necessary to give inducements to zemindars, and it was therefore provided that if the lakhirajdar did not pay when the amount was due, the zemindar might recover the whole amount and twice that amount as a penalty The question for consideration was, as a margin of fifty per cent was allowed the zemindar to cover losses, &c, was it necessary to give so heavy a penalty in addition? The result of the Select Committee's deliberations was to give this additional compensation to the zemindar Some thought the zemindar should have twice the amount due, others that interest only at 12 per cent per annum should be allowed, provided the amount of interest never came to less than a penalty of the whole amount

The HON<sup>BLE</sup> KRISTODAS PAL moved the omission of section 67 He considered this provision superfluous The point was regulated by the law of evidence, and he did not think an Act of this Council could affect the general law of evidence, although a similar provision did exist in the District Road Cess Act of 1871

The HON<sup>BLE</sup> MR DAMPIER thought it better to retain the section It was contained in the present law, and if the section was left out, it might be contended that the Legislature had some object in doing so

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT remarked that if the section was left out the law would still remain as it was now it was only a repetition of the law and imposed no fresh liabilities on anybody Keeping the provision in the Bill made it more symmetrical

The motion was then by leave withdrawn

The HON<sup>BLE</sup> KRISTODAS PAL said that he thought section 81 the most important section in the Bill, it enumerated the objects to which the Road Cess Fund was applicable The first was "the payment of the cost of establishment entertained and expenses incurred by the Collector as mentioned in section 63" In performing this part of his duties the Collector would practically have no check upon him, and would collect the cess under the general provisions of the law, and if he took any arbitrary or illegal proceedings, the Bill gave him power to draw on the Road Cess Fund for the payment of any damages to which he might become liable BABOO KRISTODAS PAL did not object to that principle, he thought that if the Collector bona fide took proceedings which turned out to be illegal or arbitrary, he ought to be indemnified the costs or damages in which he might be cast But he thought that should be done with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor His Honor would see that the proceedings were really bona fide, and that the Collector did not wilfully override the law and commit any irregularities If it was thought the Lieutenant Governor might not have time to supervise these proceedings of the Collector, he hoped that duty would be delegated to the Board of Revenue but some check ought to be provided on the proceedings of the Collector. He moved that the costs should be made subject to the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER observed that the Collector collected the cess for the District Road Committee, and in the course of his collection he might render himself liable to damages by some mistake in procedure, then the District Committee were to indemnify him. His hon'ble friend said the indemnity should require the Lieutenant Governor's sanction. Mr DAMPIER did not think that necessary. If the District Committee agreed, they could indemnify the Collector, if they did not agree, they would immediately refer the matter to the Lieutenant Governor, who was the common superior of both. He did not think any amendment was necessary.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL said cases had come to notice in which things had been done a little roughly, and there were districts in Bengal in which the Road Cess Committees were not capable of acting in the manner in which the hon'ble member suggested. A great many of the Committees were under the control of the Collector himself. He did think that some provision like this was required.

After some conversation it was agreed that such cases were to be made subject to the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, and the section was amended accordingly.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL said he had submitted, when the Bill was introduced, that the funds of District Committees were insufficient for the legitimate objects of the cess, and that no funds would be available for the grant of pensions to officers. The subject was discussed by the Select Committee but he was not satisfied with the result of their deliberations. It was well known that officers of municipalities were not entitled to pension, and he did not think that pensions were absolutely necessary to induce men to serve District Committees. The supply of intellectual labour was so great that persons could easily be got to serve for decent pay, and it was not necessary to hold out further inducements by giving pensions. He moved to omit the words "or pensions" in clause 2, line 5 of section 81.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said he was entirely in favour of retaining the words which the hon'ble member wished to omit. He thought himself that the municipality of which the hon'ble member was so active a member did not attach sufficient importance to giving pensions as a means of securing cheaper and better service. It would, however, be seen on reference to the Bill that practically no pension would be given save in the case of the few mohurrirs and clerks who spent their whole lifetime in the service of one and the same District Committee, and certainly such men ought to have pensions.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said it was a question whether it was not far cheaper to give pensions as a rule than to employ people without the prospect of pension, if pensions were not given, the servants of District Committees would keep on long after they were capable of performing efficient service, and when they could no longer work, they would have to turn out into the streets to starve. As the hon'ble member had just shown, the operation of this clause would have but little practical effect in the working of the Bill.

The motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL moved to insert the words "such means and appliances not being of a nature to compete with private enterprise" at the end of clause 4 of section 81.

He said it did not come within the legitimate functions of Road Cess Committees to provide steamers for the conveyance of passengers, canals and rivers under the Act were to be considered as corresponding with roads, and district funds might well be applied to their maintenance and improvement, but having constructed or improved a road, he did not think it was the duty of the Road Cess Committee to maintain dak gharies for the conveyance of passengers over the road. Similarly, because the Committee would maintain waterways, such as rivers and khals, it did not necessarily follow that they should supply steamers for the convenience and comfort of passengers. In Eastern Bengal there were so many creeks, khals, and rivers that it would certainly be an advantage to the public if steamers were kept up for facility of communication and traffic. But that was a matter for private enterprise, and it would be an interference with private enterprise if steamers were maintained at the expense of the Road Cess Fund. He should not be surprised if the Collectors, with steamers thus placed at their disposal, should get up district Rhotas parties and thus make a cheap show of their sympathy with the people. If the words "means and appliances" were intended to enable the Committee to compete with private enterprise, then he submitted the words ought to be omitted, if that was not the meaning, then he had no objection to their retention, but the provision ought to be made so explicit as not to authorize Road Cess Committees to embark in private enterprise.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER explained that the section was so worded to make it clear that District Committees should have power to provide steamers for communication in the district, or between the district and an adjacent district. Circumstances might arise in which it would be very desirable for a District Committee to nurse a young project until it became capable of being worked independently of the Committee.

The HON'BLE MR FIELD thought the proposed amendment had a dangerous tendency. It did not distinctly state the nature of the private enterprise which was not to be interfered with—was it private enterprise already in existence, or contemplated private enterprise? Was it to be open to any one, who proposed to raise capital to start a steamer or carry on any other enterprise, to commence litigation with the District Committee as to whether some particular thing which they had done fell within the purview of the words or not. As the amendment stood, it was clear that the insertion of the words proposed would only put the section in a shape which would be likely to lead to litigation.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said the hon'ble gentleman did not seem to be consistent with himself. He was perfectly willing that District Committees should contribute towards the construction of railways for the conveyance of passengers and goods by land, but not for steamers for water communication. There were many cases in which a steam ferry, for instance, would be of great advantage to the district communication. In Sarun, for instance, the District Committee was most anxious to bring the district on the other side of the Ganges into communication with the railway on this side, and it was willing to contribute a small portion of its funds to induce private capitalists to take up the project, and hon'ble members would, he believed, admit that this was just an enterprise of the kind which District Committees ought to be authorized to encourage and foster. The whole of these provisions were subject to the limitation that the work must be such as to benefit the district supplying the money.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that in many districts money could not be more usefully spent for the use of the poorer classes of the people than to bring them in communication with large lines of steam vessels or railway centres by means of cheap ferry boats, and thus enable them to take advantage of water communications in a way which they could not otherwise do. The Chittagong and Eastern Bengal cases which had been instanced had been pressed upon him. He could see no harm where a water channel existed in allowing local Committees to provide means to enable the people to avail themselves of that means of communication in a way that would make it useful. It did seem inconsistent to allow Committees to construct railways and provide locomotive power upon them, and to say that to make water communication useful they must not provide locomotive power. In certain districts very much more benefit could be derived from the establishment of ferries than by making roads which were not so useful. In Backergunge, which was a rich district, a great deal had been done in this respect, and a great deal more could be done by bringing the district into communication with the great lines of steam communication. HIS HONOR did not think there was the slightest chance of the provision being abused, and he was sure its operation would be of great benefit to the country.

The motion was then negatived.

Section 81 was then agreed to with a verbal amendment made upon the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 3rd April.

CALCUTTA HOSPITAL REFORMS

From—A J PAYNE Esq, M D, Surgeon General Bengal,

To—The Secy to the Govt of Bengal, Medical and Municipal Dept

IN accordance with the Lieutenant Governor's instructions, I have the honor of submitting some remarks on a letter from Dr Irving, late Surgeon General, Bengal, which appeared in the Calcutta Englishman of the 9th instant, and has been circulated in pamphlet form among the native teachers of medicine here

2 The material points in Dr Irving's letter are three. He first produces a table of figures to show that on certain days in 1878, at the Campbell Hospital, the quantity of stimulants and dietary extras was too small for the wants of the patients. For this purpose he gives daily numbers of moribund persons, which yield an average of 32, and the daily expenditure of rum and milk, &c, and he adds—"The above seems to require no remark."

3 Dr Irving's figures are so obviously incorrect that they might indeed be dismissed without remark. He has found that there were 32 moribund persons in this hospital on each of ten consecutive days. A moribund person, as the term is used here and by Dr Irving, means one who dies within 24 hours of admission. Consequently, to maintain a living average of 32 such persons daily, the same number must be admitted daily. The time of year was not the time of greatest sickness, and the number of moribunds then admitted was below, rather than above, the ordinary number. If Dr Irving's figures were true, the number of moribunds, and of course the number of deaths, in 1878 would have exceeded by some hundreds the total number of cases of all kinds treated in the hospital.

4 Dr Mackenzie's records show that, as a matter of fact, during the periods stated there were only four persons in the ward who died within 24 hours of admission, and that the total number of deaths in the ward in those ten days was 18, a number which Dr Irving would magnify into 322, that is the total number of his moribund persons.

5 The manner in which Dr Irving fell into so strange an error seems to be this. He visited the temporary ward sometimes called moribund ward, a separate building in which a variety of cases are kept for a time, and into which moribund persons among others are conveyed on admission. He regards all the occupants of this ward as moribund, though the register would have shown him that a large proportion of them recovered. Finding in the books a period during which the consumption of stimulants has been small, he, without further enquiry, compares the daily number of occupants of the temporary ward, calls them all moribund, and believes that he has proved to demonstration the insufficiency of treatment.

6 Dr Irving's next point is that "medical officers winked at the practice of patients receiving food from outside in order to supplement the Committee's allowance." If Dr Irving had been in Calcutta in the days of extravagance and waste, he would have known that this practice was not then merely "winked at." When the Government was paying most lavishly, the food given to the sick was so bad that a fund was raised by subscription for the purchase of articles of diet, which were distributed in organized system by ladies visiting the wards. This was but a very few years ago, and has been called to mind by present residents of Calcutta during the late agitation as one of the evils corrected by reform. The practice of introducing food into the wards from outside is a bad one. It means very often that beds are occupied by people who have no right to them. It has almost, if not entirely, ceased in the General Hospital and the Campbell Hospital under the present system.

7 Dr Irving's third point is taken from a written statement of a medical officer, to the effect that, "after the introduction of the new scale of diets, the patients could with difficulty be prevailed on to remain in hospital, as they said they were starved, but as it was necessary to keep the beds full, trivial cases of persons willing to remain were admitted."

8 I do not know on what principle a medical officer can find it necessary to keep his beds full by admitting persons who do not require them. It is not the interest of the sick that actuates him. It is against the interest of the State to do so. It cannot be defended on educational grounds, for trivial cases are treated daily in hundreds as out patients. I have endeavoured to ascertain whether anything has occurred in the Calcutta Hospitals under the new system to which Dr Irving's statement may be supposed to apply. I append the answers of the several medical officers concerned.

9 Dr Cortes, who managed the Medical College Hospital up to the end of 1878, says that he never heard of a patient leaving the hospital for such a reason as that stated by Dr Irving and quotes the testimony of Dr Partridge on complaints of insufficiency. He adds that, so far from admitting trivial cases, he was forced to remove convalescents as speedily as possible from the wards to make room for applicants severely ill, that the number of European patients he transferred to the General Hospital cooked remonstrance from its Superintendent, that he transferred to the Campbell Hospital no less than 1,625 natives, all so ill that they were conveyed in carts, besides eight or ten daily who were able to walk. These figures are verified by the books of the Campbell Hospital. Dr Irving upon this obtained what he called a very "salutary order" from Government prohibiting the excessive crowding of the Campbell Hospital.

10 Dr Smith assumed charge of the College Hospital at the end of 1878. He writes that shortly after his return, the complaints made by the patients as to the insufficiency of the food were very numerous indeed, and many patients left the hospital saying they did not get enough to eat. This sudden change must have been confined to the European wards for I find that in the early months of 1879 more sick natives were transferred from the College to the Campbell Hospital than in the corresponding months of 1878. Dr Smith again, so far from having his beds filled with trivial cases, has, like his colleagues, labored under the opposite difficulty and here he makes no distinction of time before and after he changed his scale of diets so that those who left the hospital with appetites unsatisfied would seem to have been speedily replaced by others more ill than themselves. Dr Irving has been evidently misled regarding trivial cases. The change of diet Dr Smith says, was made with good effect but still all the money allowed by Government was not used. If, then, people did leave this hospital because their appetites were not satisfied, the fact will not serve Dr Irving's purpose, for the system which he seems to discredit enabled Dr Smith to alter his diet scale and still to save money. Later in the year 1879 Dr Smith made a strong representation of the pressure put upon him by applicants for admission whom he could not transfer to Scaldah in consequence of overcrowding there.

11 Dr Jones reports concerning the General Hospital that Dr Irving's remarks can have no application to anything that has occurred in that institution. Dr Mackenzie shews that the state of affairs at the Campbell Hospital has been the reverse of that indicated by Dr Irving. His admissions in 1878 and 1879 greatly exceeded those of ordinary years, and persons resorted to his hospital who would not have gone there before. Dr Mackenzie produces tables, of which I have given the substance, showing Dr Irving's figures to be altogether wrong, and he points out the manner in which Dr Irving failed to ascertain the truth.

12 I cannot understand Dr Irving's remarks on the composition of the Committee, whose report he did not read, or to his condemnation of the contracts for hospital supplies which he officially sanctioned. An unbiassed person may indeed say that partiality and unwise economy was to be feared, for the majority of the medical members of the Committee were the Superintendents of the hospitals concerned, who were to work under their own reforms, and if they thought restriction needed to lay it on themselves alone. The Secretary, on whom fell the duty of collecting information, was selected for the very reason that he had not been in any way associated with old practices or new opinions. Had Dr Irving been an opponent of past extravagance and waste, I could have understood his prejudice against a Committee composed of officers naturally inclined to a liberal view of their own requirements, but his bias is altogether inconsistent with the attitude he has assumed. Dr Irving can have given no thought to the composition of the Committee. His words regarding it have the same foundation as his deductions from the report which he did not read, and his conclusion from figures which he did not examine. The words are useful, nevertheless, for the light which, as a confession of a very blind prejudice, they reflect on Dr Irving's subsequent action.

13 The copy of Dr Irving's letter which I annex was received from the Campbell Hospital

To—The Editor of the Englishman

IN July last you published some remarks on my Report on the Medical Institutions of Calcutta for the year 1878, to which I stated that I should reply at some future time. The author of the articles appeared to suppose that I had written my report in a spirit of opposition to that of the Committee appointed by Sir Ashley Eden to enquire into Medical Expenditure. But the fact is I never read that report though I had to read the resolution on it, so that I might ascertain the orders of Government and these I endeavoured faithfully to carry out. Looking to the constitution of the Committee I knew that there could not be a fair impartial and unprejudiced inquiry—an opinion held I believe by most medical officers in India and which I am glad to find is shared by medical men in this country and which has been maintained by those professional journals in London which have alluded to the subject.

Your articles imply that I had endeavoured to connect great mortality in the Campbell Hospital with the diet scale introduced by Government on the recommendation of its Committee. The same was said in the Government resolution in a passage regarding which I appealed and showed that I had not done so and that what I had written had been misunderstood. Very fortunately for me Sir Stewart Bayley was acting as Lieutenant Governor when my letter went in and he was good enough to publish extracts from it together with his remarks thereon in a resolution dated 9th August 1879. As a specimen of the spirit in which my observations were received by Sir Ashley Eden and seeing that Sir Stewart Bayley's resolution does not take up the point except in very general terms I shall give a passage from my report and place in juxtaposition Sir Ashley Eden's comment.

WHAT I WROTE	SIR ASHLEY EDEN'S REMARKS.
After showing that in the Campbell Hospital during 1878 which I characterized as a year of rigid economy in which the screw had been continuously applied the mortality was very nearly the same as usual having been 25·3 per cent as compared with other years when economy had not been so strenuously insisted on I added— It thus appears that of all patients admitted into this hospital one quarter of the number perish which is a fact to arrest attention and suggest the question whether this frightful mortality might not be reduced by a more liberal use of generous soups, milk stimulants and other kinds of food suitable for the wretched creatures who at present die so freely.	' It is no doubt the case that there are many hundreds of persons in the streets of Calcutta whose health might be improved and indeed from whom disease might be averted by a liberal use of generous soups, milk, stimulants and other kinds of food and the Lieutenant Governor knows of no town in the world of which this same might not be said and he is not aware that any Government in the world has recognized it as a part of its duty to raise taxes for the purpose of averting disease by a system of general liberal diets.

Now I ask whether this is a fair comment. One might fancy from its terms that I had proposed an indiscriminate distribution of soups and of rum and milk to the poor in the streets of Calcutta by the police or other public functionaries under the direction of the Committee. The feeding of the poor in the streets of Calcutta is surely a question apart from the clear duty of Government which maintains the hospital, to do all that liberality and benevolence suggest for saving the life of patients who enter it. His Honor, it is very evident, only looks at hospitals from a financial point of view but this, as it seems to me is one of humanity. My argument was simply that it might be worth while trying whether a more liberal allowance of suitable food than had in any year been tried or could be obtained for the Committee's rate might not diminish a mortality so appalling as 25 per cent. For the worn out patients who come into hospital in the last stages of disease, soups or milk and stimulants, are probably the only food they can assimilate while good milk is very dear in Calcutta, and the patients who would require it very numerous.

In writing my report on the Medical Institutions of Calcutta as well as all other Bengal reports, I was desirous of not saying anything to disturb the serenity of His Honor's mind and I wished if possible, to avoid writing anything that would provoke controversy, seeing that I was so soon to resign a thankless office which had any option been given to me, I would not have accepted. I was therefore not a little astonished at the violence of the Lieutenant Governor and of the gentlemen who supported his views in the newspapers. Had I not been most anxious to avoid writing what might lead to a difference of opinion I could have told truths which would have angered him still more, and which would have showed that I had very good grounds for the mild statement that I ventured to make. One thing I said was that a single year was not sufficient to test whether the Committee's diet was sufficient. I am about to give no other opinion, but I know this that when it was first introduced it seemed to me to be the general impression of most of the medical men of Calcutta that the all important part of hospital management in the estimation of Government was "rigid economy." In the Campbell Hospital to which some of the most wretched of the native sick are brought the rate sanctioned had not been spent in 1878. Sir Ashley Eden and his Committee in fact introduced a reign of terror among the medical officers of Bengal, especially the native portion of them and many were afraid to order stimulants and articles of extra diet which they had hitherto freely done and still believed to be necessary for their patients, as I have been told by some of them themselves. Below I give a list of stimulants and extras used in the Campbell Hospital during some days of April and May 1878.

	Cases	Mild cases	Rum	Milk	Fowls	Eggs	Mutton
April 1	365	34	4½ oz	9½ seers	1	2	6 chittacks
2	372	33	4½	11½	1	2	6
3	377	31	4	12½	1	2	10
4	381	34	5½	13½			14
5	384	35	8½	17			1 seer
6	385	33	11½	16			12 chittacks
7	377	28	14½	16			1 seer 1 ch
May 1	342	31	22	16½			1 10 "
2	347	31	25	18½			9
3	349	33	22	12½			9

The above seems to require no remark.

On one of my first visits to the Campbell Hospital about this time I was struck by the miserable appearance of the inmates and the small quantities of stimulants and other extras used, and I spoke on this subject. The impression then left on my mind was that the Assistant Surgeons were afraid to order extras as it tended to increase the cost of diets. I was informed that after my visit the Assistant Surgeons were assembled and told that they were at liberty to do exactly as they liked in prescribing stimulants and articles of extra diet, but that they would be held personally responsible for quantities used thus blowing cold and hot at the same time, as one of them remarked. The contract prices at which milk, meat, and other articles were obtained were too low to secure them of the quality that the sick ought to have. Professor Wood analysed several specimens of milk supplied to the Medical College Hospital and found it to be about half water (milk 56 water 44). If it is said that as Surgeon General I countermanded all contracts in the name of approval I simply retort that I informed Superintendents of Hospitals to do as they thought best in the matter, they being really most interested, and that I should agree to what they proposed. Had I said anything to show that I was not an advocate for 'rigid economy' in the interest of the tax payers I should have been put down as disloyal (a favourite Bengal term), and should have got into a controversy for which I had no wish.

Another thing I noticed was that the medical officers winked at the practice of patients, both European and Native, receiving food from outside, in order to supplement the Committee's allowance. This I believe to be entirely contrary to the rules of every well regulated hospital. I have before me a letter from a medical officer who states that after the introduction of the new scale of diet, the patients could with difficulty be prevailed on to remain in hospital, as they said they were starved but as it was necessary to keep the beds full trivial cases of persons willing to remain were admitted. It was necessary to fill the beds in order to keep up the numbers, seeing that in India the efficiency of a hospital is gauged by the number of admissions. Sir Ashley Eden however as we all know, has added another criterion and a much more important one, viz the cost of each patient. The filling of empty beds with trivial cases, however serves another important purpose viz that of keeping down the percentage of mortality.

Imagine, if you can the Physician or Surgeon of a London hospital turning to his clerk and asking whether the number of patients on extras enables him to order a glass of stout for a particular patient without exceeding the rate fixed by the Governors of his hospital and on being told that he is up to the mark having to take a patient who had them off extras in order to put on a new case which he thinks requires them more urgently yet this, I have been credibly informed by a medical officer who was present on the occasion, has been known to be done in a hospital in the metropolis of India since the present Lieutenant Governor took up the hospital question in the interests of the tax payers of Bengal

There are many other parts of your articles to which I might allude but I shall not do so at present, and shall not recur to the subject unless forced to do so I am, however quite prepared to go on, as I have abundance of time and seeing that I have ever acted on my country's motto—Nemo me impune lacesset After your articles appeared and after Sir Ashley Eden's attack on me in his resolution, I collected materials to help me to reply In the above I have not nearly said all I might and am quite prepared to continue the discussion

P.S.—I have just seen your article noticing Dr Ewart's reply to the Lieutenant Governor's attack on his management of the General Hospital in your issue of the 12th ultimo What I have written above bears out the truth of all you have therein advanced

MEMO—The above letter has been sent for insertion in the Englishman, but in case it is not accepted, I am anxious that it should be seen by medical officers serving in Bengal as well as other friends, and therefore forward a copy

No 165 M/s, dated Calcutta, the 15th March 1880

To—The Surgeon General Bengal

In reply to your office No 1011 of 10th instant I have the honor to report that I never once heard of patients leaving the Medical College Hospital on the ground of starvation after the new diets were introduced

2 In this I am supported by Dr Partridge who when asked by the Committee—Do patients complain of the new diets? answered—'There have been a few complaints as to cooking but no complaints of insufficiency

3 As to filling beds with trivial cases, the contrary is the truth We had to turn out convalescents as soon as capable of moving to admit severer cases urgently requiring treatment

4 Dr Jones wrote complaining of this transfer in the case of Europeans and we sent 1625 natives to the Campbell Hospital in 1878 These were patients so ill that they had to be carried away in the hospital cart others, not so ill walked from our Out Department to the Campbell Hospital, and they one of the Assistant Surgeons says, numbered eight to ten daily

5 Dr Irving finding these transfers too many for the Campbell Hospital beds obtained what he called a very salutary order from His Honor the Lieutenant Governor for the Superintendent to give notice to other hospitals of his inability to receive fresh cases—vide page 11 of Report on Calcutta Medical Institution for 1878 In consequence of this order only 1121 patients were transferred in 1879

6 These are proofs enough that we filled the Medical College Hospital not with trivial but with severe cases, which should rather have increased its mortality

7 Dr Irving could not have thought of starvation occurring in any of our hospitals when he wrote (vide his No 485 BG letter of 30th July 1879)—'I imagined that I was carrying out the policy of Government (i.e. in regard to economy), and being myself responsible that the sick were not injuriously affected I was not likely to do anything in consequence of which I thought it possible they might suffer And again—'I never was so surprised in my life than to learn that I am supposed to have insinuated or inferred that the trifling increase of mortality in 1878 was in any way owing to the new diet'

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated 10th March regarding a letter from Dr Irving published in the Englishman of the 9th instant from which an extract is quoted by you (here given marginally)

I have before me a letter from a medical officer who states that after the introduction of the new scale of diet patients could with difficulty be prevailed on to remain in hospital as they said they were starved but as it was necessary to keep the beds full for fatal cases of persons willing to remain were admitted

2 I am now required to state whether anything has occurred in the Medical College Hospital to which the above passage can be supposed to apply since I resumed charge of the Hospital and whether I am aware of anything of the kind having occurred during my absence

3 In reply I have the honor to report as follows —

(b)—After my return to this country, the scales of diet which had been proposed by Dr Coates were in force in the College Hospital

At that time (i.e. shortly after my return) the complaints made by the patients as to the insufficiency of the food supplied to them were very numerous indeed, and many patients then left the hospital because they were dissatisfied saying they did not get enough to eat

4 This widespread dissatisfaction led me to consult anxiously with my colleagues on the subject, and we decided to alter the diet scales then in use

After the alterations now referred to were made the complaints became much less frequent and clamorous

5 As to the beds being filled up with trivial cases such has not been my experience My chief difficulty has been in the opposite direction, viz having too many very serious cases to deal with

In reply to your letter No 1010 dated 10th instant I beg to state that the passage you quote cannot apply to anything that has occurred at the General Hospital

From—SURGEON MAJOR S C MACKENZIE, M D Supdt Campbell Medical School and Hospital
To—The Surgeon General for Bengal

With reference to your No 1009 of the 10th instant I beg to observe that the statement made by Dr Irvin in your letter (paragraph 2) cannot refer to this institution, as we have this hospital always full of serious cases many of whom have been refused admission into other hospitals as being in too low and helpless a condition to benefit by treatment When I came to this hospital in January 1875 as Superintendent I found that as a rule natives seldom applied directly for admission and that the wards principally contained persons brought in by the police or on transfer from other institutions and that natives had a great aversion to come here as they were of opinion that they would be sure to die This state of matters has however changed and now many persons come and demand admission and even refuse to go to other hospitals when such a suggestion is made to them

The temporary shed or as some call it the 'Moribund Ward' is a large, well ventilated wood and straw building in which most of the very low cases are kept so as to be away from the general wards but more especially from the surgical operation cases as many of them suffer from sloughing dysenteries &c The days that Dr Irving has noted in his letter this ward contained the number of patients he mentions and these are what he is pleased to term "moribund cases" The following two tables show in detail the cases in the temporary shed on the days referred to by Dr Irving, and the time they were in it on the various dates referred to by him In table A you will observe all the patients remaining in this shed on the 1st April 1875 their names date of admission date of death date of discharge, the disease from which they suffered the period of residence in hospital and the places from which they came Table B gives the same information regarding the second period referred to by Dr Irving in his letter From a perusal of these tables you will observe the favorable results which took place during the period referred to by Dr Irvin When Dr Irving visited the hospital and obtained the information which appeared in his letter I was on leave in England and was informed by letter by the Deputy Superintendent who accompanied him through the hospital that when he visited the temporary shed that certain patients suffering from sloughing dysentery &c asked him to be allowed dhall and curry and that Dr Irving replied—I don't think you will get anything more under the present régime I submit that it would have been wrong to have supplied the diets asked for under the circumstance and I think you will see from the tables now submitted that we were justified in refusing to give such patients articles which would in their cases have done harm All the native teachers of this school have I am informed, received copies of Dr Irvin's letter to the Englishman

RESOLUTION

MEDICAL

READ—

Resolution recorded by the Lieutenant Governor on the 11th July 1879 on the report on the Calcutta Medical Institutions for 1878

READ—

Letter No 888BG, dated the 30th idem, from the Surgeon General, Bengal, offering the following remarks explanatory of those portions of his report in regard to the restrictions recently imposed upon hospital expenditure, which formed the subject of Sir Ashley Eden's observations —

"Referring to Bengal Government Resolution on the annual report on the medical institutions of Calcutta, dated 11th instant, I have the honor to say that I desire to make a few remarks on paragraph 7, which I have not seen till this morning and which, having heard of its purport, I did not at one time think it worth while to notice as I now do in this manner. The Hon'ble the Lieutenant Governor objects to my characterizing the year as one of 'rigid economy,' in which 'the screw was continuously applied for the purpose of reducing expenditure in all possible ways.' In writing thus, I alluded particularly to my own action in endeavouring to curb expenditure in every manner, in the matter of medicines, diet, establishment, &c. I imagined that I was carrying out the policy of Government, and being myself responsible that the sick were not injuriously affected, I was not likely to do anything in consequence of which I thought it possible that they might suffer. But if I did not 'put on the screw' and enforce 'rigid economy,' I do not understand the meaning of these words. In writing an annual report, it was not for me to allude to the policy of the Government, as there is, I understand, a distinct order against doing so.

"I maintain that in saying what I did about the diet rates, all I intended to say was that a single year and especially the first year, could be no test as to whether the new scale would eventually be approved by experience, and in selecting the Campbell Hospital by way of example, I stated that the death rate during 1878 'was very nearly the same as usual' (I ought to have said rather less than usual, as will be seen hereafter). I never have been more surprised in my life than to learn from the Resolution that I am supposed to have insinuated or inferred that the trifling increase of mortality in 1878 was in any way owing to the new diet. I further maintain that what I have written should not have led any one, used to interpret medical statistics, to think that I did. I have been used to compiling and reading such statistics for many years, and therefore know very well, what I thought most people did, that the experience of any two years is not comparable, so that, if it had been the fact that in the Campbell Hospital in 1878 the mortality had been 20.3 and in 1877 24.8, no one conversant with medical statistics would deem himself justified in inferring that this was owing to the sick getting all the food intended for them and to the stoppage of speculation, or in any way connected with the new diet scale. Nor would he, from a single year's experience, think of indicating the cause of the reduced mortality with anything like certainty.

'The actual difference between the mortality in 1877 and 1878 is 0.5 in favour of the former, a fraction which is of no account in the comparison of the mortality of two years but had the other figures which I gave been considered, viz the rate of mortality of the years 1874-77, it would have been evident that the average yearly mortality of these four previous years was 25.7, and that therefore the mortality of 1878 was 0.4 short of the average of the four previous years. I did not deem it necessary to explain all this, as it seemed to me that anyone who was in the way of looking at figures would see it at once. It would also be seen that the average cost of each diet in the Campbell Hospital from 1874 to 1877 was three annas and seven pies, the rate proposed by the Committee being three annas and six pies, and the average rate for 1878 two annas and six pies

"It will thus be seen that my remarks as to the mortality in the Campbell Hospital, and the question of the diet rate, refer not to 1878 only, but also to four years previously."

The Lieutenant Governor is glad to receive Dr Irving's assurance that he did not intend his words to convey the meaning which they at first sight appear to bear. The interpretation, however, arose naturally from the collocation of ideas in the paragraph of his report cited in the resolution and was scarcely avoidable. Dr Irving, after expressing his doubts if the new scale would suffice, proceeded to remark that this year, in which 'the screw was continuously applied,' the rate had been strictly kept to—that the mortality, though about the same as in previous years, was terrible—and he inferred that more expensive diets should be provided. It could hardly be doubted that, whatever persons accustomed to medical statistics would conclude from this, to the public it would seem that Dr Irving connected the high rate of mortality during the year in some way with the new diet scale, and it was therefore necessary to show how incorrect such a conclusion would be.

Dr Irving also explains that his suggestion as to the possible effect of a more generous diet in the preservation of life referred to patients after they had been admitted into the Campbell Hospital and not before. On this point it is unnecessary for Sir Stuart Bayley to say more than that in the treatment of the sick, the medical officers of the hospital have the fullest power to order anything they consider necessary for the preservation of life.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Surgeon General Bengal.

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from observations made at 6h, 10h 16h and 22h and from the traces of barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

Whereas His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council has approved of the office of Judge of Chittagong being separated from that of Commissioner and of the abolition of the office of Additional Judge at that place and has also approved of the amalgamation of the Judgeships of Last Burdwan and Bankoora (West Burdwan) the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in exercise of the powers vested in him by Section 14 Act VI of 1871 directs that the jurisdiction of the District Judge of Last Burdwan (to be hereafter called Burdwan) shall include the present Judgeship of Bankoora (West Burdwan), which is abolished and also under the powers vested in him by the Code of Criminal Procedure Section 13 abolishes the Sessions Court of Bankoora and directs that the jurisdiction thereof shall be included within the jurisdiction of the Sessions Division of East Burdwan to be called Burdwan. And whereas the business pending before the District Judge of Burdwan will require the aid of an Additional Judge for its speedy disposal, the Lieutenant Governor with the sanction of the Governor General in Council has constituted the office of Additional Judge of

Burdwan

The Lieutenant Governor directs that the Court of the Additional Judge of Burdwan shall ordinarily be held at Bankoora but may be held at Burdwan when the District Judge so directs or on the occasion of his absence from Burdwan.

The Lieutenant Governor also directs under Act V (B C) of 1869, that the Court of Session of Burdwan shall sit at Bankoora for the trial of cases committed by any Magistrate in West Burdwan.

The above arrangements will take effect from the date on which the officer appointed to act as Judge of the amalgamated districts assumes charge of his duties.

The Lieutenant Governor has also appointed a separate officer to be District and Sessions Judge of Chittagong and the Commissioner of Chittagong will cease to hold that office from the date on which he takes over charge of his duties as District and Sessions Judge to the officer appointed to perform the duties.

CALCUTTA HOSPITAL REFORMS

To—The Secy to the Govt of Bengal, Medical and Municipal Dept

IN accordance with the Lieutenant Governor's instructions, I have the honor of submitting some remarks on a letter from Dr Irving, late Surgeon General, Bengal, which appeared in the Calcutta Englishman of the 9th instant and has been circulated in pamphlet form among the native teachers of medicine here

2 The material points in Dr Irving's letter are three. He first produces a table of figures to show that on certain days in 1878, at the Campbell Hospital, the quantity of stimulants and dietary extras was too small for the wants of the patients. For this purpose he gives daily numbers of moribund persons, which yield an average of 32, and the daily expenditure of rum and milk, &c, and he adds—"The above seems to require no remark."

3 Dr Irving's figures are so obviously incorrect that they might indeed be dismissed without remark. He has found that there were 32 moribund persons in this hospital on each of ten consecutive days. A moribund person, as the term is used here and by Dr Irving, means one who dies within 24 hours of admission. Consequently, to maintain a living average of 32 such persons daily, the same number must be admitted daily. The time of year was not the time of greatest sickness, and the number of moribunds then admitted was below, rather than above, the ordinary number. If Dr Irving's figures were true, the number of moribunds and of course the number of deaths, in 1878 would have exceeded by some hundreds the total number of cases of all kinds treated in the hospital.

4 Dr Mackenzie's records show that as a matter of fact, during the periods stated there were only four persons in the ward who died within 24 hours of admission, and that the total number of deaths in the ward in those ten days was 18 a number which Dr Irving would magnify into 322, that is the total number of his moribund persons.

5 The manner in which Dr Irving fell into so strange an error seems to be this. He visited the temporary ward sometimes called moribund ward, a separate building in which a variety of cases are kept for a time, and into which moribund persons among others are conveyed on admission. He regards all the occupants of this ward as moribund, though the register would have shown him that a large proportion of them recovered. Finding in the books a period during which the consumption of stimulants has been small, he, without further enquiry, compares the daily number of occupants of the temporary ward, calls them all moribund, and believes that he has proved to demonstration the insufficiency of treatment.

6 Dr Irving's next point is that "medical officers winked at the practice of patients receiving food from outside in order to supplement the Committee's allowance." If Dr Irving had been in Calcutta in the days of extravagance and waste, he would have known that this practice was not then merely "winked at." When the Government was paying most lavishly, the food given to the sick was so bad that a fund was raised by subscription for the purchase of articles of diet, which were distributed in organized system by ladies visiting the wards. This was but a very few years ago, and has been called to mind by present residents of Calcutta during the late agitation as one of the evils corrected by reform. The practice of introducing food into the wards from outside is a bad one. It means very often that beds are occupied by people who have no right to them. It has almost, if not entirely, ceased in the General Hospital and the Campbell Hospital under the present system.

7 Dr Irving's third point is taken from a written statement of a medical officer to the effect that, "after the introduction of the new scale of diets, the patients could with difficulty be prevailed on to remain in hospital, as they said they were starved, but as it was necessary to keep the beds full, trivial cases of persons willing to remain were admitted."

is not the interest of the sick that actuates him. It is against the interest of the State to do so. It cannot be defended on educational grounds, for trivial cases are treated daily in hundreds as out patients. I have endeavoured to ascertain whether anything has occurred in the Calcutta Hospitals under the new system to which Dr Irving's statement may be supposed to apply. I append the answers of the several medical officers concerned.

9 Dr Coates, who managed the Medical College Hospital up to the end of 1878, says that he never heard of a patient leaving the hospital for such a reason as that stated by Dr Irving, and quotes the testimony of Dr Partridge on complaints of insufficiency. He adds that, so far from admitting trivial cases, he was forced to remove convalescents as speedily as possible from the wards to make room for applicants severely ill, that the number of European patients he transferred to the General Hospital evoked remonstrance from its Superintendent, that he transferred to the Campbell Hospital no less than 1,625 natives, all so ill that they were conveyed in carts, besides eight or ten daily who were able to walk. These figures are verified by the books of the Campbell Hospital. Dr Irving upon this obtained what he called a very "salutary order" from Government prohibiting the excessive crowding of the Campbell Hospital.

10 Dr Smith assumed charge of the College Hospital at the end of 1878. He writes that, shortly after his return, the complaints made by the patients as to the insufficiency of the food were very numerous indeed, and many patients left the hospital, saying they did not get enough to eat. This sudden change must have been confined to the European wards, for I find that in the early months of 1879 more sick natives were transferred from the College to the Campbell Hospital than in the corresponding months of 1878. Dr Smith again, so far from having his beds filled with trivial cases, has, like his colleagues, labored under the opposite difficulty and here he makes no distinction of time before and after he changed his scale of diets, so that those who left the hospital with appetites unsatisfied, would seem to have been speedily replaced by others more ill than themselves. The facts mentioned by Dr Smith in his annual report on 1879 are at variance with the statements now under consideration. He maintains that his wards are always full. There is no variation therefore in the daily number of patients. He, however, says that patients left the wards in 1879 earlier than they would have done, because they did not get enough to eat. If they did so, they would cause more rapid changes in the occupants of beds and add to the numbers treated in the ward. At the same time the average sojourn of patients in the ward would be shortened. The facts reported by Dr Smith are the reverse of this. The total number treated was less, and the average detention greater in 1879 than in 1878.

It is evident that Dr Irving has been misled regarding trivial cases. The change of diet, Dr Smith says, was made with good effect, but still all the money allowed by Government was not used. Even then if people did leave this hospital because their appetites were not satisfied, the fact will not serve Dr Irving's purpose for the system which he seems to discredit enabled Dr Smith to alter his diet scale, and still to save money. Later in the year 1879 Dr Smith made a strong representation of the pressure put upon him by applicants for admission whom he could not transfer to Sealdah in consequence of overcrowding there.

11 Dr Jones reports concerning the General Hospital that Dr Irving's remarks can have no application to anything that has occurred in that institution. Dr Mackenzie shews that the state of affairs at the Campbell Hospital has been the reverse of that indicated by Dr Irving. His admissions in 1878 and 1879 greatly exceeded those of ordinary years, and persons resorted to his hospital who would not have gone there before. Dr Mackenzie produces tables, of which I have given the substance, showing Dr Irving's figures to be altogether wrong, and he points out the manner in which Dr Irving failed to ascertain the truth.

12 I cannot understand Dr Irving's remarks on the composition of the Committee, whose report he did not read, or to his condemnation of the contracts for hospital supplies which he officially sanctioned. An unbiassed person may indeed say that partiality against economy was to be feared, for the majority of the medical members of the Committee were the Superintendents of the hospitals concerned, who were to work under their own reforms, and if they thought restriction needed to lay it on themselves alone. The Secretary, on whom fell the duty of collecting information, was selected for the very reason that he had not been in any way associated with old practices or new opinions. Had Dr Irving been an opponent of past extravagance and waste, I could have understood his prejudice against a Committee composed of officers naturally inclined to a liberal view of their own requirements but his bias is altogether inconsistent with the attitude he has assumed. Dr Irving can have given no thought to the composition of the Committee. His words regarding it have the same foundation as his deductions from the report which he did not read, and his conclusion from figures which he did not examine. The words are useful, nevertheless, for the light which, as a confession of a very blind prejudice, they reflect on Dr Irving's subsequent action.

From—JAS IRVING ESQ M D late Surgeon General to the Ben al Government
To—the Editor of the Englishman

In July last you published some remarks on my Report on the Medical Institutions of Calcutta for the year 1878 to which I stated that I should reply at some future time. The author of the articles appeared to suppose that I had written my report in a spirit of opposition to that of the Committee appointed by Sir Ashley Eden to enquire into Medical Expenditure. But the fact is I never read that report though I had to read the resolution on it, so that I might ascertain the orders of Government and these I endeavoured faithfully to carry out. Looking to the constitution of the Committee I knew that there could not be a fair impartial and unprejudiced inquiry—an opinion held I believe by most medical officers in India and which I am glad to find is shared by medical men in this country and which has been maintained by those professional journals in London which I have alluded to the subject.

Your articles imply that I had endeavoured to connect diet mortality in the Campbell Hospital with the diet scale introduced by Government on the recommendation of its Committee. The same was said in the Government resolution in 1879 regarding which I appealed and showed that I had not done so and that what I had written had been mis understood. Very fortunately for me Sir Stewart Bayley was acting as Lieutenant Governor when my letter went in and he was good enough to publish extracts from it to clear with his remarks thereon in a resolution dated 9th August 1879. As a specimen of the spirit in which my observations were received by Sir Ashley Eden and seeing that Sir Stewart Bayley's resolution does not take up the point except in very general terms I shall give a passage from my report and place in juxtaposition Sir Ashley Eden's comment.

SIR ASHLEY EDEN'S REMARKS

t lity t es f t pu l se of avrt g l s
by a syst m f p ncl lber l d l et s

Now, I ask whether this is a fair comment. One might fancy from its terms that I had proposed an indiscriminate distribution of soups and of rum and milk to the poor in the streets of Calcutta by the police or other public functionaries under the direction of the Committee. The feeding of the poor in the streets of Calcutta is surely a question apart from the clear duty of Government which maintains the hospital to do all that liberality and benevolence suggest for saving the life of patients who enter it. His Honor it is very evident only looks at hospitals from a financial point of view but this as it seems to me is no of humanity. My argument was simply that it might be worth trying, whether a more liberal allowance of suitable food than had in any year been tried or could be obtained for the Committee's rate, might not diminish a mortality so appalling as 25 per cent. For the worn out patients who come into hospital in the last stages of disease, soups, or milk and stimulants, are probably the only food they can assimilate while good milk is very dear in Calcutta, and the patients who would require it very numerous

In writing my report on the Medical Institutions of Calcutta, as well as all other Bengal reports, I was desirous of not saying anything to disturb the serenity of His Honor's mind, and I wished, if possible to avoid writing anything that would provoke controversy seeing that I was so soon to resign a thankless office which had any option been given to me, I would not have accepted. I was therefore not a little astonished at the violence of the Lieutenant Governor and of the gentlemen who supported his views in the newspapers. Had I not been most anxious to avoid writing what might lead to a difference of opinion, I could have told truths which would have angered him still more, and which would have showed that I had very good grounds for the mild statement that I ventured to make. One thing I said was that a single year was not sufficient to test whether the Committee's diet was sufficient. I am about to give no other opinion, but I know this that, when it was first introduced it seemed to me to be the general impression of most of the medical men of Calcutta that the all important part of hospital management in the estimation of Government was rigid economy. In the Campbell Hospital to which some of the most wretched of the native sick are brought the rate sanctioned had not been spent in 1878. Sir Ashley Eden and his Committee in fact, introduced a reign of terror among the medical officers of Bengal, especially the native portion of them and many were afraid to order stimulants and articles of extra diet which they had hitherto freely done and still believed to be necessary for their patients as I have been told by some of themselves. Below I give a list of stimulants and extras used in the Campbell Hospital during some days of April and May 1878

	Cases	Morbid cases	Rum	Milk	Fowls	Eggs	Mutton
April 1	36	34	4½ o	8½ seers	1	2	6 ch tacks
2	39	33	4½	11½	1	2	6
3	377	31	4	12½	1	2	10
4	381	34	5½	13½			14
5	384	35	8½	15			1 seer
6	385	33	11½	16			12 ch tacks
7	377	28	14½	16			1 seer 1 ck
May 1	343	31	22	75½			1 10
2	347	31	25	13½			9
3	349	33	22	12½			9

The above seems to require no remark

On one of my first visits to the Campbell Hospital about this time I was struck by the miserable appearance of the inmates and the small quantities of stimulants and other extras used and I spoke on this subject. The impression then left on my mind was that the Assistant Surgeons were afraid to order extras as it tended to increase the cost of diets. I was informed that after my visit the Assistant Surgeons were assembled, and told that they were at liberty to do exactly as they liked in prescribing stimulants and articles of extra diet, but that they would be held personally responsible for quantities used thus blowing cold and hot at the same time as one of them remarked. The contract prices at which milk meat and other articles were obtained were too low to secure them of the quality that the sick ought to have. Professor Wood analysed several specimens of milk supplied to the Medical College Hospital and found it to be about half water (milk 56 water 44). If it is said that as Surgeon General I countermanded all contracts in token of approval I simply retort that I informed Superintendents of Hospitals to do as they thought best in the matter, they being really most interested and that I should agree to what they proposed. Had I said anything to show that I was not an advocate for "rigid economy" in the interest of the tax payers, I should have been put down as disloyal (a favourite Bengal term), and should have got into a controversy for which I had no wish.

Another thing I noticed was that the medical officers winked at the practice of patients, both European and Native, receiving food from outside, in order to supplement the Committee's allowance. This I believe to be entirely contrary to the rules of every well regulated hospital. I have before me a letter from a medical officer who states that after the introduction of the new scale of diet the patients could with difficulty be prevailed on to remain in hospital as they said they were starved but as it was necessary to keep the beds full trivial cases of persons willing to remain were admitted. It was necessary to fill the beds in order to keep up the numbers, seeing that in India the efficiency of a hospital is gauged by the number of admissions. Sir Ashley Eden however, as we all know, has added another criterion, and a much more important one, viz the cost of each patient. The filling of empty beds with trivial cases however serves another important purpose, viz that of keeping down the percentage of mortality.

Imagine, if you can, the Physician or Surgeon of a London hospital turning to his clerk and asking whether the number of patients on extras enables him to order a glass of stout for a particular patient without exceeding the rate fixed by the Governors of his

hospital and on being told that he is up to the mark having to take a patient who had them off extras in order to put on a new case which he thinks requires them more urgently yet this I have been credibly informed by a medical officer who was present on the occasion has been known to be done in a hospital in the tropics of India since the present Lieutenant Governor took up the hospital question in the interests of the tax payers of Bengal.

There are many other parts of your article which I might allude to but I shall not do so at present and shall not recur to the subject unless forced to do so. I am, however, quite prepared to go on as I have abundance of time and seem that I have ever acted on my country's motto—Nemo me impune lacessit. After your articles appeared and after Sir A. Eden's attack on me in his resolution I collected materials to help me to reply. In the above I have not nearly said all I might, and am quite prepared to continue the discussion.

P.S.—I have just seen your article noticing Dr. Lwart's reply to the Lieutenant Governor's attack on his management of the General Hospital in your issue of the 17th ultimo. What I have written above bears out the truth of all you have therein advanced.

Memo.—The above letter has been sent for insertion in the Englishman but in case it is not accepted I am anxious that it should be seen by medical officers serving in Bengal as well as other friends and therefore forward a copy.

No 105 M18 dated Calcutta the 15th March 1880

To—The Surgeon General Bengal

In reply to your office No 1011 of 10th instant I have the honor to report that I never once heard of patients leaving the Medical College Hospital on the ground of starvation after the new diets were introduced.

2 In this I am supported by Dr. Partridge who when asked by the Committee—Do patients complain of the new diets? answered—There have been a few complaints as to cooking but no complaints of insufficiency.

3 As to filling beds with trivial cases the contrary is the truth. We had to turn out convalescents as soon as capable of moving to admit severer cases urgently requiring treatment.

4 Dr. Jones wrote complaining of this transfer in the case of Europeans and we sent 1625 natives to the Campbell Hospital in 1878. These were patients so ill that they had to be carried away in the hospital cart others not so ill walked from our Out Department to the Campbell Hospital, and they one of the Assistant Surgeons says numbered eight to ten daily.

5 Dr. Irving finding these transfers too many for the Campbell Hospital beds obtained what he called a very salutary order from His Honor the Lieutenant Governor for the Superintendent to give notice to other hospitals of his inability to receive fresh cases—vide page 11 of Report on Calcutta Medical Institutions for 1878. In consequence of this order only 1121 patients were transferred in 1879.

6 These are proofs enough that we filled the Medical College Hospital, not with trivial but with severe cases which should rather have increased its mortality.

7 Dr. Irving could not have thought of starvation occurring in any of our hospitals when he wrote (vide his No 888BG letter of 30th July 1879)—I imagined that I was carrying out the policy of Government (ie in regard to economy) and being my chief responsibility that the sick were not injuriously affected I was not likely to do anything in consequence of which I thought it possible they might suffer. And again—I never was so surprised in my life than to learn that I am supposed to have invited or inferred that the trifling increase of mortality in 1878 was in any way owing to the new diet.

No 162 dated Fort William the 13th March 1880

To—The Surgeon General Bengal

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated 10th March regarding a letter

I take for me a letter from a medical officer who told me that the introduction of the new diet had not produced any ill effects but that they were told but that as a matter of course we will not receive any more patients admitted.

from Dr. Irving published in the Englishman of the 10th instant from which an extract is quoted by you (here given marginally).

2 I am now required to state whether anything has occurred in the Medical College Hospital to which all the above passage can be supposed to apply since I received notice of the Hospital and whether I am aware of any of the kind having occurred during my absence.

3 In reply I have the honor to report as follows —

(b)—After my return to this country the scales of diet which had been proposed by Dr Coates were in force in the College Hospital

At that time (i.e. shortly after my return) the complaints made by the patients as to the insufficiency of the food supplied to them were very numerous indeed and many patients then left the hospital because they were dissatisfied saying they did not get enough to eat

4 This widespread dissatisfaction led me to consult anxiously with my colleagues on the subject, and we decided to alter the diet scales then in use

After the alterations now referred to were made the complaints became much less frequent and clamorous

5 As to the beds being filled up with trivial cases such has not been my experience My chief difficulty has been in the opposite direction viz having too many very serious cases to deal with

In reply to your letter No 1010 dated 10th instant I beg to state that the passage you quote cannot apply to anything that has occurred at the General Hospital

No 294 dated Sealdah the 17th March 1880

From—SURGEON MAJOR S C MACKENZIE, M D Supdt Campbell Medical School and Hospital
To—The Surgeon General for Bengal

With reference to your No 1009 of the 10th instant I beg to observe that the statement made by Dr Irving in your letter (page 2) cannot refer to this institution as we have this hospital always full of serious cases many of whom have been refused admission into other hospitals as being in too low and helpless a condition to benefit by treatment When I came to this hospital in January 1875 as Superintendent I found that as a rule natives seldom applied directly for admission and that the wards principally contained persons brought in by the police or on transfer from other institutions and that natives had a great aversion to come here as they were of opinion that they would be sure to die This state of matters has however changed and now many persons come and demand admission and even refuse to go to other hospitals when such a suggestion is made to them

The temporary shed or as some call it the 'Moribund Ward' is a large well ventilated wood and straw building in which most of the very low cases are kept so as to be away from the general wards but more especially from the surgical operating cases as many of them suffer from sloughing dysentery &c The days that Dr Irving has noted in his letter this ward contained the number of patients he mentions and these are what he is pleased to term 'moribund cases' The following two tables show in detail the cases in the temporary shed on the days referred to by Dr Irving and the time they were in it on the various dates referred to by him In table A you will observe all the patients remaining in this shed on the 1st April 1875 their names date of admission date of death date of discharge the disease from which they suffered the period of residence in hospital and the places from which they came Table B gives the same information regarding the second period referred to by Dr Irving in his letter From a perusal of these tables you will observe the favorable results which took place during the period referred to by Dr Irving When Dr Irving visited the hospital and obtained the information which appeared in his letter I was on leave in England, and was informed by letter by the Deputy Superintendent who accompanied him through the hospital that when he visited the temporary shed that certain patients suffering from sloughing dysentery &c asked him to be allowed dhall and curry and that Dr Irving replied—I don't think you will get anything more under the present régime I submit that it would have been wrong to have supplied the diets asked for under the circumstances and I think you will see from the tables now submitted that we were justified in refusing to give such patients articles which would in their cases have done harm All the native teachers of this school have, I am informed received copies of Dr Irving's letter to the Englishman

MEDICAL

READ—

Resolution recorded by the Lieutenant Governor on the 11th July 1879 on the report on the Calcutta Medical Institutions for 1878

READ—

Letter No 888BG dated the 30th idem, from the Surgeon General, Bengal, offering the following remarks explanatory of those portions of his report in regard to the reductions recently imposed upon hospital expenditure which formed the subject of Sir Ashley Eden's observations —

"Referring to Bengal Government Resolution on the annual report on the medical institutions of Calcutta dated 11th instant I have the honor to say that I desire to make a few remarks on paragraph 7, which I have not seen till this morning and which, having heard of its purport I did not at one time think it worth while to notice as I now do in this manner. The Hon'ble the Lieutenant Governor objects to my characterizing the year as one of 'rigid economy' in which the screw was continuously applied for the purpose of reducing expenditure in all possible ways. In writing thus I alluded particularly to my own action in endeavouring to curb expenditure in every manner, in the matter of medicines, diet, establishment &c. I imagined that I was carrying out the policy of Government, and being myself responsible that the sick were not injuriously affected, I was not likely to do anything in consequence of which I thought it possible that they might suffer. But if I did not 'put on the screw' and enforce rigid economy, I do not understand the meaning of these words. In writing an annual report it was not for me to allude to the policy of the Government as there is, I understand, a distinct order against doing so.

"I maintain that in saying what I did about the diet rates, all I intended to say was that a single year, and especially the first year could be no test as to whether the new scale would eventually be approved by experience, and in selecting the Campbell Hospital by way of example, I stated that the death rate during 1878 was very nearly the same as usual (I ought to have said rather less than usual, as will be seen hereafter). I never have been more surprised in my life than to learn from the Resolution that I am supposed to have insinuated or inferred that the trifling increase of mortality in 1878 was in any way owing to the new diet. I further maintain that what I have written should not have led any one, used to interpret medical statistics, to think that I did. I have been used to compiling and reading such statistics for many years, and therefore know very well, what I thought most people did, that the experience of any two years is not comparable so that, if it had been the fact that in the Campbell Hospital in 1878 the mortality had been 203, and in 1877 248 no one conversant with medical statistics would deem himself justified in inferring that this was owing to the sick getting all the food intended for them and to the stopping of peculation, or in any way connected with the new diet scale. Nor would he from a single year's experience, think of indicating the cause of the reduced mortality with anything like certainty.

The actual difference between the mortality in 1877 and 1878 is 0.5 in favour of the former a fraction which is of no account in the comparison of the mortality of two years. But had the other figures which I gave been considered, viz the rate of mortality of the years 1874-77 it would have been evident that the average yearly mortality of the four previous years was 257 and that therefore the mortality of 1878 was 0.1 short of the average of the four previous years. I did not deem it necessary to explain all this, as it seemed to me that anyone who was in the way of looking at figures would see it at once. It would also be seen that the average cost of each diet in the Campbell Hospital from 1874 to 1877 was three annas and seven pices, the rate proposed

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from the trace of the barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperature are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the New Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No 86 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory) the barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore and other things being equal reads therefore 003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore and the mean temperature apparently about 2° 95 lower and finally the thermometer which has furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor General's Office during the last 20 years and upwards is found to read 0 6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The decrease in firewood traffic is due to less imports at Canning Ghât

The decrease in hay wooloo and straw is due to greater demands at selling stations

The decrease in paddy is chiefly due to cultivators of the Port Canning Company's estates selling it to the rice mills for which they were previously advanced

The decrease in rice traffic is due to the mills not working yet fully

The increase in sundries is trifling

The decrease in building materials is due to less materials having been required by Port Canning this year for repairs

The increase in coal is due to greater demand for the rice mills

NOTIFICATION

The 12th April 1880—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 314 of the Bengal Municipal Act 1876 the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to confirm the following bye laws which were made by the Commissioners of the Buidwan Municipality at a meeting convened expressly for the purpose and of which due notice had been given and in exercise of the powers conferred by section 315 of the same Act the Lieutenant Governor is pleased to sanction the penalties which have been declared by the said Commissioners for the breach of the said bye laws —

BYE LAWS

For regulating the conduct of business at Meetings of the Commissioners

1 MEETINGS shall be convened by the Chairman or Vice Chairman by notice to be addressed to each Commissioner at least three days before the day of the meeting

2 In the event of the Chairman or Vice Chairman determining to call a special meeting not less than two clear days notice shall be given to the Commissioners of the day fixed for such special meeting

3 Every notice convening a meeting shall be accompanied by a list of the business signed by the Chairman or Vice Chairman to be brought forward at such meeting

4 Any Commissioner wishing to bring forward any business shall give notice of such intention in writing to the Chairman so as to admit of its being included in the list of business to be brought forward at such meeting

5 No resolution or any business or proposition not included in the list of business shall be considered final unless ratified at a subsequent meeting

6 At all ordinary meetings the proceedings shall be commenced by the minutes of the last ordinary or special meeting being read with a view to ascertain if the resolutions passed at such meeting have been faithfully and accurately recorded in the words used by the mover of such resolution or if amendments thereto shall have been passed in the words used by the mover of such duly passed amendments

7 In the event of any Commissioner being of opinion that any such resolution has not been accurately recorded it shall be competent to such Commissioner to state his opinion to that effect and thereupon the Chairman shall decide whether or no such resolution has been accurately recorded by reference to the original draft of such resolution written and signed by the mover and if he finds the minute to be inaccurate he shall then and there make the necessary correction in the Minute book provided that no discussion as to the propriety or otherwise of such resolution shall be allowed

8 The order in which the several subjects shall be discussed at a meeting shall be determined by the order in which they are mentioned in the Chairman's list

9 On the Commissioners proceeding to the consideration of any subject the letters and papers connected with such subject shall first be read and thereupon any Commissioner may make a proposition regarding such subject and address the meeting prior to the question being put to vote by the President provided that such Commissioner shall confine his remarks to the subject under consideration

10 Every proposition made shall be written out by the proposer and signed by him

11 Every proposition shall be seconded by one Commissioner who shall also sign or initial the draft proposition written by the proposer

12 The Commissioner who first addresses the meeting shall be entitled to be heard first and should more than one Commissioner address the meeting the right of precedence shall be determined by the President

13 Any Commissioner shall be at liberty to call the attention of the President to a point of order, even when a Commissioner is addressing the meeting

14 Any Commissioner may propose an amendment to a proposition to the effect that certain words in the proposition originally made be omitted therefrom that certain words be substituted, or that certain words be added thereto provided that such amendment be proposed when the subject is being discussed and the original proposition is still before the meeting

15 On the discussion being concluded in the event of several amendments having been proposed the President shall put the last amendment to the vote first if negatived he shall put the second amendment and then the first and if all the amendments are lost the original proposition shall be put to the vote

16 No Commissioner shall be allowed to vote by proxy when he is unable to attend a meeting, or under any circumstances

17 On a proposition being made and seconded the President shall put the same to the vote

18 Votes shall be taken by show of hands

19 All votes shall be put by the President first in the affirmative and then in the negative form

20 Any Commissioner may decline to vote on any subject without assigning his reason for abstaining from voting

21 Any Commissioner may with the President's permission make a proposition that a subject under consideration be postponed or that the consideration of it be adjourned either to a fixed date or sine die

22 It shall be competent to any Commissioner to move a resolution to the effect that the subject under consideration be referred to a committee provided that such Commissioner shall also at the same time propose the names of the members of such committee

23 It shall be competent to the members of any such committee appointed to vote at any general meeting on the subject reported on by such committee

24 Should any Commissioner object to any part of a report submitted by such committee, such Commissioner shall be competent to make a proposition that the report be adopted except with regard to the particular part objected to by him or that such report be again referred to the committee, or that the report be entirely set aside

25 A subject once finally disposed of by a resolution duly passed at a meeting shall not be re opened at any subsequent meeting unless at least three fourths of the Commissioners present at a meeting, of which due notice has been given consent that such subject shall be re opened and reconsidered provided that resolutions adjourning the consideration of a subject may be reconsidered at any meeting after the usual notice

Whereas His Excellency the Governor General of India in Council has approved of the office of Judge of Chittagong being separated from that of Commissioner and of the abolition of the office of Additional Judge at that place and has also approved of the amalgamation of the Judgeships of East Burdwan and Bankoora (West Burdwan) the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal in exercise of the powers vested in him by Section 18 Act VI of 1871 directs that the jurisdiction of the District Judge of East Burdwan to be hereafter called Burdwan shall include the present Judgeship of Bankoora (West Burdwan) which is abolished and also under the powers vested in him by the Code of Criminal Procedure Section 13 abolishes the Sessions Court of Bankoora and directs that the jurisdiction thereof shall be included within the jurisdiction of the Sessions Division of East Burdwan to be called Burdwan And whereas the business pending before the District Judge of Burdwan will require the aid of an Additional Judge for its speedy disposal the Lieutenant Governor with the sanction of the Governor General in Council has constituted the office of Additional Judge of Burdwan

The Lieutenant Governor directs that the Court of the Additional Judge of Burdwan shall ordinarily be held at Bankoora but may be held at Burdwan when the District Judge so directs or on the occasion of his absence from Burdwan

The Lieutenant Governor also directs under Act V (B C) of 1869 that the Court of Session of Burdwan shall sit at Bankoora for the trial of cases committed by any Magistrate in West Burdwan

The above arrangements will take effect from the date on which the officer appointed to act as Judge of the amalgamated districts assumes charge of his duties

The Lieutenant Governor has also appointed a separate officer to be District and Sessions Judge of Chittagong, and the Commissioner of Chittagong will cease to hold that office from the date on which he makes over charge of his duties as District and Sessions Judge to the officer appointed to perform those duties

HIGH COURT NOTICES

Circular Order issued by authority of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal

CIVIL

No 15 dated the 20th March 1880

It having been brought to the notice of the Judges that casual leave, meaning as it does 'occasional absence from illness and other necessary causes,' ought not to be formally granted as no such power is now vested in District Judges, the Court are pleased to cancel Circular Memo No 10, dated 20th July 1875

CRIMINAL

The High Court of Judicature is pleased to prescribe the annexed forms for recording confessions and examinations of accused persons and to direct that such confessions and examinations be invariably recorded in the printed and prepared forms which will be supplied for the purpose by the Superintendent of Stationery

2 The Court finds it necessary, at the same time, to call attention to the frequent failure of justice arising from the neglect of Magistrates to observe the indispensable forms in recording and attesting confessions and to remind these officers how much often depends on their accurate observance of these forms. In some cases the neglect may be remedied at the cost of serious public inconvenience and loss of time in others, it is irreparable, and may result in the escape of a guilty person. On the other hand, it is equally desirable that Magistrates should act with deliberation in examining persons brought before them for the purpose of making confessions, and should as far as possible satisfy themselves, that the confession is voluntary—and this not merely from the declaration of the accused but from an attentive observation of his demeanour.

3 The Code of Criminal Procedure being the basis of every Magistrate's exercise of functions, and its provisions having now been in force for many years such omissions are inexcusable and it will be matter for the Court's consideration, when such cases come before it whether the conduct of the officer who is to blame shall not be brought conspicuously to the notice of the local Government.

4 Magistrates are desired to keep by them for convenience sake in every place where they are likely to be called upon to perform the duty of examining accused persons, copies of the forms now prescribed.

From—The Auditors of the Accounts of the Municipal Corporation for the Town of Calcutta

GENTLEMEN

We have the honor to inform you that we have audited the cash and with the exception of the Partially Manufactory the accounts of the Corporation of Calcutta and have found them to be correct. The Partially Manufactory's accounts were not ready for audit.

2 The printed accounts of the several fund and loan accounts have been prepared in the same forms as those of last year and in them will be found a comparison between the actuals and estimate. The result of this comparison calls for no special remarks in this report but we would mention that the savings are attributable partly to the non-payment of charges which had fallen due during the year.

3 With reference to our last report we have to report that the head of account for watering and filling up tanks includes on the receipt side many items which are not items of revenue and on the expenditure side amounts which are not correct. The check over the account is not satisfactory. The register of lands and immovable property which was started to be opened in our recommendation in 1877 has been commenced but is not yet completed. We also wish to bring to your notice the desirableness of maintaining a complete list of the movable property of the Commissioners. At present there is no such list and therefore no proper check as to what becomes of such property.

4 In our last report it was noticed that the Commissioners had disallowed the cost of an iron latrine Rs 1200 and of three street bathing lamps Rs 100. No further rolls have been produced for the adjustment of these charges which were paid out of the General and Water rate Fund respectively.

5 The balance on the 31st December of the Store and Suspense Accounts as shown in the printed balance sheet have been analysed and explained in detail with the following exceptions which should now be investigated —

- 1 Paid Disbursement recoverable charges
- 2 Town Hall Lighting
- 3 House Drainage recoverable
- 4 Deposit for appeal
- 5 Partially manufactory
- 6 Excess receipts from sale of property distrained
- 7 Interest payable on the several debenture loans

6 We desire to bring to notice that the conditions under which the working of the Hackney Carriage Act was transferred from the Commissioner of Police to the Municipal Commissioners of Calcutta as detailed in a letter from the Government of Bengal Finance Department No 204 dated the 22nd May 1878 require attention. No separate account is kept of the receipts and charges under the Act or of the amount available for the improvement of carriage stands and stables in the town and no payments have been made either to the Suburban or the Howrah Municipal Commissioners for their shares of the net receipts.

	Rs	A	P
Collector—House rate	2 638	2	0
Lighting rate	1 758	9	9
Night soil	40 879	5	6
Water rate	20 664	8	3
Police rate	17 130	2	1
Miscellaneous bills	16 36	3	0
	1 73 407	0	0
Assessor—House rate	43 707	1	6
Lighting rate	27 613	9	0
Night soil	1 20 367	4	9
Water rate	51 937	8	0
Police rate	30 975	7	0
	2 14 837	3	3
Arrear Collection Department—
House rate	63 209	14	1
Lighting rate	20 199	10	9
Night soil	16 354	14	0
Water rate	39 761	9	6
Police rate	23 006	1	6
	2 13 016	7	3
Late Collector—Night soil	905	12	9
Miscellaneous	1 948	4	8
	7 854	1	5
Engineer—Miscellaneous bills	187	7	9
Inspector of Bazaars—Market rent bills	6 636	9	9
Grand Total	6 75 939	2	10

Stock of these bills was not however taken nor had detailed lists of them except in the case of miscellaneous bills been produced before us. The officers also with whom the bills are supposed to be have not with the exception of the Assessor acknowledged the correctness of the amounts at their debit. A comparison between the amounts at debit of these officers on the ledger and the accounts kept by the officers themselves is being made.

8 Besides these debit balances the following balances at credit of the late Collector should be brought to your notice —

Honorary rate	882	4	0
Fighting rate	327	9	0
Police rate	10	12	3
Water rate	2	6	3

Apparently these credit balances are the results of bills in 1879 having been made out and delivered to the Collector for realization without having been registered and the result with not having been charged to his account. These bills when realized were credited to the Collector's account in the usual manner although when issued they had not been debited to him. To what extent bills were thus made over to the Collector without having been registered and charged to his account is not known. The matter we understand has formed the subject of a special report by the Vice-Chairman.

9 With reference to the receipts from the sale of land credited to the General Fund as revenue we would remark that it would be more appropriate to credit such receipts to your capital account than to treat them as revenue of the year.

10 With reference to paragraph 31 of our last report it should be stated that no readjustment of the value of the tramway materials in the cuttings stores was made in 1879.

No. A 116

From—The Auditors of the Accounts of the Calcutta Police

GENTLEMEN

We have the honor to inform you that we have audited the accounts of the Commissioner of Police for the year 1879 and have found them to be correct.

2 We annex the usual statement of receipts and expenditure and a copy of the balance sheet of the 31st December 1879.

3 The statement shows with a deficit balance of Rs 1,04,15 10 which amount, together with Rs 1,135 8 paid by Government in excess of their share of the expenditure is recovered from the Municipality. In these amounts there is only a sum of Rs 6,130 3 at credit of the Police Fund on the Municipal ledger, but there were bills outstanding on the 31st December 1879 on account of the Police to the extent of Rs 71,705 11 0.

4 The comparison between the actual receipts and expenditure and the estimates will be found in the annual accounts which have been previously submitted for your special remark in the report.

5 The safe custody receipt of the Bank of Bengal for the Calcutta Police Fund which belong to the Calcutta Police Superannuation Fund has been produced to us and the balances of the advance and deposit accounts have been analysed and explained to you in detail.

The Hon'ble KRISTODAS PAL moved to add the following proviso to section 81 —

Provided that no work the maintenance of which is at the time of the commencement of this Act a charge upon Provincial Funds shall be made a charge upon the District Road Fund'

He had not much to say in support of this motion. The principle which it involved was self evident. When the Road Cess Act was passed, it was distinctly stated that the proceeds of the cess should be applied to local purposes, such as roads and canals, which would directly benefit the districts in which the cess would be levied. A clear distinction was drawn by Sir George Campbell between Provincial and Road Cess Funds. In making his financial statement in this Council in March 1871, he remarked—

'He should like to produce a budget distinct from, and independent of the arrangements for local cesses and which he might call the provincial budget so as to distinguish provincial taxation from that question of local cesses. Provincial taxation and local cesses were in principle quite distinct from one another and he thought that the question of local cesses for specific local purposes should as far as possible be kept quite apart from the other question of provincial finance. The local Rating Bill would be for proper local purposes as the hon ble member who asked leave to introduce the Bill had pointed to the Council in submitting his motion. In point of fact local funds and cesses of various kinds had existed in several provinces long anterior to the provincial arrangements now for the first time about to be commenced. And he might say here that the Bill of which the hon ble member had charge was a measure which had been under consideration before the scheme of financial decentralization was made known by the Government of India.

He was the more inclined to avoid any appearance of confounding the two subjects because while some other local Governments had he hoped unjustly incurred the imputation of improving the occasion to add to their provincial resources more than the burden imposed on them by the Government of India he was specially desirous that the question of local rating in Bengal should not be prejudiced by any suspicion of the kind that it should be quite understood that any proposal for local rating would be in good faith for really local objects and subject to effective local administration.

Nothing could be more explicit or more emphatic than this declaration of Sir George Campbell. The question, however, was, whether the promise made by Sir George Campbell had been fulfilled? Had the road cess been applied to the relief of the Provincial Exchequer, or had the proceeds, as declared in Council, been applied only to local improvements in the districts in which it was levied? That question had been answered by his hon'ble friend the Financial Secretary to Government at the last sitting of the Council. He said—

When the Provincial Service scheme was started in 1871-72 Sir George Campbell told the Council that we received namely the Government of Bengal from the Government grant for Public Works 37 lakhs less than that which was the cost in 1868-69 11 lakhs less than the Government of India had felt bound to spend upon Bengal in their worst year of financial panic viz in 1870-71. That was all that we could hope for to provide for public works except when some sudden necessity arose which was out of the question. Without however, despairing Sir George Campbell went to work, and in two years accumulated as I have said a considerable balance. But how did he manage this? By transferring to the Road Funds the maintenance of nearly all the roads in the province by seizing every wind fall and screwing out of the Financial Department every extra penny to which he could lay the shadow of a claim and by concentrating to the general uses all sorts of petty funds and lastly by practically suspending all expenditure save what was actually necessary to keep the administration of the Government.

He (BABOO KRISTODAS PAI) was really taken by surprise when this extraordinary statement came from the Financial Secretary. He could hardly believe that Sir George Campbell having just a few months before made an emphatic declaration in this Council for the maintenance of a clear and broad distinction between the Provincial Fund and the Road Cess Fund "in good faith," should have broken his own word and summarily transferred to the Road Fund the maintenance of nearly all the roads in the province, that is, the roads hitherto maintained out of the Provincial Fund. In proposing this amendment his object was to prevent, if practicable, this sort of misappropriation (if he might so term it) of the Road Cess Fund. When the Road Cess was imposed, the cess-payers were distinctly told that, as the resources of the Government were limited for the improvement of local communications, it was necessary to raise additional funds for that purpose, and that the money which would be thus collected would be applied to the improvement of communications in the district. In fact, that it would be devoted to the improve

nment of the estates from which the contributions would be levied' But if the Road Cess was applied for the maintenance of old roads which had hitherto been charged to the Provincial Funds, how was good faith kept with the people The road cess was not imposed for the purpose of affording relief to the Imperial or Provincial Exchequer, its object was to help the landholders to bind them together and co operate with each other for the improvement of communications which would lie in their own estates But, as it had been shown by the Hon'ble Financial Secretary, this promise had not been fulfilled The Road Cess Fund had now taken the place of what was formerly called the Amalgamated District Road Fund, and he found on reference to the Administration Report of 1872 73 that the Amalgamated District Road Fund consisted of the following sources of revenue —

Firstly, of old one per cent road cess on land levied in Shahabad, secondly, of road tolls, thirdly, of ferry tolls and, fourthly, of canal tolls

Road tolls were, he believed, being gradually done away with, and he dared say his hon ble friend the Financial Secretary would be able to show that in all districts in Bengal road tolls had been abolished BABOO KRISTODAS PAL thought that was a very proper measure, they were a source of annoyance and trouble and vexation to the people, and the sooner they were abolished the better By dispensing with this source of income the Road Fund lost about one lakh of rupees a year

He found from the administration report referred to that more than five lakhs were received from the ferry tolls The proceeds of those tolls were formerly credited to the Amalgamated Road Fund, and the Government distributed it by annual allotments From the commencement of the financial year 1872 73 those funds had been made strictly local and made over to the district where they were raised, and were managed by local Committees Thus, that source of income was also gone But the greater portion of the old Amalgamated District Fund came from grants in aid from Government It appeared from the report that the grants in aid generally amounted to about ten lakhs per annum, but since the imposition of the road cess these grants, if he was informed rightly, had disappeared, so that the road cess was now the only source of income for the maintenance of district roads Having withdrawn the aid which the Government gave before, he did not think it would be justified to impose on the Road Fund the maintenance of works which used formerly to devolve on the District Fund As he had already shown the distinction made by Government between the Provincial Fund and the Local Fund was quite clear, and it would be only acting in accordance with the declaration then made to provide that no works which at the commencement of the Act were maintained out of Provincial Funds should be charged to District Road Cess Funds The object of the Road Cess Fund, as stated by His Grace the Duke of Argyll when Secretary of State for India, was to provide for works the advantages of which would be palpable, direct and immediate In other words local funds should be applied to local works it could not therefore be just to apply the proceeds of the road cess to works which might benefit the whole province and which ought in fairness to be provided for out of provincial funds

It might be argued that it would practically be difficult to make a distinction between works provincial and local The Government of India had already made a distinction between works Imperial and Provincial In the financial statement of 1877 Sir John Strachey had clearly shown what class of public works should be charged to Imperial and what to Provincial revenue The legislature by creating separate funds for separate works,—Imperial, Provincial, Local, and Municipal,—had also contemplated that the proceeds of each fund should be applied to the objects for which each fund was created and such being the case, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL did not think it would be inconsistent if a distinction was made in the way proposed by the amendment

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said—"I must take objection to this proposal that the law should be so worded as to prevent the spending of any road fund money on any work that may now happen to be classed as provincial The hon'ble member has made much of the statement contained in my speech on one of his former amendments, to the effect that Sir George Campbell, by transferring to the District Road Committee most of the road cess the province, succeeded in effecting savings in the imperial allotment as a whole Sir George Campbell, in acting as he did, was only giving effect to the whole aim and object of the road cess legislation It was because the Imperial Government would not find money for Bengal roads that this local cess was passed to enable us to make them for ourselves All the money that we received from the Government of India for roads was spent upon roads, but it is obvious that that was utterly insufficient, and if Sir George Campbell, by making into district roads what were fairly such, prevented further demands upon the available savings at his disposal from other sources, he only did what was perfectly legitimate even from the hon'ble member's point of view But the fact is that the argument which the hon'ble member anticipated would be addressed to him must be so addressed and carefully pressed home In Bengal it is quite impossible to draw a hard and fast line of distinction, based upon any intelligible principle, between local and provincial roads There were, it is true, certain main or trunk lines which, before the days of railways and canals and river steamers, were recognized as of Imperial importance These were most of them great arteries of military communication, the routes by which troops and military stores passed from the metropolitan arsenals to the camps and stations of the upper and outer provinces But their importance from this point of view has in many cases passed away, while there is not one of them which is not now, as regards the segment of it passing through each district, perhaps the most important local road within the district The roads recognized at present as provincial are chiefly these—

- 1—The Grand Trunk road to the North Western Provinces and its branches
- 2—The Orissa Trunk Road and its feeders
- 3—The Chota Nagpore system
- 4—The Calcutta and Jessore road
- 5—The Calcutta and Diamond Harbour road
- 6—The Ganges and Dajeeeling road with branches
- 7—The South Eastern Trunk road (Dacca to Chittagong)
- 8—Certain Calcutta roads
- 9—Certain frontier roads

There is, so far as I know, no present intention of reducing their number, or of transferring them to District Committees, but there is hardly any of the first eight in the series that might not, as regards some part or other of it, form a perfectly fair charge on local funds

The limitations imposed by the Bill upon the expenditure of each district road fund are, I submit, already sufficiently precise It can only be spent upon objects which directly benefit the district and improve its communications That, Sir, seems to me the true test to apply from an administrative point of view Financially the tax payers are sufficiently protected by the limitation placed in the law on the rate of cess leviable These considerations permit in themselves a sufficient answer to the proposal before us

I am not, however, altogether content to let my opposition to this proposal rest on these narrow grounds The hon'ble member has quoted to us certain passages from a speech by Sir George Campbell, containing views upon the relative characteristics of provincial and local taxation No one has more respect for Sir George Campbell than I have, but I think this Council may well hesitate before it accepts as final the views upon local taxation enunciated by a somewhat doctrinaire Governor in the first gust of provincial independence and when the question was not before him in any well argued form At the risk perhaps of being misunderstood myself, I feel bound to say that I oppose this and other of the hon'ble member's suggestions, because I consider, first, that they unduly seek to fetter the Lieutenant Governor's administrative action, and secondly, that he endeavours to set up a distinction in kind between local and provincial taxation, which in this country has no real existence The theory of provincial government in India is not after all a more magnified shadow of the constitution of the Calcutta Corporation The Lieutenant Governor of Bengal is not as yet reduced to the position of a much badgered Chairman, content, for peace sake, to have his hands tied by anticipatory resolutions upon every conceivable point of detail He is still the personal representative of the Imperial power within the province, and as such, is personally bound to administer, or cause to be administered, all its resources for its best advantage For this he has to answer, first, to the Viceroy in Council and Her Majesty's Government at home, and secondly, to public opinion, and precisely in that order A wise Governor will endeavour of course to satisfy both authorities, so far as his conscience lets him, but he should never, I submit, while the circumstances of this country remain as they are, and while his personal responsibility lasts, out of weak deference to uninstructed sentiment, allow his hands to be tied unduly, or submit to having his legitimate freedom of administration curtailed by superfluous legislation. We have, I am well aware, so far grown out of the patriarchal system in Bengal that legislation has become a necessary part of our constitutional existence. We have to govern upon definite plans and in accordance with civilized methods. We must embody our ideas in clear legal enactments and attach sanctions to secure their observance. It is sometimes desirable for educational purposes, or to prevent misconception, to make an Act embody in sufficient detail, or in full outline, some connected administrative scheme; but even in such cases the Council would, I contend, do well to bear in mind the advice of Sir Henry Thring, who makes it a cardinal rule of legislation that "Procedure and matters of detail should not, except under very exceptional circumstances, find any place in the body of an Act, but should, where possible, be left to be prescribed by a court or department of the Government." I for my part would never willingly consent to putting a single clause into a law that was not absolutely required for practical purposes. We are, in this Council at any rate, bound to assume that Government will exercise its discretion rightly in any given case, and were the local legislature to attempt to forestall that discretion in matters of pure administration, such as the Government may fairly be expected to decide upon sound general principles, it would be injuring both the Government and the country, substituting rough running for smooth, and to put it plainly, irritating an overworked executive by an unnecessary and foolish system of legalised nagging. The Council will not I trust deem me wanting in respect, or consider me out of order, if I go on to say that I am not, I believe, alone in thinking that consciously or unconsciously this tendency does occasionally show itself in some recent Bengal Acts. Select Committees are not always content to give the precise amount of legislative assistance asked for, but go on to provide for every possible detail, and to stop up every possible outlet for responsible action. Valuable as local and detailed knowledge is, and much as the Government is to be congratulated on being able to secure such assistance as it gets from the hon'ble members of this Council, it is quite possible to overload our measures with excess of precision on unimportant points. Compare, for instance, our Bengal Survey Act with the Act that sufficed for British Burmah, our Wards' Act with the sections that do for the North Western Provinces. Something more of detail may be required in Bengal, but certainly nothing like the quantity there is. We cannot here trust a district officer to serve a notice in a reasonable way, but must prescribe every corner of the district in which it is to be stuck. Soon we shall be fixing the diameter of the tom-toms to furnish that everlasting 'beat of drum' that rolls its monotonous rataplann through all our later Acts, or we shall be asked to regulate the width of the official foolscap. Looking back upon some of the proposals pressed upon us in Committee, I consider it fortunate that this identical Cess Bill does not fix by law the precise spot on the annual account sheet where the Vice Chairman should sign his name, and affix penalties for his failure to do his's. Section after section, under Part III, seems to me to be not really necessary as a part of a law, but to be matter rather for executive management. But as they are unobjectionable, and in accordance with the genius of our local legislation, I accept them. But I do emphatically protest against the idea that the Lieutenant Governor in his own province is not fit to decide whether a district road is useful for local purposes or not.

Further, Sir, I do not think we ought to recognize any such distinction of kind between provincial and local taxation as is logically involved in the hon'ble member's proposal. The origin of the taxing power is not the same in India as in England. Here it emanates from the Supreme authority, there it emanates from the people itself. To confound the two systems is common enough in the political cant of the present day. Men talk, and newspapers write, as if India were all the same as Middlesex. They apply the same tests to its administration as to Parliamentary Government and the ancient local systems at home. They babble about the separation of executive and judicial functions, about local self government and representation, and the like, forgetting that outside the Presidency towns these subboteths of so called progress may prove to be mischievous when they cease to be only meaningless. Whatever may be the future of this country as regards representation in its Government, it is absurd to pretend that as yet any such theories hold good. It may be politic and wise to encourage such aspirations, and it seems an ungenerous thing to throw cold water upon ideas with which we as Englishmen necessarily sympathise. But if we are to cultivate habits of local self government among the people, we must proceed by cautious and well considered steps. They must learn to walk before they are allowed to run. They must learn to stand before they are allowed to walk. And in the work of practical government we must look more to the actual fact, to the precise stage of political growth with which we have to deal, and beware of injuring material progress by a leaning to utopian theories. Bengal is an advanced province in many ways, but it is not after all quite on the same platform as Great Britain yet. We must remember, therefore, in discussing questions of taxation that in England the people in Parliament assembled taxes itself, or passes enabling laws providing for local taxation of kinds. The town populations in their Town Councils tax themselves for municipal purposes. The counties tax themselves for roads and other objects. In India, on the other hand, a foreign, but we hope benevolent, Government taxes the people ab extra in their own interests, and often in their own despite. Viewed thus, municipal and other local taxation in India is distinctly Imperial taxation as the income tax itself. Were there no such local cesses, the Government would in its own interests have to provide for the police, conservancy, and lighting of its towns, and the making and maintenance of communications. In order to bring in economy of administration, to secure the help of those locally interested and to reconcile local populations to special burdens, the Government transfers the assessment and management of certain sources of revenue to local bodies, but the ultimate responsibility still lies with Government, and it is for the Government to lay down the limits within which the system shall be worked. That, Sir, I conceive to be the only sound theory of local taxation in India. It is thus, in my opinion, entirely for Government to decide whether the cost of any particular work is one which it can equitably charge to a local fund. That is it seems to me, not a point on which it should ordinarily submit to have its hands tied by legislation.

Of course when the Government consents to embody in a law provisions for the delegation of a portion of its taxing power to local authorities, it must be bound thereafter by the conditions which it then accepts, and in respect of municipal taxation it has been content to work very generally upon Western ideas, and to abandon to a large extent even the appearance of effective control. It is held that self interest will lead the people of towns to do what is best for themselves, and that the tax payers are thus brought so directly into contact with the administration of the funds that no very decided check is necessary from above. But I for one am not prepared to admit that this theory can be applied in its integrity to the working of the District Road Fund.

It would certainly not be for the advantage of the tax payers to have local taxation of this sort treated as different in kind from Provincial and Imperial taxation. It is to them a distinct gain that the road cesses are now shown as Provincial rates in the Imperial accounts. The full extent of the public burdens is thus clearly seen. But if the taxation is of the same kind as Provincial Government must have a potential voice in regard to its application. Government has in the absence of any real representative system, to protect the interests of the many, of the people at large, and in their interests it must decide, and it alone, what communications are a fair charge upon district fund and what on the general funds of the State. For these reasons I would reject absolutely the hon. member's proposition.

That the Government when left at liberty to administer all the funds at its disposal will do so wisely may not unfairly be inferred from the manner in which the imposition of the cesses been has utilised to free the trade of the country from tolls. An income of £ 96,600 annually has been surrendered by the abolition of tolls since the Cess Act was passed. On the 1st of this month the very last toll in Bengal upon either provincial or local roads ceased to exist. But in any case so long as Government is really responsible for the administration, and so long as self government is not a fact of the present, but a dream of the future, the Lieutenant Governor must retain effective control over the application and distribution of these provincial and local cesses.

The HON'BLE MR PRYSTAGE said that, although he laboured under the disadvantage of not having been present at the last meeting of the Council he thought he should not give a silent vote to the amendment or the Bill now under consideration, and in the hope that it might possibly influence the hon'ble mover of the amendment, and other hon'ble members who would in any way limit the powers of the Government, to raise funds for the purposes which were contemplated in this Bill. He thought, he should say, that they need not look far to see that it was most certainly to the interest of the rate payers of the day, as it would be to the advantage of those of the future, that the Bill should become law. He might mention a case, in fact he might say he was intimately acquainted with a case, in which a first class railway had been constructed through a most populous and prosperous district in Bengal. The railway had cost some £20,000 a mile to construct, it had been open for traffic for nearly ten years, and up to the present time there were not only no roads to many of the stations, but in some places the stations could not be approached without committing trespass. It had been frequently represented that, if funds were not forthcoming for the construction of the roads, an effort should be made to take up the necessary land to give a right of way and free access to the stations. If they also looked to the Northern Bengal State Railway, which ran through some 120 miles of the productive district of Runpore, they found that really little or nothing had been done to make roads to the stations on the line. The state of affairs appeared to him to be this. The general tax payers had contributed something like 95 per cent of the outlay necessary to construct first class railways through most important districts, and for want of the remaining 5 per cent required for the construction of roads leading to them, the communication in most cases was still most imperfect.

Then, if they looked to the rich rice producing districts of Badergunge, which the hon'ble member had described as the granary of Bengal, although a first class railway ran direct from this port for 150 miles in the direction of that district, and from the terminus of the railway a first class waterway led down to and served most thoroughly the whole of the district, yet up to the present time, it had received little or no benefit from the great outlay incurred upon the railway and in judging of the cost of improving such water communications, it must be remembered that we had no £20,000 a mile to provide to construct the way. It existed, and cost nothing to construct or maintain, and all that it would be necessary to do would be to incur the trifling outlay of something like £200 a mile to put a most useful line of steamers upon them. He was well acquainted with the working of such steamer services as were required, which, during the past three years, had yielded a return of something like 70 per cent and during the past half year the very handsome return of 15 per cent had been shown. It seemed to him that somewhat fine distinctions had been made in this Council and elsewhere between what was termed imperial revenue and local funds, and, however necessary and proper it might be to maintain such distinction they must, he thought, all agree that, so far as revenue producing powers were concerned Bengal if not the milch cow, was certainly the backbone of India, and in every time came that the imperial revenues had to make good guaranteed interest upon railways, meet expenditure on funerals or any such imperial liabilities they might make sure that Bengal would be burthened the most. It therefore behoved this Council, and more particularly the majority of the hon'ble members who sat on that side of it, to do their utmost to render the great producing province still more productive, and this, he submitted, could best be done by improving its internal communications. He would therefore place ample funds at the disposal of the local Government, and in placing the funds in its hands, he would in no way hamper it in determining the exact manner in which they should be spent. He said again he would place the Government in ample funds, and throw upon it the responsibility of spending them judiciously.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDANT said that, before putting the amendment, he would not follow hon'ble members through all their argument but would say a few words upon the distinction which had been made between Imperial and Local Works. He should like to express his concurrence in a point which had been referred to with considerable force by the Hon'ble Mr Mackenzie, namely the mischief of interfering with the Government in petty details in the drafting of Bills by those who were not thoroughly conversant with the actual working of measures, if these provisions were adopted they would operate injuriously towards the District Committees instead of giving them relief as was intended. The only cases in which the duty of maintaining Provincial works was made over to District Committees was where a road had been one of the great Provincial high roads, and became abandoned by the substitution of some other superior communication in the same direction, the question then sometimes arose whether the road should be allowed to fall to pieces, or should be made over to the Committees of the various districts through which it passed, and be maintained and kept up for local purposes, that was the only case in which a Provincial road had been made over to District Committees. But he would mention one or two roads out of the list given by the Hon'ble Mr Mackenzie, showing how very possibly the necessity for such transfers might happen again. Take for instance the Calcutta and Diamond Harbour Road, or the Ganges and Darjeeling Road. The Diamond Harbour Road was now a Provincial road, but it was the great line of communication between Calcutta and the lower reaches of the river, and for Provincial purposes it was necessary to maintain it. Members were perhaps aware that there was a scheme for making a rail road to Diamond Harbour, and if the Government constructed a railway for Provincial purposes, it would be no longer necessary for it to maintain throughout the district of 24 Pergunnahs an old metalled highway which had ceased to be of any use, except for purely local purposes, and the first thing would be to give up that road. The District Committee would be but too ready to accept a present of a good metalled road, and to have it free of charge only for the cost of maintenance. It would then become one of the most important district roads. Again, there was a project for connecting Khosla and Jessore by a railroad with Calcutta, if that were done, it would not be necessary to keep up the road that passed through Baraset. It would become an ordinary feeder road, and would be used like any other district road.

To enact that the Government should not make over to District Committees any road, the maintenance of which was now a charge on Provincial Revenues, would be not only to hamper the Government, but to prevent its giving over a valuable present to District Committees. Therefore His Honor might say that whatever had been done in this way had been done, not in the interest of the Government, but of the District Funds. So far from Government shifting its proper burden on the District Funds, the Government was every day giving grants from Provincial Funds to Local Funds to help them to open up communications. Take for instance the Nattore road. The Government had given one and a half lakhs towards this particular district road because it was a very important one. There was hardly a road throughout the province of any importance which had not been helped more or less by grants from Provincial Funds, it was a very important and most useful way of employing surplus proceeds of Provincial and Local Funds. Not a single complaint had come to His Honor that the Government had imposed upon District Committees the maintenance of roads the expense of which they should not be called upon to bear, and he therefore thought the amendment before the Council was quite uncalled for.

The motion was then put and negatived.

The Hon'ble KRISHODAS PAL moved the substitution of the words "or sentenced to imprisonment for a criminal offence" for the words "or of any disgraceful conduct" in section 84. He believed hon'ble members would agree with him in thinking that the words "disgraceful conduct" were very vague and indefinite, they might be interpreted in different ways by different persons according to their peculiar idiosyncracies. The object of the section he believed was to shut out from Cess Committees persons who might disgrace themselves by committing offences punishable with imprisonment, and that object would be attained by substituting the words proposed by him, a provision similar to what he proposed obtained in the Calcutta Municipal Act.

The Hon'ble MR DAMPIER remarked that a great deal of what had been said on the previous amendment by the hon'ble member on the right (Mr Mackenzie) applied to the present amendment. The question was whether the exercise of the discretion which the head of the Government would possess under this section was not sufficiently guarded by public opinion and the check of the Supreme Government. If in the exercise of that discretion he considered that any member of a District Committee had done something which rendered him unworthy of remaining on that Committee, the head of the Government should have full authority to turn such member out. MR DAMPIER thought the discretion might fairly, and ought to, be left in the hands of the Government.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said the section as it now stood in the Bill was an absolute encroachment upon the law as it existed in Act X of 1871, which provided that the Lieutenant Governor might for any cause which he might deem sufficient remove any member of the Committee whom he might deem it expedient to remove. That discretion was now limited by the insertion of the words "disgraceful conduct," and he thought it went far enough.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT remarked that this was a matter which might possibly be left to the discretion of the Lieutenant Governor, he could conceive many cases in which a man might be guilty of disgraceful conduct which might make it improper to retain him on a Committee which was entrusted with the administration of large funds, and which might make it disagreeable to the other members to serve with him, but he yet might not have been sentenced to imprisonment for a criminal offence.

The motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE KRISHODAS PAI moved the substitution of "shall" for "may" in section 99, line 1. He was afraid he might be accused again of interfering with the discretion of the Lieutenant Governor. The section provided that the Lieutenant Governor may, upon the recommendation of two thirds of the members voting at any special meeting, remove the Vice Chairman. He submitted that when two thirds of the members voted for the removal of the Vice Chairman, the Lieutenant Governor should consider it his duty to remove such Vice Chairman, for he could no longer command the confidence of the Committee. In such cases BABOO KRISHODAS PAL thought the law ought to be imperative. He wished to state that he would be the last person to interfere with the legitimate discretion of the Government but where a public body was constituted under the law, and certain privileges were conferred upon it, it was but right that they should be duly respected in practice. It was nothing but fair and reasonable that when two thirds of the Committee expressed their want of confidence in their executive head, the Lieutenant Governor should give effect to that vote.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said this was rather a matter for His Honor the President to express an opinion upon, and it would really be a matter of importance if a time came when there should be a struggle such as was going on in France in the elections of Mayors of Communes between the Government and the local bodies. In such a case it would be an enormous power in the hand of the Lieutenant Governor. The Council must first make up its mind as to what it intended, and then express it in words. The local members on his right and left were of opinion that the word "may" in the section was imperative, and if so, Mr Dampier thought it would be necessary to qualify it by the addition of the words "in his discretion."

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said he thought this was a case in which it was only reasonable that the Government should be left with the discretion which it had always exercised. Cases had arisen in which a little local clique which was entirely against the general feeling of the whole district, had formed a party against an officer, the combination might be caused by a temporary misunderstanding, and the misunderstanding might be cleared up, and the Committee be sorry for it the very next day. He had known cases in which things of that sort had happened, therefore it was necessary that power should be given to Government to exercise its discretion as to whether, having the case in all its bearings before it, it should remove the Vice Chairman, or endeavour to arbitrate and conciliate both parties.

The motion was negatived, and the words "in his discretion" inserted after the word "may."

The HON'BLE KRISHODAS PAL moved the omission of sections 100 and 106. His reason for doing so was because these sections had a tendency to multiply expenditure. The works which were ordinarily executed by Road Committees were of a simple nature,—repairs of roads, water communications, and so forth,—the execution of which did not require much professional skill if they were honestly executed the object would be sufficiently attained. The Divisional Superintendent of Works referred to in section 105 would practically occupy the position of a Superintending Engineer of the Public Works Department, he was an officer of very high rank, and from his standing in the service was supposed to possess considerable knowledge and skill in his profession. The question was whether, for the superintendence of such simple works as ordinarily fell within the scope of a Road Cess Engineer's duties, it was necessary that the Committee should employ the services of such a highly paid officer as a Divisional Superintendent. He thought that what was wanted in the mofussil was good road makers and not engineers of high scientific attainments. He believed the Executive Engineers now employed by the Committees were generally competent to look after the works under their charge, and it would be simply a waste of money if they were compelled to employ a high class of officers in the position of Divisional Superintendent of Works.

The HON. BELL MR. MACKENZIE said—'I am lost in astonishment at the hon'ble member's statement that district works are of such a simple and ordinary description that the District Engineers may not only be men of very ordinary calibre, but that they need no looking after. Why, sir, our late departed common friend, Hugh Digambar Mitter, spent years of his life and much of his money in endeavouring to convince both Government and the public that all the evils human health has suffered in Lower Bengal came from bad alignment of our roads and railways. He charged not merely our District Engineers, but the first class talent that designed our trunk railways, with water logging the whole country by ignoring the conditions of its drainage and natural fall. I am quite sure he for one would say that you cannot have your district road making too closely supervised. These sections come to us in fact from the Public Works Department. They are the fruit of sad experience. If all accounts be true, so far from involving a useless increase of expenditure, they will actually effect a saving of public money by ensuring its proper application. The heavy bridge works required in a country like Bengal, and the difficult questions arising in connection with waterway, drainage, and the like, make the district road work anything but a simple matter. These sections are highly important and cannot be abandoned.'

The section was inserted on the recommendation of the Public Works Department. It was found that the construction and maintenance of these roads running across large marshes and waterways in the country required high scientific knowledge and close inspection. It was believed that for the advantage of the districts, and the proper application of money, the District Engineers should be subject to the superior professional supervision and check of Divisional Superintendents. These sections had been introduced in the interests of the tax payers and the benefit of the Road Fund.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that officers of the class contemplated by these sections were appointed last year on representations received from the Local Committees of some of the larger districts. The works executed out of the District Road Fund were not at all of that simple character which the hon'ble member of the amendment seemed to think. Some of the larger Committees had really very important works to construct, large bridges which cost several lakhs of rupees, and roads crossing the drainage of enormous tracts of country, and which were calculated to do irreparable mischief if they were not properly laid down. From no less than four divisions applications had come to employ special officers of the Public Works Department who should relieve the Superintending Engineers of their duty of supervising the works under the charge of the District Committees. As things at present stood, every petty work for which a scheme was prepared had to go before the Superintending Engineer in the Public Works Department, who had also got his own work to do in the regular branch of the service. The result was that some of the Committees had schemes pending for four or five years which were sent backwards and forwards, between the Superintending Engineer and the Committee in consequence of having been unsuitably prepared, merely because the Superintending Engineer had not time to go to the spot and point out where the defect lay and get it remedied at once. There had been roads under construction for a number of years from the inefficiency of the District Engineer and the impossibility of the officer of the Public Works Department going to the spot. It was on the special recommendation of the District Committees that the appointments he had mentioned had been made. But some of the Committees had complained that although they were most anxious to get an officer of this sort, one or two of the smaller Committees in the division withheld their consent and deprived them of the advantage of such an officer. It was on this account that this provision was inserted. Where a Divisional Superintendent was appointed, it was found that the waste of money from bad engineering had ceased, and great saving and advantage to the districts concerned had resulted.

The motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE KRISHODAS PAI moved the omission of the following words at the end of paragraph 2 of section 121 —

'Unless such rate shall in his opinion be insufficient to provide for the proper maintenance of such works as are contained in the statement prepared under section 110 or 112'—

and to substitute the following in lieu of paragraph 3 —

If it shall appear to the Lieutenant Governor that the proceeds of the cess at the rate so determined will not suffice for the purpose of maintenance of such works as are contained in the statement prepared under section 110 or 112 the Lieutenant Governor may order the suspension of new works or such portion of new works as he may consider necessary in order to provide for the due maintenance of works already in existence.

The object of the section was to give power to the Lieutenant Governor to raise the rate to the maximum under certain circumstances although a lower rate might be recommended by the Road Cess Committee. The power of the Lieutenant Governor in such cases was limited. It was provided that the Lieutenant Governor might increase the rate where sufficient provision had not been made for the proper maintenance of the works contained in the statement prepared under section 110 or 112. It was certainly the first duty of the Committee to maintain the works they had undertaken to maintain, and if due provision had not been made, the head of the Government should insist on proper provision being made for such maintenance. Practically no Cess Committee would be so thoughtless as not to provide for the proper maintenance of the works in their charge, but if they should be so self forgetful as not to make due provision for the maintenance of the works, power should be given to the Lieutenant Governor to require the Committee to omit certain new works in order to provide for the proper maintenance of works already executed, instead of giving him a power to raise the rate. He hoped that in proposing this amendment he would not be accused of interfering with the discretion of the Lieutenant Governor. The Road Cess Committees being charged with the administration of the fund were the proper parties to decide what rate should be fixed for the levy of the cess, but if they from oversight or neglect of duty omitted to provide for the maintenance of existing works, it should be in the discretion of the Lieutenant Governor to insist upon their proper maintenance.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said—"The proposal that the Lieutenant Governor shall not be at liberty to compel the Committee to raise a sufficient sum to maintain the works entered in its own general district scheme of roads, unless he can effect this by suspending new works entered in their annual estimates, is again one that ought not, I think, to be accepted. Apart from the fact that the Committee may be supposed not to have entered new works in their estimates unless they were really required, and that the maintenance of existing works is a primary duty that they should under no circumstances be able to evade, I feel bound to object, upon the principle already enunciated, to the further attempt to withdraw from the Lieutenant Governor a discretion which he has felt it necessary to claim. The hon'ble member has depicted that argument, but it is one that must be urged all the same. I have already troubled the Council at some length with certain views upon the theory of Government and local taxation in India. Those views apply exactly, and with special force, in the present case. The local agencies in charge of the funds raised by taxation, whether Collectors or Committees, are as yet only ministers on behalf of the supreme authority.

A Bengal district is a vast tract of country with an enormous and often heterogeneous population. The members of the Road Committee have no such direct and pressing interest in the administration of the funds as the Municipal Commissioners have in the case of Town Funds. Each of them probably knows only a small portion of the area affected, and pays but an insignificant fraction of the total cost. He is personally unknown to the vast majority of the tax payers, and feels no sort of personal responsibility to them in detail. Hence the Government, through its officers, must retain a very potential influence in the administration of the fund. I consider myself that the Cess Act, as it now stands, goes to the very verge of what is prudent in this delegation of control. Samples of the result are given in the paper circulated regarding the appointment of engineers. It is admitted that in that particular the Government must recall a part of the authority delegated. I am certainly not myself in favour of extending it in other directions, and I think in this matter of works the Bill still leaves far too wide a discretion to the local Committees. That, however, is not the view that the Government desires to take at present. It consents to carry on the experiment very much on the existing lines, but it must retain a power of deciding as between provincial and district works, and it must be in a position to compel this local agency to do its duty in case of recusancy. I know as a fact that these powers are sometimes necessary, and that District Committees can do very foolish and wrong-headed things when the humour favours them. I cannot too often repeat that misadministration of the District Road Funds must in the end lie at the door of the Government itself, and no pretty phrases about local self government and the like will serve to relieve the Lieutenant Governor of his personal responsibility in this matter. The local Government cannot, I submit with deference, afford to be led away by uncal and specious arguments of a general kind, such as are commonly ventilated by irresponsible European advisers and are caught up so readily by native publicists out here, but which do not bear analysis, and are in the mouths of most who use them—mere empty phrases echoed from the commonplace of an entirely different state of society. Government must retain power sufficient to protect the interests of the State and the people at large. It must be in a position to compel the proper expenditure of these funds, and especially the proper maintenance of recognized district works. It insists upon very little when it only insists on that last point, and leaves the Committees to start new works at their own free will."

The motion was negatived.

The HON'BLE MR DAMIER would ask the Council to go back to the amendment in section 19, the consideration of which was postponed. As he explained last time, the old section 19 cut up into two sections—19 and 19A—and the amendment of the hon'ble member was to omit section 19. The substance of the present amendment was that the disability which was imposed in the existing Act on holders of estates who failed to file in returns within the time required by the notice should be withdrawn. It had been said that the power of imposing a duly fine was sufficient, and Mr DAMIER had promised to make certain inquiries. He had made inquiries from about thirty officers, and he was bound to say there was a wide divergence of opinion on the subject. Fines had been very largely imposed, but something like ten per cent only were levied, all the rest were remitted when the returns were filed. Considering that was the first time such returns were called for he was not prepared to say that the returns were not filed with fair punctuality, they were required within three months and were filed within six. There were one or two gentlemen who were refractory, they appealed against the fines imposed, instead of filing their returns and it was for such cases that this extra penalty was necessary. Many officers said they had no doubt the effect of this disability hanging in terrorem over landholders was the cause of punctuality, others thought it might be dispensed with. That being the state of the case, MR DAMIER would say factum valet and retain the provision imposing the disability. It would hurt no one who did not intentionally and perversely disobey the law.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAI then withdrew the amendment to omit section 19, which he moved at the last meeting.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAI moved the omission of the words "and on payment of such fee as the Board of Revenue shall from time to time determine" in lines 2 to 1, paragraph 2, of section 31. The question of exempting applications under this section from the payment of a fee was considered in Committee, and he there gave notice of this motion.

The HON'BLE MR DAMIER said the question involved in this amendment was this, when a man made a return was he entitled to have a copy of the return and valuation given to him without paying even the fee for copying it? He thought it was fair that the applicant should pay for the work done in making a copy

The amendment was by leave withdrawn, and the word "copying" inserted before the word "fee"

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL withdrew the amendment of which he had given notice, to add to the last paragraph of section 101 the words "subject to an appeal to the Lieutenant Governor whose decision shall be final" This section, he said, referred to the suspension or dismissal of District Engineers Under section 102 common clerks, when suspended or dismissed by the Committee, were allowed to appeal to the Commissioner, and it was very desirable that a high officer of the rank of District Engineer should not be liable to be summarily suspended or removed by the Road Cess Committee He found, however, that the hon'ble mover of the Bill, by the amendment of which he had given notice, proposed to withdraw this power from the Committee altogether, and to provide that the Engineer should be suspended or removed only by the order of the Lieutenant Governor If the hon'ble mover thought such a course necessary, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL had no objection to offer to it, and would withdraw his amendment

The amendment was then by leave withdrawn, and on the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "or the Committee" were omitted from line 3 of the last clause of the section

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER clause (2) of the definition of "estate" in section 4 was omitted, and the following definition was added to the section —

'Year means the cess year as determined by the Lieutenant Governor under section 11 of this Act

In section 5 a verbal amendment was made on the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER, in accordance with the exclusion of guaranteed railways from the tax

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words 'under the rules laid down in this Part,' were inserted after "cess" in clause 2, line 2, of section 34, with the object of declaring the procedure to be used in valuing and assessing estates which were found out or had come into existence by alluvion after the valuation and assessments had been completed

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER, the following proviso was added to section 39 to meet the case of estates in which, according to custom (as in Backergungo), rents were not payable till the end of the year —

'Provided that in cases in which according to local usage or to the terms of any agreement no part of such rent falls due before the end of the year on account of which it is payable the tenure holder or ryot shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in two equal instalments upon such days as shall be for that purpose appointed by any order of the Lieutenant Governor

In section 39 several amendments in the wording were made on the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER, so as to meet the case both of estates in which the revenue was payable by instalments, as well as of small estates where there were no instalments

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said, under section 44 of the Bill a recorded shareholder in the land revenue register, on paying more than the proper proportion of cess on his share, might ask the Collector for a Certificate for recovering the excess from the other shareholders It had been pointed out to Mr Dampier that the provision, though at first sight so desirable, was open to objection, because, for instance, there might be four shareholders registered as having equal joint shares but when the estate came to be valued, it might be found that there had been a division of land by metes and bounds as a private arrangement among the shareholders, and that, according to this private partition, the value of the lands actually held by A was very much higher than the value of the lands held by B, C, or D, thus the proportion of the cess payable by A, B, C, and D respectively would not always be in proportion to the shares recorded in the register To meet such cases he moved the addition to the section of the following proviso —

"Provided also that if any person against whom such certificate has been made shall object that the amount of the cesses for the recovery of which the certificate has been made is greater than the amount which the applicant for the certificate would recover from such person in a civil court, as being equitably payable in respect of such person's share or interest in the estate or tenure, and if in the opinion of the Collector there is probable ground for such objection the Collector may if he see fit, cancel such certificate, and leave the applicant to his remedy in the civil court."

The motion was agreed to

The words "may if he think fit" were substituted for "shall" in line 1, clause 2, of the same section

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said his next amendment arose out of the amendment proposed at the last meeting of the Council by his friend opposite (Syed Ameer Hossein) As section 47 stood, if a holder of rent free land did not pay his cess on due date, there was a very heavy penalty imposed, namely, the payment of the whole sum due, plus a sum equal to twice the amount of the cess, that is to say, three times the amount with costs He thought, on mature reflection, that that was too severe a penalty, and therefore he proposed to alter section 47, so as to render the defaulter liable to pay only twice the amount of cess due with interest at the rate of 12 per cent and costs He therefore moved to omit the words from "in addition to" in line 8 to the end of section 47, and the substitution of the following —

"A sum equal to double the amount of such instalment due to him under sections 46D and 46E with interest on such sum calculated at the rate of 12 per centum per annum from the date on which such instalment was payable and with all costs of suit.

The motion was agreed to

And the following proviso was added to the section —

'Provided that such holder shall have paid to the Collector all sums due to such collector in respect of road cess and public works cess and not otherwise

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER, the following sections were substituted for section 48B —

46B The provisions of sections 46E and 47 shall be applicable to every amount which as provided in section 46D may become payable by the owner and holder of any such rent-free land to the holder of any such estate or tenure after the fulfilment of the requirements in sections 46A, 46B, and 46C contained

48b The provisions of section 47 shall not be applicable to any such amount which may have become so payable under the provisions of Bengal Act X of 1871 or of this Act before the fulfilment of the requirements of the said sections 46A, 46B and 46C but when any instalment of cess which may have become payable before the fulfilment of such requirements has not been paid to the holder of such estate or tenure on the date on which such instalment was payable, the holder of such estate or tenure may recover the amount of such instalment together with interest at the rate of 12 per centum per annum on such amount and with all costs of suit

Provided that no holder of an estate or tenure shall recover any amount under the provisions of this section unless he has paid to the Collector all sums which became payable by him to such Collector on account of road cess and public works cess at any date within the year in which the amount sought to be recovered became payable to such holder of an estate or tenure

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved the omission of sections 51 and 51A, and the substitution for them of the following sections —

51 Notwithstanding anything in this Chapter contained the Collector may at any time cause a notice as mentioned in section 16 to be served on the holder of any rent free land which he shall consider not to have been entered in the return of any estate or tenure in which such land should have been included under the provisions of section 46 Such notice shall require the holder of such land to lodge at the office of the said Collector a return in the form in schedule A contained in respect of such land

and on service of such notice the provisions of this Chapter shall no longer apply to such lands but the same consequences shall ensue, and the same liabilities shall attach to the holder of such land as would have ensued and would have attached if such lands had constituted a revenue free estate

51A If within one year of the commencement of this Act no notice has been served on the holder of any rent free land as mentioned in section 51 requiring him to lodge a return in the office of the Collector, and if such land has not been included in any extracts from returns of estates and tenures published by the Collector under section 46A or other similar section, the holder of such rent free land shall be bound within one month of the expiration of such year to give information of such omission to the Collector together with a description of the said land its area, and the amount of rent payable to him thereupon

51B On receipt of such information whether within the time prescribed or after the expiration thereof, the Collector may, by an order in writing require such owner or holder to make a return of his land in the form in schedule A contained or, if the gross rental of such land does not exceed one hundred rupees may order that such land shall be summarily valued under section 24 or section 25, and may proceed to make such valuation

Such orders shall have the same effect and be followed by the same consequences as the issue of a notice by the Collector under section 51.

51C As soon as any rent free land has been valued by the Collector after the issue of a notice as provided in section 51 or after an order made under section 51B, the holder of such land shall become liable to pay to the Collector the road cess and the public works cess due on such land in accordance with such valuation for the three years last preceding such valuation, at the full rates at which such cesses were respectively levied for each such year in the district generally with interest calculated at twelve per centum per annum on each instalment from the date on which such instalment would have been payable if the land had been so valued at the last valuation of the district or part of a district.

Provided that no such fine shall be imposed by the Collector for such omission on any holder of rent free land who at any time after the expiration of the time prescribed shall of his own motion and otherwise than after the issue of any notice by the Collector in respect of his lands give such information to the Collector.

51E No owner or holder of rent-free land on whom a notice has been served by the Collector under section 51, or in respect of whose land an order has been made by the Collector under section 51B shall be liable to have the land to which such notice or order refers included in any return of an estate or tenure or to pay any amount as road cess or public works cess otherwise than to the Collector or to some person appointed by him in that behalf unless on a revaluation of any estate or tenure being made, the Collector shall by an order direct that for the future such land shall be included within such estate or tenure for the purposes of this Act.

and upon such order being made the provisions of this Chapter in so far as they are applicable, shall apply to the assessment and payment of road cess and public works cess in respect of such land.

These, MR DAMPIER said, were very important sections. The sections 51 and 51A, as they now stood in the Bill, provided that if a rent free holder's land had not been included in any zemindar's return, if no notice came to him that his land was so included, he was bound to ascertain whether he was so included or not. The hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Peary Mohun Mookerjee) then objected that zemindars did not like to have their lakhiraj holders coming in and looking into their returns, and he had favored MR DAMPIER with a draft section embodying the zemindar's view of the matter. That had been one of the nuclei out of which these new sections arose. There was another nucleus among the suggestions submitted by a Deputy Commissioner in Chota Nagpore. The Deputy Commissioner had come accidentally upon a lakhiraj tenure in the Chota Nagpore estate, which the manager of that estate had omitted to enter in his returns, and this tenure consisted not of little fields and plots, but of several villages. But having discovered these rent free lands, the Deputy Commissioner found that under the law as it stood he had no authority to value and levy cess on them. To meet this difficulty, MR DAMPIER had provided that if the Collector thought proper he might at any time issue notice on the holders of lakhiraj lands calling upon them to come in and be taxed, and from the moment the notice was issued, the lakhirajdar would be treated in all respects as a holder of a revenue free registered estate, his connection with the zemindar would be altogether cut off for the purposes of the Act.

The new sections further provided that if the holder of any rent free land escaped both the zemindar's and the Collector's notice, that is, if within one year of the commencement of the Act no notice had been served on him by the Collector to come in and be taxed independently of the zemindar, and if no extracts from returns had been published in his village shewing that his lands had been included in the zemindar's returns, then the lakhirajdar was required himself to come in to the Collector and say "tax me." The Collector might then call upon him to make a return in regular form, or if it was a small estate, he might value it summarily. The great difficulty in these sections had been in some way to meet the wishes of the zemindars. They said that the sections now in the Bill would have the effect of stirring up litigation between the pseudo rent-free holder and the zemindar. MR DAMPIER hoped these sections would obviate the objection which had been taken.

The HON'BLE PEARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said the sections which it was proposed to replace by the sections now submitted did not provide for the case in which a person calling himself a lakhirajdar applied to the Collector for permission to file a return and pay cess upon land in respect of which the zemindar had already made a return as his rent paying land. That was a point upon which it was very difficult to legislate without bringing the lakhirajdar and the zemindar into collision in innumerable cases. He thought the sections now proposed were under the circumstances satisfactory both to the zemindar and to the lakhirajdar, and would therefore withdraw the amendment which he had proposed at the last meeting of the Council.

The sections were then agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "and not being one of the tramways or railways mentioned in section 8" were inserted after "Chapter II" in line 8 of section 52.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following section was inserted after section 81 —

With the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor the Committee may from time to time undertake to guarantee the annual payment from the District Road Fund of such sums as they shall think fit as interest on capital expended on any works which may directly improve the means of communication within the district or between the district and other districts.

In section 115A a verbal amendment was made on the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "or by the Chairman or Vice Chairman for sums above that amount" at the end of the first sentence of section 136 were omitted, and the following clause inserted —

Cheques for sums exceeding one hundred rupees shall be signed by the Chairman and the Vice Chairman. When the Vice Chairman is absent or from any cause incapacitated from signing such cheques shall be signed by any ex officio member of the Committee other than the Chairman for such Vice Chairman.

In section 145 the words "and Branch Committees" were inserted after "Committees" in line 3, clause 2.

DRAINAGE AND IMPROVEMENT OF LANDS

THE HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the drainage and improvement of lands be taken into consideration, in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and the clauses were considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Committee. The alterations made in the Bill were, he said, fully set out in the report, and he would only notice some prominent points.

The Committee had inserted a section empowering the Lieutenant Governor to direct that the powers and functions of the Commissioners should cease when he was satisfied that the objects of their appointment had been fulfilled. Under the Dhankoni Drainage Act, the Commissioners had to make an apportionment immediately the works were done, and became functi officio as soon as the apportionment was finished, but in consequence of what had passed in connection with the scheme, the Committee thought it necessary to allow the Commissioners an opportunity of watching results for three years after the works were completed before proceeding to apportion the cost of the works, necessarily, therefore, their existence and powers must continue till all was complete.

Section 24 laid down the procedure by which persons whose property had become deteriorated, instead of having benefited by the works, might claim compensation.

The most material alteration made was in section 28. As he had already stated, according to the Dhankoni scheme, as soon as the work was executed, the Commissioners were required to apportion the cost according to the benefit derived by the owners of the land, but in the course of the years which had elapsed, it was found that in a few cases instead of benefit being derived, injury had been done to some lands, and others had been assessed in a higher proportion than the benefit derived. The Dhankoni Act, however, had made no provision for the correction or revision of the apportionment once made by the Committee.

The Select Committee on this Bill had come to the conclusion that no reasonable apportionment of the expenses could be made until at least three years' experience had been acquired of the effect of the works. With the consent of the Government therefore they had provided that the regular apportionment should not be made until three years had elapsed from the completion of the works. During those three years the Commissioners were to do all in their power to watch the land and to make themselves acquainted with such facts as might be useful in making the final apportionment. But they had thought proper that the payment of interest to Government on the capital expended should not be deferred for these three years and had therefore provided that, as soon as the work was completed, there should be a very rough apportionment to be paid only by the landholders, not for the repayment of any portion of the capital, but to meet the charge on account of interest during that time, the landowners would pay the interest year by year, and at the end of three years the regular apportionment and adjustment would be made. Landholders could recover nothing during those three years, but the amount of interest was so small that the Select Committee considered that the payment would not give cause for reasonable complaint to the landholders. That was the main change made in the Bill.

In sections 42 and 43 the Committee provided that every landholder who paid the sum charged upon him may recoup the amount, either by enhancing the rent of tenants whose lands had been improved, or by recovering from them the sum paid by him together with interest at 5 per cent. the tenant having the option of paying in either of those modes. To section 48 two clauses had been added, providing that the surplus profits vested in the Collector should be appropriated to the liquidation of the instalments, and giving power to capitalize the cost of maintenance and levy the same as the original cost of the works.

Under the Dhankoni scheme there had been a dead lock in the recovery of the sum advanced by the Government, there were certain technical and legal difficulties arising out of the wording of the Act, and to meet these difficulties Chapter VII of the Bill had been introduced. It contained special provisions for the Dhankoni scheme, and specified the portions of the Bill which should be applicable to works carried out under that scheme, and empowered the Lieutenant Governor to direct a revision of the apportionment of the cost of any scheme or works carried out under Act V of 1871, if he thought fit so to direct. MR DAMPILR did not think it necessary to make any further observations.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPILR moved to insert the words "whether antecedent or subsequent to the preparation of the scheme and plans" after "valuations" in line 8 of section 85. It had been suggested to him that, as the section stood, the cost of valuation and survey made before the scheme was passed by the Lieutenant Governor would not be recoverable under the Act.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 37 was passed with a verbal amendment.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPILR moved to insert the following section after section 19 —

"After receipt of such sanction the Commissioners shall cause inspection to be made of the lands about to be affected by the scheme and works to be executed in pursuance thereof, and shall cause a record to be made of their opinion of the value of such land as seen by them before the execution of the works."

This was the result of a suggestion made by the Government in the Public Works Department. It was thought there might be some difficulty afterwards if the apportionment did not take place for three years. The lands might be allowed temporarily to deteriorate for the purpose of getting a light assessment.

The HON'BLE PARI MOHUN MOOKERJEE said this section imposed a duty on the Commissioners which, he submitted, they would be wholly unable to discharge. In the Dhankoni scheme the lands benefited and reclaimed were more than 30,000 bighas, and the Committee of native gentlemen could not be expected to inspect so large, or perhaps larger, areas of land, and to note the condition of these lands for the purpose of apportionment at the end of three years. It would be a different thing if some Government officer were specially to make a rough classification of the land before the work was commenced.

A provision to that effect would, he thought, be an improvement on the present Bill, but a section like the one proposed, which would throw the work on the Drainage Commissioners, would be to impose a duty which they would not perform, and would find it almost impossible to perform.

After some conversation the motion was by leave withdrawn.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following section was inserted after section 50 —

50A Wherever any land as mentioned in the preceding section shall be deemed to form a tenure or under tenure held immediately from a landholder as therein provided, every sum payable to the landholder in respect of such land in any one year shall be payable in two equal instalments on such dates as the Commissioner of the Division may fix. Such Commissioner shall cause due notice to be given in the villages concerned of the dates so fixed by him.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following section was introduced after section 52 —

52A The Lieutenant Governor may by an order in writing direct that any portion of a scheme adopted and ordered to be executed under this Act shall for the purposes of this Act or for any such purposes be deemed to be a separate scheme.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "and of the Board of Revenue" at the end of section 51 were omitted. It was not necessary to mention "the Board of Revenue". The Board had an inherent power of controlling and supervising Commissioners and Collectors in the discharge of their revenue duties, and nothing more was required for the purposes of this Act.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following section was inserted after section 55 —

55A The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time make rules to regulate the following matters —

- (a) the proceedings of any officer who under any provision of this Act is required or empowered to take action in any matter
- (b) the person by whom the time place or manner at or in which anything for the doing of which provision is made in this Act shall be done
- (c) and generally to carry out the provisions of this Act.

The Lieutenant Governor may from time to time alter or cancel any rules so made.

PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY BILL

THE HON'BLE MR FIELD moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Law for the Recovery of certain Public Demands be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee. The Report of the Committee was in the hands of hon'ble members, and they had doubtless observed that very few radical changes had been made in the bill. He would content himself by referring to three or four of the most important points, in which any alteration had been made.

In the second paragraph of the Report the Committee said they had struck out the words which gave the Bill operation within the local limits of the ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal. After the Committee had come to a resolution on that point, circumstances arose which led to a reconsideration of the matter, and there is an amendment now before the Council which if passed, will have the effect of restoring the Bill to the state in which it was introduced.

The next point is the change made in what he would now call a Certificate of the first class. It will be in the recollection of members that, when the Bill was introduced, Certificates were classified under two heads. The first head included Certificates made for arrears of public revenue, that is, where there is a balance due after the sale of the estate, and Certificates made for arrears of revenue due from farmers. In respect of these two classes of arrears, what was then termed a Certificate Absolute was proposed to be made, that is to say, a Certificate which should have to all intents and purposes the force of a final decree of the Civil Court. In the margin of the Bill MR FIELD had however, pointed out an old Regulation of the Bengal Code which had, in all probability, been overlooked when the Act of 1868 was before the Council.

The effect of that Regulation was that if a person were called upon by the Collector to pay a sum of public revenue, and at the time made an objection in writing and then paid the amount, such person could afterwards bring a suit in the Civil Court to contest his liability. It appeared to the Select Committee desirable to bring that Regulation within the purview of the Bill. The Committee have accordingly done so, and the right which the Regulation gave of contesting the liability to pay has been left intact, but the provision that the amount must first be paid up has been retained. Certificates of this class would no longer be Certificates Absolute and the Committee therefore struck out the term "absolute." The result is to leave the law as it was before, only that this law is now contained in one Act, instead of being as it was before to be sought for in an Act and a section of an old Regulation.

The next point is the application of the provisions of the Bill to the recovery of arrears of rent in wards' estates. This matter has been carefully considered in Select Committee, and the result has been to leave the provisions of the Bill as drafted, but the Bill as it stands includes a number of safeguards for the exercise of these provisions, which, it is hoped, will prevent the occurrence of any abuse. These safeguards have been set out at length in the report of the Select Committee. In the first place, the Manager is held directly responsible. The Certificate will be made by the Collector, but it will be made not on the Collector's responsibility, but on the responsibility of the Manager himself. The Collector is not bound to make the Certificate in all cases. Under the law as it now exists he is bound, but it has been thought desirable to alter this, and it will now be in the power of the Collector to exercise his own discretion, he may make an enquiry and then either make or refuse to make the Certificate. Then, if the Manager procures the making of a Certificate for money actually paid, and proceedings are taken on that Certificate to the detriment of the person affected by it, the Manager will be personally liable in an action to the person injured. The Select Committee have thought it fit to maintain the protection given by the Bill to the Collector and other public officers acting under the provisions of the Bill, but this protection has not been extended to Managers of Wards' estates. In the next place the notice which the Manager sends to the Collector, and on the receipt of which the Collector makes a certificate is required by the Bill as amended to be verified as a plaint under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure. MR FIELD had observed on the last occasion that the public revenue would suffer, if rents in Wards' estates were realized under this particular procedure instead of under the former procedure of the Civil Courts. That difficulty has now been obviated by requiring notices sent by the Manager to bear the same amount of stamp duty that a plaint for the same amount of rent would bear, if instituted in the Civil Court. In the next place, in this particular class of Certificates, the judgment debtor will not be the Secretary of State, but the private individual on behalf of whom the estate is managed, and when this private individual is a minor or lunatic, according to the general procedure in this matter, such minor or lunatic will be represented by his next friend. Should there be an action for damages, these damages will therefore fall not on the Government, but on the private individual on behalf of whom the certificate was made. The only other provision to which MR FIELD desired to allude in connection with this subject was, that the Select Committee had given the Collector, in those classes of demands in which the Government alone is concerned, the power to attach movable property, while they had given no such power to a Manager sending a notice and having a Certificate made for realization of rent.

The last point to which MR FIELD would call attention is in connection with section 20. For the matter of this section he was indebted to a suggestion made to him by his learned friend, the Advocate General. The law as it stands is this. When movable property is sold in execution of a decree, if that sale is confirmed by the Civil Court, it remains a good and valid sale, and cannot be set aside even though the decree under which the sale was made be afterwards reversed by an Appellate Court. That is the general rule. It is subject to this qualification that, if the Court which passed the decree were acting entirely without jurisdiction, the sale like everything else done under the decree, will be void, but in other cases, as, for example, where the decree is reversed on the merits in the Appellate Court, the sale holds good, and the person who may have lost property possessing a special value for him is absolutely without redress. The section provides that, where a Certificate is set aside by a Civil Court, the Court may also set aside any sale made in execution of the Certificate. The principle here adopted already exists in the old Regulation Law. When a pains sale is set aside by the Civil Court, the Court has power to direct a refund of the purchase money and to restore the parties in all respects to the status in quo ante.

With these remarks MR FILLD moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR FILLD said that the Bill, as it originally stood, extended to Calcutta, but the Select Committee decided to exempt Calcutta from its operation. From inquiries which had since been made it was found desirable to revert to the original draft, and accordingly he moved to insert in the first clause of section 1 the following —

Notwithstanding anything contained in section 2'

In section 2 it is provided that the Act is to be read with Act XI of 1859, and that Act itself contains an Extent Clause (section 62) which enacts as follows: "The operation of this Act shall be confined to such parts of the Lower Provinces in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal as are or shall be subject to the general Regulations of that Presidency." The general Regulations do not extend to Calcutta, and it was quite possible that the question may be raised whether the result of reading this Bill and Act XI of 1859 together would not be that the Bill would be held to extend only to the parts of the province outside the limits of Calcutta. It was to obviate this difficulty that the amendment is proposed.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR FILLD moved to insert the words "in Act VIII of 1862, section 9," after the words "that is to say" in clause 3 of section 7, and also that in the first schedule the following words and figures be inserted before "VII of 1868" —

VIII of 1862 An Act to improve the system of Zemindari Daks in the Provinces subject to the Government of Bengal	In Section 9 the words from and including which said double amount to and including making default
---	---

The effect of these amendments would be simply this: Bengal Act VIII of 1862 is an Act relating to Zemindari Dak charges. Under section 9 of that Act these charges may be realized by a distrant warrant of the Magistrate. It was thought advisable to alter this, and bring these demands within the provisions of the Bill.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE MR FILLD moved that the following words be added to the same clause — or in the following sections and portion of the following Act passed by the Governor General in Council that is to say in Act VII of 1870, The Court Fees Act, sections 10F, 19H and the note to paragraph 12 of Schedule I.

He was indebted for this suggestion to his friend, the Legal Remembrancer. Under the Court Fees Act, 1870, a duty was for the first time imposed on probates and letters of administration. That Act was amended by Act XIII of 1875, by which provision as follows was made by section 19G of the Court Fees Act: "Where too low a court fee has been paid on any probate or letters of administration in consequence of any mistake, or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased," &c, and the section provided for making up any deficiency which had not existed in the first instance. For levying the deficiency afterwards, if the parties refuse or fail to pay, there is no provision as the law now stands. It had occurred in the course of his judicial experience that a probate fee of some Rs. 3,000 odd was due to Government in a particular case, and he found some difficulty in getting the person who ought to pay that duty to pay it.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAL moved that clause 7, section 7, be omitted, and that the sections of the Bill bearing upon the subject matter of this clause be amended accordingly. The question involved in this clause was raised at the time the Bill was read in Council, and it was also very widely discussed in argument that the Collector was not so closely connected with the demand and levy of rents in wards' estates as in Government estates, now shifted their ground, and argued that he was so closely connected with the former that he could not be trusted to be the judge as to whether the rents were really due. That would be to make him a judge in his own case. His personal interest was, forsooth, that his official character depended on the punctual collection of these rents. But in this respect how could any possible distinction be drawn between wards' estates and estates the property of Government?

It was true that the official character of a Collector depended on his good administration of his district, but certainly arbitrary injustice or harshness in the collection of rents was not such administration as would be for his credit.

The next objection was that taken by the British Indian Association, it was the least liberal, the least generous, the least worthy of that Association which Mr DAMPIER had ever seen urged. They said because the great body of rent receivers in the country were in difficulty as to the collection of rents, and could not recover their rents as easily as it was admitted they ought to be able to do, therefore it was "unfair" to give wards' estates an advantage. But what was meant by "unfair?" Was any competition going on between wards' estates and zemindars' private estates? If you gave one an advantage, was it a disadvantage to the other? It was admitted on all hands that the rent receivers of the country were in difficulty, it was admitted that it was a blot in the administration that the Government was not able to place them in an easier position for recovering their rents. There were insuperable obstacles in the case of private individuals, which did not exist in the case of estates under the management of a Court of Wards' Manager in subordination to the Collector. Why then grudge to the Government, in its management of wards' estates, facilities which it was admittedly desirable to give to all landlords in dealing with their tenants if the obstacles could only be removed, as they were removed, in the case of wards' estates.

Mr DAMPIER would only ask the Council now to consider what it was for which the administration were asking. They were asked to give facilities for the collection of rent, and it was admitted on all hands that such facilities were desirable for all landlords.

They were asked to let the Revenue officers determine summarily whether rents were due or not. Why, in the neighbouring provinces, in the North West, the Revenue officers were the constituted judges for the decision of all rent suits. A few years ago the Revenue officers decided rent suits throughout Lower Bengal, and in some parts of the province were still deciding them. Therefore, in asking that the Revenue officers be allowed to be the judges for this purpose in wards' estates, nothing was asked which did violence to one's sense of the general fitness of things.

The Council was asked to allow the Collector to have summary powers, which could be done in this particular case with safety, as an officer in the position of Collector had ample means of knowing that the demand was just, and moreover the person on whom the demand was made had one month allowed to him to come in and state his objections, then, if that should not be enough, within the space of one year the tenant was allowed to dispute the claim in the Civil Court. Mr DAMPIER thought those precautions sufficient. This principle of allowing the Collector to recover rents in wards' estates without antecedent decree, which was allowed in Government estates, had been in force for years, and he would remind hon'ble members who voted last year on the Wards' Bill of the vote they gave. The Council then deliberately allowed this summary procedure to be used in Wards' estates. Hon'ble members would scarcely say seriously that the Council then contemplated that the procedure should only be used in estates which were managed directly by the Collector without the intervention of a manager, there were not two cases in Bengal where there was no manager, so it was impossible for the Council to have meant last year, when it passed the section of the Wards' Act in such general terms, that the summary procedure should only be used where estates were managed directly by the Collector. Why then did hon'ble members propose now to change their front? Was it that any new theoretical argument had been advanced against the measure, which was not then patent? No. Was it that instances had been cited showing that the measure in its working had falsified expectations? No. Then was it possible that hon'ble members had changed their minds without the slightest reason for so doing? To this question he must leave them to give an answer

The Council then divided—

So the motion was negatived

The HON'BLE MR FIELD moved that in the 1st Schedule the following words and figures be inserted after "VII of 1878" —

IX of 1879

An Act to amend the law relating to the Court of Wards

It having been decided to extend the Certificate procedure to the realization of rents in wards' estates, this amendment proposed to repeal section 63 of the Court of Wards' Act, and to add the following proviso

' Provided that this clause shall not apply to any arrears of rent at an enhanced rate unless such enhanced rate has been agreed to by the person liable to pay the same or has been confirmed by a competent Court

The motion was agreed to

The HON'BLE MR FIELD moved that the definition of 'Collector' in section 2 as it stood in the original draft of the Bill be restored This was necessitated in consequence of the result of the first amendment, which restores the operation of the Bill to Calcutta

The motion was agreed to

The HON'BLE MR FIELD moved that the following proviso be added to clause (b), section 8

Provided that no Certificate duly made under the provisions of this Act shall be cancelled by a Civil Court otherwise than on one or more of the following grounds that is to say—

- (1) that the amount stated in the Certificate was actually paid or discharged before the making of such Certificate
- (2) in the case of fines imposed or costs charges expenses damages, duties or fees adjudged by a Collector or a Public Officer under the provisions of any Regulation or Act for the time being in force—that the proceedings of such Collector or Public Officer were not in substantial conformity with the provisions of such Regulation or Act and that in consequence the judgment debtor under the Certificate was prejudiced by some error, defect or irregularity in such proceedings
- (3) in cases other than those mentioned in clause (2)—that the amount stated in the Certificate was not due by the judgment debtor under the Certificate
- (4) want of jurisdiction'

Nothing in this proviso shall be construed to interfere with the ordinary original jurisdiction of the High Court at Fort William in Bengal or with the jurisdiction of the Calcutta Court of Small Causes

There are two classes of Certificates under the Bill The first class includes Certificates made for arrears of revenue balances remaining over after the sale of the estate in default, and Certificates made for arrears of land revenue due from farmers The Council has already disposed of this first class of cases They come now to a much larger class included in section 7 of the Bill when he moved that the Bill be read in Council, he pointed out that the Act of 1868, though it did not in express words give to individuals, who considered themselves injured by the making of a Certificate, a right of action in the Civil Court, yet the wording of the Act was such as to give this right of action indirectly It is effected in this way A Certificate of the second class is declared to have the force and effect of a decree of the Civil Court, but only as regards the execution thereof, and the legal effect of these words is that a suit might be brought in the Civil Court to contest the Certificate on its merits In drafting the present Bill Mr Field thought, and the Select Committee had since agreed with him, that it was

Select Committee While admitting that the safeguards introduced would tend to greatly mitigate the evils apprehended, he must confess that the principle involved was not affected by these safeguards. The principle was this: Whether arrears of rent due to a ward's estate should be recovered under a summary procedure, when arrears of rent due to other private estates were recoverable only by a regular suit in the Civil Court. It was argued that private individuals were not amenable to all those wholesome influences to which a public officer was subject, and that therefore a summary procedure which might be considered justifiable for a public officer might not be considered equally justifiable for a private individual. Hence it was held that for the easy and expeditious recovery of rent the circumstance that wards' estates were managed by public officers ought to have due weight in providing for a special procedure. But it was well known to the members of the Council that it was not the Collectors who directly managed wards' estates, but Managers under the Collectors, and although these Managers were subject to official control and might be also subject to the penalties of the law for abuse of power, still it could not be denied that many a time irregularities had been discovered in the management of wards' estates, chiefly owing to the misconduct of Managers which neither the Collector's control nor the penalties of the law succeeded in checking.

That being the case, BABOO KRISTODAS PAI did not see any good reason why the special procedure of the Public Demands Recovery Bill should be extended to the realization of rent in wards' estates. Rents due to wards' estates were in no sense public demands. It was true that the revenue due to Government from a wards' estate was at stake, because the Government by taking over the management of the estate surrendered its own right to sell the estate in default, but the revenue of the State was equally at stake in the case of any other private estate. Punctuality in the payment of revenue depended in both cases on the punctual payment of rent. If the ordinary law for the realization of rent was not sufficiently expeditious and efficacious for the Court of Wards, it was not equally so for the private landlord, and if the law was to be amended, it ought to be amended for the benefit of both classes of proprietors.

One of the safeguards proposed was that the application to the Collector should be made by the Manager on his own responsibility. That read well enough on paper, but he appealed to the hon'ble members to say whether poor tenants would have the means or pluck to prosecute the Manager if he abused his authority and vexatiously put them to trouble. The proposed safeguard would therefore practically signify nothing. Then, again in order to protect the interests of the State, the Select Committee had provided that the court fee should be payable on any notice sent to the Collector by the Manager, as upon a plaint for the recovery of the same amount of rent. On the other hand, it was provided in the Bill that, if any party was dissatisfied with the decision of the Collector under the Certificate Procedure, he might contest the decision by a regular suit in the Civil Court.

He should like to know whether in that case a ryot, who would have recourse to the Civil Court, would be liable to a second stamp duty, because, when once the certificate was issued, the ryot would be liable to all the costs, which would necessarily include stamp duty. If that were the case, it would be hard upon ryots and would operate against them proceeding in the Civil Court. Then, although the Collector did not directly manage wards' estates, and although the Manager was made responsible for the application for a certificate, hon'ble members could not be unaware that the Collector was looked upon by the Court of Wards as the officer responsible for the management of wards' estates. A good number of these estates were considerably involved when they came into the hands of the Court of Wards, and the reputation of the Collectors depended in a great measure upon the good administration of these estates. If the Manager represented to the Collector that the summary process for the realization of rent was necessary, it would be ten to one that the Collector would give the utmost support to applications from the Manager for the issue of certificates for the recovery of rent. Therefore BABOO KRISTODAS PAI thought that the Collector, who was interested in the good management of wards' estates, ought not to be entrusted with this quasi-judicial power. For these reasons he opposed clause 7.

The HON'BLE PARY MOHUN MOOKERJEE said he entirely agreed with the remarks of his hon'ble friend. He thought the amendments made by the Select Committee had far from improved the original Bill on this point. Exemption from stamp duty of notices relating to defaulting ryots was the only reasonable justification for the adoption of the special procedure for the recovery of rent in wards' estates. But that exemption was proposed to be taken away, the ryots would now have to bear the main cost of litigation without having the benefit of a judicial enquiry or a judicial decision, and if they wished to dispute the correctness of the Collector's certificate, they would have to pay the court fee duty once again. He thought therefore the amendments made in the Bill had taken away any justification which could be pleaded for the clause before. But why should the public officers wish for a special procedure for the recovery of arrears of rent in wards' estates? If the Civil Courts were good enough for zemindars and talookdars, they should be equally good for public officers. And he thought it was not at all desirable that the public officers should be deprived of almost the only means they now had of watching the work of the subordinate Civil Courts, and practically experiencing the difficulties which lay in the way of the recovery of rent by private individuals, there would be no hope of the amendment of the rent law if public officers had no experience of the difficulties of zemindars in this respect.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER said he was almost ashamed to address the Council again. Hon'ble members would be inclined to compare him to nature—"expellas fuco, tamen usque recurrit"—but he was bound to defend the clause which this amendment proposed to omit. He had consulted local officers as to the necessity of retaining this provision, and the result had not been (as he expected) that they had been unanimous. In two districts, Bohar and Chota Nagpore, the officers, with the exception of the Deputy Commissioner of Lohardugga, considered that the summary procedure was not required, but the other officers consulted, in the Eastern Districts especially, said that such a procedure was indispensable. The difficulties in these wards' estates were so great, being made over to the Court in an embarrassed condition, and very frequently with disputed titles and with no papers, and being often taken over against the wish of those who wished to benefit at the expense of the minor, that the public officers did not know how they could work wards' estates without the summary procedure.

The first main objection made to this summary mode of realization being extended to the rents of wards' estates was that the collection of the rents of wards' estates not being for the public purse, the principle on which this summary produce was allowed for the collection of rents of estates belonging to Government did not apply to wards' estates. MR DAMPIER would venture to contend that the principle was absolutely the same, namely, that the Government, in performing its duties in trust for the public, should have every reasonable facility which could be given consistently with the safety of private interests. As regards the realization from its own tenants, the power of using the summary procedure was given to the Government by universal acclamation, it was a facility which came within the principle that if it could be given, it should be given because there was no material danger to individual interests. If an exceptional short cut was by general consent given to the Government to facilitate the performance of its duties financial, on what principle could a similar short cut be refused in the case of its duties fiduciary. In both cases the Government acted in the interest of the public alone, there was no more danger in allowing it in the case of wards' estates, which the Government administered in trust for the ward, than on those so called Government estates which it administered as agent of the general public. A distinction was attempted to be made between managers of wards' estates and tehsildars of Government estates. It was urged that the Collector could not know what was going on in wards' estates, and he could not be certain that the rent said to be due to the manager was really due. MR DAMPIER said in a most positive way, from his experience of the subject, that practically the management of wards' estates was just as much under the Collector himself, and that what the manager did was as much within the Collector's control as anything that was done by a tehsildar.

The second great objection was this. The opponents of the present measure having, while it suited their contention, freely made use of the desirable to place that right of action in plain language on the face of the Bill. Some Revenue officers of great experience had suggested that the effect of doing this would be to encourage persons to litigate, who in ignorance of their rights would not have attempted to do so, and that the immediate result will be a large crop of useless and frivolous suits. They had in consequence carefully considered each clause of section 7, and the demands therein enumerated, to see what would be the effect in each case if a civil action were brought to contest the Certificate, and the ultimate opinion arrived at was that it would be desirable to indicate in a simple way to the Civil Courts the conditions under which Certificates could be successfully contested or otherwise. The proviso had been drafted to give effect to this opinion.

MR FIELD might explain that there were certain recognized rules in the construction of Statutes whereby certain provisions, though disregarded by the authorities whose duty it was to administer them, would still be held to be of such a nature that the disregard of them would not vitiate acts done under the Statute, while there were other provisions, the result of disregarding which would be that everything done in such disregard would be null and void. In the language of lawyers, the one class is Imperative or Mandatory, that is these provisions cannot be disregarded, and if they are disregarded, what has been done under the Statute can be set aside, the other class is directory, and though such provisions should not be disregarded, yet if they are disregarded, what has been done may nevertheless be valid. Mr Field would give an example. The Patta Regulation provides that before a sale can take place certain notices must be served. One of these notices must be served in the Mofussil, and the Regulation provides certain methods of securing evidence of the service. The person is to obtain the signature of respectable witnesses, and, if such cannot be found, he is to go to the nearest Police Station or Munsif's Court, and make affirmation of service. Now a case happened in which though there was no doubt that the notice had been served in the Mofussil yet these requisites had not been complied with, and it was held that, while the service was Imperative or Mandatory, these provisions as to evidence of service were merely Directory and the omission to comply with them did not invalidate the service, which was the essential thing.

That is a very simple case. But there are many other cases in which considerable room for doubt exists, and the highest Courts in England and America have found it difficult to lay down a rule, applicable to all cases and declaring exactly what provisions are imperative or mandatory and what directory. Of late years, however, a very practical idea has suggested itself, namely that it is material to consider whether any substantial injury has been done to the parties concerned in cases in which certain provisions of a Statute have been overlooked.

If no real injury had been done, if there was no reason to suppose that the result, so far as concerned the person affected, ought to be different, then to set aside what had been done on account of the neglect of a formality, however important, and thus, when it could be done again, observing the formality, with the same identical result to the individual, was merely to encourage litigation for no useful purpose. The principle of which he was speaking had been adopted in recent legislation for this country. Section 578 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides that no decree shall be reversed or substantially varied on account of any error, defect, or irregularity not affecting the merits of the case or the jurisdiction of the Court. Section 283 of the Code of Criminal Procedure enacts that no finding or sentence passed by a Court of competent jurisdiction shall be reversed or altered on appeal on account of any error or defect, or on account of the improper admission or rejection of evidence or misdirection in any charge to the jury, unless such error or defect has occasioned a failure of justice, either by affecting the due conduct of the prosecution or by prejudicing the prisoner in his defence. Clause 2 of the proposed proviso has been drafted in accordance with these legislative precedents to illustrate this by reference to the subject matter of the Bill, the Bill provides for the recovery of registration fees, the expense of constructing embankments, court fees, fines, and so forth. Now if a Public Officer having under some Act or Regulation jurisdiction to impose a fine or assess the expenses or fees recoverable by Government, had in the exercise of this jurisdiction disregarded some provisions of the Act or Regulation as to the manner in which this jurisdiction is to be exercised, there being, however, no pretence for saying that any material injury had been done to any one by such disregard of such provisions, the Civil Court would have no power to set aside what had been done. MR FIELD might observe that there was really no legislation—no law malum here. The Council were only asked to insert in the Bill by way of instruction and guidance for the Courts—and thus to save litigation—what in all probability would in any given case be the result of an appeal to the highest tribunal. The rule, it was to be observed, is intended to apply only to cases in which the demand is a demand warranted by an Act or Regulation. It will have no application to rents in Government estates or Wards' estates, and in these classes of cases there will be nothing to prevent the Civil Court from going completely into the merits of the case and doing justice to the parties.

In respect of cases other than those covered by clause 2 of the proviso, no restriction is placed upon the Civil Courts. Under the law as it now stands, and under the law as the Bill will leave it, if a Certificate is made without jurisdiction, the Civil Court has and will have full power to set it aside.

THE HON'BLE PIARY MOHI N MOOKERJEE said he thought the amendment proposed did not cover all the cases which ought to hold good for setting aside a Certificate. If the debt was barred by limitation, that was a ground which might be set up. Again, suppose the Collector did something which virtually deprived the revenue farmer of the property, the farmer might set that up as a ground for not paying his dues, but this proviso will shut them out from raising that objection, and the Civil Court will be precluded from cancelling it on that ground. A surety will have good ground to ask for the cancelment of the Certificate, on the ground that the Collector has entered into an agreement with the principal without his knowledge, but the language used would not permit the Civil Court to set aside the Certificate on that ground.

MR FIELD said that according to the law of this country, it may be contended that when the period of limitation has expired, not only is the remedy barred, but the right is gone. The third clause of the proviso sufficiently provides for a Certificate made when no debt is due, and the Bill allows a certificate to be made only for money, the recovery of which is not barred by limitation. In the case of a surety if the Collector had given time to the principal or had done anything else which, according to the Contract Act, will release the surety, in that case also the money will not be due, and the Civil Court will have power to set aside the certificate. The provisions of the Bill could not alter the Contract Act.

The motion was then agreed to.

In the 2nd Schedule, form 2, a verbal amendment was made on the motion of the Hon'ble MR FIELD.

THE HON'BLE MR DAMINER moved that the following words be inserted in clause (b) of section 8—

but no such suit shall be entertained unless such judgment debtor has stated in a petition presented to the Court under Section 12 the ground upon which he claims to have such Certificate cancelled unless having omitted to state such ground in such petition as aforesaid he can satisfy the Civil Court that there was good reason.

The effect of the amendment, he said, was to oblige a person against whom a certificate is made, if he has reasonable objection, to make it before the Collector, and not to lie by and bring a civil suit. It was said that perhaps the objection might be of such a nature that the person does not discover its existence or nature until expiry of the time for making objections before the Collector. The section provided that in such cases cause might be shewn for not having made the objection before him. A similar provision will be found in the law for the sale of estates for arrears of revenue.

THE HON'BLE KRISHODAS PAL said a suggestion to the effect of the amendment was made by the hon'ble mover of the Bill in Select Committee, and, if he recollected aright, the majority of the members were opposed to it at the time. It was held that the person affected by the Certificate might not discover in time any good cause for contesting it, but subsequently may be put in possession of grounds sufficient to set aside the Certificate. It was therefore resolved in Select Committee that the suggestion should not be embodied in the Bill. If this amendment were adopted, resort to the Civil Court would practically be clogged, when the right was conceded to go to the Civil Court, the appellant should be left unfettered. For these reasons BABOO KRISTODAS PAL opposed the amendment.

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE said he would support the amendment. If the Council referred to the grounds on which a Certificate could be cancelled, they would, he was sure, admit that every one of those grounds ought to be known at the time of the issue of the certificate, and the principle which applied to objections to the sale of estates was applicable to the realization of public demands. If the person really did not know the ground of objection in time, he could easily satisfy the Court of the fact.

The motion was then carried.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION

THE HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAI moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for compulsory vaccination be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and that the clauses be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee. At that late hour he would not occupy the time of the Council with any detailed statement of the report, but would only refer to one or two important sections. The Select Committee provided that before extending the law to any municipality or local area, the Government should issue a notification to the inhabitants to express their opinion on the subject, the object was to take the sense of the local community upon it. Persons who had no parents or guardians were included in the definition of "unprotected persons." Before he concluded, he would call upon the Hon'ble the Financial Secretary to Government to give an assurance to the Council as to what course the Government was disposed to take if the expense of establishment was not covered in Calcutta by the fees to be levied. So far as he understood the hon'ble member, he meant that the Government would pay the salaries of the Native Superintendents, and that the municipality should provide for the staff of vaccinators and for the supply of lymph. The Health Officer would not be paid any additional salary for the work which would devolve upon him. It would be satisfactory to the Corporation and the public if an assurance were given on behalf of Government on the subject.

The HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE said there was no intention at present of diminishing the cost which is incurred on account of vaccination. The Government paid the salaries of the Deputy Superintendents, and until it was shown that the fees were sufficient to meet other charges which the Government at present bore, it had no intention of withdrawing any portion of its present expenditure.

The motion was agreed to.

The HON'BLE KRISTODAS PAI moved the addition to section 26 of the following proviso —

Provided also that nothing in this section shall be held to compel the production before a Magistrate of any female child above the age of eight years.

Section 26 provided for the compulsory production of children who were not vaccinated. It would be revolting to the feelings of his countrymen, both Hindus and Mahomedans, if girls above eight years were produced by force before the Magistrate and vaccinated in his presence, and he therefore moved this amendment to guard against possible outrage on native feeling.

The motion was agreed to.

HOWRAH BRIDGE ACT AMENDMENT

THE HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE moved that the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871 be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. This, he said, was a very simple matter, which he explained fully on the last occasion. The alterations made by the Committee were entirely verbal, and he had now nothing farther to add.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. MACKENZIE the Bill was then passed.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday the 10th April.

RECOVERY OF PUBLIC DEMANDS

THE HON'BLE MR. FIELD moved that The Bill to amend the Law for the Recovery of Certain Public Demands be further considered, and that the words "or where no such notice has been duly served within thirty days after the execution of any process for enforcing such Certificate" be inserted between the words "notice" and "file" in line 8 of section 12. The effect of this amendment, he observed, would imply be this,—that if the notice, which is required to be given to the judgment debtor of the Certificate having been filed in the office of the Collector had not been served, the judgment debtor might come in and object, on the ground that he had not received such notice and therefore had no reasonable opportunity of making an objection. The Collector would then be able to deal with that particular form of objection and do complete justice between the parties. MR. FIELD was indebted to the learned Advocate General for this amendment, which contains an important provision omitted in the Act of 1868, and which it was very desirable to supply in the present Bill. The motion was carried.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. FIELD the Bill was then passed.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION

ON the motion of the HON'BLE KRISNODAS PAL the Bill to make vaccination compulsory was passed.

ROAD AND PUBLIC WORKS CASSES

ON the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the Bill to amend and consolidate the law relating to rating for the construction, charges and maintenance of district communications and other works of public utility and of provincial public works was further considered.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER the following amendment, which he explained to be a verbal one, was adopted—namely, to omit from the last paragraph of clause (b), section 20, the words "and on the acceptance of such petition and on payment of the amount of cess due from the date when the corrected valuation came into force, rent at the rate shown in the corrected return may be recovered," and to substitute—

"and on the acceptance of such petition the Collector may make such correction in the valuation of the estate or tenure as may be required, and as soon as the person of whose estate or tenure the return and valuation have been so corrected shall have paid in all sums due by him as road cess and public works cess in accordance with such corrected valuation and not otherwise such person may recover such rent as may be due to him on any tenure or land included in the return of such estate or tenure at any rate not being in excess of the rate shown in the corrected return as payable in respect of such tenure or land."

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following words were added to the end of the first paragraph of section 35 —

"and that if such estate or tenure cannot be found such roll and such extracts shall be posted at some conspicuous place in any village in which such estates or tenures are believed to be situate"

It had been brought to notice that in Chittagong, where estates and tenures were infinitesimal, the plots of land which comprised an estate or tenure very often could not be identified

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved the addition to section 44 of the following paragraphs —

"Whenever any such separate account is opened after the valuation of an estate and while such valuation remains in force the Collector shall issue a notice on the holders of the shares severally in respect of which the accounts are to be kept separately informing them that, unless any objection is preferred to the Collector within one month of the service of such notice the amount of the cesses which the whole estate is liable to pay according to the existing valuation will from the date on which such separate accounts were opened be apportioned among such shares severally in proportion to the amount of Government revenue for the payment of which each such share is entered in the separate accounts as being liable. Such notice shall specify such proportionate amount

"If no such objection be preferred within the time specified such proportionate amount shall be the amount of the cesses for which the respective holders of such several shares are primarily liable as mentioned in section 13 of the said Act XI of 1859 subject however to the general responsibility of the holders of the entire estate as mentioned in section 14 of the said Act if the amount of the cesses due on account of any such share cannot be recovered as provided in sections 100 and 101 of this Act from the holders of such share

"If any such objection shall be preferred as aforesaid the total amount of the cesses for which the whole estate is liable according to the existing valuation shall be apportioned among the several shares in respect of which such separate accounts are opened in proportion to the annual value of such shares respectively under such rules or special instructions not being inconsistent with this Act as may be issued by the Board of Revenue and the holders of such several shares shall be primarily liable as aforesaid for the payment of the amount of the cesses so apportioned on their shares respectively"

He said the defect in the Bill which this amendment would correct came to his notice accidentally in the shape of an appeal to the Board of Revenue. As the law stood, hon'ble members were aware that joint sharers in an estate might have separate accounts opened under Act XI of 1859 as regards the payment of their land revenue, from that moment the shares in respect of which separate accounts were opened became, in the first instance, separately liable for the amount of revenue written against them respectively, but if the Collector failed to realize from any particular share the particular amount of revenue which was primarily due upon it, then he proceeded to recover it from the entire estate, which still remained ultimately responsible notwithstanding the opening of the separate accounts. It was represented that under Act X of 1871 there was no corresponding section empowering the Revenue authorities to extend this protection of primary separate liability to the case of cesses payable on account of land. That was a great hardship—so great that, although there was nothing authorizing it, the Board of Revenue issued instructions to the Collector to do something which was not perfectly legal in this direction, and it was on the working of that order of the Board that the appeal came up.

Under Act XI of 1859, before a separate account could be opened on account of revenue, the applicant must show two things—(1) the share of the revenue for which his share is answerable, and (2) the specification of the share, but it was not necessary, as in the case of partition, that the value of the share should be in proportion to the amount of revenue for which it was declared primarily liable. Take the simplest case where an estate belonged to four different shareholders holding jointly, four anna share belonging to each shareholder. Among themselves by private arrangement they had divided the land by metes and bounds, and in the course of time one share had become much more valuable than the others, this was admitted by all, and there was no dispute among the shareholders. As the law stood regarding the opening of separate accounts for revenue, the owner of the more valuable so called four anna share could say, "although my share is more valuable, yet the amount of revenue for which I am answerable is not more than that for which my co-shareholders are liable, as we each are owners of a so called four anna interest in the estate" There was no objection to opening the separate account in this way as regards land revenue, but in applying the same system to opening separate accounts for the cesses a difficulty arose, not in cases in which separate accounts had been opened before valuation, because then each such share would be treated as a separate estate for valuation, and valued on its own actual assets, but the difficulty would arise where, after the valuation of an estate as a whole had been made, separate accounts were opened for shares of which the actual value was not in exact proportion to the amount of revenue for which each share became primarily responsible. It was very necessary to make some provision by which the distribution of the cess for which the entire estate had been made liable by the cess valuation proceedings should be in accordance with the value of the shares, and not the amount of revenue for which each share was liable, these clauses had been drafted for this purpose. They provided that as soon as a separate account was opened, the first assumption should be that the cess would be payable in the same proportion as the revenue. If objection was raised, it would practically be "the assets of my share are not so large as my nominal share represents." The sections laid down the broad principle that in such cases the valuation should be in proportion to the annual value of the respective shares, and left the details of procedure to be provided by such rules as the Board of Revenue may prescribe.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following clause was inserted after clause (c) of section 108 —

Apportioning the amount of the cesses for the payment of which the respective holders of the several shares of an estate in respect of which separate accounts are kept shall be primarily liable under section 44.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "twelve and a half" were substituted for "twelve" in sections 45, 47, 58, 62, and 71. This was a suggestion of the Commissioner of Chittagong to facilitate calculations of interest, twelve and a half per cent being exactly two annas in the rupee.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "or in one payment" were inserted after "instalments" in line 5 of section 57, the object being to enable the Government to prescribe that in the case of very small tenures the whole amount of cess should be paid on a fixed day in the year and not in two instalments.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved to omit section 72, and would add the following proviso to section 69 —

'Provided that no holder of rent free land who at any time after the expiration of the time prescribed shall of his own motion and otherwise than after the issue of any notice by the collector in respect of his lands give such information to the Collector, shall be liable to prosecution for omitting to give such information within the prescribed time.'

The change was to prevent any chance of the sections being considered to clash with the Penal Code. As section 69 stood with the proposed amendment it merely provided that the lakhirajdar was bound to give information, and the penalty for not doing so was left to the operation of the Penal Code.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the words "or until a general re valuation of the district, or part of a district, be made under section 12, or until the re valuation of such property be specially ordered under section 15" in lines 5 to 8 of the last paragraph of section 81 were omitted. If the arrangement between the Collector and assessee was made for five years, the fact of a re valuation of the district intervening ought not to put a stop to that arrangement, but it might be allowed to run out.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved the following amendments —

In section 161, lines 1 to 4, to substitute the words "the provisions of sections 114 to 119 (both inclusive), 121, 124 to 129 (both inclusive), 141 and 142" for the words "the provisions of sections 114 to 119 (both inclusive), of sections 121 to 130 (both inclusive), and of sections 141 and 142."

To substitute the following for the first part of section 167 from the words "the Lieutenant Governor" in line 1 down to "Committee and" in line 11 —

167. The Lieutenant-Governor may in any such case declare that the Branch Committee shall have the full powers of a District Road Committee within such portion of the district, and whenever the Lieutenant Governor shall so have declared, the District Road Committee shall, within such portion of the district cease to exercise powers and functions under sections 135, 141 143 144 145, and 148. Such powers shall then vest in the Branch Committee, and the provisions of section 122 123 (with the exception of clauses 2 3, 4 and 6) 130, 144 146, and 149 shall apply to the proceedings of such Branch Committee, provided that all correspondence with the Commissioner shall be submitted through the Collector of the district.

For these amendments he had to thank the Secretary in the Financial Department, who had experience in the working of Committees and Branch Committees. These sections were carefully gone over. In section 161 were recited those sections which were applicable to the ordinary proceedings of every Branch Committee, under section 16 the Lieutenant Governor might give a special status to some Branch Committee, and when such status was given, certain functions of District Committee would cease and be performed by Branch Committees instead, in section 16 those sections of the Bill were recited which enumerated the functions which were transferred in such cases from District Committees to Branch Committees.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE observed that under section 161, the ordinary Branch Committee would act as the agent or executive of the District Committee. But Branch Committees which were so invested would be independent, and would, with one or two exceptions, exercise all the powers of District Committees. There would be a District Engineer for the district, but they would have their own statement of roads and correspond with the Commissioner of the Division, but through the Collector of the District who would thus be able to keep all the threads of the Committees in his own hands.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER, the words "and for the preservation of the trees planted by, or who are in the charge of, the Committee" were inserted after the word "communication" in clause (2) of section 182.

The HON'BLE MR MACKENZIE said, his leave of absence had been given to Engineers by District Committee at their own pleasure, and inconvenience had been felt from the Government having had no knowledge of the changes made in consequence. He there moved amendments, the effect of which would be that "leave of absence medical certificate may be granted by the Lieutenant Governor," and that "other leave shall be granted to a District Engineer by the Committee with the sanction of the Lieutenant Governor."

The motions were agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the Bill was then passed.

DRAINAGE AND IMPROVEMENT OF LANDS

ON the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the Bill to provide for the drainage and improvement of lands was first considered.

The HON'BLE MR DAMPIER moved to substitute the words "by the holders of each estate, tenure, or undertenure of whom any sum is made payable" for the words "by each landholder" in cl (3), line 9 of section 26, and the insertion of the following after the word "payable" in clause (4), line 6 of the same section —

"Where two or more persons are holders of estate tenure or undertenure service of notice under this clause on any one such person be deemed to be good and sufficient service on each and all of such persons."

The motion was agreed to.

Clause 3 related to the rough distrib in respect of the liability to pay interest before the more precise apportionment had taken place, the interest on the capital advanced to be paid during three years between the completion of the works and the precise apportionment of the liability. The amendment was a mere verbal alteration to prevent it being thought that each individual of a body of joint holders to be served with a separate notice. A whole tenure was to be treated for this purpose as one unit.

The amendment in clause 4 was similar. This notice was not a demand or payment, it was a mere notice that commissioners had made the rough apportionment among the different estates and tenures and of the amount of interest payable by the different tenures and estates. The notice might be given to one of many shareholders whose interest it would naturally be not to keep it to himself, no process could be taken for recovery until separate notices were issued.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the following proviso was added to section 35 —

"Provided always that the total sum apportioned by every apportionment and report so revised and altered as payable in respect of all the lands improved or reclaimed by the works, shall not be less than the total cost of the construction of such works within the meaning of section 25."

In section 49, on the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER, an amendment was made in section 49 to the effect that every officer appointed by the Lieutenant Governor under section 33 (in default of the Commissioners making apportionment) shall have the power of taking evidence in the same manner as the Commissioners or the Commissioner of the Division.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR DAMPIER the Bill was then passed.

The Council was adjourned  sine die

The mean pressure temperature &amp;c are deduced from observations made at 6h 10h, 16h and 22h and from the traces of the barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

Report on the Fluctuations in Traffic on the Northern Bengal State Railway for the month of March 1880

GENERAL REMARKS

THE result of the month's working again shows a considerable increase in all the principal staples except railway material and slight decreases under the heads of sugar and tea. The fall in the weight of railway material is easily accounted for as in March 1879 the permanent way and bridge material for the Kawn extension was being sent forward in large quantities. Putting aside the decrease under this head of traffic which might be looked upon as abnormal and as not in any way affecting the prospects of the line the net increase in general traffic stands at 1 08 708 maunds over and above the weight carried during the corresponding month of last year.

Increases

Ale Mds 371
The short despatches of Commissariat beer last month has resulted in a corresponding increase during the month under review.

Food grain Mds 48 269
The local traffic in this staple still continues and a good business has been done during the month for shipment to London and Bombay. It is worthy of note as tending to show the large traffic held in the districts that the despatches during the month have (in the face of a fall in the market) nearly reached the high standard of March 1878 when there was such a wide margin between the prices here and in Calcutta. In May 1878 1 28 619 maunds were arrived and during the current month 1 23 028 maunds.

Ginger Mds 372
The total weight of this staple during the month 1 916 maunds against 5 4 maunds in March 1879. Insignificant as the total weight is it is satisfactory in view of the fact that the total shipments for 1880 amount to considerably less than the month's despatches.

Gunny Mls 347
The high rate ruling in the Calcutta market for the raw material and the consequent increase in the price of mill-made bags has again brought hand-made bags into the market.

Jute Mds 5 778
The season for this staple is rapidly coming to a close for although the weight carried during the month bears favorable comparison with the same month last year the despatches are very rapidly dwindling down as will be seen by a reference to previous reports.

Piece goods Mds 2 460
The traffic in piece goods although forming a favorable comparison with the corresponding period of 1879 has fallen off considerably as compared with last month's despatches. This is in a great measure accounted for by the interruption in business caused by the Holy Festival.

Salt Mds 17 277
The remarks made on the piece goods traffic apply also to this staple for although 17 277 maunds more have been carried during the month than were carried in March 1879 there is a decrease as compared with the previous month's despatches.

Tobacco Mds 14 394
The new crop is now being freely sent forward. The total weight hauled during the month stands at 17 424 maunds which considering that the season only just begins is promising of a large traffic.

All other goods Mds 13 991
The traffic in miscellaneous rough-barked consignments has been particularly brisk during the month the result forming not only a favorable comparison with the despatches under the same head last year but also for the previous month of 1880.

Decreases

Railway material Mds 47 667
This decrease has already been explained.

Sugar Mls 71
This is a mere trade fluctuation and one of so insignificant a nature as to be scarcely worth noting.

Tea Mds 60

Government Engineering College Howrah

OWING to the unexpectedly large number of applicants for admission to the new Engineering College and the difficulty of obtaining lodgings in Howrah and the neighbourhood it has been decided to postpone the admission of new students until the beginning of the Session in June 1880. Additional accommodation on the premises for 200 native students will be provided by that date

There is room for a few more European or Eurasian students in the quarters occupied by the mechanical apprentices

No 111 — The following Rules made for the districts of the Patna Division by the Governor General in Council in exercise of the powers conferred by the Inland Customs Act 1875, are published under Section 30 of the said Act and shall take effect from the 1st day of May 1880 —

Rules applicable to the districts of the Patna Division in the Lower Provinces of Bengal

OF THE MANUFACTURE AND REFINEMENT OF SALTPETRE AND THE INDUCTION OF SALT THEREFROM

- 1 No substance included under the term saltpetre in section three of the Act shall be manufactured or refined and no salt shall be deduced therefrom except under and in accordance with, the conditions of a license as hereinafter prescribed Manufacture and refinement of salt petre to be under license
- 2 Applications for licenses shall be made to the Inland Customs Inspector in charge of the circle in which the works are situated, who may grant the application on receipt of the prescribed license fee
Application for license
In case of refusal an appeal shall lie to the Assistant Commissioner of Inland Customs and from his orders to the Commissioner of Inland Customs whose decision shall be final Appeal from refusal
- 3 No license shall be granted for the manufacture of crude saltpetre or any of the other substances included under the term saltpetre in the Act unless the licensing officer is satisfied that the soil in the vicinity of the place of manufacture and the soil from which the said crude saltpetre or other substance is to be produced do not contain such a percentage of chloride of sodium as to render the manufacture a source of danger to the salt revenue, and unless the works are so situated that they can, without difficulty be supervised by the Inland Customs Department
Conditions precedent to a license for manufacture of crude salt

4 As a general rule, no refinery shall be licensed until the parties applying have satisfied the licensing officer that they are prepared to produce within the period of the license not less than two hundred maunds of refined saltpetre

5 No refinery shall be licensed until the parties applying have satisfied the licensing officer that the refinery buildings and premises are so constructed and surrounded by a wall as to afford full security for the levy of the duty on salt educed therein

6 The following fees shall be levied in prepayment for licenses for each description of work —

	Rs	A	P
For the manufacture and refining of saltpetre including the education of salt therefrom	50	0	0
For the manufacture of sulphate of soda (khāra) and any other substance included under the term 'saltpetre' in section three of the Act	2	0	0

7 The license for the manufacture of crude saltpetre or other substance included in the term 'saltpetre' in the Act to be granted to persons not licensed to refine the saltpetre or educe salt, shall be in the form given in Schedule D hereto annexed

8 The license for the manufacture and refinement of saltpetre and for the education of salt therefrom shall be in the form given in Schedule E or when a composition is fixed under rule seventeen, in that given in Schedule F hereto annexed

9 The Inspector granting a license under this chapter may add any further conditions to the license which appear to him necessary for the protection of the Government revenue. If the applicant is dissatisfied an appeal shall lie as provided in rule two

10 All licenses granted under this chapter shall be for a period ending on or before the 31st July following the date of their issue and shall on expiry be returned to the Inspector

11 Duplicates of licenses lost or destroyed during the period of their currency may be obtained on payment of one quarter of the original license fee

12 Any licensee shall produce his license for inspection when called upon to do so by any officer of the Inland Customs Department not below the rank of Sub Inspector or subordinate deputed by him for the purpose

13 All licensed works, and all premises connected therewith shall be open at all times by day or night to the inspection of any such officer or subordinate deputed by him for the purpose

14 All diaries registers books of account and the like connected with the business of licensed works shall at all times be open to the inspection of any such officer or of any subordinate deputed by him for the purpose

15 On all salt educed in the manufacture or refinement of saltpetre, there shall be levied a duty of rupees two and annas eight per maund of 3 200 tolas

All such salt shall except as provided in rule seventeen be daily weighed and placed in a bonded store house under lock and key, which key shall remain in possession of the Customs Officer attached to the refinery

It shall be in the discretion of the Inspector or Sub Inspector from time to time to cause such salt to be weighed in his presence and removed from the bonded store house. The licensee shall, within twenty four hours subsequent to such weighing, and before the removal of the salt pay the duty leviable thereon

16 When salt has thus been weighed and the duty paid, it shall with all possible despatch be removed to a distance of more than one hundred yards from any part of the refinery premises under a pass signed by the said Inspector or Sub Inspector

The pass shall be current for such period not exceeding twenty four hours, as may be deemed necessary for the removal of the salt

A pass shall not be granted for a less quantity than twenty maunds, except for the purpose of emptying the store house

17 The Assistant Commissioner of Inland Customs may subject to the control of the Commissioner sanction the payment by the owner of a refinery, of a composition for the duty on all salt educed and imported during any one year

In this case no interference will be exercised on the removal of the salt, except in accordance with the terms of the license

18 Except as hereinbefore provided, or with the permission of the Assistant Commissioner of Inland Customs no person shall possess any salt at any place within the limits of or within one hundred yards from, the nearest point of any saltpetre manufactory or refinery and its appurtenances

19 If any work licensed under this chapter ceases during the period of the license to carry on effective working the licensing officer may close such work, and suspend the license until the licensee is prepared to resume effective working

CHAPTER II

OF THE SEIZURE DISPOSAL OR DESTRUCTION OF THINGS LIABLE TO BE SEIZED OR DESTROYED UNDER THE ACT

20 In all cases in which illicitly manufactured salt or saltpetre is seized by any official of the Inland Customs Department below the grade of Inspector such official shall at once proceed with the salt or saltpetre so seized and any persons concerned in the manufacture that he may have been able to arrest and any independent witnesses to the seizure whose attendance he may be able to secure, to the nearest police post. The senior officer present at such police post shall receive from the seizing official the salt or saltpetre so seized and in the presence of witnesses and accused shall after weighing and recording the weight of each, take from each distinct kind or quality of salt or saltpetre seized (if there be more than one such kind or quality) two samples of not less than one tola each which he shall seal with the official seal of the police station and after numbering them deliver them to the official who made the seizure recording at the same time a note on the printed form of seizure (see Schedule G hereto annexed) which will be presented to him specifying the total weight of each kind seized according to the weighments made before him, and the corresponding numbers of the samples. The remainder of the salt or saltpetre shall be sealed up with the seal of the official who made the seizure and of the police station and shall remain in the milkhana or other secure place in such station till such time as a written order shall be sent by the Inspector of the circle either for the destruction of the article seized which shall be carried into effect by the officer presenting such request in the presence of some officer of the police station and the same certified on the reverse of the order or for the delivery of the same or part thereof, as the case may be, to the bearer of the order for production in Court.

21 When a seizure is made by an Inspector in person he may either follow the foregoing procedure deputing one of his subordinate officials present at the seizure to take the salt or saltpetre to the station and receive the samples or he may himself on the spot take out and seal up the samples and the rest of the seized salt or saltpetre with his own official seal. He may then either take the salt or saltpetre seized with him to depo it where he considers it will be safest or send it for deposit to the nearest or most accessible police station to be kept as in the previous case till further orders. If however the Inspector himself seals the salt or saltpetre he must in the event of the identity of the salt or saltpetre produced in Court being denied by the accused be prepared to attend and prove the same in person.

22 When anything is seized and detained under the Act or the rules made under the Act it shall not be released until all duty penalties and charges due on account thereof have been paid by the owner to the Inland Customs Officer who is in possession of such thing.

If the thing is reported for confiscation it shall not be released unless orders for the release are received from competent authority.

23 If an animal is so seized and detained the owner shall provide for its due care and keep in default of which the animal may be sold to defray charges.

24 If orders are received from competent authority for the release of anything seized and detained and no duty or penalty is payable in respect of such thing it shall at once be given up to the owner or his agent, on his paying all charges incurred.

25 Should no one be present to receive the thing released the officer of Inland Customs in charge shall do his best to give notice to the owner of the order of release, and shall cause a similar notice to be affixed on the Customs premises and at the collector's office.

If within two calendar months from the date of the notice no person entitled to receive the thing claim it, and pay all charges incurred, it shall be sold and the proceeds placed in deposit.

After a further period of two calendar months the money shall be forfeited to Her Majesty.

26 If any duty is leviable or penalty is imposed by competent authority, in respect of the thing seized unless such duty or penalty together with all charges incurred be paid within three days of the receipt of the orders of competent authority for release subject to such payment, the thing shall be sold, and from the proceeds, the duty, penalty, and charges shall be deducted, and the balance made over to the owner or his agent

Should no one be present to receive the money, notice as under rule 26 shall be given, the money being kept in deposit for two calendar months

Notice to owner of surplus proceeds if not

Lapse to Government

If not claimed within this period it shall be forfeited to Her Majesty

27 When orders are received from competent authority for the confiscation of any thing seized and detained it shall, with all convenient despatch, be sold or destroyed as the Collector of Inland Customs may direct

28 When a Magistrate orders the confiscation of works materials or implements under section eleven of the Act they shall be sold or destroyed by dismantling or otherwise under the orders of the Collector of Inland Customs

Sale or destruction of work and materials confiscated

JUDICIAL

Dated Calcutta the 25th April 1880

RESOLUTION

1. READ—

The Report on the Calcutta Court of Small Causes for the year 1879

The present report differs from its predecessors, in that it exhibits the working of the Court for the calendar instead of for the official year. In accordance with the instructions of the Government of India, the First Judge is now required to submit annual returns to the High Court for incorporation in the Court's report on the administration of Civil Justice, and the change in the period to which the report to Government relate was sanctioned in order to avoid the necessity of keeping up a double set of registers. In future also the returns of judicial work appended to the report will be in the same form as those prepared for the High Court, but the financial returns will be submitted in the same form as hitherto.

2 There is some difficulty in comparing the figures in the present report with those in the previous one, as the periods to which the returns relate have three months in common. The number of institutions of suits of different values has, however, been given for both the calendar years 1878 and 1879, and between those returns a correct comparison can be made. The total number of cases instituted in 1879 was 37,119, against 30,000 in 1878 and 37,681 in the financial year 1878-79. Compared with the previous calendar year, there was thus an increase of 1,199 suits in 1879, the whole increase being due to the larger number of institutions in the first quarter of the year.

The increase was entirely in suits under Rs 200 in value, there being a decrease in the number of institutions of suits above that amount. The total sum in litigation in the Court during the year was Rs 18,19,614 as compared with Rs 18,70,566 in 1878-79. Excepting the two years 1865-66 and 1878-79, the amount in litigation in the past year was higher than in any year since the institution of the Court in 1850.

3 Including cases pending from the preceding year, the total number set down for hearing in 1879 was 38,635, and of these 37,051 were decided during the year. By far the largest class of suits consists of claims for goods sold and delivered, of which there were 15,471 decided during the year, against 15,410 in 1878-79. The next largest class is composed of suits on bills of exchange, bonds and promissory notes, the number of these suits being 4,793, against 4,475 in 1878-79. Next come claims for use and occupation, of which there were 3,592 in 1879 as compared with 3,596 in 1878-79. The number of suits for the recovery of wages was 2,526, against 2,647 in 1878-79, for the recovery of loans 2,457, against 2,702. Miscellaneous suits on contracts were 1,681, against 1,654 in 1878-79. The number of actions for assault was 196 as compared with 204 in 1878-79. The uniformity in the number of cases of each class is remarkable, and shows clearly that there was no abnormal cause at work during the year to affect the nature of the litigation before the Court. In no single class of cases was there any marked increase or decrease.

4 The following statement shows the result of the trials of the past three years, and in 81.4 per cent of the cases the plaintiffs had apparently good grounds for having recourse to litigation —

	Rs	R	Rs
For plaintiff after trial	740	8841	8175
Ditto ex parte	6938	8100	8463

	687	687	6879
	3334	3757	37051
Total

5 The number of cases pending at the close of the year was 1,584 as compared with 1,456 cases pending on the 31st December 1878. The difference in these two years is not great, but the Judges draw attention to the gradual increase in the work of the Court and to the probable necessity of adding to the number of Judges. The subject of the amendment and consolidation of the law relating to Small Cause Courts in the Presidency towns has for many years been under the consideration of the Government of India, and the Supreme Government have recently informed the Lieutenant Governor that a Bill with this object will shortly be introduced into the Legislative Council. The question of strengthening the Court may therefore, as suggested by the Judges, stand over until it is decided whether the jurisdiction of the Court shall be extended.

6 The receipts of the year amounted to Rs 2,39,712, and the expenditure to Rs 1,66,093, leaving a net sum of Rs 73,619 to be credited to the General Revenues, as compared with Rs 81,106 in 1878-79 and Rs 67,359 in 1877-78.

ORDER — Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Judges of the Calcutta Court of Small Causes.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

HORACE A COCKERELL,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE OPIUM DEPARTMENT
FOR THE YEAR 1878 79

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS REVENUE

Calcutta, the 24th April 1880

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the administration of the Opium Department for the year 1878 79

The season was a backward one in both Agencies, owing to the dry weather during the month of October 1878, and the heat in the early part of November. This retarded the sowings and prevented the seeds of the earlier sowings from germinating freely. Better results were obtained later in the year, but the want of the rain usual at Christmas had an unfavourable effect, and eventually the crop proved a failure over a large part of the unirrigated area. The general results of the season's cultivation are shown in the following table, as compared with the results of the preceding year—

SEASON	Yield for the season	Net cultivated	Plant tue
BEHAR	Behar	Behar	Md S
18778	4,94,010	40,62	34,003 17 11½
187879	5,04,568	40,9	41,18 1 4½
Income 1878 9	100	9,007	7 3 0
BENARES
1878	3,54,708	34,63	4,380 6 6½
187879	4,16,016	39,80	4,836 35 ½
Income 1880	61,307	53,107	11 6 0 1½

2 The orders of the Government of India directed that efforts should be made to increase the cultivation in both Agencies, but in the Behar Agency the increase in the settlements was small, while the area upon which the crop failed was larger than in the preceding season. The state of the cultivation in this Agency has been the subject of a separate correspondence with the Board of Revenue. The dry weather had the effect of raising the consistence of the opium, and of reducing the average produce per beegah, especially on the unirrigated lands. In the Behar Agency the lowest produce was 2 seers 1½ chittacks in Motiharra and the highest was 5 seers 10½ chittacks in Shahabad, the general average being 3 seers 15½ chittacks. In the Benares Agency the produce varied from 3 seers 5½ chittacks in Basti to 6 seers 15½ chittacks in Futtchgunn and the average yield per beegah was 5 seers 7½ chittacks. In both Agencies the general average was higher than in the previous year, in which it was 3 seers 5½ chittacks in Behar, and 5 seers 1½ chittacks in Benares.

3 The outcome of the season resulted in the manufacture of 49,961 chests of provision opium, and 5,498 chests of abkari opium. Though the yield in the Behar Agency was smaller than in Benares, the number of chests manufactured was greater, owing to the fact that about 18,000 maunds of opium grown in the Benares Agency were sent to Behar for manufacture, partly as provision, and partly as abkari opium. This arrangement prevents any useful comparison of the cost of production per chest in the two Agencies. The total expenditure of the season was Rs 1,96,04,077 of which Rs 53,42,062 were incurred in Behar, and Rs 1,42,61,995 in Benares.

4 Of the outstanding balances of 1877 78, a large portion has been recovered, and about ½ lakhs still remain to be realized. During the season under review the balances in the Behar Agency amounted to Rs 99,572, and in Benares to only Rs 1,960. Almost the whole of the Behar balances accrued in the three divisions of Hajipore, Motiharra, and Bettiah, and the failure to recover the advances made in these divisions seems to call for some further explanation than is given in the Agent's report. It is observed that there are no arrears in the Patna and Ichta divisions of the Behar Agency, and that the Benares Agency, with a smaller area of cultivation than Behar, has advanced a much larger amount, of which nearly the whole has been recovered. It is difficult to resist the conclusion that in the divisions of the Behar Agency, in which the largest arrears are found, advances must have been given without due discrimination.

5 Under orders of the Government of India, arrangements have been made for supplying opium to the Punjab from the Benares Agency, in supersession of the system under which the local merchants used to obtain passes for the purchase of opium in Nepal. Since the submission of the present report, proposals have been made which are expected to have the effect of diverting to the Government Opium Agencies the supply of the drug produced in Nepal, and these proposals have been experimentally sanctioned by Government. The quantity of excise opium supplied from the Benares Agency to Oudh and the Central Provinces showed an increase during the year under review, but there was some falling off in the demand from the North Western Provinces.

6 The proportion of adulterated and inferior opium delivered at the factories showed a satisfactory decrease, especially in the Benares Agency, the dryness of the season having been unfavourable to the production of pussewa in the drug. The explanation given by the Board regarding the delivery of impure opium in the Benares Agency does not appear altogether conclusive, as it seems to accept the necessity for the presence of a large proportion of pussewa in the Benares opium. The subject is one of some importance, as the presence of pussewa is supposed to render opium unfitted for the China market, and if it should be determined to manufacture opium of 75 consistence indifferently from the produce of either Agency, the presence or absence of pussewa may materially affect the success of the experiment. The Lieutenant-Governor would therefore ask the Board to consider further whether more careful manipulation of the Benares drug at the time of its first extraction would not have the effect of largely diminishing the admixture of pussewa in the opium as delivered at the factory.

7 Prosecutions under the Opium Act, and rewards paid to informers, showed a considerable decrease in Behar, and an increase in Benares. No cases of any peculiar importance or interest occurred. The system of granting rewards to cultivators has been discontinued, experience having shown that the cultivation is sufficiently popular to be able to dispense with any special encouragement of this kind.

8 No new buildings for the department were constructed in the Benares Agency, and in Behar the only new works were some sheds and godowns. The protection of the Behar factory against fire is reported to be incomplete, owing to the well which was made to supply water for this purpose having been placed too far from the bank of the river. In Benares the Principal Assistant has suggested considerable additions and improvements to the factory buildings, and a separate report should be submitted upon such of these proposals as the Board may desire to recommend for adoption.

9 The steam saw mill in the Patna Agency did less work than in the previous year, as a large number of chests remained on hand, owing to the small outturn of provision opium in 1877-78. There was consequently a small increase in the average cost per chest. The Board have sanctioned the manufacture of some chests of ana wood as an experimental measure. This wood is stated to be suitable for chests, and it is somewhat harder than sâl, while its original cost per cubic foot is much lower. Complaints have lately been made that the chests manufactured at Patna were not sufficiently strong to stand the rough usage to which they are subjected in the course of the voyage to China, and a special report on the subject has been submitted to the Government of India. It is believed that the measures which have been taken will effectually provide against any recurrence of the complaint.

10 On a general review of the season's operations, the Lieutenant Governor remarks that the large proportion of unsuccessful sowings in the Behar Agency, and the amount of unrecovered balances are matters which require the special attention of the Board. Much of the success which has attended the operations in Benares may be ascribed to the detailed system of maps, registers, and inspection notes which is in force in that Agency, and a similar system should now be introduced into Behar. The season was, on the whole, a moderately good one as compared with the previous year, there was an increase in the area sown, in the average produce per beegah, and in the total outturn, and there is abundant evidence to show that the reduction of the price to Rs 4 8 per seer has not operated as a discouragement to the cultivators. In fact, in the Benares Agency some difficulty seems to be felt in repressing the tendency of the ryots to sow in excess of their engagements.

11 The sales of provision opium during the calendar year 1879 comprised 60,000 chests, against 54,000 sold in the preceding year. There was consequently an increase in the gross sale proceeds, but the average price obtained per chest was lower than in any year since 1870, and the net revenue realized by Government showed a falling off as compared with the returns of the previous year. The actual results were as follow —

Gross sale proceeds at Rs 1 10 9 $\frac{2}{4}$ per chest	6	30	34 170 10
Cost of 60 000 chests at Rs 407 3 3 per chest	2	14	22 220 4
Net revenue	4	16	02 2 10 6

In 1878 the average price was Rs 1 243 4, and the cost per chest was Rs 410 15 0 $\frac{1}{4}$ , the net revenue on 54,000 chests being Rs 4,49,44,937 12

12 The Lieutenant Governor notices with pleasure the commendation bestowed by the Board on Mr J H Rivett Carnac, the Opium Agent of Benares, and on Drs Sheppard and Durant, the Personal Assistants at Patna and Ghazipore. Dr Whitwell, who was in charge of the Ghazipore Factory as Personal Assistant up to the 14th March 1879, is also favourably noticed, as are also many of the subordinate officers of the Department. Mr Lytler seems to deserve special credit for the success which has attended his efforts to protect his cultivations by the construction of masonry wells, and Mr Josselyn's successful efforts to recover outstanding balances also deserve recognition.

By order of the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal,

H J REYNOLDS,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal

The total fall from 1st January to 21th April 1880

The average fall of the corresponding period for 21 years S. C. Office

The mean pressure temperature &c are deduced from the traces of the barograph and thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended 5 feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 8 formerly at the Surveyor General's Office.

The hygrometric element is obtained from tables III, IV, and V or the official table computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The direction and movement of the wind are taken from the ## Report of Fluctuation of Traffic on the Tirhoot State Railway for the month of March 1880

THE total quantity of goods carried during the month of March 1880 aggregated maunds 1,91,260 as compared with maunds 1,59,921 carried during the corresponding period of 1879 and maunds 1,97,674 carried during the previous month showing an increase of maunds 31,339 in the one case and a decrease of maunds 6,414 in the other

Increases

Coal	Mds	6384
The import of coal for brick burning purposes is reviving
Food grains	Mds	18545
This increase is due for the most part to the river being un navigable and the result of the bull ticks at this season
It forms but a very small portion of the quantity of grain exported by other means from the district not touched by the rail
Hides and horns	Mds	5383
This is a fair proportion of the staple the collecting centres being at the termini of the line
Salt	Mds	17003
The same remarks apply to the staple as to food grains. With very passable arrangements would be guaranteed downwards
Salt peters	Mds	1857
Although the manufacture has not been successful during the month the report is favourable
Sugar	Mds	832
A nominal increase
Tobacco	Mds	4300
This staple will form an important item of the traffic of this line and the opening of the Peshawar branch at Wazirpur
Miscellaneous goods	Mds	589
This for the most part is made up of chemicals, oils, and various other articles

Decreases

Iron	Mds	1
Normal and dependent on local requirements
Piece goods	Mds	178
The local market is glutted
Goods	Mds	7143
The quantity of goods carried on this line is merely for the supply of the district and the railway is not a profitable line for the district
Advantage to them
Goods	Mds	809
The same remarks will apply to the staple of the district

SETTLEMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT ESTATE DAMIN I KOH IN THE SONTHAL PERGUNNAHS

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE

READ—

The report of the Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division on the settlement of the Government Estate of the Damini Koh in the Sonthal Pergunnahs

The Lieutenant Governor has read this report with great satisfaction. The settlement has been completed speedily, cheaply, and successfully, the operations were commenced and concluded within a period of about ten months, at a cost of Rs 26,696, and the result shows a substantial increase of the revenue payable to Government, while at the same time a low rate of assessment has been maintained, and the conditions of the settlement have been generally and cheerfully accepted by the people. Mr Wood deserves much credit for his judicious management of the operations, and for the full and careful report which he has submitted, and his efforts appear to have been zealously seconded by the subordinate officers employed.

2 The estate of the Damini Koh, comprising the Rajmehal hills and the adjoining slopes, forms the central tract of the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and includes an area of 1,366 square miles. The great majority of the inhabitants are Sonthals, but the inner hills are occupied by a Kolarian tribe of aborigines known by the name of Paharias, and some parts of the lower slopes and valleys have been taken possession of by Bengali and up country immigrants, who have also settled in considerable numbers in the bazars on the outskirts of the estate.

3 The last settlement of the Damin koh was concluded in 1868, and took effect from the 1st May in that year. The term of the settlement was six years, but the period was afterwards extended, and the settlement has virtually lasted for eleven years, up to the 31st March 1879, from which date the settlement now concluded will come into force. The Government revenue which had previously been Rs 56 059 14, was raised by the settlement of 1868 to Rs 1,00,165 4, the total number of villages ascertained being 1,481. The present settlement includes 1 775 agricultural villages and 33 bazars and the total revenue assessed amounts to Rs 1 77,495 3 9, the increase in the land revenue alone being nearly 80 per cent.

4 It is satisfactory to find that, so far as can be ascertained, this large increase of revenue is due entirely to the extension of cultivation, and not to any undue enhancement of the rates of assessment. The rental of 1868 was estimated to give a general average of 5 annas  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pie per beegha, whereas the average at the present settlement is a little less than  $3\frac{1}{2}$  annas. The comparison, it is true, cannot be very accurately made for this is the first settlement of the Damin at which any attempt has been made to measure the lands, all previous assessments having been made on a calculation of the number of ploughs. But the general increase of cultivation, as shown by the figures given below is so marked as to render it highly probable that the addition to the revenue has really been obtained without any enhancement of the rates —

Do of cultivators	23 468	40 039

5 It was considered in 1868 that an assessment based on the number of ploughs was better suited to the state of the country and the condition of the people. But it appears that even then Mr Wood recommended a measurement of the lands and the measurement, which has now been carried out, has caused no opposition or dissatisfaction. It is not, however, to be understood that the lands of each ryot have been separately measured. The prevalence, among the Sonthals, of the village community system, made it necessary only to measure and assess the lands of each village as a whole, and to fix a lump rental which was afterwards distributed by the village punchayet among the cultivating members of the community. The highest rates assessed were 6 annas per beegha for rice lands of the best quality, and 4 annas for baree or high lands yielding two crops. Inferior qualities of rice land being assessed at 5 and 4 annas and baree lands yielding one crop at  $1\frac{1}{2}$  annas and 1 anna. In the Rajmehal sub division which contains the largest area of the best rice land, and in which the assessments are consequently highest, the average rent paid by each cultivator is Rs 4 8 9, and the average per beegha is  $3\frac{1}{2}$  annas. In the adjoining zemindari properties the rates for similar lands are more than double these amounts.

6 The benefit of these low rates has not been extended to the Bengali and other foreign ryots who have been permitted to retain their holdings in the Damin. It is not the desire of Government to encourage the settlement inside the Damin of persons not belonging to the country. The lands of such ryots have therefore been assessed at rates nearly approaching those paid on the neighbouring zemindari estates.

7 The conditions of the leases which have been granted to the village headmen have the Lieutenant-Governor's approval. The headmen are forbidden to eject any ryot without a decree of court, or to permit the settlement of any foreigner without the District Officer's sanction. They are entitled to a commission of 8 per cent on the village assessment, provided that the Government revenue is punctually paid. This system of remuneration was first introduced at the settlement of 1868, and the results of its working have been satisfactory.

8 The total of the cultivated area upon which revenue has been assessed is 9,02,872 beeghas 17 cottahs, and the land revenue upon this amounts to Rs 1,69,455 11 9. The balance of the receipts (Rs 8,039 8) is derived from what are termed the 'sundry mehals,' or miscellaneous revenue, consisting of the bussori tax and the bazar and fishery rents.

9 The bussori-tax is a kind of ground rent, levied from non agricultural tenants, such as weavers and potters, and from a few shop keepers and mahajuns. It was first introduced in 1868, with the object of checking the influx of foreigners into the Damin. The present Deputy Commissioner objects to the tax, as being virtually a second license tax, but the Lieutenant Governor observes that all the experienced local officers desire to retain it, and that there are strong practical arguments in favor of its continuance. The amount assessed for the current year is only Rs 1,854, of which Rs 1,001 are levied in the Rajmehal sub division. The demand for 1869 was Rs 2,939. The object of the tax is administrative rather than financial, and, so far from abolishing it, the Lieutenant Governor thinks that the levy of it should be strictly enforced. From a separate report which the Commissioner has submitted, it appears that the collections have of late years been seriously neglected, but that in future the demand and realizations of each year will be regularly entered in the accounts. Under the circumstances of the case, the Lieutenant Governor authorizes the Commissioner to write off all arrears of the tax up to the 31st March 1879, which have not been actually realized before those orders are received.

10 The bazar rents form the largest item of miscellaneous revenue, and amount to Rs 5,823 8. Up to the settlement of 1868 the actual receipts were uncertain, as the bazars were farmed, but the system was then introduced of employing chowdries who are remunerated by a commission of 10 per cent on the collections. The Lieutenant Governor approves of the continuance of this system, but he desires that care may be taken to see that remissions are not improperly allowed by collusion between the chowdries and the bazar tenants.

11 The fishery rents amount to only Rs 362, nearly the whole of them being in the Rajmehal sub division. A further report is awaited from the Commissioner regarding the leases of stone quarries and coal mines, which are not fully noticed in the settlement report. It is also stated that a few iron furnaces are worked, but it has not been thought necessary to assess them.

12 A representation has been made to Government by the Agent of the East Indian Railway, who has urged the inconvenience to the railway employes of the order which prohibits Bengalis and other foreigners from settling or holding land within the Sonthal Pergunnahs. It appears to the Lieutenant Governor that the orders have been somewhat misunderstood. There is no general prohibition affecting the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and the order which prohibits the settlement of foreigners in the Damin is not a new one. The Damin i koh is an estate specially reserved by Government for the settlement of Sonthals and hillmen, and the exclusion of foreigners from it is an essential element of the policy which Government desires to pursue in the administration of this tract of country. It has therefore been decided, after full consideration, that foreigners shall not be permitted to hold land within the boundaries of the Damin, and that those who may have transgressed this rule, in the face of the repeated warnings which have been issued on the subject, shall be evicted. The Lieutenant Governor can hold out no hope that this principle will be relaxed or modified in favor of any class of Bengali settlers who may have taken lands in the Damin since the settlement of 1868, but it does not appear to him that the maintenance of the rule need cause any practical inconvenience to the railway authorities in finding accommodation for their subordinates. There is no objection to their settling in the Sonthal Pergunnahs outside the Damin boundary, and within the Damin itself they can either be located on plots set apart for the purpose by the Deputy Commissioner in consultation with the railway officers, or they can find quarters in the bazars, though they cannot be allowed to occupy agricultural lands which have been set aside for special classes of the community.

13 About one sixth of the Damin i koh, or an area of from 200 to 250 square miles, is occupied by the Paharias whose numbers at the census of 1872 amounted to 68,336. Mr Wood's report shows that the Sonthals have already extended their cultivation up to the foot of the hills, and are beginning to occupy the slopes, and that consequently the time has come for laying down some definite rules for preventing the two races from coming into collision, and for maintaining the proprietary title of the Government. The Lieutenant Governor approves of the Commissioner's proposal to hold an enquiry into this question through an experienced officer of the Sonthal Pergunnahs, and this should be done as soon as possible after the taking of the census in January next. It should be distinctly understood that the Government is the proprietor of the hills except so far as it may have transferred its proprietary right by the grant of jaghirs to the Chiefs, and that beyond this the hillmen have no rights except that of occupancy. The leasing out of lands (other than jaghir lands) by the Paharia sirdars to Sonthal cultivators should in no case be permitted. The hillmen should not be disturbed in the occupation of such lands as they require for their own support but plough cultivation should be encouraged without being enforced. The Lieutenant Governor will await the submission of more detailed proposals by the Commissioner in reference to this important question.

14. The Lieutenant Governor approves and confirms the present settlement for ten years with effect from the 1st April 1879. The thanks of Government are due to the Commissioner for his careful supervision of the settlement work, and for the successful conclusion of arrangements which are conducive alike to the interests of Government and to the prosperity and contentment of the people. The Lieutenant Governor has noticed with satisfaction the commendation bestowed on Messrs Rattray and Swinden and on Moulvie Sher Ali, as well as on the other officers mentioned in Mr Wood's report.

LIBERALITY OF BABUS MOHESH LAL AND NUKOHEH LAL IN

No 16PW dated Bhagulpur the 10th April 1880

From—C T METCALFE Esq CSI Offg Commr of the Bhagulpur Division and Sonthal Pergunnahs

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal Judicial Department

I HAVE the honor to forward herewith copy of a letter No 2, dated the 2nd instant, from the Chairman, Municipal Committee, Purneah reporting on the completion of a large solid masonry bridge over the river Sowrah, connecting the old city of Purneah with the civil station, at a cost of more than Rs 50,000. The amount has very liberally been contributed in moieties by Babus Mohesh Lal and Nukched Lal zemindars and bankers of Purneah. The former gentleman has also personally supervised the work whilst under construction.

2. The bridge has supplied a long felt want, and the public will now derive immense benefit from it. The Chairman's letter gives a full description of the bridge. I would ask the Government to acknowledge the liberality of the donors.

No 2, dated Purneah the 2nd April 1880

From—J PRATT Esq CSI Vice Chairman of the Purneah Municipality

To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpur Division

REFERRING to your office No 459PW dated the 20th September 1879 I have the honor to report that bridge over the river Sowrah the construction of which was commenced in January 1875, was completed in October 1879.

Our best thanks are due to Babus Mohesh Lal and Nukched Lal, who are by caste Agarwala and Kulwal respectively and by occupation zemindars and money lenders, for the erection of such a large solid masonry bridge in length 468 feet.

The first brick was laid on 1st January 1875 with great ceremony in the presence of Mr Kemble the then Magistrate of the district and Mr Anley, the Executive Engineer, the former of whom continued to take the liveliest interest in the work up to the time of his departure on furlough. Scarcely anything was done during that year till December, when the work began to progress. Wells were sunk for the piers by ordinary manual labor but Mr L. Roberts, Superintending Engineer, after inspecting the work in January 1876, recommended that the piers should be sunk at least 12 feet below the bed of the river, or otherwise he feared that the bridge would be swept away by the stream. Mr Kemble accordingly took measures and procured three Bull's dredgers from Sabirgunge. The principal piers that were in mid stream were all sunk from 12 to 15 feet below the river-bed. On the 4th January 1877, after eight arches had been turned, two of them suddenly collapsed. After some delay, which was thought necessary for propitiating the god Siva, the Babus had the work resumed and carried on to completion.

The bridge itself is 324 feet long and 18 feet broad and the approaches north and south are 74 and 70 feet in length with 25 and 30 feet openings respectively. The bridge rests on 17 piers, each of which is 25 feet broad and 5 feet 6 inches thick. There are 16 arches, each of 16 feet span. The work is believed to be strong and durable. The masonry may be described as of good second class quality. The roadway over the bridge is made of consolidated pebbles. The walls on either side are sufficiently high and solid to protect passengers and vehicles from accident.

The cost of the bridge was something more than Rs 50,000 which was paid by Babus Mohesh Lal and Nukhed Lal. The former showed much energy in supervising the work whilst under construction in fact he not only provided a moiety of the funds but also built the bridge at much personal inconvenience.

Mr Kemble, the late Collector, was mainly instrumental in getting the work under construction after it had been proposed, and gave considerable assistance in procuring the proper plans and implements.

No 411, dated Darjeeling the 30th April 1880

From—A. MACKENZIE Esq, Secretary to the Government of Bengal
To—The Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 16PW, dated the 10th instant, with enclosure, reporting the completion of a masonry bridge over the river Sowrah, connecting the old city of Purneah with the civil station, at a cost of more than Rs 50,000, and stating that the amount has been contributed in moieties by Babus Mohesh Lal and Nukhed Lal, zemindars and bankers of Purneah.

2 In reply, I am desired to request that you will be good enough to convey to those gentlemen the Lieutenant Governor's thanks for their liberality and public spirit. The papers will be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette.

NOTE

Barometric Pressure—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperature given in column 18 for stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Captain Allan Cunningham's table 'Prof Papers on Indian Engineering, No CXIII'. The temperatures at the sea level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 18 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahrenheit for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Cloud—This column gives the average proportion of clouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 0, and one completely overcast by 10.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which will show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

[First Publication]

The 7th May 1880—The following Rules for Cultivation Leases of small lots of Waste Land in the Regulation District of Chittagong are published for general information—

These rules shall be applicable to all such waste lands being the property of Government and not included in or required for inclusion in other settlements (daku or other) within the limits of the Regulation District of Chittagong as shall from time to time be applied for by small capitalists for the purposes of ordinary native cultivation

2 Such lands so applied for shall with the exception hereinafter provided be divided into lots of about 50 acres and then be disposed of by public auction to the highest bidder. The land shall be divided into lots by the Collector either according to the wishes of applicants or as may be convenient but he must be very careful to define the lot as clearly as possible at time of sale

3 The first lease shall run in every case to the general year of settlement for the district viz 1898 A D and the lessee shall have a right of resettlement on such terms and for such period as may then be fixed provided that the resettlement shall not be for a less period than 20 years

4 Selected tracts of available waste land shall be put up to auction from time to time. A general notice shall be issued setting forth that leases of the waste lands situated in the mouza or locality specified will be put up to public auction on a specified date in such lots not exceeding 50 acres as may be applied for and inviting persons who may wish to bid for any lot or lots of the said lands to put in written application for the same within one month from the date of the publication of the notice

5 This general notice shall be in the form set out in Appendix A and shall be published by putting up copies in the offices of the Settlement Officer and the Collector in the police station within whose jurisdiction the villages lie and in some conspicuous part of the villages containing or adjoining the tract

6 The applications for leases therein invited shall be required to contain—

- (1) The name father's name and residence of the applicant
- (2) A specification of the area situation boundaries and general description of the land applied for so far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey

7 On the date fixed in the general notice all plots that have been applied for shall be put up to auction and leased to the highest bidder

8 Plots subsequently applied for shall from time to time be put up to auction and disposed of in like manner

9 At time of sale the Collector shall be careful to notify that the sale is made subject to these rules

10 It will in every case be in the discretion of the Collector Settlement Officer, or other officer empowered to hold auctions when putting up the leases to public competition, to classify the plots as first or second class waste, and to fix the upset rates accordingly

Those rates will be—

From the sixth to the end of the tenth year at five annas an acre

Cultivation then found to be measured and assessed at Rs 2 an acre the waste remaining at five annas an acre

For second class waste—From the first to the end of the fifth year, at one anna and a quarter an acre

From the sixth to the end of the tenth year, at two annas and a half an acre

Cultivation then found to be measured and assessed at Rs 1 4 an acre, the waste remaining at two annas and a half an acre

11 It shall be a condition of the sale that at the end of the tenth year of the lease or as soon after as the Collector may think proper a measurement of the land under cultivation may be made and the assessment re-adjusted in respect of the area so found according to the above rate. Any sunn and gorjon kholas found shall also then be assessed at fair rates. One more similar measurement and re-adjustment of the assessment may be made at any time after the end of the fifteenth year, after which no further measurement or re-adjustment of assessment shall be made till the lease expires.

12 The purchasers of the lots within one week after the auction shall deposit the amount of the first year's rental which shall be taken to cover the expense of mapping, measuring, and demarcating the lots and no further payment on this account shall be required from the lessee. But the lessee shall bear the cost of clearing the boundary trace when it passes through jungle. If the amount of the first year's rental be not deposited within one week as required above plus the estimated cost of clearing the boundary trace when necessary the sale may at the discretion of the Collector be held void and the lease again put up to auction.

13 An amin shall then be deputed to the village to measure and map the lots and to demarcate the boundaries.

14 The map shall be on the scale of 32 inches to the mile and shall show all natural features of the plots such as dhals and hills and shall also show all public pathways. The position of the plot shall in every case be fixed by an offset taken from some permanent and recognizable landmark in the vicinity.

15 The amin shall prepare a field book of each lot showing clearly the position and identification of the lands lying within its boundary and also the total area.

16 In demarcating the lots natural boundaries shall be followed as far as possible. The boundaries shall in every case be further demarcated by marks consisting of posts or tie stems set in mounds of earth at every angle of the boundary. On receipt of the amin's report a lease shall be granted to the purchaser in a form which shall be the counterpart of the form of kabuliyat given in Appendix B together with a copy of the amin's map.

17 If at the time of giving possession of the lot to the lessee any dispute shall arise as to its boundaries or its identity with the lot of which he purchased the lease the purchaser shall be bound by the decision of the Collector and if dissatisfied therewith may throw up the lease in which case the amount paid as purchase money will be repaid to him without interest after deducting any actual expense incurred in survey, demarcation or otherwise.

18 Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost a reduction being made in the rent payable under the lease proportional to the area taken up by Government but the value of any improvement or property therein shall be paid to the lessee and shall be assessed under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes.

19 The Government reserves to itself the right to all minerals on the lands which may be leased together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working, getting, and carrying away such minerals.

20 The title conveyed by the lease shall be heritable and transferable provided that no transfer shall be made of less than the whole area, and that no transfer shall be valid as against Government but shall on the contrary be equivalent to a surrender of the lease unless notice of the transfer shall have been given by the transferee to the Collector within two months of the transfer.

21 No sub-tenure inconsistent with the conditions or for a period beyond the term of the lease can be granted by the lessee and if the lessee creates an under-tenure he shall be bound to impose a condition prohibiting his under-tenant from creating any lower under-tenure. Such under-tenant shall be bound to let to cultivating ryots only.

22 In the case of lands exposed to salt water inundation and requiring to be protected by embankment the above rules shall be subject to the following modifications—

(a) The Collector or other officer empowered in that respect may at his discretion offer such lands to auction in lots of such area greater than 50 acres as may be applied for either by a single applicant or by several applicants jointly provided that such area be not more than cau, in the circumstances of the locality be effectively protected by a single continuous outer line of embankment and shall in no case exceed 200 acres if settled with a single applicant or 50 acres per each applicant if with several applicants jointly

- (b) The outer boundary of the grant having been duly demarcated and boundary marks placed by the aamin the applicants shall be required, on pain of forfeiture of the grant in case of default to complete the demarcation of boundary within one year from the date of auction by the auction, at their own cost of the necessary embankment
- (c) In the case of a joint application by several persons the distribution amongst them of the land within the joint embankment shall be matter of private agreement amongst themselves and they shall be jointly and severally responsible for the rent of the whole

23 The rent payable on waste lands leased under these rules shall be paid to the same persons and in the same manner as the revenue payable from Noabai taluka. The last days of payment will be the same as those fixed for payment of Government revenue by zemindars in the Chittagong district.

24. Payment of the rent due on leases granted under these rules shall be enforced and arrears realized by the same process as in the case of Noabad taluks.

NOTICE

[Appendix A referred to in Rule 5]

Is hereby given that leases of such waste lands situated in mouza _____ as may be applied for and as are not included in or required for inclusion in any other settlement will be put up at auction to the highest bidder in lots of 50 acres or under on the _____ The leases will run till the end of the year 1897 but the lessee will acquire the right to the land in perpetuity subject to resettlement after periods of twenty years. All persons wishing to obtain leases of any such land of the said mouza are required to file applications in the office of the Settlement Officer Chittagong within one month from this day.

The applications must be in writing on paper bearing an eight anna court fee stamp as required by law and must contain the following particulars —

- (1) The name father's name and the residence of the applicant
- (2) A specification of the area, situation, boundaries and general description of the land applied for so far as they can be ascertained without a detailed survey

8 I have no right to live s fisheries and mines which are all Government property The Government also reserves to itself the right to all minerals on the lands together with such rights of way and other reasonable facilities as may be requisite for working getting and carrying away such minerals

9 Beyond the fixed Government revenue and the thing mentioned above the Government shall have no claim to any profit which may accrue from the land included in this engagement during the currency of this engagement

10 Any land covered by the lease which may at any time be required for a public purpose may be taken up by Government free of cost a deduction being made in the amount of assesment payable under the lease proportional to the area so taken up and compensation being made for the value of any improvement or property therein under the provisions of the law in force for the time being for the acquisition of land for public purposes

11 I shall be at liberty to bring under cultivation waste lands covered by this engagement and to fix rent thereon

12 I will from time to time erect and repair the embankments drainage channels and outlets, in order to prevent the encroachment of any sea or river on the said lands, or the great accumulation of the water thereon In case of my failure to do so the Government may enter on the land and take up the repairs and may recover the costs of the same with all incidental charges as if the same were an arrear of revenue due on this lot

13 I will not allow any thief dacoit proclaimed offender or notable bad character to find refuge within the precincts of the said lands I will promptly furnish all information which I am or may be required by law to give I will aid the police in the apprehension of offenders

14 For violation of any of the conditions of this engagement the Government will be at liberty to annul this engagement and thereupon I shall lose all right in the lot

15 Unless I am evicted from the lot during the currency of the present settlement in accordance with the conditions of this agreement I or my heirs or assigns shall be entitled at the end of this term of settlement to resettlement on such terms and for such period not being less than twenty years as may then be fixed by Government but in case of my refusal to engage for the payment of the amount of revenue which Government may hereafter deem expedient to fix for the land included in this engagement I shall be liable to ejectment from the land and I having no proprietary right shall not have any claim to malikana

NOTIFICATION

The 4th February 1880—The Lieutenant Governor is pleased to publish for general information the following Order in Council, and the Regulations appended thereto for preventing collisions at sea, which will come into force on the 1st September 1880

H. J. REYNOLDS,
Secy to the Govt of Bengal

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight the 14th day of August 1879

PRESENT

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL

WHEREAS by The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862 it was enacted that on and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and sixty three or such later day as might be fixed for the purpose by Order in Council, the Regulations contained in the table marked C in the schedule to the said Act should come into operation and be of the same force as if they were enacted in the body of the said Act but that Her Majesty might from time to time on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade, by Order in Council annul or modify any of the said Regulations, or make new Regulations in addition thereto or in substitution therefor and that any alterations in or additions to such Regulations made in manner aforesaid should be of the same force as the Regulations in the said schedule

And whereas by the same Act it was further provided that whenever it should be made to appear to Her Majesty that the Government of any foreign country was willing that the Regulations for preventing collisions contained in Table C in the schedule to the said Act or such other Regulations for preventing collisions as are for the time being in force under the said Act should apply to the ships of such country when beyond the limits of British jurisdiction Her Majesty might by Order in Council direct that such Regulations should apply to the ships of the said foreign country whether within British jurisdiction or not and it was further provided by the said Act that whenever an Order in Council had been issued applying any Regulation made by or in pursuance of the said Act to the ship of any foreign country such ships should in all cases arising in any British court be deemed to be subject to such Regulation and should for the purpose of such Regulation, be treated as if they were British ships

And whereas by an Order in Council made in pursuance of the said recited Act and dated the ninth day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three Her Majesty was pleased to direct—First, that the Regulations contained in the schedule to the said Act should be modified by the substitution for such Regulations of certain Regulations appended to the said Order

Secondly that the said Regulations appended to the said Order should on and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and sixty three apply to French ships whether within British jurisdiction or not

And whereas by several Orders in Council subsequently made Her Majesty was pleased to direct that the Regulations appended to the said Order of the ninth of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three should apply to ships of the countries specified in the said Orders, whether within British jurisdiction or not

And whereas by Order in Council dated the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight Her Majesty on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade was pleased to make certain additions to the Regulations appended to the said first recited Order in Council for the purpose of explaining Articles 11 and 13 of the said Regulations and of removing doubt and misapprehension concerning the effect of the said two Articles

And whereas the Admiralty and the Board of Trade have jointly recommended to Her Majesty that the Regulations contained in the Order in Council dated the ninth day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three and the additions to the said Regulations contained in the said Order in Council of the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight shall be annulled from the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty and that there shall be substituted for the said Regulations and additions respectively the new Regulations hereinafter set forth

And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that the governments of the several foreign countries mentioned in the second schedule hereto are respectively willing that the Regulations contained in the first schedule hereto shall apply to ships of the said countries respectively whether within British jurisdiction or not

Now therefore Her Majesty by virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said recited Act, and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council is pleased to direct—

First that on and after the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty the Regulations appended to the said Order in Council of the ninth day of January one thousand eight hundred and sixty three and the additions to the said Regulations contained in the said Order in Council of the thirtieth day of July one thousand eight hundred and sixty eight shall be annulled and that there shall be substituted for the said Regulations and additions respectively the new Regulations contained in the first schedule hereto

Second that the said Regulations contained in the said first schedule hereto shall from and after the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and eighty apply to ships of the countries mentioned in the said second schedule hereto, whether within British jurisdiction or not

REGULATIONS FOR PREVENTING COLLISIONS AT SEA

Preliminary

ART 1 In the following rules every steam ship which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing ship and every steam ship which is under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a ship under steam

Rules Concerning Lights

ART 2 The lights mentioned in the following Articles, numbered 3 4 5, 6, 7, 8 9, 10, and 11 and no others shall be carried in all weathers, from sunset to sunrise

ART 3 A seagoing steam ship when under way shall carry—

- (a) On or in front of the foremast at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet and if the breadth of the ship exceeds 20 feet then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth a bright white light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the ship viz from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least five miles
- (b) On the starboard side a green light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the starboard side and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles
- (c) On the port side a red light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the port side, and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles
- (d) The said green and red side lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least three feet forward from the light so as to prevent these lights from being seen as the bow

ART 4 A steam ship, when towing another ship shall in addition to her side lights carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart so as to distinguish her from other steam ships Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character and shall be carried in the same position as the white light which other steam ships are required to carry

ART 5 A ship whether a steam ship or a sailing ship when employed either in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable or which from any accident is not under command shall at night carry in the same position as the white light which steam ships are required to carry and if a steam ship in place of that light three red lights in globular lanterns each not less than 10 inches in diameter in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart, in front of but not lower than her foremast head three black balls or shapes each two feet in diameter

These shapes and lights are to be taken by approaching ships as signals that the ship using them is not under command and cannot therefore get out of the way

The above ships when not making any way through the water, shall not carry the side lights but when making way shall carry them

ART 6 A sailing ship under way or being towed shall carry the same lights as are provided by Article 3 for a steam ship under way with the exception of the white light which she shall never carry

ART 7 Whenever as in the case of small vessels during bad weather the green and red, side lights cannot be fixed these lights shall be kept on deck on their respective sides of the vessel ready for use and shall on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision in such manner as to make them most visible and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens

ART 8 A ship whether a steam ship or a sailing ship when at anchor shall carry where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull a white light in a globular lantern of not less than eight inches in diameter and so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light visible all round the horizon at a distance of at least one mile

ART 9 A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall not carry the lights required for other vessels but shall carry a white light at the mast head visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare up light or flare up lights at short intervals which shall never exceed fifteen minutes

A pilot vessel when not engaged on her station on pilotage duty shall carry lights similar to those of other ships

ART 10 (a)—Open fishing boats and other open boats when under way shall not be obliged to carry the side lights required for other vessels but every such boat shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other side and on the approach of or to other vessels such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side

(b)—A fishing vessel and an open boat when at anchor shall exhibit a bright white light

(c)—A fishing vessel when employed in drift net fishing shall carry on one of her masts two red lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart

(d)—A trawler at work shall carry on one of her masts two lights in a vertical line one over the other not less than three feet apart the upper light red and the lower green and shall also either carry the side lights required for other vessels or if the side lights cannot be carried have ready at hand the coloured lights as provided in Article 7 or a lantern with a red and a green glass as described in paragraph (a) of this Article

(e)—Fishing vessels and open boats shall not be prevented from using a flare up in addition if they desire to do so

(f)—The lights mentioned in this Article are substituted for those mentioned in the 12th 13th and 14th Articles of the Convention between France and England scheduled to the British Sea Fisheries Act 1868

(g)—All lights required by this Article, except side lights shall be in globular lanterns so constructed as to show all round the horizon

Sound Signals for Fog, &c

ART 12 A steam ship shall be provided with a steam whistle or other efficient steam sound signal so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstructions and with an efficient fog horn to be sounded by bellows or other mechanical means and also with an efficient bell A sailing ship shall be provided with a similar fog horn and bell

In fog mist, or falling snow whether by day or night the signals described in this Article shall be used as follows that is to say—

(a)—A steam ship under way shall make with her steam whistle or other steam sound signal at intervals of not more than two minutes a prolonged blast

(b)—A sailing ship under way shall make with her fog horn at intervals of not more than two minutes when on the starboard tack one blast when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession

(c)—A steam ship and a sailing ship when not under way shall at intervals of not more than two minutes ring the bell

Speed of Ships to be moderate in Fog, &c

Seering and Sailing Rules

ART 14 When two sailing ships are approaching one another so as to involve risk of collision one of them shall keep out of the way of the other as follows viz—

(a)—A ship which is running free shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close hauled

(c)—When both are running free with the wind on different sides the ship which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other

(d)—When both are running free with the wind on the same side, the ship which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the ship which is to leeward

(e)—A ship which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other ship

ART 15 If two ships under steam are meeting end on or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other

This Article only applies to cases where ships are meeting end on or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two ships which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other

The only cases to which it does apply are, when each of the two ships is end on, or nearly end on to the other in other words to cases in which by day each ship sees the mast of the other in a line or nearly in a line, with her own, and by night to cases in which each ship is in such a position as to see both the side lights of the other

It does not apply by day to cases in which a ship sees another ahead crossing her own course or by night to cases where the red light of one ship is opposed to the red light of the other or where the green light of one ship is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead

ART 16 If two ships under steam are crossing so as to involve risk of collision the ship which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other

ART 17 If two ships one of which is a sailing ship and the other a steam ship are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision the steam ship shall keep out of the way of the sailing ship

ART 18 Every steam ship when approaching another ship so as to involve risk of collision shall slacken her speed or stop and reverse if necessary

ART 19 In taking any course authorized or required by these Regulations a steam ship under way may indicate that course to any other ship which she has in sight by the following signals on her steam whistle viz —

One short blast to mean— I am directing my course to starboard

Two short blasts to mean— I am directing my course to port

Three short blasts to mean— I am going full speed astern

The use of these signals is optional but if they are used the course of the ship must be in accordance with the signal made

ART 20 Notwithstanding anything contained in any preceding Article every ship whether a sailing ship or steam ship overtaking any other shall keep out of the way of the overtaken ship

ART 21 In narrow channels every steam ship shall when it is safe and practicable keep to that side of the fair way or midchannel which lies on the starboard side of such ship

ART 22 Where by the above rules one of two ships is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course

ART 23 In obeying and construing these rules due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation and to any special circumstance which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger

ART 24 Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any ship or the owner or master or crew thereof from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals or of any neglect to keep a proper look out or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen or by the special circumstances of the case

Reservation of Rules for Harbours and Inland Navigation

ART 25 Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule duly made by local authority relative to the navigation of any harbour, river or inland navigation

Special Lights for Squadrons and Convoys

ART 26 Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of any special rules made by the Government of any nation with respect to additional station and signal lights for two or more ships of war or for ships sailing under convoy
